17 Lives Are Lost As Long Holiday Week-End Begins

Ten Persons Are Drowned, Six Killed on Highways

Israeli Policeman Killed and Two Children Injured

JERUSALEM (Reuters)—An Israeli policeman was killed and two Israeli children injured today as sniping increased in the three-day outbreak here, an Israeli army spokesman said.

Three other persons were also reported injured by Jordan fire in the Jewish quarter of the divided holy city.

United Nations observers told Israel today that Arab Legion officers are being dispatched to advanced positions to enforce an "unconditional and absolute cease-fire" ordered Thursday and to prevent breaches of discipline among Jordan troops.

On the other side of the old city wall, Jordan charged that Israeli mortar crews Thursday night bombed the church of the Holy Sepulchre, reputed site of the grave of Christ.

The church's shells missed the church but damaged a nearby house, killed three Arabs and wounded 12 others seriously, the Arabs reported.

Dominion Day Celebrated Under Sunny Skies

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

The fathers of Confederation inaugurated 87 years ago a nation of four provinces that grew to be 10 with an untold potential of natural resources "from sea to sea from sea unto sea."

Canadians Thursday ce'ebrated the anniversary of that union in annual Dominion Day festivities. Many combined the holiday quietly; others swarmed to beaches, golf courses and picnic and barbecue sites.

It was one of the most accident-free holidays in years. Seven persons were reported killed. Fifteen died during the same holiday last year.

Thousands of Canadians celebrated the day under summer skies in central Canada. There was some rain in parts of the west. It was cloudy and thundershowery on the Atlantic provinces, a Canadian Press survey said.

CEREMONY IN OTTAWA

At least 5,000 persons in Nova Scotia journeyed themselves. The occasion was the annual barbecue sponsored by the provincial government. It was held at the Nova Scotia Agricultural College in Truro—and rained.

In Quebec City, there was a Champlain Day parade and fireworks were set off. The Governor-General's Foot Guards were at Parliament Hill in Ottawa to celebrat Dominion Day. The guards snapped through a trooping the color ceremony.

The weather wasn't too good in Manitoba. A cold cool shower swept the skies. It was sunny in northern Alberta and Saskatchewan for celebrations. Rain all but ruined the day in British Columbia.

Two Escaped Convicts Captured by Police After Thrilling Chase Near River

Police officers here and West Hill residents who saw the chase and capture are still talking of the "one in a thousand" chance, which Wednesday afternoon saw two escaped convicts from the Kingston penitentiary apprehended after a brief police chase in which there was threatened gunplay.

Frank Watson, 36, and John Fox, 34, had been out of the Kingston penitentiary for little more than an hour-and-a-half, when they were surrounded by police officers on the west bank of the Moira river where they had over-powered one constable and took his gun.

Ontario Provincial Police Corporal Harry Bunker braved a pistol revolver held by one of the convicts and walking up to him took the gun away.

Minutes later the two escapees were in the city lock-up and were on their way back to Kingston.

ESCAPED ABOUT 2.15 P.M.

The two men, both serving twelve year terms, escaped from the Kingston penitentiary Wednesday afternoon after they had hired a taxi to Belleville, where they were spotted by provincial police officer minutes after their description had been broadcast by police radio.

Provincial Constables Harry Mackenzie and Earl Graves were patrolling highway patrol west of the city on No. 2 highway and had picked up Constable J. Toll, who was reporting for duty at four o'clock.

As the three constables entered the city they listened to the descriptions of the two escaped prisoners as they were broadcast over the police radio.

SPOTTED TWO MEN

Minutes later as the officers drove down West Bridge Street on the No. 2 Highway route Constable Mackenzie spotted two men walking on the sidewalk who answered to the descriptions given.

He swung the police cruiser in the centre of the road to make a better check but as soon as the two men saw the police car they turned and ran, disappearing between two houses.

Constable Graves and Toll piled out of the cruiser in hot pursuit while Constable Mackenzie remained in the police car long enough to call headquarters for aid. Then he also took up the chase.

Having momentarily lost sight of the two escapees, the police officers were forced to spread out and were unable to find address. The chase led through backyards and across Everett and Coleman Streets.

FORCED TO STOP

But the convicts were unfamiliar with their ground and ran into the steep banks of the Moira river just north of Bridge St., where they were forced to stop.

It was here in an alleyway that Constable Toll caught up with the two convicts. He apprehended one man but in a brief scuffle lost his gun, which was recovered by the other convict. The officer was then pushed into the river.

It was then that the other two constables arrived on the scene and they were joined by Corporal Barker, who was attracted by the confusion as he drove past on his way to police headquarters to report for duty on the four o'clock shift.

URGED TO DROP GUN

Braving the revolver pointed at him by one of the convicts, Cpl. Barker walked slowly toward the man intending to quietly and urging him to drop the gun.

"Don't be foolish," the officer told the convict, "you can't get away with this."

Finally at the officer approached within ten feet, the convict allowed the gun to drop to his side and the officer stepped up and took it.

Police Constable Thos. Schreiber of the city motorcycle patrol, immediately took charge of the man taken away by Cpl. Barker.

Then within seconds the area was surrounded by police officers from both the provincial and city police stations. Men just getting off duty and officers reporting for shift duty converged on the scene.

"I never saw so many police officers appear so suddenly," one bystander said.

RESIDENTS SAW CHASE

Dozens of residents in the residential area west of the river saw the chase and capture as officers charged through backyards in pursuit of the two prisoners. When the convicts were captured on the river bank a crowd gathered on the street but quickly fell back when it became clear the convicts had recovered the gun of one of the officers.

But within five minutes of the time they were spotted the escapees had been captured and were lodged in the Belleville jail. Ten minutes later they were on their way back to Kingston, escorted by O.P.P. Sgt. R. H. Devereaux and Cpl. Barker.

NO SHOTS FIRED

No shots were fired during the chase and the revolver they obtained a revolver in the scuffle with the police officer, the convicts gave up after some hesitation and when they were surrounded by police.

Provincial Police Inspector A. McDougall commended his officers for the prompt capture of the two escaped convicts.

"Constable Mackenzie showed alertness in spotting the two men and Cpl. Barker demonstrated great bravery by taking the loaded revolver in the hands of one of the convicts", he said.

At the same time Inspector McDougall expressed his appreciation to the city police department for the co-operation which they showed.

When the alarm was given the city police desk was notified and two car loads of constables raced to the scene to aid provincial officers.

"It shows the spirit of co-operation existing between the two forces," the Inspector noted.

BOTH IN CIVILIAN CLOTHES

Both men were wearing civilian clothes when apprehended. Fox was wearing a white knit shirt and his clothes were soaked as result of his jumping into the river which he found deep to wade. Watson was wearing a fine shirt open at the throat and was wearing sunglasses.

It was reported the two men had escaped from the penitentiary in either a garbage truck or a soft drink truck. After escaping the men hired a taxi to Belleville and then apparently were on their way to the outskirts of the city to hitch-hike a ride, when they were spotted.

In these days of rollicking roaring prices it is still quite fun in a skimpy bag of groceries in any store be it chain, independent or the small guy on the corner.

But back in September, 1899, according to a yellowed brittle edition of the old Belleville Sun, a fiver would salvage enough food to load down two persons.

In those days when you did not have to rush home to get your favorite radio or TV program you could buy a pair of husky chickens from 40 to 60 cents. Dairy butter was priced 20 to 25 cents the pound and eggs were literally a dime a dozen.

A prime goose set you back from 50 to 75 cents or if you wanted a banquet, a dollar would buy you a tasty turkey. Ducks rated from 65 cents the bird. a good fat chicken from 30 to 40 cents while those with the innards extracted and giblets removed were worth 45 to $8.25. "Long clear" side bacon could be bought from 9c cents the pound, while second ham was priced from ten cents. Live beef was priced at 10 cents the lb.

If you were fish-minded, pike could be secured at from 4 cents per pound, while whitefish set you back seven cents upward.

"One dollar" would get you apples in your cellar and a quarter would buy you a peck of potatoes while for a new cabbage tossed in.

For nine cents, total you could get a bunch of asparagus, a head of lettuce and a bunch of green onions. Other onions were quoted at $1.25 a bushel.

If you were a farmer you could buy hay at $7 to $8 the ton; straw $1.50 to $2 the load, wool 12 to 13 cents the pound and shoats at $4 the pair.

The above were the prices quoted at the Belleville market at the time.

School of Art Gains Momentum

The impetus of interest at the Don Valley School of Art on No. 2 Highway, east of Belleville, is rapidly gaining momentum. Wednesday classes for local students were begun. During the morning and afternoon the project "on location" was to paint scenes in the area. In the evening Miss Lois Kehoe made a vivacious model for quick action sketching.

For the first two weeks of the school, the resident artist was Mr. John Hall, R.C.A., of Toronto. This week the students are studying under the talented tuition of Mrs. Mildred Chute, managing director of the school. Next week the resident artist will be Mrs. Mary Schneider, while her husband, Dr. Roman Schneider will be in charge of ceramics. Students are now registered from Toronto, Peterborough, Belleville, Madoc and Flinton.

On Saturday the school was privileged to have as guest artist, Mr. Langly Danges, A.O.C.A. Those who were present to watch him at his work will be pleased to know that he plans to return later this summer.

On Tuesday the school had as guest, Mr. Rex Frost, of CFRB, Toronto. Mr. Frost plans to "feature" broadcast of the art school some time in the near future. On Saturday, July 3, L. A. C. Panton, O.S.A., R.C.A., as guest artist will give a demonstration of painting at 2.00 p.m.

Friday evenings the school has "open house" and all those interested in the work of the school are invited to attend.

On July 17, the personnel of the school plan to have an exhibition of the work of local people. Those wishing to exhibit handicrafts, art, ceramics etc. please bring your entries in advance.

City Playgrounds Will Officially Open on Monday

With the largest registration in the history of the city playgrounds, the children will have full use of them during the next two months starting on Monday. Registration was held at the playgrounds today and by noon it was nearly as large as it was for last year, which speaks well for the supervision and program laid out by the Recreational Director, Lloyd "Red" Doran.

In the city there are ten playgrounds with seventeen supervisors and these supervisors have just completed a five-day course at Quin-Mo-Lac near Madoc. The recreation committee has been fortunate this year in that many of the supervisors re-engaged have been with the committee in previous years. This will give a more detailed program and the children's playgrounds themselves, they should be in for a real good summer.

At the supervisor course, the students were instructed in technique, playground dramatics, story telling, public relations, playground safety, problem children, special events and arts and crafts.

The playgrounds will be officially opened on Monday. All the equipment has been put in place, the playgrounds have been mowed and cleaned up by the maintenance staff and the children should have one of their best summers in regulated play. It is the intention of the committee in the fall to institute a full program of the various crafts so that the members can take part in the recreational program. During the summer a group of leaders will be instructed in square dancing and it is hoped the arena will be opened so that instruction can be imparted to a large number of residents, who will be able to thoroughly enjoy this form of recreation during the winter months.

Lieut. MacKenzie Resigns Command Of Sea Cadets

Commanding officer of the local Quinte Sea Cadet Corps for the past two years, Lieut. Harry MacKenzie, has resigned from his position as leader of the local corps.

The resignation was effective July first, and Lieutenant Ross Watson, executive officer of the cadets, will be acting commanding officer until a new appointment is made by the local sea cadet committee.

During Lieut. MacKenzie's term as commanding officer, the Quinte Sea Cadet Corps saw its membership increase from 40 cadets to 95, while 54 Wrenettes were also added to the corps. He was well liked by the cadets and achieved a remarkable degree of discipline with the boys.

Lieut. MacKenzie conducted his last parade Wednesday evening during which time he announced his resignation to the cadets. The announcement came as a surprise to the cadet-members but swallowing their disappointment the cadets promised the same discipline under their new commanding officer.

Leadership of a sea cadet corps had been the realization of a life dream for Lieut. MacKenzie, who became a sea cadet at Otawa, at the age of 12 years. He remained with the Ottawa cadets and had achieved the rank of petty officer before enlisting with the Royal Canadian Navy at 17. He returned to civilian life after five years with the navy and joined the Corps Provincial Police with which he is now serving at Belleville.

Ernest J. Duffy Completes 39 Years of Service

A railroading career that includes 39 years with the Canadian National Railways ended for Ernest Joseph Duffy, 266 Victoria Avenue, when he stepped down from No. 8 Thursday afternoon to be welcomed into retirement by a host of relatives and friends.

His last working day as C.N.R. passenger conductor was made June 30, when he took No. 14 to Montreal. Thursday was his home "deadhead" on No. 5. His wife boarded No. 5 in Kingston to accompany him home and was with him to share the greetings of the crew which gathered at the station to welcome him home from his final trip.

A. R. Wilson, superintendent of the Belleville division, was present to congratulate Mr. Duffy on behalf of the railway on the completion of his lengthy service.

Following a brief ceremony at the station, some 40 relatives and friends adourned to the Hastings and Prince Edward Headquarters, "Company Officers' Home" for a reception. Members of the immediate family from Mr. and Mrs. Duffy's at a banquet at the Maple Inn later in the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Duffy held open house for friends and neighbors Thursday night.

BORN IN 1894

Mr. Duffy was born and educated in Chipman, New Brunswick. After completing his studies, he spent half years in British Columbia and Washington state, Mr. Duffy returned to New Brunswick where he began railroading with the N.B.C. and was transferred into the C.P.R.

He came to Ontario in 1914 to work on the Canadian Northern Railway. He hired out in Toronto and in 1917 came to Trenton as a brakeman. He became a freight conductor in 1919 and 15 years ago was made a passenger conductor. He became a conductor on the Montreal Toronto passenger runs in 1952.

"My experience with the railroad has been very happy," Mr. Duffy yesterday as he relaxed at his reception. "I have had little excitement and no injury."

"I was in a few wrecks," he amended, "but I was never injured. A few broken ribs really don't count as an injury, do they?" he said.

Ma]. Angus Duffy, Mr. Duffy's eldest son, was master of ceremonies at the reception and proposed the toast to his father.

Danny Sullivan, Trenton, who started as a brakeman with Mr. Duffy, and Fred Bonter, their engineer in Trenton during the First World War, spoke briefly recalling their early railroading associations. They told of working 18-20 hours per day on way. freights operating between Trenton to Ottawa, Yarker, Tweed and Forfar.

NO LUNCH HOUR

"There was no hour for lunch in those days," said Mr. Bonter, "but we took one anyway."

They recalled also unloading steel barns all along the way to Yarker and what a back breaking and exhausting job it was. A friend also recalled that Mr. Duffy was the last train conductor on the chemical plant in Trenton during World War I just before it blew up.

"I had a lot to say but I've forgotten it all," said Mr. Duffy, when called upon to say a few words. He stated, however, that "it is a wonderful feeling to have so many friends and a delight to have them wish me well on retirement."

He introduced his wife, the former Mary D'Aigle, whom he married in Chipman, N.B., in 1913 and his four sons and one daughter, Maj. Angus Duffy of the Hastings and Pr. Ed. Reg. and former member R.M.C. of the First Canadian Division; Mrs. Arthur (Eileen) Benson, Belleville; Kenneth Macdonell Turpin, Oshawa; Avon Duffy, London, Ont.; Mrs. Gordon (Nadine) Empey, Trenton; Armand Duffy and Arnold Duffy, both of Belleville. He has also, eight grandchildren.

Of the family, only Avan was absent for yesterday's reception and banquet.

CNR president, Donald Gordon, returning to Montreal from the Stratford Shakespearian festival by private car, was on Mr. Duffy's train Wednesday, and congratulated him for his long service and wished him a happy retirement.

Search Is Made For Reported Missing Plane

The report of a passing motorist that he had seen a distress flare in the darkness, then the roar of a plane passing low overhead, touched off a midnight search in the Kaladar area Thursday night for a possible crashed plane.

The unidentified motorist who reported the incident to Don Lisle, Kaladar garage operator, said that after seeing the flare he had heard a crash in the distance and believed the noise had been the sound of a crashing plane.

Provincial police at Northbrook, Constables Gordon Stout and D. W. Heppler, were notified and the officers along with a number of residents of the area climbed to vantage points to look out over the Canadian wasteland north of No. 7 Highway, but failed to see any light or other indication that a plane had crashed.

The RCAF at Trenton later received reports that their planes was missing and it was also reported that no civilian plane on a regular flight plan was overdue.

The motorist reported the plane had been flying north when he passed over the highway three miles west of Kaladar.

Although a search officers at Northbrook were to continue their search this morning there was still no direct evidence that a plane had crashed in the area. Provincial police reported that shortly after ten o'clock last night an electrical storm had passed through the area. It is believed the motorist may have mistaken a flash of lightning for a flare, while the rumble of thunder may have sounded like a low-flying plane.

Stump Saves Spectators As Speedboat Runs Wild

TRENTON (Special)—A driverless speedboat with the throttle jammed at 90 m.p.h. ran through a crowd of people watching the Lions Club regatta here yesterday, narrowly missing Dr. and Mrs. James F. McCorquodale and their two children of Belleville. Dr. McCorquodale, Belleville veterinary, saw the powerboat roaring toward them and grabbed his wife, who was holding their three-year-old daughter Anne in her lap in the stern of a boat tied up to the shore. Mrs. McCorquodale turned her head in time to see the boat fly through the air within inches of their 3-month-old baby son Blaine, sleeping in a carriage nearby.

The outboard "Dry Run", driven by Bobby Vieau, 19, of Trenton, was apparently hit by another boat in the first heat of the Trent River course. It went out of control and soared high in the air, throwing the driver head-first into the water. Then it righted itself and headed straight for the east bank lined by a crowd of onlookers.

Fortunately the runaway craft struck a stump at the edge of the shore and again took to the airborne, soaring sideways for 25 feet before it crashed and sent up a cloud of dust as it slithered to a stop with the side torn out of it.

One eye witness said: "It was a miracle how the McCorquodale baby escaped. He said he figured the speedboat was headed for the baby carriage but it seemed to turn in the air, and then it headed straight for the perambulator.

A large crowd gathered around the unmanned boat and the badly drenched driver was picked up in mid-stream.

Afterward young Vieau announced that he would repair his boat and be ready for the start of the next races at Kingston. He was presented with the Quinte Machine and Supply Company's trophy for the B2 class winner.

Competition in all outboard classes was extremely stiff. Drivers fought dangerously as they raced for glory. Some new speed records were established for the tricky two-third mile course.

Results were: AH Class, Ron Bowmanville (1); John Webster, Toronto (2); Gordon Kilpatrick, Bowmanville (3). B1 Class, A. Phillips, Kingston (1); John Webster, Toronto (2); Johnny Pinkin, Wellington (3). B Service Class, Clifford Bauder, Kingston (1); Bill Runions, Kingston (2); George Ellerton, Kingston (3). B2 Class, Bobby Vieau, Trenton (1); Reen Caron, Kingston (2); Bill Slack, Toronto (3). Outboard free-for-all, Gordon Burley, Oshawa (1); Bill Runions, Kingston (2); Norm Seward, Campbellford (3). Canada 1 design, Dayo trophy, Gordon Burley, Oshawa; Senator W. A. Fraser trophy, Dave Watt, Toronto; Morton Parker trophy, Sally Smith, R.R. 6, Picton.

THE WORM'S BEST FRIEND

Here in the Bay of Quinte district we have more than our fair share of mosquitoes. Nobody can ignore that fact—unless he has the right dope.

Moreover, our mosquitoes are not only blood-thirsty but also base ingrates.

Fish, we understand, eat flies. We presume this diet includes mosquitoes. In spite of what mosquitoes do to man, man shows a great-hearted willingness to reduce this menace to the mosquito world by catching fish. Worms are needed as bait. They emerge from their abodes only after the sun has set. That is the time when the mosquitoes stage their nightly foray. And so man, the foe of the fish and the food of the mosquito, mosquito, the foe of man and the food of the fish and the worm, the food of the fish and the foe of no one, come together for a little tete-a-tete in the quiet evening hours.

Man moves slowly with flashlight flickering. Worm lies slimy in the dewy grass. Mosquito zooms through the night air. Man raises hand to grab worm. Mosquito stabs man. Worm wiggles down hole. Fish goes uncaught. Fish eats mosquito. Man eats beans. Revolting developments.

A DANGEROUS PACT — IF IT EXISTS

United Daily News, an influential newspaper published at Taipeh, Formosa, reports that President Chiang Kai-Shek of Nationalist China and Gen. James A. Van Fleet, representing the United States, have agreed tentatively on a mutual defence pact linking their two countries.

According to the newspaper, the pact would leave Chiang free to attack Red China, without committing the United States to support such an action.

In an interview with Bill Boss, world-trotting reporter of The Canadian Press, Chiang has reiterated his objective of eventually attempting to invade the Chinese mainland and oust the present Communist regime.

According to the United Daily newspaper's report on the proposed mutual defence pact, Chiang retains his right to make the attempt whenever he considers the time ripe.

But, according to the same newspaper, the U.S. would agree to extend its present protective naval patrol of the waters around Formosa to guard Nationalist major offshore island bases, such as Quemoy and Matsu.

In other words, the U.S. will prevent the Chinese Communists from attacking Chiang's bases, but will permit Chiang to attack the Communists.

It means that Chiang can call the tune for the anti-Communist action in the Far East, without being forced to consult allies.

It is difficult to see how the existence of such a reported pact could be fitted into the pattern of southeast Asia treaty organization similar to the Atlantic pact, as has been advocated by Washington.

Chiang's pact is the height of an alliance without any of the restraints which such an agreement usually imposes.

PRAISES JACK-OF-ALL-TRADES

T. J. Emmert of Windsor, executive vice-president of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, has praise for the jack-of-all-trades.

Addressing the annual convention of the Ontario Urban Industrial School Trustees' Association at Elgwin Inn, he opposed too-early specialization in schools.

There is a strange see-saw trend to be considered here. Over the generations the store of knowledge has increased, each school-boy has more to learn than his parents. Not unnaturally, this has required him to spend longer preparing for his life's work. But as things known multiply it becomes increasingly evident that no one man could hope to master all fields of knowledge. Specialization became common-place—and while the years spent in the schools were enormously increased the commencement of specialization began at an ever earlier age.

In an effort to assist students in making a choice of a career, we have seen the growth of vocational guidance programme. Probably these efforts have saved many students wasted years. Still, the capacity of the human mind and personality for growth being so magnificently great, only a miracle could accurately predict what a boy of fourteen might be able to achieve—and even more important might desire to achieve—when he had reached manhood's stature.

A NEW AESTHETIC APPEAL

According to the Letter-Review of Fort Erie, "the fine artwork and engraving will give a new aesthetic appeal" to Canada's new issue of paper money, to be put into circulation soon.

After a recommendation like that, our artistic soul lunges in anticipation and every fibre of our being cries with a deep yearning to start an outstanding collection of these artistic masterpieces.

JUST FOLKS

THE ORDINARY PLAYER

I do not write this to complain,
It's just the simple truth I pen,
While others batting attain
By breaking records now and then.

At golf I've never broken par.
Pinochle—when they wed and wed—
My cards indifferent always are.
A perfect hand I've never held.

I do not wail my luck is bad,
Although it's scarce a hand I've played.
I don't remember as a lad,
Ever a grandslam homer that I made.

I've never bowled a perfect game,
The poorest score was often mine.
At fivepipe it has been the same,
I've never had a "twenty-nine."

At bridge no solid suit I've drawn.
The slams I've bid I've seldom made.
When hearts are trumps I'm told with scorn
"Of course, you should have bid a spade."

Although to play my best I've tried,
Content with less I've had to be;
Hence, no publicity or pride.
Perfection wasn't meant for me.

Civil Defence 'Shootings'

(W. L. Clark, in the Windsor Star)

During the mock air raid on June 14, several civil defence people shot civilians in the streets because they did not go to shelters quickly enough. It was mythical shooting, but part of the exercise as I understand it.

Just who gives orders to whom about civilians, as they are shot?

Are the civil defence people in Windsor given the right to shoot down civilians who may decide to head for home, instead of making it for a shelter?

Has the City Council handed over to civil defence this right to shoot out of hand anyone whom civil defence doesn't like during an air raid?

This is a serious matter, something that should be straightened out quick.

We know civil defence has become a sub-Shooting exercise at Ottawa, but since when did they decide they would kill civilians on sight?

Just how crazy can we get!

Glamor In Nursing

(Calgary Herald).

There is, undoubtedly, much romance, glamour and drama attached by the public to a nurse's life than there is to a teacher's.

In addition to the somewhat elusive association between feminine gentleness and the healing of the sick, there is the urgency, the tenseness, the ever-present drama of the public's battle with death.

Inside Indo-China

(By James Wickenden, writing from Vientiane, Laos, in the Hamilton Spectator).

The sun filtered through the window slats of the Buddhist temple. A broken paper umbrella lay over a worn wooden begging bowl.

It argued that nearly all living things have the power of choice, even one-celled organisms in a duck-pond. They can move away from chemicals spread in the water before the solution reaches them.

The monk had made his choice. He had fled from the temple on the north border of Laos, like other Indo-Chinese, he decided in advance on which side of the frontier he will be after the expected carve-up.

As a Buddhist he does not rely on the Western moves in the cold war. To him the proposed partition guaranteed by the West and India (but not Russia) is merely opium-dream.

The five-power military planning is a dream-nightmare. Even he knows that the Laos-Cambodian front runs for only 200 to 12,000 miles or so. It will be like guarding the whole of India from Europe to Calcutta with the ports in Communist hands — and mountain-passes in between.

A south-east Asian pact will take a long time to form. It may not stop the Communists reaching his temple. Instead of partition, it is a question of the past.

For ages Buddhism has stood like a spiritual wall against Chinese influence and the periodic invasions of the Annamese, who had adopted China's shallow view of religion. The Annamese simply overrun the right ceremonies and are superstitious. Otherwise they feel at home.

So they are no friends of the people of Laos and Cambodia. The only thing in common recently has been the Japanese war interests.

Out of the invasions grew small groups of patriots and nationalists. In Viet Nam Ho Chi Minh became the outstanding leader. He rose four princes stood for nationalism, led by Prince Souphanouvong, Cambodia's leader was Son Ngoc Thanh.

In Malaya and Burma, Communist movements arose. Siam threw up the strangest leader of all, Pridi Phanomyong, a professor. He was known as Pridi or, to Western intelligence staffs, by the code-name Ruth.

Pridi spied for the West and helped the nationalists of Indo-China, particularly when he became regent for King Ananda in 1946. In 1947, ex-Japanese puppet Premier Phibul Songgram kicked him out.

Meanwhile the French tried to regain their empire. At first they compromised; in 1946 they recognized Tonkin, Annam and Cochin China as the state of Viet Nam. Then, eight months later, they bombarded the Vietminh at Haiphong.

When Pridi disappeared near Singapore, Ho Chi Minh appeared to be without aid. The French thought the war would be all over in months.

But by 1949 Mao Tse-tung was master of China. As a minor task brother to Asian revolutionaries, he took over Pridi and sent Ho Chi Minh did not become his puppet but now controls a large quarter of Communism.

So Communism moved south.

Nationalism became part of Peking policy. The Indo-China war changed from French-Vietminh infiltration. For the French the war became a fight against the dripping jungle.

Now at Geneva the loss of most of Viet Nam is accepted. In most minds the main line has already fallen back to the Lao-Cambodian frontier, with, perhaps, bits of Viet Nam left as outposts.

India and the rest of Asia might agree to the defence of this line so long as action is limited to aggression from behind it. This would avoid the stigma of "colonial" interference in purely local affairs.

To the West this seems practical. Cambodia and Laos appear united against Communism. The chance of civil war seems slight and may disappear completely if the states are given full independence.

Laotians and Cambodians want western protection. But the wealthy monks and others wonder if the West and India see all the pitfalls.

At present it is true, say the monks, that there are few revolutionaries in Laos and Cambodia. But even with independence there will be discontent among petty-rich.

King Sihanouk is popular in Cambodia. But the non-Communist resistance and even Son Ngoc Thanh is regarded by many as a staunchey nationalist.

At present these are small internal ills. But what, say the monks-thinking-politics, if Communists aggravate them and make their grievances look like rough local politics?

Conquest in Viet Nam also started as an "insurrection". This time the Vietminh have a new army before the battle, thus presenting to the Communists an obvious opportunity.

Finally, they ask, where is the mandate for the West — the debonair mystery man Pridi? Last news of him was that he was commuting with the Soviet Union, Tunisian.

At the right time he may appear once more as the backroom boy of revolutionaries in Indo-China and Siam. Perhaps he will be following—this time with Chinese backing.

Bank System Is Good One

(Regina Leader-Post)

The two main reasons Canada's banking system has become the envy of bankers around the world are that it is a branch banking system and that it is regulated by the Bank Act originally passed in 1871, and revised every 10 years and therefore can keep pace with economic development.

The branch bank system has many obvious advantages: small communities have the local banker, get the advantages in their small bank of the knowledge of great financial institutions, and deposits from one area are available for loans in other areas where demand for money may exceed its supply, and above all because of the high standard its facilities through many difficult years have been to diversify its lending risks.

Banks also in this way keep the value of what is going on in the varied regions of the country.

Need Newspaper

(St. Catharines Standard)

Television is growing, it is reported have aided in the growth of newspaper circulation. It seems that after a person sees or hears something he wants to read about it. This may be true in the case of many years, always noted following-this time with Chinese backing.

Prize Fighter Wants Prize

(St. Louis Post-Dispatch)

History and press agents have ascribed to many boxers many reasons for being in the prize ring. Old Gaelic Sullivan is represented as fighting merely to prove he could lick anybody in the house. Jim Corbett proved a boxer could be a gentleman, and Gene Tunney proved he could be a gentleman and a scholar.

Jack Dempsey, of course, seemed to be most interested simply in bouncing somebody on the canvas, a few champs have been conspicuous consumption in the way of pink automobiles and diamond stickpins. Then there was the champ who grabbed the microphone to say he was going home to mother.

This leads us to the present middleweight champion, Bobo Olson. He admits he is tired of the ring life, wants more money. His attitude may not be glamorous, but it is refreshing. We have waited a long time for a prize fighter who would admit he was primarily interested in the long green, and therefore nominate Mr. Olson to take the prize.

Personal Health Talks

THE LAST TIME I SAW CANANDAIGUA

Dr. Brady

The last time I saw Canandaigua, the city that is, not the lovely village that was; late in the spring it was there was something missing besides the snow. The old pleasures and schoolmates didn't realize what it was until I had returned to paradise and received from an old friend a photograph I get a pang of nostalgia, which going home will set cure now.

When I was a boy on Chapel Street in the halcyon days people used lime to make mortar, as whitewash and for sanitary purposes. Perhaps the farmers used it as fertilizer, too. We didn't know—at any rate I didn't know what quicklime, live lime, was, slaked lime, or caustic lime was, but from extensive research (Miss Nic) Carter literature I learned that with a short pants-sworn my first long pants as graduation from high school—that an unslaked body would slake if you buried it in quicklime.

In high school chemistry, however, I learned that unslaked lime, also called live lime, unslaked lime, burnt lime or caustic lime is calcium oxide, that it, or put it in water to make calcium hydroxide — commonly called slaked lime or hydrated lime. Slake means to wet. Wet your whistle to slake your thirst.

The small amount of lime that dissolves in water is what you get when you drink lime water. Less lime (calcium) in a tablespoonful of lime water than there is in a tablespoonful of milk.

Bone meal, the hard part of bone, from which fat and gristle have been extracted, is ground to meal for fertilizer or feed. Like lime, this mineral is greatly in excess. Horsefeathers. As we know, the bones become brittle, light, porous and weak as age advances, because of the steady loss of mineral matter (calcium) through the years—especially when the old party has neglected to include a minimum daily ration of 1½ pints (three glasses) of milk or the equivalent in milk products.

Whether you feel it in your bones or not, I keep telling you kunck — poor souls that nearly everybody is in mineral matter from calcium deficiency, due to our modern over-refined diet and our worry, worry, worry habits and stamina on cheat-foods.

INFLUENCE

I would far rather have influence than would keep spreading and ringing new light into people's minds and hearts, than have all the material wealth in the world and have no influence on the lives ofothers.

The outstanding figures of the world have always been those of influence for good among those of their time. I rather admire, for all time, for good influence among men, the Christ. The world has now wise 2000 years ago are just as inspiring today as then. A truth is a truth forever!

The humblest person in this world has influence more often greater than he realizes. It's the character of a person that glows. But you can't accomplish it. It is intangible, yet it is as potent and full of feelings as the clean and light. Great personalities have influence that is immediately felt the moment there is direct contact, yet there are scores of people whom we will never see or hear whose influence, because of what they are and what they do and live, will never die out.

It is a wonderful thing to have a good influence upon those whom we meet from day to day. I have sometimes whom we meet from a room is stimulating and uplifting. In my town I attend a weekly meeting where many noted people gather, but there are a few whose presence in the room is such that have an unusual influence upon me and who light up my heart with their influence!

The good influence of many a world has been done often by great and college, remains with me to this day. I wish I could adequately have thanked many of them long ago, for many have passed on to the higher reward. What a blessed thing it is to have influence upon others, and to be! blessed with their influence!

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

WHAT PRICE EDUCATION?

Statistics show that a college education costs about twice what it did forty years ago.

The king of education that continues through life is costly, too. People who wish to keep the cost down are willing to learn from the advice and experience of others.

But some people insist on finding out everything first-hand from themselves; and such an education can be very cost indeed.

Young men and women of our community has made a down-payment on this kind of education. Some often years ago he set out to learn, as he said, "to drink like a gentleman." While he was still experimenting with this nebulous standard, he drove a car home from a party one night. The police found the speedometer of his wrecked car registered 90 miles an hour.

He was not badly hurt. But the girl, after two months, is still in a coma. She has not spoken yet, except that from time to time, when some date recollection or a face or friend apparently crosses the torn fragments of her mind, she gives utterance to bursts of mad laughter. Paying for this piece of education all her life: and still it will not be paid for.

Scholars who wish to learn all they can about a subject generally begin by inquiring what others have already found out, and how it is practice for us all.

(Be careful how you drive over the coming week-end.)

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

In the backwoods of Quebec recently we drove through a little village which had a beautiful new church with a high steeple, of which the most glorious chimes and bells were sounding. It was Sunday. We stopped the car and listened breathless in a perfection of tone carillon that would have stopped the crowd anywhere in Europe.

"It is unbelievable," I protested." Why, in Bruges, in Arras, in Ypres, in Paris, there's nothing to beat this!"

"You'd be all right in Copenhagen," said my Quebec friend in the car." Because that record was made in Copenhagen.

"Record!" I asked.

"Sure, it's a recording they are playing. The record speaker is up in that little belfry, and the record player is in the church basement. By that means, some of the most famous bells in the world, and the most famous great carillonneurs, can be heard all over the world. Why not?

The trouble with some newspapermen is that they are always looking at a Timbuctoo or Irelands when things like these recordings are under our introduced and become common knowledge. For I find that the use of loudspeaker church bells is now fairly common all over the country. At Christmas and Easter, carillon concerts from church towers in village and town that could not dream of affording chimes of bells have almost universally added beauty to their communities; and a committee which looks after the carillon at the most convenient church at a summer resort have been canvassing the countryside funds to buy a record player and some carillon records for this very purpose.

"It's hard to dig everybody out in a summer resort, Sunday morning," said the committee to me, "and church bells sounding across the water and across the hills and rocks is just the thing to remind the lazy sniffs of their blessings, and where they come from."

If we can have Beethoven in the belfry, why not Beethoven? Why can't we have bells of a Sunday?

Price of Steel Up $3 A Ton

PITTSBURGH (AP)—U. S. Steel Corporation, largest American steel producer, Thursday boosted the price of steel $3 a ton to offset wage increase in its new labor contract.

Most manufacturers of products in the steel ores are inclined to think the price boost will not be passed on to the consumer.

Hard days have fallen on some manufacturers of automobile accessories, farm equipment and many other industries using steel. Their sales already are off.

Weddings

SHORTEN—ROBERTS

White gladioli with pink and white bouvardia centred Trenton Christ Church, Trenton, for the marriage of Evelyn Ruth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Alton Roberts, of Trenton, to Rev. Robert Keith Shorten, of Sept Iles, Quebec, son of Mrs. Shorten of Harrowsmith, and the late Rev. Albert Shorten, D.D., C. G. J. Minielly officiated.

Given in marriage by his daughter in marriage, and she was attended by her sister, Miss Margaret E. Roberts, as maid of honor. Miss Jean Roberts, also a sister, and Miss Ellen Ingham. Rev. A. Lloyd Shorten of Peterborough, was best man, and the ushers were Ken Donaghue, Bancroft of Kingston, and Rev. Frederick Rice of Cardinal.

The bride's imported gown was frosted white silk organza over pet and taffeta. The illusion yoke of the long-sleeved baspue was enhanced by large spray-motifs of appliqued lace. Lace banded the full skirt, ending in a sweeping train, and also edged the matching mottra. A pointed net cap flecked with pearls held the bride's fingertip veil, and she carried a white orchid with stephanotis.

Her attendants chose long, taffeta dresses, one in opalescent rose, and two in forest green. Well folded tucks formed the strapless bodices; the skirts were full, and brief jackets with shawl collars and bracelet-length sleeves were worn. All carried cascades of Rubrum lilies.

After the reception in the church parlors, the bride and groom left by motor for the Maritimes. They will live in Sept Iles, Quebec.

PRUDHOMME—BEGBIE

Picton. — The Chapel of the Church of St. Mary Magdalene, Picton, was the scene of a pretty wedding at two o'clock, Saturday, June 26, 1954, when Rev. W. G. M. Swayne united in marriage Aylie Beatrice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Begbie, 111 Union Street, Picton, and Joseph Oscar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Prudhomme, Low, Quebec. Spring flowers decorated the altar for the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white satin with a full, three-tiered skirt of nylon net, lace bodice with row of small satin buttons down the back, long pointed sleeves. Her floor-length veil of nylon net fell from a halo studded with rhinestones. She carried red roses.

Miss Helen Gould, Picton, was bridesmaid, wearing a floor-length gown of turquoise taffeta with nylon net overskirt, fitted bodice with short net sleeves. She wore a small satin hat with turquoise net trim and carried yellow chrysanthemums and carnations.

Ronald Steele, Picton, was groomsman.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where peonies, delphiniums and Canterbury bells were used in decoration. Pink and white streamers were suspended from a white bell over the bride's table which was centred by three-tiered wedding cake. The bride's mother chose a dress of flowered nylon sheer with white accessories and corsage of red roses. The groom's mother was unable to attend due to illness.

Servers were Miss Sandra Begbie and Miss Kay Gould.

The groom gave his bride a set of matching jewelry, and the bride gave him a pen and pencil set. The bridesmaid received a gold compact, and the groomsman, a leather wallet. The bride presented her flowers to her great aunt, Mrs. John Reid.

For travelling to Ottawa and Quebec, the bride donned a navy linen dress with white accessories and corsage of pink rosebuds. Mr. and Mrs. Prudhomme will reside at 12 Woburn Road, Picton.

Guests were present from Ottawa, Smiths Falls, Belleville, South Bay and other points.

ACKERS—ARMSTRONG

A very pretty wedding was solemnized on Saturday, June 19, at 2:00 p.m., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Armstrong, Glen Ross, when their daughter, Evelyn Armstrong, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Armstrong, Stirling, became the bride of John J. Ackers, of Oshawa, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Ackers, of Stirling. Rev. A. E. Baker officiated in the double ring ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, looked charming in a waltz-length dress of white nylon net and Chantilly lace. Her fingertip veil edged with nylon lace was held in place with a white taffeta bow and lace embroidered with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Miss Marlene Armstrong, cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid, wearing a waltz-length dress of orchid net and lace with matching head-piece and she carried a nosegay of yellow baby 'mums, and wore a strand of pearls, the gift of the bride.

Mr. Clair Ackers attended his brother as groomsman.

The bride's mother wore lilac lace over taffeta blue crepe and lace with pink accessories and corsage of pink roses. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother in a gown of navy nylon sheer with white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Following the reception, the happy couple left for points west.

HITCHON—CAMPBELL

Aylie Beatrice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Begbie, 111 Union Street, Picton, and Joseph Oscar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Prudhomme, Low, Quebec. Spring marriage of Anne Elizabeth Campbell, of Belleville, daughter of Mrs. John W. Campbell, of Stellarton, N.S., and the late Mr. Campbell, to Cameron Douglas Hitchon, of Belleville, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Hitchon. The Rev. S. E. Larman, pastor of the church, officiated.

Woman Flies Crop Dusting Tiger Moth

At the controls of a Tiger Moth as it swept close over the 3,500 acre wheat fields of Walter Reich near Lethbridge, Alta., this week was Mary Willcox, 27, a partner in Skyspray of Canada, Ltd., of Calgary.

In the past three years, Miss Willcox has flown over 21,000 acres of grain fields, dusting the crops with insecticide. She started flying at 18 in 1943 and has given flying instructions to students at Philadelphia, on the west coast, and in Hawaii.

TV NEWS LIVE

by Gene Hitchon

Some of the greatest fun on TV comes from the give-away shows. Or maybe you think they're a pain in the neck.

Whatever way you lean, you must admit nothing has stirred up so much fun and excitement in the world since the pet of larceny that has grown up around these shows.

A favorite racket is worked by kindly-looking old ladies who write down the name of a winner and drop into the producer's office explaining they'd like to pick up their prize because they have to leave town.

A few weeks later the real winner shows up and, sure enough, the old lady has kept her word, she's left town.

But some of the larceny has been on the other side of the fence. A New York show that's given away the all-wanted a woman's collection of jewelry. Every thing looked and similar too. They rose out of prizes before the called, so the station gave her a certificate for five salami and bologna. How she made, find any store that will honor the certificate.

TV is fun, and as the number of TV owners increases, naturally the range and variety of programs is being increased too. But TV can be a lot less than fun if you haven't a quality set in the first place, and if a dealer isn't prompt and experienced serviceman at's handy to know your problems.

That's why the new Electrohome with the clearest picture yet, and Hitchon Radio and Television, 4 Bridge St. E., make such a wonderful combination.

Readers' Friday Column

As Conducted by Mary Moore

QUESTION:

I am having a dinner party and would like to have your recipe for Angel Strawberry Delight.—Mrs. E. W. P.

ANSWER:

ANGEL STRAWBERRY DELIGHT (Courtesy Florence W.)

One large angel food cake, 1 package frozen sliced sugared strawberries, 1-2 pint whipping cream, (Note—You could wash, slice, sweeten and freeze to a mush 2 cups sliced fresh strawberries for this. On a large glass plate put a pretty paper doily, then a square piece of foil 3 inches larger than the plate, shiny side up. Put cake on plate, cut through and lay top half aside. Open berries and put in bowl while you whip very stiff the cream in another larger bowl. When cream is so stiff it won't slide when you turn bowl sideways add the mushy frozen strawberries and mix. Scoop this mixture on cake, add the top, and ice all over with balance of mixture. There will be plenty to ice inside the hole too. Put in refrigerator for 24 hours. Tuck up and pinch in aluminum foil. It is very pretty.

QUESTION:

Read your column every day and was wondering if you could help me out. Years ago a neighbor of mine used roast bran (don't know if it was from wheat, oats or barley) and she would boil syrup and then add to coffee to stretch the coffee. I do not remember whether she added anything else for I was just a kid. . . . here is a nice recipe for sponge cake which I know you will like.—Idella R.

SPONGE CAKE

Four eggs separated. Beat whites very stiff, then beat yolks with 4 tablespoons cold water until creamy. Gradually add 1 cup white sugar and any flavoring desired. Beat hard at least five minutes with egg beater. Into a measuring cup put 1 tablespoon cornstarch, pinch of salt and 1 1-4 teaspoons baking powder. Then fill up with flour. Add little to egg mixture. Fold in beaten whites. Bake 30 to 40 minutes in ungreased tube tin in 350 deg. oven.

(Idella R. goes on to say) . . . when I obey rules, this cake turns out grand and when I want something to make mocha cakes I bake it in a flat square tin and ice with

(Courtesy Idella R.)

I do not have a good recipe but I take a slice of soft butter 1 inch thick, and cream it then I add a little vanilla and about 2 cups icing sugar and blend in. By nuts I grind 1-2 and 1-2 shelled peanuts and almonds with skins on (do not remove skins from almonds as it is what gives the flavor). Cut cake in little squares and ice with icing and roll in the ground nuts mixed together. These are too extravagant to make very often. —Idella.

ANSWER:

You have been so generous I am ashamed to say I don't know the answer to your coffee stretcher question. However I am sure readers will come to our rescue (as they always do), so watch here during latter part of July.

QUESTION:

I love cottage cheese but every time I eat it I am terribly constipated. I have tried eating prunes for dessert when eating the cheese as I have heard they are very good for that, but no result. Anything I can do or eat to remedy? —A Constant Reader.

ANSWER.

Yes. Eat 100 per cent whole wheat bread along with the cheese.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

HOW CAN HER HUSBAND LOVE HER, AND ANOTHER WOMAN, TOO?

Mrs. O. was married at 22. Now, after 9 years of marriage, during which she always considered herself a very happy wife, a killing blow has fallen. It is a blow that, tragically, falls on many wives when the middle years creep upon husbands who cannot face the fact that old age is sneaking up on them, and so must prove to themselves that they are still young enough for romance.

"All of a sudden," Mrs. O's letter says, "I discovered that my husband has another woman and doesn't have the courage to give her up. He has been seeing her for over a year, on weekends, staying at her house which is out of town. She is an unmarried woman about 50 years old. I am 31 and my husband is 35.

"I have many friends, and they tell me to leave my husband, but after so many years I have come to think so much of him that I could not bring myself to do this. My husband tells me that he will love me until he's dying day, but he also tells this woman he loves her, too. I simply do not understand how he can love me (if he loves her, or love her if he loves me). Can you enlighten me on this and do you think I should leave him or try to put up with it a little longer?"

The question that is baffling you, Mrs. O., is one which baffles every wife whose husband insists that he loves her even while he is telling the same thing to another woman. But the fact is that, in most cases where a middle-aged man is unfaithful to the wife he really loves, the emotion he feels for his mistress is an entirely different thing from what he feels for the wife who has been his loyal, loving and faithful companion for so many years. What he is really loving, in the first instance, is not the woman, but the reflection of his own departed youth. The woman's mere by the holder of the mirror in which he sees himself, young, carefree, and attractive to the opposite sex.

Actually, I'm sure it is you he loves, and that the last thing in the world he would want is for you to free him so he could marry this other woman.

You might test this, of course, by telling him that if he doesn't give the woman up, you are going to leave him. But I wouldn't advise it. And the reason I don't advise it is that, since you say he "doesn't have the courage to give her up," he obviously has not yet reached the point where he would be willing to admit to himself, or you, that he doesn't want to marry her. So he might let you go, and then, when he does reach the point of fully recognizing and admitting it, he would come begging you to return. You are clear-sighted enough to know definitely that, in spite of what he has done, you don't want to leave him. So why go through such an upheaval for the sole purpose of registering your heartbreak over what he is doing, when in the end, if you wait, you may yet be able to rebuild life together.

Don't misunderstand me. These extra-marital sprees on the part of middle-age husbands seeking to recapture youthful thrills are by no means to be condoned or passed over lightly. On the contrary, they are wholly contemptible, and the men know this perfectly well even while they are engaged in them, hard as they often try to sell themselves on the idea that they are truly in love again. If there is anything to be gained by leaving such a husband—and sometimes there is, when the wife's love has been completely destroyed by his infidelity—then breaking up a home may be the only alternative. In your case, however, I am sure there is not.

So, try to wait as patiently as you can until your husband comes to himself, reminding yourself that his present behavior is a phase through which he is passing; that he is probably as bewildered by it as you are, and that he will eventually come out of it. In the meantime busy yourself in as many interests outside your home as you can, so that you will not be concentrating wholly on this tragic thing that has happened to you. The chances are that, if your husband sees you filling your life with activity that does not include him, it may bring him back sooner.

Don't spend those weekends when he goes away sitting by yourself at home. Go somewhere yourself and try to have an enjoyable time. Let your husband sometimes come home from his weekends and find you away, having left no word where you had gone. Let him get along without you for a day or two, and come back at your leisure. You say you have many friends; now is the time to see as much of them as possible.

I believe that, in time, you can win him out. Won't you let me know if you do?

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

BRIDE'S BIBLE WHITE OR WHITE-COVERED

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Instead of carrying the customary bridal bouquet at my wedding I would like to carry the Bible that my fiance gave me, with my engagement ring, as his engagement present. It is a very beautifully-bound Bible, but it is of rich dark-brown. I rather. Do you approve of a bride's carrying a Bible instead of a bouquet? Is it really necessary that the bride carry a white Bible? If so, I must I give up carrying this Bible with my white wedding gown? Have you any suggestions, please, Mrs. Beeckman, about this? — Lois R.

I am always deeply touched when I see a bride carrying her Bible or Prayer book at her marriage, a beautiful symbol for this religious ceremony. And of course it gives a wondrous significance to her sacred Book. But since you are wearing white, your Bible should wear white. . . .and this is easily achieved by covering it with slip-over fashion with white satin. You may do this, or I am sure you will find that your florist is quite accustomed to doing this.

You may carry the white-satin-covered Bible as is, or in it these may be several white narrow ribbon markers caught with tiny white flowers, perhaps white rose buds, or waxed orange blossoms, or bouvardia or other small white blossoms. Or if you're not fond of the streamer-motif (I'm not particularly enthusiastic about this) you might like to do what so many brides choose to do. . .carry one beautiful white orchid or white camellia or gardenia on the Bible or Prayer Book.

GOLDEN WEDDING "AT HOME"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. My husband and I are looking forward to having our Golden Wedding celebration. It will be an "At Home" for relatives and friends on a Sunday afternoon. Please tell me what form of invitation to use.

2. We are planning to serve, at the tea-table, open-face sandwiches, dainty cookies, tea, coffee and fruit punch. Is this menu all right? Do you advise at the tea-table, and to assist, we would like to have our daughters, our daughters-in-law, and our two granddaughters. Will this be correct?—H.

1. Here is a proper form of invitation:

1904—1954

Mr. and Mrs. James Smith

At Home

Sunday, the first of August from three until six o'clock

(Or for a very simple tea, you may telephone your invitations, or write notes, or send semi-engraved cards of invitation.)

2. An ample tea-time menu. But I suggest you have the sandwiches (if the small, slim, "closed" type, with simple fillings. And I also suggest some supplementary food-accessories: salted nuts, for example, mints or other candies, and perhaps some from-the-package delectables.

I suggest that you ask your daughters and your daughters-in-law to assist, for example, in the making of the sandwiches and so forth, but that, to preside over the tea-table, you ask several of your most decorative women relatives and intimate friends. And the twin granddaughters to pass those food-accessories I spoke of above. . .girls here to preside over the hospitality-service.

The gathering was then regaled by antics by two clowns until refreshments were served.

It was decided to have an afternoon tea on the 11th of August, tea to be held at the summer home of the president, Mrs. William Davern, at Consecon Lake. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. J. Lavender. There will be no meetings during July and August and the September meeting will be held in the Town Hall.

Majors, Elgins Tied for Top; Oakville Wins

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

London Majors and Galt Terriers were the only two Senior Intercounty Baseball League teams to sport fireworks for Dominion Day. Of the four league games Thursday only the London - Galt contest produced any home runs.

Five round-trippers were hit in Galt while the Majors were defeating the Terriers 9-7 to climb into a first-place tie with St. Thomas Elgins in the standings. Galt outhomered London 4-3 but the Majors outhit the Terriers 13-12.

In an afternoon game at Kitchener the Terriers downed the Panthers 2-1 to break even on the day. Brantford Red Sox took a home-field night game from the Elgins 7-2.

STOPPED BY DARKNESS

The only other game of the day—Kitchener Panthers at Guelph-Waterloo Royals—was halted by darkness at the end of six innings with the Royals ahead 6-2.

St. Thomas managed to retain a piece of first place by defeating Kitchener 13-8 in St. Thomas Wednesday. The Royals shut out Galt 8-0 in Guelph in the other Wednesday game.

The contests were played in the Nickel Belt Senior League Wednesday and the two top teams were defeated by the two second-division clubs. The last-place Copper Cliff Redmen routed the second-place Hammond Rivets 9-1 and the third-place Conlston Red Sox edged the league-leading Creighton Indians 3-2.

The only Dominion Day Viaduct Ontario Baseball League game was played in Oakville where the home-town Oaks defeated Toronto Hoakings 8-5.

While home runs played a prominent part in London's victory over Galt, it was Jim Halkard's bases-loaded triple in the seventh that was the telling blow. Shortstop Bob Deakin hit a two-run homer for the Majors and Bob Halkard slammed one with the bases clear.

Four-baggers accounted for six of Galt's seven runs.

LED TO OWN WIN

Pitcher Mel Duncan, who held the Panthers to seven hits in Galt's afternoon game, also produced at the plate, sending home two runs to lead the Terriers to the 3-2 decision. He lasted the distance to earn his fifth victory in eight decisions.

At Brantford the Red Sox and the Elgins went through 19 hits without stretching one past a single. Wilmer Fields went the route on the mound for Brantford for the victory—his fourth against two losses.

The last-place Royals, showing signs of life in their last two games, had to come from behind a 2-0 deficit to take the lead in the suspended game with Kitchener.

Shortstop Marv Rich, who clouted a double and a triple for the Royals, plated two runs as did Billy Flick.

Five games are scheduled for the Intercounty League Saturday. Guelph plays a single afternoon game at Kitchener before the Panthers play host to St. Thomas in an evening doubleheader.

NEW YORK (AP)—Willie Mays, like so many important discoveries in baseball, was practically an afterthought.

New York Giants were interested in a Negro first baseman, a fellow whose name they've forgotten, not as a possibility for the Polo Grounds job but as a replacement at their Sioux City farm in the western league. Eddie Montague and Bill Harris, Giant scouts, were dispatched to look him over.

"I received a phone call from Montague after several days," related Jack Schwarz, in charge of the Giants' scouting system. "He was so excited, I could hardly understand him.

FORGET FIRST BASEMAN

"The hell with this first baseman,' Montague shouted, 'he's not what we want. There's a kid centerfielder with the Barons (Birmingham Black Barons) who's simply great. He's the greatest young ball player I've ever seen in my life. He'll be in the Polo Grounds in two years. We've got to get him at all costs.'

"We found out that Mays was still in high school so, under the rules, we were forced to wait. My fingers crossed until he was graduated, hoping nobody else would spot him. On day day he was graduated, we contacted the owner of the Barons."

Willie was assigned to Trenton, in the class B interstate league. He failed to get a hit in his first 12 times at bat but from the first he proved to be the best defensive outfielder in the league.

"I know you're not hitting," Chick Genovese, his manager, said to him one day. "But I don't care if you never hit. The way you play centerfield, you can play for me every day."

HITTING PROWESS CAME

Mays began hitting before long and finished the season with a .353 batting average. The next year he was promoted to Minneapolis where he captured the fans' imagination with his tremendous hitting and fielding. When the Giants called him up May 25, 1951, he was hitting .477.

The day Mays was brought up there was woe in Minneapolis. All through the American Association owners gritted their teeth. One owner estimated the league lost 250,000 admissions when Mays left.

It got so bad the Giants had to put an advertisement in a Minneapolis newspaper explaining why they brought up Mays. The ad said something about "merit must be recognized" and the boy "should not be deprived of his opportunity" to play in the majors.

That probably was the first time a club had to apologize in print for advancing a player.

Electric Girls Trim Trenton; Increase Lead

The Northern Electric girls team won a close 6-4 verdict over the Trenton Town team at the Alemite Field last evening, with the win giving them a 7-3 record, two full games ahead of their nearest rival in the Lakeshore Ladies' League.

Landa Wagg was on the hill for the victory, giving Trenton eleven scattered singles as she fanned four and walked two. Her mound rival was Drake who surrendered 10 hits including a homer and two doubles while whiffing three and issuing eight free passes.

Lois Batchelor paced the winners attack, contributing a brace of doubles and a single while Helen Reeves had a home run. Other singles went to Baker, Sugmers, Fox, Slade, B. Reeves and Wagg.

The Trenton hitters were Smith with four one-baggers while Drake and Johnson had two each. Hopper, Nichols and Bennett completed the eleven hits.

Anyone who ever visited London knows Piccadilly Circus, and the famous statue of Eros, God of Love, poised above its central fountain. This statue has taken a lot of punishment during the past sixty years, from both practical jokers and London smog, but because the sculptor cast it in aluminum — it was the first large statue to be cast in the "new metal" — it has come safely through the years. When it was cleaned up for the Coronation, it gleamed as freshly as ever. The enduring beauty of aluminum has meanwhile made it a favorite of modern architects, furniture designers, decorators too. CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carven, Sports Editor

BLOCKBUSTERS!

The powerful partnership of Tex MacKenzie and Paul Baillargeon will encounter a thumping twosome in the tag-team wrestling feature in the ring at the Memorial Arena tonight. They'll collide with the rugged outfit of the Mighty Ursus and Don Lewin, as bludgeoning a pair of blockbusters as ever dusted their soles on an opponent's Adam's apple.

Ursus, 300-lb. Mexican, is something of a walking cement block-house. Lewin, a muscular young destroyer from Buffalo, is a bustling ringster, remarkable for having attained such a high rate of dudgeon at such an early age. However, the mighty-muscled MacKenzie and Baillargeon haven't been stumped by any obstacles they've encountered yet and figure to make things turbulent for their truculent rivals.

HEAP BIG CHIEF!

One of the proudest boasts of the late Chief Bender, famous Philadelphia Athletics pitcher, who died the other day, is that no base runner ever stole a base on him. That may be so but Eddie Ainsmith came awfully close.

The story is told that Ainsmith was on third with two men out. He danced up and down the line taunting the chief. The Indian wound up in slow lazy movements when Ainsmith streaked for the plate. Bender was still winding when the runner crossed the pan.

The batter hit a short fly to the infield. The Chief turned to Umpire Billy Evans and said, "Naturally the run does not count." Evans thought fast and said, "You're right. The run does not count. I have to give the decision on the pitch and the pitch starts with the windup."

That was a long while ago and the rules may have changed. Suffice to us that if such is not the case a lot of umpires have been wrong and a lot of games prolonged or lost that should have been won.

The Chief took part in the most remarkable "pitching" World Series that ever took place. It was the 1905 affair between the Giants and the Athletics. Christy Mathewson won the first 3-0 with a four-hitter. The Chief won the second with a four-hitter. Matty took the third 9-0 with a four-hitter and Iron Man McGinity spun a five-hitter for the Giants' 1-0 win and Matty wound it up with a six-hitter 2-0.

The Chief received exactly $1.80 for his first professional baseball game. He lost the verdict despite some incredible statistics. He hit a home run with the bases loaded. He struck out 11 batters. The catcher, however, received 19 assists on the strikeouts. He dropped all 11 third strikes.

He won 212 major league victories, among them a no-hit near-perfect game. A Cleveland batter walked in the fourth but was thrown out stealing, hence only 27 batters faced the Chief.

'A LONG LANE' . . .

Johnny Mostil is a firm believer in the saying that every debit must have a credit. The "Duke" from Wellington amply avenged that error-filled setback handed him by the Oshawa Transports last week, by fashioning a neat seven-hitter in the Motor City last night, turning back the loop-leading Transporters by a 5-3 score. And yet this, 400 fans, according to Oshawa's Mr. Walker, "the largest crowd of the season", saw their favorites go down to defeat.

And the Batas substantiated Manager Carson's statement the other day that they love southpaw pitching. Oshawa apparently didn't believe it, so they tossed the controversial American import, Howard Stoneback, at the Quinte crew. Mr. Stoneback lasted seven innings then took a shower.

The Carson crew played sparkling defensive work behind Mostil, although they were outhit 7-5. The Transies kicked the ball around for a change, bobbing five times to our side's one.

Now for the Toronto Dependables. The Queen City squad will be the guests of the Batas on Saturday night in a night game and with the Batas back in stride again a good crowd should be out to see them questing their seventh victory. They now have a six and five record.

GOOD HOLIDAY!

There's joy in the shadow of Cocran's Bluffs, but there "ain't no celebrations in Flatbush". The faithful residing by the banks of the fragrant Gowanus splashed heavy hearts-broken tears into their suds yesterday as their beloved "Bums" bowed thrice to the hated enemy from the Polo Grounds. The "Jints" swept the three-game series from the Brooks, thanks to the timely clutch-hitting of Dusty Rhodes and a remarkable pitching effort by Johnny Antonelli, his eleventh victory this year.

Meanwhile the proud Yankees sit in a pretty position. Today the Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox, second and third in the American League hook up in an eight-game series, and mucho-mucho hangs on the outcome. The Bronx Bombers can sit back and watch the Sox and Tribe go at their throat-cutting didoes, and there could be a big change in the standings over the week-end.

Around our town there was not much excitement. On Thursday afternoon the limbs of the law with some smart eye-work picked up a couple of twelve-year blokes operating in governmental defense in the Kingston big house, and who decided to see what the "outside" looked like. They had scarcely a glimpse when two alert Belleville OPP officers nabbed 'em.

They had a glorious day down Point Anne way on the holiday. Earle Anderson and his merry men of the Canada Cement Recreation Association staged a grand field day which got off to a good start with some thrilling speedboat races in the morning. It was a well-organized, well-handled affair and a large crowd enjoyed the splendid program offered by Andersen and company.

Dusty Rhodes Duplicates Feat With Pinch-Batting Single Yanks in Favorable Position

By KEN PRIDGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

The time has come for the New York Yankees to sit back and watch Cleveland and Chicago knock each other around long enough for the Yanks to slip into the American League lead.

It may not happen that way, but there never will be a better opportunity.

Here's the situation in the league in the next 10 days:

Cleveland, now leading by three games, has to play the second place White Sox eight times between tonight and a week from Sunday.

During the same spell the Yankees will be meeting fifth place Washington in seven games. And right here may be the kicker. The Yanks should win most or all of those games, but there is no certainty that they will. So far, the Senators steadfastly have refused to play dead for the New Yorkers. In fact, they've won five of the nine games played so far.

CHICAGO AHEAD

Cleveland and Chicago have met eight times with the White Sox, New York and Washington 5-2. Si America League contenders that played Thursday, the Chisox jumped away to a 3-0 lead at Boston but had to struggle for an 8-7 victory. This left the Yanks 3½ games out of first place.

In the National League the New York Giants swept into a four-game lead by whipping Brooklyn for the fourth straight time, 5-2. St. Louis crushed Milwaukee 9-2 with Stan Musial and rookie Jim Cunningham hitting two home runs each. No other games were scheduled in the league.

In Boston Johnny Sain came to the Yanks' rescue and shut out the stubborn Red Sox through the final three innings. Home runs by Mickey Mantle, Hank Bauer and Andy Carey were the big blows in the Yanks' 13-hit attack.

The Giants used another of their late-inning climaxes to hog tie the Dodgers, 6 to 5. Brooklyn had pulled into a 2-2 deadlock in the seventh on home runs by Roy Campanella and Carl Furillo, the Giants came back with three in the eighth. Dusty got one of the three came as pinch hitter Dusty Rhodes duplicated his game-winning shot of Tuesday night with a single.

BIG BLOWS

Thanks a throwing error by Roy Campanella on a sacrifice bunt and a walk by Ray Falica set it up for Dusty, who batted for Monte Irvin. Robert Gomez, with ninth inning help from Hoyt Wilhelm and Marv Grissom, won his seventh game.

Cunningham, brought up to the Cardinals Wednesday as a replacement for Tom Alston, hit one home run in his first major league game Thursday night in Cincinnati and drove home four runs with his two blows into the right field seats as Milwaukee Thursday.

Musial's homers were his 25th and 26th of the season and came after he had gone hitless the night before.

Harvey Haddix, the league's biggest winner, was struck on the leg by a line drive off the bat of Joe Adcock in the fourth inning, but early fears of a fracture were dissipated in a hospital examination. He probably will be out 10 days.

Batas Come Through With Sparkling 5-3 Win Over Oshawa Transporters

Mowat Fashions Seven-Hitter With Fine Defensive Support; Stoneback Batted Out of Box

Belleville Bates, behind the seven-hit pitching of Johnny Mowat, threw back the Oshawa Transporters' threat to extend their lead in the Viaduct-Ontario Senior Baseball League, in Oshawa last night, defeating the Motor City crew by a 5-3 score before 400 fans.

The Batas staged a complete reversal of fielding form over that of their previous clash with the Transporters when they erred twelve times to give Mowat his first defeat. They backed up the righthander with a fine effort, besides coming through with some clutch clouting.

The controversial Howard Stoneback, American import pitcher, was just another hurler to the Batas, showers after seven innings, although he let them down with a few hits. The Transporters proved they can kick the ball around too, for they erred no less than five times before the hometown crowd.

Mowat was unbeatable on the mound once his mates had finally overpowered the Transporters and he himself had crossed the plate with an insurance run to tie the lusting. He faced only 28 batters in the last four frames, struck out four of them and the one to take the game from Stoneback, the 8th inning, moved to third on an infield out and then "rifled" there as Mowat fanned two of Oshawa's best, Ritcher and Masson.

HOMERUNNER LEAD

Vern Goyer doubled with two out in the first for the visitors. Frank Vargo drove him home a frame for Oshawa with a home run blast over the right field wall. The teams battled it out at 1-0 until the bottom of the seventh when Howard Ritcher opened with a single and scored on Bunny Masson's double down the centre field wall.

Masson was called out on a close play when he tried to stretch his hit into a triple. Later, John Goddard drew a walk and Nick Mrozcek singled, but there was no more scoring. Gerry Goyer's fine catch behind third on Mike McArthur's looper was the saver.

Jerry McCormick singled in the fifth and then Howard Stoneback hit a wild streak, leaving walks to both Dave Jones and Mowat. Goyer was thrown out when Mc-Cher made a fine play to save a hit but McCormick scored on the play, then a wild pitch let Jones come home to tie the score.

Stoneback beat out an infield roller to open Oshawa's fifth and got to third on a wild pitch and a passed ball, then scored when Kellar singled. The Transporters never got close to scoring after that.

ERRORS PROVE COSTLY

The homsters came up with a weird fielding exhibition in the top of the sixth to hand Belleville two unearned runs and the game. Vern Goyer's grounder was bobbled by Jakoski. Jakoski then bunted and Eicher failed to cover first base in time for Stoneback's throw which went to the outfield and Goyer scored. Then Jones grounded out to Vargo who bobbled and a bad throw by McArthur let Fitzpatrick come home. Jones was nipped going to 3rd on Kelleher's grounder, McCormick forced him and was tagged beyond 2nd base when Jones singled.

Belleville's final run came in the 7th—when pitcher Mowat opened with a double, moved to 3rd on a sacrifice bunt by G. Goyer and scored after the catch when Tony Pedi filed out to deep centre.

Alright work by second baseman Dick Fitzpatrick on the base grounders and a pop fly, a sensational one-handed running catch by Dave Jones plus four strikeouts and a pop-fly to Howatt, combined for a defensive bulwark that the Oshawans couldn't penetrate for the rest of the distance.

The rival second basemen, Fitzpatrick and Fowler, both teamed in brilliant fielding games in this contest, in fact all the infielders had a busy night.

Batas got only five hits off Stoneback, none off Cec Hall, who pitched the last three innings, taking over as Mowatt doubled to open the 7th.

Frank Vargo with a homer and a double was the only player in the game to get more than one base hit. Each team had three earned runs.

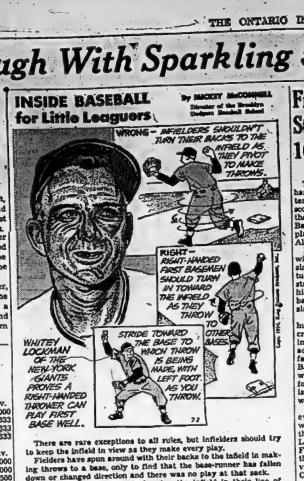
Royals Protest Elgins Player

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—John Gillies, Intercounty Baseball League commissioner, said Thursday he has received protests that have protested the use of Butch Lawing by St. Thomas Elgins.



He said Royals manager Ernie Goman claimed Lawing signed a professional contract before going to St. Thomas and didn't get the necessary release.

The commissioner said he has no details of the protest but it will be heard at a special meeting of St. Thomas and Guelph-Waterloo officials and league secretary Jack Blakeney in his office here Friday.

He said should the protest be won by Royals there is a possibility all wins scored by St. Thomas since Lawing joined the club will be thrown out. Elgins currently are leading the league pace, a baseball outdoor played last season for Oshawa Merchants.

INSIDE BASEBALL for Little Leaguers

By MICKEY McCONNELL
Director of the Brooklyn Dodgers Baseball Clinics

There are rare exceptions to all rules, but infielders should try to face the infield in view as they make every play.

Fielders have spun around with their backs to the infield in making throws to a base, only to find that the base-runner has fallen down or changed direction and there was no play at that sack.

Other fielders, by properly keeping the infield in their line of vision, have been able to spot base-runners taking too big a turn around a base when the runners didn't expect a play to be made on them.

Eddie Stanky made an art of snuffing out runners at third base when they expected him to throw to first in normal double-play situations. You can be alert only when you are able to see plays developing, and you can't do this if your back is turned toward the infield.

Bluebirds Fail In Clutches; Lose to Madoc

Failure to hit in the clutches cost Paul Mercier's Bluebird Juniors a Belleville District Softball League victory Wednesday night at the C.N.I.B. Recreation Park when they dropped a 9-7 decision to Jack Hatch's Madoc squad.

The Bluebirds spoiled the village crew five runs in the first two innings and nibbled at the margin over the rear of the route but inability on two occasions when the sacks were loaded to come through with run-producing clouts gave the Hatch hawks the win.

Madoc arrived with no regular pitchers and Shadbolt, an infielder, volunteered to go to the mound. He promptly walked the first four Bluebirds, giving them a run before Mayors, another non-hurler, went to his relief. The Bluebird bats failed to connect but they had to be satisfied with the gift run as the only run of the innings.

Pigden, a regular hurler, arrived on the scene and took over the hill duties. The Bluebird hitters through three innings when the Bluebirds connected for three safeties to score the only run. They got a pair in the fifth of a double, single and an error, and scored singles in the last three frames.

They had a grand chance to square the count in the eighth with the score 8-6 and the bases loaded. But Pigden forced G. Goyer to ground to first and that was that.

The Madoc crew got to. Billy Green for ten hits, one a homer by Wayne Brown in the eighth with a mate aboard. He walked five and struck six. Green gave up six hits for five runs in the first two innings, then settled down to hold Madoc to three hits for as many tallies over the rest of the route. Madoc scored singles in the third and seventh to keep a jump ahead of the Bluebirds, but Brown's homer in the eighth provided the victory insurance.

Pigden gave up nine hits, walked six and struck three and was credited with the win.

Peter Green and John Casey had two hits for the Bluebirds. Gerry Goyer hit a double with Barclay, Russell, Jones and Bob-by Green good for singles.

Brown's homer and Downey's double were the only extra base knocks for Madoc, with Carswell and Sieveright getting two singles each and Shadbolt, Sherry and Harry Brown good for loners.

The teams:

Madoc — Shadbolt, Sherry, Carswell, W. Brown, H. Brown, Stewart, Hatch, Maynes, Downey, Burnside, Pigden.

Bluebirds—Barclay, Russell, St. Denis, Bovay, P. Green, D. Jones, Walbridge, G. Goyer, Casey, McCurdy, B. Green.

The score:

Montreal Boat Wins Top Prize At Regatta

GANANOQUE, Ont. (CP)—Spectacular racing and unexpected disqualifications of two of the favorites featured the annual International Nickel Cup regatta here Thursday. The top trophy was taken by Esprit de Lasalle I, owned by Dr. P. Latours and driven by Frank Lavigne, both of Montreal.

Last year's winner of the Nickel Cup, Bernard Daoust, of Lachine, Que., brought his Canada Maid first across the finish line in both heats. But both she and Bill Braden, of Watertown, N. Y., driving Aerial V were disqualified for going over the line ahead of the starting gun in the first heat only.

Daoust went on to win the final heat and place second in the race. Wade, of Clayton, N. Y., won third place.

Change Date Of St. Leger

LONDON (AP) — The Jockey Club announced Thursday the St. Leger, last classic of the English racing season, will be run by government request Saturday Sept. 11 instead of Wednesday Sept. 8 as previously scheduled.

The race is run at Doncaster and industrialists had complained a mid-week race would disrupt production.

Frankford Hands Stewart-Warner 16-5 Defeat

The Frankford Merchants handed Stewart Warner their tenth loss of the year by a 16-5 score on Wednesday night behind the pitching and batting of big Barney McColl. The game was played under the lights at the Alexzie field.

McColl hurled the route for the winners, surrendering three singles in the eight inning fixture. He set seven down on strikes while walking nine and hitting three and led his club at bat with a triple, double and single in four trips.

Haslip and Baldwin shared hurling problems for the city crew, the starter working 2 2/3rd innings with seven hits off him accounting for eight runs. He fanned one and walked four. Baldwin went the rest of the way, giving up seven more hits for another eight tallies as he issued two base on balls and whiffed none.

The homers plated runs in every frame except the eighth in which Stewart Warner got two in the sixth and three in the eighth. Leavitt's single was the only Frankford hit in the first but they added a walk and took advantage of an error for a run. One crossed the plate in the second on Murphy's base hit, two walks and another miscue.

Eleven men batted in the third with singles by Rankin, Gordon, Murphy and Austin plus a triple by McColl, hit batter and an error scoring five runs to wind up the victory. Four more in the fourth on Frankford's double, Leavitt's double and a three-bagger made it 12-0. Wickson singled and McColl doubled for two in the fifth while one in the sixth came without a hit.

Ted Hurst broke McColl's bid for a no-hitter in the sixth and after Bertrim walked and Murray reached base on a fielders' choice, Fergus also had a base hit. Two runs scored, one on an error. Bertrim then hit safely, filled the bases with walks and two hit batters for Stewart Warner's three in the eighth. Gilmour banged a home run for Frankford in the seventh to get their sixth run.

McColl was followed in the hitters' department by Gilmour with a homer and a single, Austin had a triple and single while Wickson had a double and single. Wickson, Cooke and Rankin also hit safely.

Line ups:

Frankford — Dafoe, Leavitt, Austin, Rankin, Wickson, Gilmour, Cooke, Murphy, McColl.

Stewart Warner — D. Murray, Donovan, Brooks, Powers, Y. Jones, Bertrim, F. Murray, Little, Draxup, Haslip, Baldwin.

Point Anne Snips Electric's Unbeaten String

(By GARY ALEXANDER)

Northern Electric's bid for an undefeated season was snapped at eleven games on the holiday eve when they lreked to Point Anne and lost a 8-6 thriller to the Cementmen after leading by 5-0 and 7-4 scores right up until the eighth inning.

The league leaders were ahead 7-4 as the Pointers stepped in for their eighth time at bat and Don Boyle was burning five-hit ball on the mound for Northern in his initial start of the season. Bob Graham filed open to left field but Roger Mallory chopped a double down the third base line. Doug Hull lined one to left that Bob Bunton dropped for a two-base error with Mallory racing home on the play. Pat Gilmour promptly slapped another two-bagger off Carter's glove at short with Hull scoring for a 5-4 count and Gilmour scored safely. Coach Jack Elliott inserted Jack Wade as a pinch hitter for Bill Strahan and the big southpaw filed to centre with Gilmour making the score. Sending Boyle to the showers, with Lum Carson taking over. Pat Mackenzie greeted him with Green scoring on the play and seconds later Wade slid across the plate with the winner on a short passed ball.

Terry Henn's boys were far from dead at this point and pinch hitter Earle Gowsell came up to open the ninth. Harry Deruhle banged his fifth hit of the game, a single, to open third but a good throw by Mallory sent DeRuhle off trying for a double. Lum Carson continued to haunt the Ox Pointers by singling home Gowsell for a 8-5 score and Glenn Young was hit by a pitch to put two on base with only one man down. Don Locke popped out to second base and pinch-hitter Jones fanned to end the game and Northern's perfect record.

The Northerners pounded Marcelle for 14 hits, as he whiffed seven and walked five as well as hitting one batter. He was hit safely at least once in every inning.

Don Boyle was the loser in 7⅓ frames, while allowing eight hits and issuing free tickets to four as he set nary a one down via the third strike route. Lum Carson pitched to the last two men in the eighth and while both the Pointer's eighth and ninth runs scored then, the runners were put on base by Boyle, thus they were charged against him.

Singles by DeRuhle and Young, Boyle's double and an infield error accounted for the Electrics second inning trio while two walks, a single by DeRuhle and Genereaux's outfield error made it 4-0 in the third. Young's single, a sacrifice, fly out and another miscue upped the score to 5-0 before Point Anne came to life in the fourth.

A walk, sacrifice, error, Pat Gilmour's double and John Gresock's home run set the lead to 5-4. Northern's sixth and seventh runs came on two walks, Doug Hull's error and Harry DeRuhle's triple in the fifth.

British Cricket

NOTTINGHAM (Reuters) —Bob Appleyard, 30-year-old Yorkshire bowler, had a story book debut in Test cricket Thursday when England dismissed Pakistan for 167 runs in the first innings interval in the first day of play here.

The medium-paced bowler took five Pakistan wickets for 51 as the second test match began. Appleyard had been out of first-class cricket for the last two years with a lung illness.

At the close England was 121 for two wickets, and apparently was in a commanding position.

Joyce Wethered, a famous British professional golfer, once made two "birdies" on one hole! Her drive struck a swallow that flew over the fairway, but in spite of the accident she succeeded in making a golf "birdie" (one under par for the hole)! An unusual fact worth remembering!

Brooks May Be Down But Not Out; Experts Believe Giants Have It

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP) — Having watched Leo Durocher's club take care of its cross river rivals in impressive fashion, and having observed that Mays is not by any means the only big leaguer on its roster, a great many baseball men now believe that the Giants have the class to lead Brooklyn to the wire.

In this corner's opinion, the big herring point came, not in the Giants' spectacular 13-inning victory in the opener Tuesday night, but when Johnny Antonelli, the young lefthander, choked off the league champions in the following afternoon. (And ran his winning record to 11-2 for the season.)

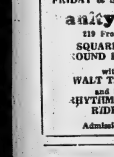
That was the one that hurt the Brooks deeply and convinced the Giants they can't be headed.

MAYS IS KINGPIN

It would be silly, of course, to count the Dodgers out. They are too solid a club to fold up. The familiar aroma of world series cheques, plus a fierce belief in themselves, will have Walt Alston's veteran stars fighting all the way. But one fact is clear now that they can be beaten if the Giants' pitching sustains its present form and nothing serious happen to any of Durocher's key players, especially to Mays.

The Brooks received a severe blow in the big series when their shortstop and captain, Pee Wee Reese, suffered a pulled muscle in his left thigh which might keep him out for 10 days or more. They already had lost the services of their best lefthander, Johnny Podres, for another two or three weeks through an appendicitis operation. Such bad breaks can cost a flag.

LOTS OF DEPTH



The Giants have a sound ball club from stem to stern. They do not boast the power of the Dodgers, according to the figures, but they appear to have the happy faculty of getting the long ones when they need them most, which is even better.

Their pitching, without much debate, is the best in their league. No other club can show three such effective starters as Antonelli, Sal Maglie and Ruben Gomez have been to this point. It is to be seriously doubted that any club in either league boasts two such deadly relievers as Wilhelm and Morv Grissom, a tremendously important item in modern ball.

The team's fielding, especially around the middle — from catcher through shortstop to centrefield, ranks with the best in the game. And finally, the club has Willie Mays. You'll probably hear more of Mm.

Some bridge players never learn. They allow their partners into difficult or impossible contracts without knowing how many tricks are in their pair. They never learn.

A tournament deal that made trouble is shown here:

NORTH
♠ 8 7 4 2
♥ K 5 2
♦ A J 6 5 2
♣ J

WEST
♠ A K Q 10
♦ 10 9
♣ K 8 7 5 3

EAST
♠ J
♥ Q 6 3
♦ Q 8 7 3
♣ 10 9 4 2

SOUTH
♠ 9 6 3
♥ A 2 10 9 7
♦ K 4
♣ A Q 6

At some tables it was bid like this:

South	North
1 S	2 D
2 NT	4 H

The opening bid was on the button. The first response fits the normal pattern. The second bid by south follows routine. But north stepped over the game when he jumped to four hearts.

Some could give practical reasons for avoiding routine. They would say one no-trump instead of two diamonds or two hearts instead of two no-trump. But a jump to four hearts would not be wrong.

North has four tricks; two high cards and two shorts. He has enough for two raises (one raise for each trick in excess of two). A raise to four hearts is stretching one trick.

Just a minute, Mr. Bigshot. Don't go telling my students that such preciseness makes a wooden player. It simply shows him how to value his hand correctly and how to tell his partner.

Soon enough will a student start stretching because of this or that. Soon enough without any urging from you or me. Knowing what he would will keep him from making too many dangerous stretches.

Opening leads from west were spades. After cashing three spade tricks west led a fourth spade, which south ruffed. Meantime, east shifted a couple of clubs. Despite this, one south player made four hearts. But it was not easy.

A method that wins in this on others may be amiss.

ARMS TO GUATEMALA

LONDON (AP)—Trade Minister Heathcoat Amory announced on Tuesday Britain sent arms worth £386 to Guatemala last year.

AT THE McCARTHY—Into the camp of the Utes rides Audie Murphy on a mission that will save the peace or provoke war, in this scene from Universal International's Technicolor production of "Drums Across The River." Lisa Gaye, Lyle Bettger and Walter Brennan are co-starred with Murphy in this story of the Colorado frontier now at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre.

Marlene Adds to Prestige In British Open Defeat; 'Bunty' Stephens Wins Title

GANTON, England (CP) — The 22-hole struggle that sidelined defending champion Marlene Stewart from the British women's golf championship was described Thursday as just about the best in years.

"One of the great matches in the history of the women's golf championship," said the London Daily Mail's Fred Pigeon.

"A stupendous struggle," said Enid Wilson of the London Daily Telegraph. "A marathon match," said The Times.

"Perhaps the greatest and most thrilling golf match one has ever seen," said Pat Ward-Thomas of the Manchester Guardian.

The tributes to the four-hour battle between Marlene and Frances (Bunty) Stephens, golfing daughter of an English professional, included the Yorkshire Post, Ont., girl added to her immense prestige in this country even in defeat.

CAN'T GET OVER IT

"Britons just can't get over her game.

It looks "a good 10 years older than her 30 years," said The Times, calling Marlene as "emotionless miss."

Said the Guardian:

"Not only is Miss Stewart a great stroke player, one of the finest of all women's golf, with a short game in the highest class, but she has self-possession, control and judgment which are almost unbelievable in a girl of 20. Her imperturbation and coolness in assessing a shot reminded one forcibly of Ben Hogan."

Charles Scatchard of the Yorkshire Evening Post called it "magnificent golf with Miss Stewart capable at times concentration behind her poker face." The Yorkshire crowd, watching its first amateur, had no idea that women could play so well. People were amazed."

At the end of the sporting contest, Marlene was "ready to applaud the just waited to get away."

GANTON, England (CP)— Miss Frances Stephens of England, a former champion, won the British women's golf championship Thursday by beating another English girl, Miss Elizabeth Price, by 4 and 3 in the 36-hole final.

Marlene Stewart of Fonthill, Ont., who won the title last year, was beaten 4 of the 22nd hole in the semi - final Wednesday by Miss Stephens. Miss Stephens was champion in 1949 and has twice since been runner-up.

The 22-year-old freckleface from Fonthill lost the rain-soaked game when she drove into a four-foot pit on the 22nd hole.

Earlier, sharpshooting Marlene presented ladder of the title, dropped what seemed certain victory by missing an 18-inch putt on the 18th hole.

FOURTH FINAL

It was "Bunty" Stephen's fourth final in six years.

The match opened in heavy rain, which turned into drizzle as the round progressed. Marlene took the lead at first, but had to stage a thrilling recovery to keep the game going when she reached the last four holes one down.

Peering under a protective eyeshade to keep the rain off her glasses, she drew level on the 383 - yard 16th hole, then went ahead with a par three at the short 17th.

It looked like she had the game sewn up on the 18th hole when she putted to within 18 inches of the cup on her third stroke.

REFUSED TO CONCEDE

Miss Stephens rough-chipped her own ball to the same distance with her third shot. She refused to concede the hole and game — and proved herself right when Marlene made one of her rare bobbles and missed.

The crowd stood in amazed and tense silence until Miss Stephens sunk her putt to keep the game alive.

They stayed even on the next three holes before holing from eight feet on the 21st for birdie threes.

Neither quite got hold of her second shot on the 22nd hole and finished just short.

Marlene chipped to four feet away, her opponent's ball stopped only inches from the hole.

Relay Team Sets Record

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Olympic Club's junior relay team set a record of 1:31.8 for the Canadian junior half-mile relay Wednesday night, shaving more than a second off the old mark.

Ron Brook, Jim Simpson, Clare Crozier and Don House cracked the old time of 1:33.4 in a special race-against-the-clock feature of a meeting between RCAF athletes and the HOC.

The relay team is one of Hamilton's favored entries in the Canadian junior championship meet to be held Friday and Saturday in Windsor.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SATURDAY, JULY 3, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — You may need more sharpness, accuracy to prevent being surprised, unexpectedly caught with defences down or without answer. Channelled through this day are both good and adverse aspects; be on guard.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Do not be the cause of unpleasant domestic or other discussions. It may seem that some irresistible combinations are working against you. That is not so; some days just need more care, caution.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Some unusual elements new to you and your work. Don't let setbacks or obstacles cause you to feel defeated. Be calm, emphatic, don't force issues. Silence could be golden today.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Sound new matters can advance now but be warned against hasty, hazard operations, especially with money, properties. Don't promote ideas which are not in accord with judicious thought or action.

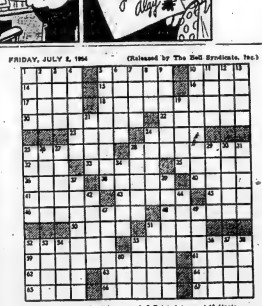
July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — With proper spirit, a tolerant attitude and reasonable desires, you should make a good record today—this month in fact. Have clarity of plans and action, know just what you are about. Develop your talents.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—You can promote your prospects in a Grade-A Virgo manner now. Don't expect top returns unless you give your best—and a little more. Stress justice in all matters.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—True reward does not come without hard work and integrity. For you this day is similar to Cancer. Plan carefully, but hopefully, always.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—A word of advice today: don't force your hand or ideas; they may really not be appropriate now, and a bad reaction could hurt. Concentrate on personal and social affairs.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Be decisive, prompt and soundly positive that you are on the right road. Then go ahead, asking God's blessing. Heart interests may cause concern. Be duly amenable, understanding.



December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—With deft endeavor (and you can produce superb results here), you should make unusual gains. Business, professional, generally skilled activities strongly sponsored.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—You can win wide acceptance and favor now, by being a true, dignified, composed Aquarian native. Some situations call for more astute handling, a sincerity that will muster friends, worthy help.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Pertinent to your agenda is calm, solid thinking, plus a willingness to exert yourself. No restless roaming from this to that! Emphasis on principles will be the solution.

YOU BORN TODAY are tenacious, determined; likely to overdo at times. When living on right plane you are sincere, keen in humor and memory; fond of home, loved ones, children; kindly to animals, and sentimental about keepsakes. You have a talent for entertaining, public speaking. Make a sturdy effort to develop your inborn gifts. Keep studying so that you may reach the highest goals. Whether in trade or profession, you can go far, attain the unusual if you try consistently. Avoid wasters. Birthdate of: Louis XI, king of France; Henry Grattan, Irish statesman.

Sunday School Lesson:

Conversion Is Not Enough

By ROY L. SMITH

The revivalism which has characterized much of our Protestantism has served an extremely useful purpose, but it has also produced an unfortunate result. It has left the convert with the idea that he has "arrived." Thereafter he has not made any spiritual growth.

THE SPIRIT GROWS

One of the first identifications of life is growth. The sand at the pond bed never grows, but the single-celled amoeba bifurcates and becomes two cells and between that lifeless grain and that living cell there is all the miracle we call life.

The living grows; the lifeless does not. That person is no more surely dead when he is entombed, than when he quits growing, and this principle applies to his body, his mind, and his spirit.

The individual who has experienced what the Christian Church calls "conversion" is one who has made a start. Jesus one time referred to it as being born of the spirit. From that point on growth must take place or the conversion means nothing.

CALLS FOR CULTIVATION

The great teachers of the New Testament all unite in declaring the necessity of growth if the richness and the fullness of the spiritual life is to be attained. Paul, Peter, and all the discerning leaders insisted upon the necessity of cultivating the spiritual skills.

That one who goes on from day to day ignoring his spiritual life, aspirations, and instincts, will suffer the same fate within his spirit that another might suffer who went on day after day ignoring his intellectual interests and capacities. Society is so well aware of the necessity of intellectual training that it makes school attendance compulsory. The state will even interfere in the relationship between parent and child, if necessary, to make sure that the child is given adequate schooling.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for July 11: "Are We Growing As Christians?". I Corinthians 2: 1-3; Ephesians 4:11-16; II Peter 1:5-7; 3:18.

It is extremely unfortunate, however, that the spiritual life and skills are so generally neglected, the result being a rapid multiplication of mental cases, overcrowded psychiatric wards, mental maladjustments, and spiritual misfits everywhere.

A PERSONAL PROBLEM

Elbert Hubbard once said, "You can send your son to college but you cannot make him think." There is a vast area of life over which the individual reigns as the final authority.

Every man must assume the responsibility for his own spiritual growth and development. There is no power within the command of the church or the state which makes it possible to impose spiritual skills or spiritual efficiency upon us. These things, then which there is no equipment for life more important, must be personally acquired.

The ability to pray so that one produces results inside his own life, to believe so that by believing we reinforce our own spirits, to face facts with a courage that means triumphant living, to look into the storm and be at peace within one's own soul—all this represents skills that must be acquired. And each man acquires them for himself.

THE CONVERT JUST BEGUN...

The convert to religion is a man who has turned about and started in a new direction, and for the fact that he has done so every godly man gives thanks. But the convert will make the most serious mistake of his life if he fails to recognize that from that point on he must learn and grow. To fail to do so is to invite spiritual death.

Prisoners Captured After Kingston Break

Back in prison after spectacular chase following their escape from Kingston penitentiary, are Frank Watson, 36, and John Fox. They escaped from the prison exercise yard in a garbage truck, took a cab to Belleville, where they were recognized by police. Arrested by Constable John Toll, they fought with him, taking away his revolver, but gave up when more police appeared. Watson was a member of the Boyd gang which terrorized Toronto and sentenced to prison for bank robbery. (Central Press Canadian).

One of Asia's Richest Plums Likely to Fall in Reds' Lap

By LARRY ALLEN

SINGAPORE (AP) — One of the richest prizes in all of Asia is poised to fall into the hands of the Communist-led Vietminh if they take all of Indochina's Red River delta — and it looks as if they will.

Through nearly eight years of war the delta lands have been producing nearly 1,000,000 tons of rice annually — nearly thousands of acres more of rice — growing areas caught by battle into production once the fighting is stopped.

Along with this rice bowl, a complete system of the delta area would give the Vietminh access to big textile and cement plants at Haiphong.

The Vietminh, too, would gain a vast reservoir of manpower to further boot their fighting force. Seven million of the Annam, many of them long pro-Vietminh, live in the delta.

The Vietminh long have wanted the delta, for with it they not only would gain many of their basic food problems but could soon have rice surplus for export that could be used to bargain the rebel within sight of victory.

NOT FAR TO GO

At the moment, the Vietminh do not have far to go to occupy all of the delta. They roughly have from 60 to 75 per cent of it now as the French Union force continues to hold out of the coastal and south-eastern sector, and the heavy ricefe-producing land.

Hourly the threat of a great Vietminh "human sea" attack grows as the French Union defenders solves inside the Hanoi-Haiphong enclave.

It is along the 64-mile stretch of highway and railway between Hanoi and the seaport of Haiphong the French say they will make their last-ditch stand.

But that may be just long enough to evacuate their less than 100 battalions of troops to beachheads at Haiphong and the Do Son peninsula, 13 miles southeast of Haiphong.

When the Vietminh will hit the French Union army of 170,000 men of 200,000 men, including eight regular divisions and 300,000 troops long inside the delta, is anybody's guess. Dispatches from Hanoi, censored and delayed by delay, said the French have already moved out of the northern delta and 2,000 square miles of rich rice land.

MAY BE UNNECESSARY

Cheered by the French general withdrawal from much of the delta and still flushed by their victory in arms in mid-May at Dien Bien Phu, the Vietminh are not expected to terry for the kill. A French last and final attack unless a cease-fire makes such a move unnecessary.

If the French leave by agreement, or are forced out in a "Dunkirk" at Haiphong, there is likely to be widespread repercussions immediately throughout the rest of Indo-China.

For eight years the millions of Viet Namese, and the Cambodians and Laotians too, have heard that as long as the French hold the delta the rest of Indo-China is safe.

Not Disturbed About Having No Civic Reception

TORONTO (CP)—Former king Peter II of Yugoslavia said today he is not disturbed about Toronto having no civic reception for him.

"I don't believe in making the news and my trip has no particular significance," the exiled king commented in an interview after he arrived here from the United States.

He was somewhat surprised at the mild furor created in some circles because Toronto had no civic reception for him. He is here at the request of the Serbian National League of Canada and was met by league president Milton Rajicich at nearby Malton airport.

"I did not expect a reception," he said. Accompanying him was Constantin Fotich, Yugoslav ambassador to Washington from 1934 to 1941.

Mayor Leslie Saunders of Toronto, attending an Orange Lodge convention in Saskatoon, said there was no reception because he had no intention of "getting the city mixed up in international and domestic politics."

Peter was invited to Canada to take part in ceremonies commemorating Serbia's uprising against Turkish rule 150 years ago.

Little 'Mo' Wins Tennis Title

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)— Maureen Connolly of San Diego, Calif., won her third Wimbledon ladies singles championship in a match that was a delay, delay, over Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif.

Miss Brough also is a three-time Wimbledon queen — winning here in 1948-49-50.

The victory was methodically accomplished by the tiny 19-year-old.

Only in the last set was there any question as to who would win. Miss Brough jumped into a 5-3 lead in that set. But little Mo turned on the steam again and Miss Brough did not take another game.

Parades, Fireworks, Patriotic Speeches Formula for Celebrations

NEW YORK (AP) — Throughout the United States this weekend, in big cities and small towns, Fourth of July celebrations will blend parades and the old formula of parade, fireworks and patriotic speeches.

But behind the speeches will lie the modern problems of an uneasy atomic age, more sweeping than any that could be imagined when American independence was declared 178 years ago.

Celebrations at some of the most historic shrines however, will keep alive an appreciation of the country's early struggles and hardships and of the courage required to overcome them.

There will be ceremonies at Valley Forge, near Philadelphia, where prospects for U.S. success

MEDICAL CORPS CELEBRATES 50TH ANNIVERSARY

Colorful History Told in Pageant Form

By WALTER GRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CAMP BORDEN, Ont. (CP)— The Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps threw a birthday party Friday—for itself.

Fifty years old and still growing, the corps showed off its men to army brass from Canada, Britain and the United States and took in pageant form of its colorful history.

It invited Lady Henriette Baring to open officially a new barracks block and then took all their members' lad friends and visiting firemen into the theatre for a test.

There were telegrams of congratulations to be read — Queen Mother Elizabeth, the corps' colonel-in-chief, was the best wisher, as did former defence minister Claxton, Gen. Foulkes, chairman of the chiefs of staff and Lt.-Gen. G. C. Simonds, chief of the general staff.

ALL JOIN IN

Maj.-Gen. W. H. S. Macklin, adjutant - general of the Canadian Army, dropped in to inspect the troops. Maj.-Gen. G. E. Armstrong, surgeon general of the United States Army, and Maj.-Gen. C. Cotrell-Dill, director of medical training, United Kingdom war office, and Brig. D. A. D. Graham, general officer commanding central command joined the party.

Brig. E. A. McCusker, colonel commandant, Canada, and Col. K. J. Coates, commandant of the RCAMC school here, were hosts at the reception.

In a short address following the march past, Gen. Macklin told the RCAMC to look to the future.

"There is no use talking of old wars," he said. "Get yourself ready for new wars. Never in our history have we been faced with such a threat."

HISTORY RECALLED

Then the pageant spectators who surrounded the wind-swept parade square applauded an hour-long historical pageant of the corps. It began with the plumed uniform of the first surgeon-general, Col. Dollard Darby Bergin of Cornwall, Ont., who laid the foundations of the corps in 1904 and was awarded a medical service during the Riel rebellion.

Then came the original nursing sister in white bicycle skirt, red cape and bonnet, and her sailor mate—the uniform worn when the corps was officially organized in 1904.

There were the horse and buggy drawn ambulances, wagon and the one-cylinder motor - ambulance wagon that took the casualties from the front lines during the First World War.

The pageant also showed the corps' modern might—its huge ambulance trucks, field sterilizers and efficient personnel that followed the fighting soldiers through Sicily, Italy and the Western Front.

SERVED IN KOREA

Post - war international tension brought about a marked expansion. The RCAMC served on active duty in Korea using helicopter ambulances as an advanced method of transporting casualties to hospitals. It is represented in Germany by a field ambulance.

Lady Banting, whose late husband, Sir Frederick Banting—the discoverer of insulin—was also a Lieutenant-colonel in the corps, unveiled a plaque officially opening the Banting Block, the latest type construction of barracks for the expanding Camp Borden school.

Cost-of-Living in May Likely To Reverse Downward Trend

OTTAWA (CP) — Living costs generally declined earlier this year. But figures for May, to be released Monday, likely will tell a different story.

Indications are the consumer price index, yardstick for measuring living costs, may show one of the biggest rises in recent months.

The index, based on 1949 prices equalling 100, dropped by one-tenth of a point to 113.5 in April. With the exception of an increase of one-tenth of a point in March, the index has been dropping steadily since October when it stood at 116.7, the highest for 1953.

This compared with the 1953 low of 114.4 in April last year. Months were only three big rises in 1953, in June, August and September, each of one-half point.

These half-point rises were the largest since the 1-point jump in fifths of a point in October, 1951.

The index peak was 118.2, reached in December, 1951.

The April drop of one-tenth of a point, and previous declines, resulted mainly from lower food prices. These drops more than balanced the rise in costs of such other consumer needs as shelter, health care, grooming and recreation.

The yardstick didn't shift more than a fifth of a point in the first four months of 1954.

During April the food sub-index dropped by 0.7 points to 110.2, the lowest in a year. This compares with the all-time high of 122.3 in October and November, 1951.

The shelter column, which includes rents and home-ownership costs, continued to show previous records, climbing to a new high of 123.8, up a fifth of a point. The clothing period it had climbed 2.3 points.

Guatemala's Liberation Army Not Satisfied With Truce Pact

By JACK RUTLEDGE

GUATEMALA CITY (AP)— Rebel leader Col. Carlos Castillo Armas planned to fly to this westcentral Guatemala city today to discuss his role in Guatemala's new anti-Communist government and the dissatisfaction in the ranks of the leader's "liberation army" dimmed by the triumph of the revolt.

Castillo acknowledged at his Chimaltenango headquarters Friday that "most of my men are not satisfied with the agreement reached in San Salvador."

The peace pact, signed with Col. Allegro Monzon Paz, provided for neighboring El Salvador, patched together a five-man junta. Monzon was allowed to remain as chief of government chief until the junta elected a permanent head in 15 days.

It was not known whether Monzon also planned to return to the Guatemalan capital today.

Both colonels in a newspaper back Friday and Guatemala pat on a big fiesta to welcome them. The celebration, starting out gaily with popping fireworks and clanging church bells, fizzled out as the two men failed to show up.

Castillo in a statement to the question of whether Castillo or Monzon would wield top power. Besides the five-man junta in San Salvador, it includes one member of Castillo's strongest government in exile from Monzon's regime, Junta decisions will be by majority vote. The junta needs only a bare majority to win the upper hand. It was speculated, however, that Castillo hoped to swing a majority to his side in the two weeks before a permanent government is to be elected.

In the capital the government announced that it had discovered and had been rounded up within a radius of 30 miles of the capital, 200 persons including army officers and leaders had eluded capture, going underground or taking refuge in foreign embassies.

Two former officials in ex-president Jacobo Arbenz regime turned up in Mexico and were granted political asylum. The pair, who fled in a private plane, were Rogelio Cruz Wer, who had headed the national police, and Jaime Rosenberg, former chief of the secret police.

'Darling Dolly' Spencer Guilty of Forging Will

LONDON (Reuters) —A former queen of London's cafe society was sentenced Thursday to five years in prison for trying to deprive her children of their rightful inheritance.

"Darling Dolly" Spencer was found guilty of forging a will, confessed to possessing and uttering forged documents, fabricating false evidence and subverting a witness.

Sentenced to seven years on the same charges was a Napoleon Ryder, business man and naturalized Polish immigrant, whom Dolly met through a newspaper advertisement four years ago.

Dolly, her once raven locks turned grey, her once attractive face blanched out of the courtroom dock in a wheelchair. She had burst into tears when the Lord Chief Justice pronounced sentence. Ryder collapsed, almost knocking her over in the dock.

WED WEALTHY DOCTOR

Dolly sprang into society in the early 1920s when she married a wealthy doctor for whom her wife loved. As Mrs. Dorothy Spencer Lewis she moved easily in the social whirl and gave her three gala dancing daughters, described by Noel Coward as "smiling, sweetfaced cherubs," a taste of the attraction at many a stylish garden party.

Lewis, who twice had gone to jail for performing illegal operations, died in 1950. Shortly afterward Doly met Ryder. Soon he moved into the Lewis home in suburban London and became "Uncle Pole."

Dolly's 21-year-old daughter Diana, now Mrs. Diana Loudan, presently began asking questions about the money Lewis had left her and her sisters. She was told no money had been left to her. Then Dolly found an old notebook in the attic in which Lewis had recorded his daughters' clear right to about £30,000.

The court was told Dolly had forged documents to get all her children's inheritance transferred to her own account and when this was challenged, produced a forged will in which everything was left to her. This device fell through when detectives found extra-rough drawings to detect pencil tracings beneath the false signatures.

Three Actresses Seeking Child Support Payments

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—There were some peculiar links in domestic situations revealed Friday by three actresses appeared seeking child support payments.

Appearing were Joanne Dru, 25, Seatle. There was no direct connection among the three cases —except that all wanted money— but the links were there.

Miss Dru, now the wife of actor John Ireland, demanded that her former husband, Actor Charles Haymes, make up $4,800 in back payments on behalf of their two children. A bench warrant was issued for the singer's arrest. He was reported living with Vera Ellen, 4, Rita Hayworth, at Lake Tahoe in Nevada in his current deportation case.

SEEKS BACK PAYMENTS

Miss Eddington asked that actor Errol Flynn pay $6,000 she says is due in back payments for support of their two children. Flynn's telephone, plus $1,500 for medical expenses, is unpaid.

She complained she had to borrow money from friends to meet her bills. One who lent her $1,000, she said, was Flynn.

ELECT OFFICERS

WINDSOR (CP) — R. J. Service of Windsor Friday was elected president of the Business Educators' Association of Canada at the association's annual meeting. Other officers include: Lloyd G. Doughty, Toronto, vice-president; J. M. Rosser, St. Thomas, chief examiner.

ONCE-WEALTHY PICKPOCKET QUEEN DIES

Amassed a Fortune In Roaring 20s

DALLAS (AP) — Maud Lynch, queen of the Dallas underworld and pickpocket deluxe in prohibition days, is dead.

Maud died Friday night 12 minutes after she reached a hospital after she had been found ill and half-paralyzed in a cheap walk-up hotel. She was 56, broke and alone. Doctors said she apparently had suffered a stroke.

A petite young woman with dark chestnut hair, her trademarks were swank black limousines and white furs back in the Roaring 20s and early 30s. She amassed a fortune, police and newspaper men said, as a prostitute, shoplifter and pickpocket.

She wore diamonds worth thousands of dollars, and often pawned them if she needed a quick dollar for a down-and-out pal, man or woman.

Veteran policemen remember her in the 20s as a nimble-fingered lady who stole from men and from a wealthy customer, lured into her big car by her apparent affluence and her friendliness.

HAD FEW PROSECUTIONS

She had a horror of riding to jail. Most times she successfully dodged it hundreds of times by bribing officers and bondsmen and lawyers to inquire if her mack victim had complained. Her scandal-shy victims usually refused to appear her in court.

Maud discovered $400 she'd stolen from a west Texas minister was his congregation's cash. She sent him $400 and asked him to return the money.

She got a clue of 11 goes back to a preacher like you, coming to me!" she bolled. She gave the roll to detectives and warned them the red-faced clergyman was not to be touched with church funds.

When times got hard, and men with playing money became fewer during the depression, Maud drifted back to shop-lifting, with which she started her crime career in 1917. Mike and more she turned to narcotics.

Police say she never had an enemy. She died Friday night without a friend in the world, or more than thousands of parties, and thousands of victims after that first arrest in 1917—for shoplifting some pretty lingerie.

Reward Offered For Information On Missing Girl

EDMONTON (CP)—The whereabouts of two-year-old Lisa Mason remained a mystery today.

A giant search which continued all night failed to uncover a clue to what happened to the tiny, blonde girl after she disappeared from near her home on the eastern outskirts of this Alberta city.

A $500 reward was offered Friday for information leading to the safe return of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mason.

Police say they have no enemy Diane or knowing where she is please tell us."

And, police persons, including policemen, soldiers and school children, took part in the organized search Friday which continued on a smaller scale during the night.

Detroit Woman Wins Freedom After 19 Years Illegal Confinement

DETROIT (AP) — "I hope somebody believes me."

That was the hope the grey-haired lady passed on to the rest of the world. She ended 19 years of what she said was illegal confinement in hospitals, gaining freedom mostly by her own efforts.

Mrs. Louise L. Hartway, the 61-year-old woman, gasped with joy Friday after Wayne County Circuit Judge Lila M. Neunenfeld ruled she had been committed without sufficient evidence.

Dressed in an old fashioned black blouse and skirt, she trembled nearalghtedly because she had misplaced her glasses.

It was Mrs. Hartway's own tediously drawn legal document that opened the gates of the institutions that had confined her since 1935. Judge Neunenfeld said the handwritten jhabeas corpus petition was "a perfect legal order."

It led Judge Neunenfeit to request a lawyer for Mrs. Hartway.

Mrs. Hartway apologized for "making trouble." She held a tube of cheap lipstick.

"Here I am and this is all I have," she said. "I wanted to look so glamorous today."

Then she happily boarded a plane Friday night for new Orleans where she has a daughter and 10 grandchildren. Mrs. Hartway's husband died in 1933 of cancer.

It was a dispute over money that began the 19-year nightmare. Police arrested her in 1935 during an argument over a debt owed her. She was placed in a hospital for observation. The examining doctors didn't testify in the court proceedings. They only signed affidavits saying she had a persecution complex and was irrational.

Nova Scotia Storm, Worst in Memory, Starts Big Fires

Halifax Folks Believed Naval Magazine Exploded

HALIFAX (CP)—The most violent lightning storm in half a century laced this Nova Scotia capital and nearby Dartmouth Friday night, caused two spectacular fires and revived jitters of the area's explosion - conscious populace.

Rattle booming thunder and lightning flashed across an early-evening crimson sky, switchboards at police and fire stations were jammed by residents inquiring if the nearby Bedford naval ammunition magazine had blown up as it did in 1945.

Thousands also braved the lashing rain to seek vantage points to watch the fires in two Dartmouth lumber yards, across the harbor from Halifax. There were no injuries.

LUMBER FIRMS RAZED

Flames, driven by gale force winds, leveled the Dartmouth branch of the MacCulloch lumber firm, causing more than $250,000 damage. And less than a mile away flames destroyed the main warehouse of the Dawson Lumber and Fence Company at a loss of $60,000.

The storm also touched off numerous smaller fires, toppled chimneys, ripped off roofing and flooded cellars.

Nearly an inch of rain washed out lawns and dirt roads.

The weather office described the storm as "the most violent in modern memory."

Cabinet Shuffle Ignores Toronto Hees Complains

TORONTO (CP)—George Hees, president of the Progressive Conservative Association of Canada, Friday described as "extraordinary" that none of the prime ministers St. Laurent's new cabinet appointments come from the Toronto metropolitan area.

Mr. Hees, member Parliament for Toronto Broadview, said in a statement that the prime minister has "continued to deny cabinet representation to the nearly 1,250,000 people living in this important industrial area."

He said also not one of the 20 parliamentary assistants has been appointed from this area and "so it is clear that metropolitan Toronto cannot expect to have representation in the cabinet for at least several years to come."

"Shocking as this may be, even more shocking is the fact that the boundaries of the new riding formed by Chatham, Owen Sound and Cornwall has no representation," Mr. Hees said. "And when making his three latest appointments to the senate, Mr. Gardiner failed to refusing representation in his cabinet to an area representing more than 3,000,000 Canadians who live in the industrial heart land of Canada."

Cranks Make World Go Round Doctor Claims

LONDON (Reuters)—A medical official Friday criticized psychiatrists for trying to make people normal.

"It is maladjustment that makes the world go round," he said.

Dr. John R. Kershaw, medical officer with the Essex county council, told a national conference for maternal and child welfare here, that too much effort was being made to turn people into sheep.

"It is the cranks, the people who do not quite fit and the people who are individuals who get things done and make for progress. Modern maladjustment is that conformation is a good thing," he said.

33 Canadians Killed so Far During Holiday

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

At least 33 Canadians have been killed in accidents since the beginning of the Dominion Day holiday. One of the worst violent deaths occurred in northern British Columbia when flames enveloped a man in a parade of floats.

Ontario led provincial totals with 15 fatalities. Nine persons were killed in Quebec, four in Manitoba, three each in Saskatchewan and Alberta, each in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, a Canadian Press compilation showed.

Between 6 p.m. Wednesday and midnight some from the Toronto metropolitan area:

Mr. Hees, member Parliament for Toronto Broadview, said in a statement that the prime minister has "continued to deny cabinet representation to the nearly 1,250,000 people living in this important industrial area."

Duplessis Urges CNR to Construct Quebec Railways

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Duplessis Friday cautioned Canadian National Railways against ignoring the needs of northern railways.

He told his weekly press conference the CNR should not expect "favors and privileges" from the government if it refused to grant Quebec its rights."

"Quebec, he said, province the least-equipped in railways and yet, like other provinces, it possesses well-defined rights."

The CNR has announced it will build a line from Chibougamau west of Beattyville, Que., in Abitibi, but that it does not intend to extend the line east to St. Felicien in the Chicoutmi-Lake St. John district the area, opens up to provide sufficient business.

An ore refinery planned at Chibougamau, Duplessis said, will give work to hundreds of persons. "It would be a crime and injustice for CNR authorities not to delay construction of the Chibougamau-St. Felicien link."

Back in prison after spectacular chase following their escape from Kingston penitentiary are Frank Watson, 36, and John Fox. They escaped from the prison exercise yard in a garbage truck, took a cab to Belleville, where they were recognized by police. Arrested by Constable John Tull, they fought with him, taking away his revolver, but gave up when more police appeared. Watson was a member of the Boyd gang in Toronto and sentenced to prison for bank robbery. (Central Press Canadian).

By LARRY ALLEN

SINGAPORE (AP) — One of the richest prizes in all of Asia is going to fall into the hands of the Communist-led Vietminh if they take all of Indo-China in the showdown — and it looks as if they will.

Through nearly eight years of war the delta lands have been producing nearly 1,000,000 tons of rice annually. Some of the thousands of acres more of rice — growing areas could go a long way toward putting the rice the fighting is stopped.

Along with this rice bowl, a complete arsenal of guns also would give the Vietminh access to big textile manufacturing centers and cement plant at Haiphong.

The Vietminh, too, would gain a vast reservoir of manpower to swell their boot their fighting force. Seven million Vietnamese live on them long pro-Vietminh, live in the delta.

The Vietminh long have wanted the delta, for with it they not only would achieve many of their basic food problems but could soon have rice surplus for export that could be used to bridge the rebel within sight of victory.

NOT FAR TO GO

At the same time, the Vietminh do not have far to go to occupy all of the delta. They roughly have from 60 to 75 per cent of it now. To as the French Union force controls the southern tip of the peninsula and south-eastern sector, the heart of the rice-producing land.

Hanoi, the throne of a great Vietminh "human sea" attack grows as the French withdraw themselves inside the Hanoi-Haiphong enclave.

It is along the 64-mile stretch of highway and railway between Hanoi and the port of Haiphong the French say they will make their last-ditch stand.

But that will be just long enough to evacuate their less than 100 battalions of troops to the enclave at Haiphong and the Do Son peninsula, 12 miles southeast of Haiphong.

When the Vietminh will hit the French highway with their weapons of 200,000 men, including eight regular divisions and 100,000 troops long familiar in delta, is anybody's guess. Dispatches from Hanoi, considered usually reliable, say that the French have already moved out of five fortified cities and 2,000 square miles of rich rice land.

MAY BE UNNECESSARY

Cheered by the French general withdrawal, the Vietminh of the delta and still flushed by their victory in seven years of French Union fortress in May at Dien Bien Phu, the Vietminh are not expected to carry the fight to the last ditch and final attack unless a cease-fire makes such a move unnecessary.

If the French leave by agreement, or are forced out in a "Dunkirk" at Haiphong, there is likely to be widespread repercussions immediately throughout the rest of Indo-China.

For eight years the millions of Viet Namese, and the Cambodians and Laotians too, have heard that as long as the French held the delta the rest of Indo-China is safe.

Parades, Fireworks, Patriotic Speeches Formula for Celebrations

NEW YORK (AP) — Throughout the United States this weekend, in big cities and small towns, Fourth of July celebrations will follow a pattern as old as the corn: parade, fireworks and patriotic speeches.

But behind the speeches will lie the modern problems of an unsettled world in a time more tense than any that could be imagined when American independence was declared 178 years ago.

Celebrations at some of the most historic shrines however, will keep alive an appreciation of the country's early struggles and hardships and of the courage required to overcome them.

There will be ceremonies at Valley Forge, near Philadelphia, where prospects for U.S. success in the war for independence reached their lowest ebb. At the Washington Memorial Chapel there, descendants of Charles and Johns of Florida will speak.

Philadelphia, home of the liberty bell.

Fireworks will light up Boston's famed waterfront where independence was preached and stoutly defended. And several blocks away at the Old State House, now an historical museum, the Declaration of Independence will be read.

Cost-of-Living in May Likely To Reverse Downward Trend

OTTAWA (CP) — Living costs generally declined earlier this year. But figures for May, to be released Monday, likely will tell a different story.

The index, based on 1949 prices equalling 100, dropped by one-tenth of a point to 115.5 in April. With the exception of an increase of one-tenth of a point in March, the index has been dropping steadily since October when it stood at 116.7, the highest for 1953.

This compared with the 1953 low of 114.4 in April a year ago. There were only three big rises in 1953, in June, August and September, each of one-half point.

These half-point rises were the largest since the 1951 rises of two-fifths of a point in October, 1953.

The index peak was 118.2, reached in December, 1951.

The April drop or one-tenth of-a point, and previous declines, resulted mainly from lower food prices. These drops more than balanced the rise in costs of such other consumer needs as shelter, health care, grooming and recreation.

The yardstick didn't shift more than a fifth of a point in the first four months of 1954.

During April the food sub-index declined by one-fifth of a point to 110.2, the lowest in a year. This compares with the all-time high of 122.5 in October and November, 1951.

The shelter column, which includes rents and home-ownership costs, continued to shatter previous records, climbing to a new high of 123.8, up a fifth of a point. The three-month period it had climbed 2.2 points.

By JACK RUTLEDGE

GUATEMALA CITY (AP)—Rebel leader Col. Carlos Castillo Armas planned to fly to this west Caribbean capital today from Honduras his role in Guatemala's new anti-Communist government. But dissatisfaction in the ranks of the leader's "liberation army" dimmed the triumph of his return.

Castillo acknowledged at his Children's Hospital Friday that "most of my men are not satisfied with the agreement reached in San Salvador."

The peace pact, signed with Col. Alfego Monzon of the tiny neighboring El Salvador, patched together a five-man junta. Monzon was allowed to name one of the government chief until the junta elected a permanent head in 180 days.

It was not known whether Monzon also planned to return to the Guatemalan capital today.

Both colonels had announced back Friday and Guatemala put on a big fiesta to welcome them. The celebration, starting out gaily with popping fireworks and clanging church bells, fizzled out as the two men failed to show up.

Still to be worked out is the question of whether Castillo or Monzon would wield top power. Besides the five-member junta, the pact includes one member of Castillo's insurgent government and one from Monzonist regime. Junta decisions will be by majority vote.

'Darling Dolly' Spencer Guilty of Forging Will

LONDON (Reuters) —A former queen of London's cafe society was sentenced Thursday to five years in prison for trying to deprive her children of their rightful inheritance.

"Darling Dolly" Spencer was found guilty of forging a will, concealing it, producing forged documents, fabricating false evidence and subornning a witness.

Sentenced to seven years for the same charges was a Napoleon Ryder, business man and naturalized Polish immigrant, whom Dolly met during a newspaper advertisement four years ago.

Dolly, her once raven locks turned grey, her once attractive face blotched and lined, was carried out into tears when the Lord Chief Justice pronounced sentence. Ryder collapsed, almost knocking the dock over in the dock.

WED WEALTHY DOCTOR

Dolly sprang into society in the early 1920s when she married a wealthy doctor for whom her self-made husband, Sir Percy Spencer Lewis she moved easily in the social whirl. She left her three grandchildren, described by Noel Coward as "melting, sweet-faced cherubs," after a bitter attraction at many a stylish garden party.

Lewis, who twice had gone to jail for performing illegal operations, died in 1936. Shortly afterward Dolly met Ryder. Soon he was living in the Spencer home in suburban London and became "Uncle Poke."

Dolly's 21-year-old daughter Diana, now Mrs. Diana Loudan, presently living in Australia, discovered the money Lewis had left her and her sisters. She was told no money had been left to her. She later found an old notebook in the attic in which Lewis had recorded his daughters' clear right to about £30,000.

The court was told Dolly had forged documents to get all her children's inheritance transferred to her own account and when this was challenged, produced a forged will in which everything was left to her. This device fell through when detectives used infra-red rays to detect pencil tracings beneath the false signatures.

Three Actresses Seeking Child Support Payments

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—There were some peculiar links in domestic entanglements Thursday as three actresses appeared seeking child support payments.

Appearing were Joanne Dru, Beth Scarlett. There was no direct connection among the three cases —except that all wanted money—for baby.

Miss Dru, now the wife of actor John Ireland, demanded that her former husband, Actor Jeffrey Haymes, make up $4,800 in back payments for support of their two children. A bench warrant was issued for the singer's arrest. He was reported waiting with wife No. 4, Rita Hayworth, at Lake Tahoe in Nevada in his current deportation case.

SEEKS BACK PAYMENTS

Miss Eddington asked that actor Errol Flynn pay $6,000 she says is due in back payments for support of their two children. Flynn's case was continued until Nov. 16 when Flynn's counsel said he does not intends to pay but is having trouble getting money out of Italy where he presently is living.

After divorcing Flynn, Miss Eddington succeeded Miss Dru and married Actor Jeffrey Haymes. She also divorced the crooner.

Miss de Scarlet, separated from actor Bruce Cabot, was awarded $400 monthly for the support of their 20-month-old daughter, Alphosaine, plus $1,500 for medical and hospital bills.

She complained she had to borrow money from friends to meet the bills. One who lent her $1,000, she said, was Flynn.

WINDSOR (CP) — R. J. Service of Windsor Friday was elected president of the Business Educators' Association of Canada at the group's annual meeting. Other officers include: Lloyd G. Doughtery, Kitchener, vice-president; J. M. Rosser, St. Thomas, chief examiner.

ONCE-WEALTHY PICKPOCKET QUEEN DIES

Amassed a Fortune In Roaring 20s

DALLAS (AP) — Maud Lynch, queen of the Dallas underworld and pickpocket deluxe in prohibition days, is dead.

Maud died Friday night 15 minutes after she reached a hospital after she had been found ill and half-paralyzed in a cheap walk-up hotel. She was 56, broke and alone. Doctors said she apparently had suffered a stroke.

A petite young woman with dark chestnut hair, her trademarks were swank black limousines and white furs back in the Texas roaring 20s and early 30s. She amassed a fortune, police and newspaper men said, as a prostitute, shoplifter and pickpocket.

She wore diamonds worth thousands of dollars, and often pawned them if she needed a quick dollar for a down-and-out pal, man or woman.

Veteran policemen remember her in the 20s as a nimble-fingered thief who "lifted" stole from many a wealthy customer, lured into her big car by her apparent affluence and her beauty.

HAD FEW PROSECUTIONS

She had a horror of riding to jail. In her 30 years of crime, Maud dodged 11 hundreds of times by hiring expensive lawyers and bondsmen to inquire if her male victim had complained. Her scandal-shy victims rarely pressed charges against her in court.

Maud discovered $400 she'd stolen from a west Texas minister was his congregation's cash. She refused to keep the money. She'd turn the money.

"But get a dime of it goes back to a preacher like you, coming to me!" she boiled. She gave the roll to newsmen and warned that any red-faced clergyman was not to be trusted with church funds.

When times got hard, and men with playing money became fewer during the depression, Maud turned back to shop-lifting, with which she started her criminal career in 1917. More and more she turned to larcenies.

Police say she never had an enemy. She died Friday night without a friend. She had befriended hundreds of parties, and thousands of victims after that fi;e1 arrest in 1917—for shoplifting some pretty lingerie.

Reward Offered For Information On Missing Girl

A giant search which continued all night failed to produce a clue to uncover a clue to what happ ened to the tiny, blonde girl after she left her home to play with a friend home on the eastern outskirts of the provincial capital.

A $500 reward was offered Friday for information leading to the adopted child of Mr. and Mrs. Harwood Mason. The foster mother pleaded with the kidnaper, assuming Diane or knowing where she is please tell us."

About 1,000 persons, including policemen, soldiers and school children, took part in the mammoth search Friday which continued on a smaller scale during the night.

Detroit Woman Wins Freedom After 19 Years Illegal Confinement

DETROIT (AP) — "I hope somebody wins one."

That was the hope the grey-haired lady passed on to the rest of the world. She ended 19 years as an inmate of mental hospitals, gaining freedom mostly through luck.

Mrs. Louise L. Hartway, the 61-year-old woman, gasped with joy Friday when Circuit Court Judge Lila M. Neuenfeldt ruled she had been committed without sufficient evidence.

It was Mrs. Hartway's own tendiously drawn legal document that opened the gates of the institutions that had confined her since 1935. She presented it—the handwritten habeas corpus petition was "a perfect legal order."

It led Judge Neuenfelt to request a lawyer for Mrs. Hartway.

Mrs. Hartway apologized for "looking like a hobo." She held a tube of cheap lipstick.

"Here I am and this is all I have," she said. "I wanted to look so glamorous today."

Police Friday boarded a plane Friday night for New Orleans where she has a daughter and 10 grandchildren. Mrs. Hartway's daughter Mrs. Dorothy Hartway Cards she made in the state hospital and then sold.

It was a dispute over money that began the 19-year nightmare. Police arrested her in 1935 after an argument over a debt owed her. She was placed in a hospital for observation. The examining doctors didn't testify in the court proceedings. They only signed affidavits saying she had a persecution complex and was irrational.

Nova Scotia Storm, Worst in Memory, Starts Big Fires

Halifax Folks Believed Naval Magazine Exploded

HALIFAX (CP)—The most violent lightning storm in half a century laced this Nova Scotia capital and nearby Dartmouth Friday night, caused two spectacular fires and revived jitters of the area's explosion - conscious populace.

While booming thunder and lightning flashed across an early-morning crimson sky, switchboards at police and fire stations were jammed by residents inquiring if the nearby Bedford basin naval magazine had blown up as it did in 1945.

Thousands also braved the lashing rain to seek vantage points to watch the fires in two Dartmouth firms, Halifax. There were no injuries.

LUMBER FIRMS RAZED

Flames, driven by gale force winds, leveled the Dartmouth branch of the MacCulloch lumber firm, causing more than $500,000 damage. And less than a mile away flames destroyed the main sawmill at the Woodlawn Lumber and Fence Company at a loss of $100,000.

The storm also touched off numerous smaller fires, uprooted trees, ripped off slate roofing. Nearly an inch of rain washed out lawns and dirt roads.

The weather office described the storm as the most violent in modern memory."

Cabinet Shuffle Ignores Toronto Hees Complains

TORONTO (CP)—George Hees, president of the Progressive Conservative Association of Canada, Friday described as "extraordinary" the news of Prime Minister St. Laurent's new cabinet appointments announced some from the metropolitan area".

Mr. Hees, member of Parliament for Toronto Broadview, said in a statement that the prime minister has "continued to deny cabinet representation to the nearly 1,250,000 people living in this important industrial area."

He said also not one of the 20 parliamentary assistants has been appointed from this area and "so it is clear that metropolitan Toronto cannot expect to have representation in the cabinet for at least three years to come."

"Shocking as this may be, even more shocking is the fact that the Liberal party, by the friends formed by Chatham, Owen Sound and Cornwall has no representation," Mr. Hees said. "And when making his three latest appointments Mr. Laurent completely ignored in refusing representation in his cabinet to the area containing more than 3,000,000 Canadians who live in the industrial heart land of Canada."

PROTEST FIRING

BERLIN (Reuters) — United States Army headquarters in Europe "protested vigorously" to Russian authorities Friday against firing on an American convoy travelling from West Germany to Berlin. No one was hurt, an American spokesman here said.

33 Canadians Killed so Far During Holiday

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

At least 33 Canadians have been killed in accidents since the beginning of the Dominion Day holiday. One of the worst violent deaths occurred in southern British Columbia when flames enveloped a woman in a parade of floats.

Ontario led reported fatals with 15 fatalities. Nine persons were killed in Quebec, four in Manitoba, two each in Alberta and Saskatchewan and one each in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, a Canadian Press compilation showed.

Between 6 p.m., Wednesday and midnight Friday, 12 persons were drowned, 11 died in highway accidents, five were burned to death, one man was electrocuted, another shot himself and a workman was killed by a falling tree branch.

Owing to the long week-end given workers this year, provincial policing authorities across the country expect fatalities will increase when highways become jammed with home-coming motorists Sunday night.

Provincial parks on the Dominion Day parade in Merritt, B.C., saw Louis Pessier, 43, one of the riders of a horse-drawn float in the parade lead, become consumed by fire. He was in a small blaze in the large iron pot in the centre of the float set fire to Pessier's rope skirt.

Duplessis Urges CNR to Construct Quebec Railways

He told his weekly press conference the CNR should not expect "favors and privileges" from the government if it refused to grant Quebec its rights."

"Quebec pays, by province the least-equipped in railways and yet, like other provinces, it possesses well-defined rights," he said.

The CNR has announced it will build a line from Chibougamau-Lake Chibougamau west of Beattyville, Que., in Abitbi, but that it does not intend to construct a line to Felicien in the Chicoutmi-Lake St. John district until the area opens up to provide sufficient business.

An ore refinery planned at Chibougamau, Felicien Duplessis said, will give work to hundreds of persons and therefore will be a serious injustice for CNR authorities . . . to delay construction of the Chibougamau-St. Felicien line."

Child Critically Injured In Fall Off Bike

Carl Gean, age 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanely Gean of Plainfield is in critical condition in Belleville hospital as a result of falling or being knocked from his bicycle on No. 2 highway near O'Brien's Bridge.

Police said today the lad was still unconscious from a fractured skull injury, when he struck his head on the pavement.

The accident occurred Friday afternoon when the Gean boy with another lad was riding abreast on their bicycles, when as a panel truck driven by Cecil Bulgit, Cherrywood, Ont., approaching from the rear turned out to pass, the lad suddenly swung to the left side of the highway.

DRIVER SWERVES TRUCK

Bulgit swerved his panel truck in an effort to avoid the lad but he over-balanced and fell to the roadway striking his head. Dr. John Bateman of Belleville treated the unconscious lad at the scene and ordered him to the hospital.

Provincial police today warned parents of the dangers of allowing small children to ride their bicycles on the highways.

"Small children fail to realize the danger of riding their bikes where even a slight deviation may throw them under the wheels of a passing car," said Cpl. H. Barker.

Provincial Constable Harry MacKenzie, who investigated yesterday's accident at Plainfield, said the driver of the truck had done everything possible to avoid the bicycle yet the lad was critically injured in the fall from the bicycle.

Says By-Law On Closing No Longer Applies

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—W. W. Laird, counsel for Loblaw's Groceterias Company, said Friday a recent Ontario Court of Appeal decision removed Loblaw's store organization from the classification of grocery and meat stores, so their 72-hour week for closing hours for grocery stores no longer apply to his clients.

Mr. Laird was arguing against a complaint from John Kress, a local merchant, that Loblaw's was breaking a city by-law by remaining open after 7 p.m. on Thursday nights. Judgement was reserved for one week.

Several weeks ago, the Court of Appeal decided the Loblaw's store in the Niagara area could be registered as a department store because it sold more than five different lines of goods.

It was held by the Court of Appeal that Loblaw's are to be considered department stores for business tax at 50 per cent of the assessment value of their property rather than at the lower percentage for grocery stores.

CARRY CANOES

Donald Scott, counsel for John Innes of Thompson's Food Market, said the matter has nothing to do with the Assessment Act. He quoted a case where the judgement was that a closing law applied to a business in which the major merchandise came under the closing law.

He said that in this case the major business of Loblaw's is in groceries and meats.

The claim that the Loblaw's manager and another by Ed Robertson of Hamilton and Robins against C. J. Whitehead of Niagara Food Marketing Co. were made last week-end after their stores remained open in the evening. The Whitehead case has been deferred.

Old Firearms Now Worth Weight in Gold

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—There is a big boom now in old firearms — and some rifles are literally worth their weight in gold.

"Firearms collectors have gone up fantastically," said John T. Amber of Chicago, editor of "The Gun Digest."

"There are over 500,000 weapon collectors in America. The number has grown tremendously since the war."

What rifle could be worth its weight in gold? It is a specially marked Winchester 1873 model, sometimes called "The rifle that won the West."

NOT INTERESTED

"Some 700,000 of these rifles were sold, and an ordinary one in average condition will bring only $25 to $50," said Amber. "But the company's records, checked over by factory testing to be exceptionally accurate, and marked 'one of one thousand,' cost at a thousand."

"Only about 25 of these rifles are known to have survived, and each is worth from $5,000 to $7,-000."

One of the sorrows of Amber's life as a collector is that he never got one of these rifles himself, but 15 years ago sold it for $75 before its value and rarity were known.

Amber doubts that the legendary tales of the shooting skill of some of the oldtime western gunfighters. "As a matter of fact, Bill Hickok have to be a particularly good shot," he said — "because their target was invisible—and usually not more than 15 to 20 feet away."

Rugged Route Ahead of 20th Century Voyager

WINNIPEG (CP)—Six 20th century voyageurs, all middle-aged, executive-types from various walks of life, are following the same rugged 300-mile route taken by the French explorer and soldier La Verendrye.

The project, which left the mouth of the Pigeon river in northwestern Ontario Friday and hope to arrive in Fort Frances, Ont., on Rainy Lake, July 17, consist of: Dr. O. M. Solandt, chairman of Canada's Defence Research Board; Blair Fraser, Ottawa editor of the Winnipeg Magazine; A.H.J. Lovink, Netherlands ambassador to Canada; Dr. Omond Solandt, executive director of the Association of Canadian Clubs; Sigurd Thorsteinsson, Gimli, Man., and the Izaak Walton League of America; and John Sanderson, deputy high commissioner from South Africa.

Mr. Endeman was replacing Maj.-Gen. E. L. Rodger, officer commanding Prairie command at Winnipeg, who had to leave on trip as it overlapped with the summer militia schedule.

STRENUOUS FIRST

Gen. Rodger explained the trip over the la Verendrye route came from a jest at the end of a 20-mile canoe trip around Hunters' island in Lake of the Woods. "We and five others made in 13 days; last year. The park is in the same Lake Superior park."

One of them had said:

"Next year we'll try la Verendrye's route."

The idea developed through the winter and the judgement was that a closing law applied to a business in which the major merchandise came under the closing law.

The group will take three canoes; two men to each, and will carry packs, canoeing equipment, dehydrated foods and other rations.

CARRY OWN CANOES

There will be no guides and they will carry their own canoes and packs over the 47 portages on the journey, which la Verendrye described as "very difficult."

Pierre Gaultier, Sieur de la Verendrye, son of the governor of Three Rivers, left Montreal to find "the sea of the west" in 1731 after engaging in the fur trade on Lake Nipigon following service in several wars.

From the same nine-mile grand portage, where the group left Friday, la Verendrye pushed westbuilding forts on Rainy lake and the Lake of the Woods. In succeeding years, he penetrated to Lake Winnipeg, the Red and Assiniboine rivers. His sons later got as far as the Rockies but turned back.

French Withdrawal from Delta Looks Like Beginning of End For Possibly All Indo-China

By LARRY ALLEN

SINGAPORE (AP) — French withdrawal from the southern section of the Red river delta looks like the beginning of the end for all of France's military power in the area—and possibly for all of Indo-China.

The delta, long regarded by the French and most western powers here as the main bastion against the sweep of communism into the rest of Indo-China and Southeast Asia, is crumbling in huge blocks.

The war against the Communist-led Vietminh, now in its eighth year, may end with a cease-fire dividing the rebels northern Indo-China as their peace prize, or they may take the area by smashing the French. In either event, it appears the French will laugh over who believes that would contest Vietminh chief Ho Chi Minh.

Most observers in Saigon, Viet Namese and foreign—are convinced the French will leave China in a very short time, regardless of any line drawn by the Geneva conference, once the final chapter is written in the delta.

The French high command says the pull-out from the right southern areas of the delta region was necessary to strengthen the defences against an expected "huge offensive" assault along the Haiphong railroad and highway.

An enclave 64 miles long between Hanoi and the port of Haiphong and less than 30 miles deep on each side of the road and rail line is being bolstered with thousands of French union troops. But there planned little hope the fewer than 100 French battalions can hold out long even in the enclave against a big Vietminh attack.

When the Vietminh hit, they can use six to eight Red Chinese trained and equipped divisions, including the four which smashed the French union fortress of Dien Bien Phu. Aiding them will be 100,000 Vietminh regular, regional and guerrilla soldiers who long have operated at will through the French to hold onto the delta.

These may be joined by tens of thousands of Viet Namese civilians who never had any love for the French.

The French have said they will hold the Hanoi-Haiphong lifeline, but they have no anybody's guess. It may be just long enough to let the tattered French forces there can reach the last beachhead at Haiphong and be evacuated in a new Dunkerque.

Francisan Priest Says Jungle Folk are Good, Honest People

By MARGARET ECKER

LIMA, Peru (CP)—The wiry, squat, naked Indians of the Peruvian Amazon are associated in the minds of most people with stories of head-hunting and weird, primitive rites. But to a kind, Franciscan priest from Three Rivers, Que.—the jungle folk are "good people, honest, always smiling."

Rev. Urbain Cloutier is superior of the Convento San Antonio in Lima which has grown from a poverty-ridden mission to the Japanese people of Peru to a parish of 8,000.

Other Canadian Franciscans in the Peruvian amazon, a territory as large as Newfoundland, operate 10 missions for the jungle Indians, one provincial convent, a sloner Msgr. Damase Laberge of Chateau Gai, Que., and Rev. Alexandre Dupuily of Quebec, the apostolic prefect, appointed by Rome.

DESCRIBES JUNGLE WORK

Father Cloutier has personally worked in the Amazon territory. He described some of his duties in the jungle of the 13 Franciscan fathers, three brothers and 10 lay helpers.

"They had lonely lives in the forests," he said. "Our stations are widely distributed and it takes, for example, 24 hours in a small motor-boat, to travel from Pialus to Indiana. At night, the rivers are dangerous. Mosquitoes are very full of trees and the current is strong."

Crocodiles, strange animals, poisonous snakes menace the priests as they go from village to village. They also suffer from stifling heat and jungle diseases.

"Our workers become thin, disease-ravaged," said Father Cloutier. "It is necessary often to bring them to Lima to rest."

At the Three Rivers headquarters of the stations are Rev. Eymard Grasson and Rev. Jean-Marie Chartrand and Rev. Leopold an American, Rev. Jean-Paul Morneau.

PRIMITIVE FOLK

A smile warms Father Cloutier's face when he speaks of the jungle tribes.

"They are so primitive and they do not want to be civilized. But they are good people and happy: They do not steal. It is too bad we cannot open their language. They are hard people to reach for God, but they are like smiling children."

He and his associates discount the stories of work in the shack-like stations with palm leaf roofs.

"It is a different world," they will admit, "but we do not think of dangers and cannot believe the stories that the people are dangerous."

At San Paulo, the Franciscans, assisted by Canadian Sisters of Our Lady of Angels from Sherbrooke, Que., care for 500 lepers.

"Before we came here, at the request of the Peruvian government in 1946, lepers were left to die in the forests," said Father Cloutier. "Even now, they are forced on to rafts in the rivers and put adrift in the river to come to San Paulo, but we are getting results with our treatment."

JAPANESE INCREASE

The 64-year-old missionary came to Peru in 1940 to minister to the spiritual needs of 25,000 Japanese. For 30 years before that he had worked in Japan, Korea and China.

"There was no mission at all for Japanese in Peru in 1940," he said.

Since that time the Japanese population has grown to 40,000 and the small house in which the mission started has been replaced by a church and monastery in the Spanish colonial style.

"We had to build from ourselves, with the help of Canadian alms. Providence and men accustomed to help," Father Cloutier said.

The striking stained glass windows in the church, describing the 11 religious feasts, were donated by Peruvian families. Six masses are held each Sunday when crowds fill the church.

From a mission to the Japanese, the church of San Antonio de Padua has embraced a complete new residential section. But the Japanese have a big spot in the heart of the superior.

Cycles, Swim Trials Start In Vancouver

By BRUCE LEVETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canada's third largest city will be a bazaar-bout spot for the next week.

The unwary stand a chance of being splashed, speared with a javelin or run down by a bicycle as a dizzy round of British Empire Games trials opens.

Biggest tangle is set for July 5, 6 and 7 when the cycling trials and the Joint Canadian swim, champion-ships-games trials occur.

July 9 and 10 will see the track and field try-outs erupt. In these three categories alone there will be approximately 600 athletes vying for the fight to represent Canada at the games here July 30 to Aug. 7.

HOSTILE SWIMMERS

Swimming is attracting the most athletes—350 evenly divided between men and women. Coach Percy Norman says British Columbia's entry will be the one to beat when they take a dip at Empire pool, University of British Columbia.

Says Norman: "Previous games times will all be beaten by far in the trials. Some of the picks from Ontario and Quebec teams to give B.C. its fiercest competition."

Across town, while this is going on, the cyclists will be pumping hard. July 5 will be the 4,000-metre sprint, 1,000 - metre time trial, 10-mile motor-paced race and 15-mile race. All this will occur on the specially-built, $100,000 banked concrete track, attracting about 35 cyclists.

ROAD RACERS

About 35 riders will be on hand in the fashionable Point Grey area July 6 when the grueling road race trials are held. The cyclists will ride a hilly course for a total of 100 kilometres or approximately 62½ miles.

There will be a one-day layoff, then on July 8 about 150 assorted track and field hopefuls will begin a two-day grind. July 9 will see the running of the 120-yard high hurdles, 440 yard low-yard dash, six-mile run, one-mile run, 80-metre women's hurdles, running high jump, broad jump, shot put and hammer throw.

The following day will be featured by the 440 hurdles, 220 dash, 880 half-mile, three-mile, 440 relay, one-mile relay, hop, step and jump, discus, pole vault, javelin, women's high jump.

Eisenhower Kills Tariff Boost On Fish Fillets

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower Friday rejected recommendation of the tariff commission to increase the duty on ground fish fillets imported from Canada and other countries.

The commission made the proposal, which also would have placed a ceiling on imports, after investigation the prospect for boosting United States' fish consumption—which is 10 pounds per person—can offthe industry's problem."

The commission noted that the widespread acceptance of a new product, fish sticks, for which the fillets are the raw material, offers promise of a possible 50-per-cent increase in U.S. per capita consumption of fish.

To restrict imports of the cod, haddock and other fillets, the commission said, would curtail supplies of raw material, create "an artificial scarcity, and tend to increase the price."

At Ottawa, trade department officials said they were "delighted" with the decision.

"This is wonderful," said one official. "This is what we have been asking and hoping for."

The Maritimes have been building up a big industry to boost production of fillets and convert plants from herring packing have been catering to the dry, salted codfish market. Many of Gilsey's have been spent in plant conversions, officials said.

The president's decision on the fish issue restores a measure of harmony in Canadian - American trade relations. There had been some tense moments in Ottawa, pointing out of fears here that the protectionist forces of the U.S. were gaining in strength and expressing indignation at a visit to Washington.

The new big issue still remaining is American action on lead and zinc imports. The U.S. tariff commission has recommended increased import restrictions and the administration until July 21 to make his decision.

A Lift for Living

Getting by Giving

BY DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

God has so arranged our lives the best things go to those who give rather than to those who demand. Take the matter of sympathy.

We all know persons who go around looking for sympathy. By all their efforts to secure it they etch more deeply on their own minds the picture of themselves as needing it. They come to indulge in self-pity, they become more and more dependent on the attitude of others. On the other hand, if instead of asking for sympathy we go about offering it to others, we find that sympathy comes back to us in far greater measure than it does to those who seek it.

There is sound psychology in the old prayer: "Teach us, O Lord, not to seek so much to be consoled as to console, not so much to be understood as to understand; not so much to be loved as to love. Show us that it is in giving that we receive, in self-forgetting that we find, in dying that we waken to eternal life."

The difference between using things as means and serving men as ends is worth thinking about. My motor car is a means of travel and pleasure. I may serve my car, but I do not serve it. I serve me—or at least I should.

BETTER TO SERVE

But suppose I am an inventor working for a motor manufacturer and that I give myself to the perfecting of a better and better model. How much greater is the thrill of the day when I develop a new car to serve the public than is the pride of the man who merely buys it. The material things like motors, the principle things like men, are to be served.

And when we turn to the realm of music, the point is even more apparent. We get pleasure from music mainly by trying to use it for our own relaxation and recreation. But each satisfaction is small as related to that of the true artist who is trying to express a great theme or a great composer. On one occasion Toscanini was so carried away in the rehearsal of a program that his own orchestra broke into applause at the completion of a number. Toscanini, modestly said, "Gentlemen, it is not I. It is Beethoven."

REWARD OF GIVING

Similarly, take our attitude toward the home. We can get some comforts and gratification from a home by using it. It is a place to rest, to refresh ourselves, to have our companions, our security.

But these rewards are meager compared with the solid joys of a home wherein the members lose sight of what they are to get and give themselves to the service of one another. A house is something to be used; a home is something to use us.

One of the ideal lovers which America has witnessed was that between Professor George H. Palmer of Harvard and Alice Freeman, President of Wellesley College. Speaking of their married life, he said, "I never called it mine." He avoided that possessive spirit which mars so many marriages. Each sought ever to be a trustee of the other's interests.

Or turn to the sphere of public service. It is sometimes said half-humorously that a statesman is a dead politician. But, no. The basic difference between a politician and a statesman is that the former uses public office for personal advantage, while the latter treats his office as a trusteeship of the public good.

FAITHFUL GUARDIAN

Until he took command of the Colonial troops there seemed to be a great deal of self-interest in the motives of George Washington. But when he was put in charge of that struggling, suffering army, his self-centeredness disappeared.

Despite the grumbling of the colonists and the treason of some officers, Washington remained the faithful guardian of the American cause. By being faithful to the interests of his fellow citizens he came to possess their devotion. "First in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen."

Yes, when we stop our self-seeking long enough to take a second look, we can see the truth in basic law laid down by the Master of Life: "If you have not been faithful in that which is another's, who will give you that which is your own?"

We get by giving. Think it over.

What to do...

FOR THE TB PATIENT

The number of hospital beds for tuberculosis patients has been greatly increased of recent years, but a number of cases are still carried for in their own homes.

Nursing the TB patient in the home requires special care both to help the patient recover and to protect other members of the family, says St. John Ambulance.

If at all possible the TB patient should go to a sanitorium for a few months at least. Tuberculosis is usually a prolonged disease and treatment in the sanitorium will reach the patient the necessary modifications in personal living and patients the measures necessary to prevent the spread of the disease to others.

At home the patient should have a separate room that is sunny, dry and well ventilated. Because fresh air is very beneficial in the treatment of this disease, the ideal room has access to a verandah where the patient's bed can be moved when the weather is suitable.

PATIENTS WEAR WOOL

Woollen clothing should be worn by the patient. This is particularly necessary in some stages of the disease when "sweating" is a common symptom.

The most important factor in the treatment is rest. A doctor will prescribe the amount of activity permitted at the different stages of the disease.

Because tuberculosis is spread by droplet infections, special care should be taken in the handling of sputum and nasal discharge. Paper tissues should be used in place of handkerchiefs. Sputum cups, made of wax paper, should be changed frequently, wrapped in newspaper and burned. A patient with tuberculosis should avoid kissing others and should learn to cover his mouth when coughing or sneezing.

The patient should have his own dishes which should be washed apart from those of the rest of the family. All food scraps should be wrapped in paper and burned. Dishes should be scraped and boiled for ten minutes before washing.

Members of the patient's family and household should be examined and have X-rays taken frequently. They should be careful of their own health, making sure that they get plenty of sleep, fresh air and nourishing food. A strong, rested, healthy body is the best defence against TB infection.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

BABY CARE

Baby birds are showered with love quite as much as our own children. Black-footed penguins are said to preen the head of their offspring just as a fond human parent strokes the baby's head.

When sun blazes down on a nest, almost every species of birds shields the little bodies that have not yet the protective covering of feathers. Infant fledglings are frequently and the home is generally cleaned after each feeding. In most cases both parents pay hearty attendance on the nestlings.

Mother orioles, like many other birds whose bright-colored mates are liable to attract attention must build the home alone; but the males return later to assist in feeding the children. However, young hummingbirds and ducklings receive only a mother's care, as their daddies never stay near the nest.

In contrast, male phalaropes remain with their precocial children until they are able to do without any help. This is necessary, because these mothers desert the home as soon as the eggs are laid. Mother cardinals do not actually desert, but they work far less than their husbands.

DEVOTED CARDINALS

One summer, a certain cardinal living near Toronto was known to have four broods, all of which raised to come to a feeding tray. The father always fed the young ones, the mother never. Indeed she actually expected him to feed her.

Cardinals are perhaps the most devoted husbands, but sometimes other males are quite solicitous for the welfare of their wives at breeding time.

Certain tanagers regularly feed the incubating females. Chestnut sided warblers often begin to feed their wives even while they are nest building. But it is amusing to watch a male bird bring home the fatbily dinner, pass it to his wife, and allow her to distribute it among the children.

Often sparrows are warned that food is on the way so that they will be prepared, mouths wide open. A meadowlark, for instance, gives a food call from some distance. But when a parent arrives unexpectedly the little bills will not open.

Redwings feed their children for days, and chipping sparrows for weeks after they are out of the nest. But cowbirds have no parental love: they leave their children in the care of strangers.

For Parents Only

Canadian Heritage

BY NANCY CLEAVER

Each Canada or Dominion Day we are reminded of our Canadian heritage. This is a good time to send for the new map of Canada which may be obtained from the Department of Mines and Technical Surveys for half a dollar. This is an attractive coloured map showing many islands in the northern section which do not appear in earlier surveys. Mother and dad might point out the places where they have visited, and tell their children about them.

One of our happiest memories of childhood was mother telling us about teaching in Halifax, and walking in the beautiful pine wood outside the city. There she found heather and she could hear the waves pounding on the shore on her early married life in the Okanogan Valley, Sometimes after a picnic in the summer when the sun would be shining on the lake and the tempest was raging, while on the other side of the valley a thunderstorm was pouring down upon the mountain slopes. Later when we visited the East and West coasts, these stories of other Canadian provinces heightened our enjoyment of the marvellous scenery.

CANADA VAST LAND

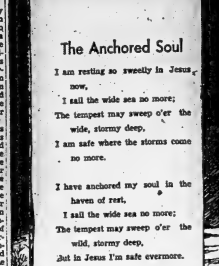
A map of Canada or another particular province can easily give an accurate idea of the vastness of our country. Few Canadians realize that we have the third largest nation in the world with its land area of almost three and one half million square miles. Only Russia and China cover a large territory. Canada is larger than United States and Alaska combined.

Parents should not leave the cultivation of a love of Canada completely to teachers. They should encourage their children as they grow up to learn more and more about Canada as a nation, about her history, her contribution to the world of art and literature, and the part her scientists have played in this new industrial era.

The weekend or vacation parents should take their children on trips to historic sites and provincial parks can be a thrilling family adventure in the vacation weeks. Mothers and fathers should do all they can to help their boys and girls catch a glimpse of the beauty and vastness of our country, its natural resources and its variety and number of her industries.

NATION IS A FAMILY

Almost every school child in most areas in Canada is aware of the New Canadians who have come here. Parents might well point out the fine contribution which is being made by many of the potential new Canadians who have come here in the displaced persons quota. It is up to the mothers and fathers to keep before their children the ideal of the nation being one large family—a family which has been growing greatly in numerical strength.



We in Canada with well over 15 million of a population have about 25 different races speaking more than 30 different languages. Here in our land, what a variety we have of races—British, French, German, Ukrainian, Scandinavian, Netherlandish, Polish, Italian, Russian, Czech and Slovak, Finnish, Chinese and others.

These people have all sought a new life here and are bound together by the ties of loyalty to their new home-land. What a challenge this mosaic of races presents to the thoughtful citizens, to the true patriot!

Let's all work a little harder, each in our own small way, at being worthy citizens. Let's keep alive this ideal of a great Canadian family, colorful and strong because of the very diversity of our racial strains, knit together by bonds of understanding and appreciation!

Stories of Famous Hymns

by HORACE B. POWELL

The Anchored Soul

I am resting so sweetly in Jesus now,
I sail the wide sea no more;
The tempest may sweep o'er the wide, stormy deep,
I am safe where the storms come no more.

I have anchored my soul in the haven of rest,
I sail the wide sea no more;
The tempest may sweep o'er the wild, stormy deep,
But in Jesus I'm safe evermore.

BY HORACE B. POWELL
"THE ANCHORED SOUL"

The messages of many of Christendom's best-loved hymns have been built around the imagery of the sea.

"Throw Out The Life-Line", "Let The Lower Lights Be Burning", "Master, The Tempest Is Raging", Charles H. Gabriel's beautiful hymn, "Sail On", and the Rev. Edward Hopper's "Jesus, Saviour, Pilot Me" all picture life as a wide sea—sometimes a very turbulent one—on which earth -dwelling pilgrims are sailing toward eternity.

The Rev. Mr. Hopper was serving as minister of the Church of Sea and Land in New York when he wrote "Jesus, Saviour, Pilot Me", in 1871. His church overlooked New York harbor and those sands of seamen, entering and leaving port, attended his services each year. In order to reach the hearts of these men he wrote a hymn picturing Jesus as the Divine Pilot, guiding men and women through the perils of the sea of life.

We do not know that the Rev. William O. Cushing wrote "The Anchored Soul" with the sea in mind, but it proved very popular with seamen who dropped in at evangelistic meetings at which it was sung. The Rev. Robert Lowry wrote the music. Lowry compiled the hymn-tune for Mrs. Hawks' matchless song, "I Need Thee Every Hour".

THE CAPTIVE MIND?

The United States has no further use for the wealth of atomic knowledge stored in the mind of J. Robert Oppenheimer.

The Atomic Energy Commission has officially decided that he cannot be trusted.

What does the future hold for him?

There was a day when, if a man's knowledge was not needed in one country, he was free to employ it in other lands.

But would the United States be prepared to let Oppenheimer, and the secrets which he cannot shed, emigrate to a new homeland, even if that land were an ally?

What would happen if Oppenheimer was offered an atomic scientist's post in Sweden, or Brazil or even Britain?

Perhaps that is a hypothetical question. Perhaps no such offer will ever come. Still, this does not alter the fact that the power of knowledge has, with the unlocking of the might of the atom, become so great that one may be pardoned for doubting whether any individual who possesses it can still call himself a free man, in the old accepted sense of the phrase.

But then the old, accepted sense of the phrase has, in any event, been largely lost in these days when it is often more difficult to leave one's president or residence than it is to win acceptance in a new country.

UNLIKE CAESAR'S WIFE

A tax collector ought to be as circumspect as Caesar's wife.

And for the same reason.

Tax collectors—and other government officials, whether elected or appointed—are, if not the wives, then the handmaidens of the modern Caesar, the all-powerful State.

So, when one is as indiscreet as Joseph D. Nunan, jr., senior tax collector in the United States for three years, he has no legitimate complaint if his indiscretions bring harsh punishment.

Nunan has been convicted of evading payment of $91,086 of his own income tax. The defence's contention was that the money on which he failed to pay taxes was an inheritance of his wife's and therefore not subject to tax. But Nunan admitted winning a $1,800 bet from Frank Erickson, notorious gambler. The senior tax collector of the United States ought not to be on speaking, let alone betting, terms with a man like Erickson, not because Erickson is a gambler but because he happens to be engaged in the type of activities which are likely to—and did—bring him into conflict with that very department of government which Nunan represented.

SHOCKING—BUT NOT SURPRISING

Youth leaders in West Berlin are reported to be shocked by the progress which Communist indoctrination of youth appears to have made in East Germany.

Shocked, perhaps, but surely not surprised.

One of the most shocking, and at that time the most surprising, features of the Nazi regime was the success which Hitler had in his attempt to subordinate the youth of the Reich with Nationalist Socialist dictrines.

Was there any sound reason to believe that the Communists would fail where the Nazis had succeeded?

It is simple, of course, to blame the easy successes of both these totalitarian parties upon the material with which they had to work. It may be true that the Germans, by reason of lengthy association with authoritarian regimes, are particularly susceptible to indoctrination. Still, if this is the truth it is certainly not the whole truth, nor even half the truth. The plain, unfortunate fact appears to be that it is so constituted that if he is told anything often enough, loud enough, he is more likely to believe it than to disbelieve it.

STRANGE NEW LAW

There must, surely, be some explanation for the latest developments tending to confirm Mr. Bumble's observation that the law is an hass. Still, it had better be a really novel one to quiet the flapping sound of those over-sized donkey ears which emerged into public view with a proclamation by the Federal Government permitting Ontario Indians to buy and consume intoxicating beverages in licensed public places.

The proclamation does not extend to Indians the right to purchase beer or wine in Liquor Control Board stores or in the stores of wine producers.

Can it be that Federal cabinet ministers think that the atmosphere of licensed public places is more likely to teach Indians to drink firewater with decorum than would the surroundings in the Indians' own homes?

That is the only explanation that occurs to us. But if that is the true explanation of this strange proclamation, then cabinet ministers are either badly out of touch with beverage rooms and cocktail bars or else Indians have an excellent case for a libel suit.

LITTLE TYRANT

Speaking of tyrants—you may not or may be—
The one most tyrannical must be a baby.
Its orders it never will let you forget
Though awake it may keep you from midnight to four.

All jump to their feet when it cries for attention.
Its various wants are too numerous to mention,

But whatever it needs it is never denied it.
There is always somebody on hand to provide it.

Get rid of that tyrant? On this I'd be quoted:
Of course you do not. The fact is, to it we're devoted.
It's slavery pleasant; and proudly I say it!
Whatever its order we're glad to obey it.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

TO BE YOURSELF

What a lot of hurdles we have to jump, because we are afraid to think and act as we please, and be our honest selves. We play up to so many influences that destroy the uniqueness of each one of us. How strange it is to have the man of character and independent mind pointed out to us unsocial, because he has no time in which to entertain the gossiping crowd, and allow him to be himself.

One of Montaigne's essays came across this sentence: "Miserable in my mind is he who in his own house has not a room to be himself; where he may particularly count, and at his pleasure hide his with-draw self." There is such a thing of being too lonely in the crowd. Too many people are far from us. Nearness is relative. We can feel close to God without even seeing Him. This is true of a genuine friend.

One of the most famous of all quotations from Shakespeare is this one: "This above all: to thine own self be true it must follow, as the night the day, thou canst not be false to others."

When we fail to be our own self, we lay by the wayside, and become ourselves to a mortgage. We jail our independence and the whole bulk of our pride is revoked. How interesting are the ways of a child when left to its own natural impulses. Something creative is working in that small mind all the time. It isn't left to drag on the natural lives who can predict the future of such a child?

The human personality is one of the most attractive things in this world. The personality can make all the difference. It's what ties us to another. It is essential to leadership. No one without it can go far. It's the personality of a man or woman which trade-marks him or he, sets each apart, and makes each outstanding "different." Be yourself and you are sure to be outstanding.

Conservation Briefs

A series of little known facts about conservation, under the heading of "Conservation Briefs" will occupy this space weekly. These briefs are being written by Moira River Conservation Authority to let you, the people, know what your Conservation Authority stands for.

DID YOU KNOW that in Southern Ontario, within the last 100 years, between 80% and 85% of once permanently flowing streams have become either totally dry, all year round or temporarily, so during the summer months.

The Moira River Conservation Authority objective is to restore or improve these streams to their original state of permanent flow, where said permanent flow will prove of benefit to the community within the stream drainage basin.

Aluminum Once Precious

(New York Times)

If someone told us that Tiffany's had aluminum ware on display, in their Fifth Avenue show windows we would be justified in suspecting a hoax of some sort; perhaps a bizarre effect resulting from one of the television programs that specializes in zany stunts and fabulous prizes. But if you move across the south side the avenue and turn the calendar back about seventy years you would find there was no hoax about it; that in the midst of gold and silver and jewels reposed a small pyramid about nine inches high and five and one half inches square made entirely of aluminum. This unusual object was destined not for the cabinet of a well-to-do collector, but for—of all places—a peak of the Washington Mounument. Although the jeweler was acting in the public interest by placing it in a magnificent setting, the plain pyramid of aluminum was not in an altogether inappropriate place; its weight of a few hundred ounces and at that time would have been worth well over a hundred dollars.

This week in Paris scientists, industrialists and metallurgists of the United States and twenty-six other countries are gathered to celebrate the work of a little-known man whose indefatigable labors a century ago made possible the commercial production of aluminum, as the word is spelled by everybody in the United States and Canada, and as it is spelled by the learned gentlemen in Paris, Henri Sainte-Claire Deville undertook to find a practical method of making aluminum the metal was known only to a few chemists who had produced minute globules of it and it was valued at more than five hundred dollars a pound. Sainte-Claire Deville, who was a dean at the University of Besancon, got his start in science at the age of twelve when he labeled it "silver from clay." The first useful object he fashioned from it was an engraved baby rattle, made to delight the infant son of Napoleon III; also to impress upon the world the lightness of the new metal and the ease with which it could be engraved. After that he struck a medal honoring Friedrich Wohler, a German pioneer in aluminum research; a student of Wohler's named Priamnik was the man who suggested that the Washington Monument be capped with a pyramid of aluminum.

The monument was capped shortly before Christmas in 1884 but the crowning achievement in those years of aluminum history did not occur until more than two years later when Charles Martin Hall in Oberlin, Ohio, and Paul Heroult in Paris, simultaneously but quite independently each found the secret of a cheap and simple process. Hall and Heroult put both 22 years old, together the combination of alumina ore, cryolite bath, carbon crucible and a current of electricity; despite patent conflicts in some countries the method and device of the conference followed them even to the end, when both died within a year at the age of 81.

The Centenary of the Industrial Production of Aluminum, as the event is described in the United States daily designated, is more than an international congress of chemists. It has been arranged "under the high patronage of" the President of the French republic and meetings have been sent by President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles. Delegates will be invited at the Sorbonne at which professional papers will be submitted by chemists from leading American manufacturers and the several Government agencies, and before the week is over visiting delegates will have opportunity of making aluminum the metal was known only to a few chemists who had produced minute globules of it and it was valued at more than five hundred dollars a pound. Sainte-Claire Deville, who was a dean at the University of Besancon, got his start in science at the age of twelve when he labeled it "silver from clay." The first useful object he fashioned from it was an engraved baby rattle, made to delight the infant son of Napoleon III; also to impress upon the world the lightness of the new metal and the ease with which it

The basic elements of aluminum have been known since before the dawn of history; only a century ago did anyone dream of making form become real. Within the last half-century citizens of many countries have been the beneficiaries using for it with which we are today familiar. The decorative events in Paris honor a French citizen's work, but they honor likewise also that the fruits of invention and research are not limited along national or political lines in 1854 or 1954.

In A Hurricane's Eye

(Scientific American)

By deliberately flying into the "eye" of hurricanes and studying the conditions there, meteorologists have recently perfected warning techniques that promise a substantial reduction in the loss of life and property when the great storms appear next fall, according to R. H. Simpson, chief weather specialist and technical adviser to the Air Force.

A hurricane, Simpson says, is the most dangerous and destructive of all storms. Its winds may cover more than half a million square miles in a hurricane may reach 150 miles an hour or more.

Sometimes it generates a whole rash of tornadoes on its fringes. As recently as 1935 a tidal wave drowned or killed more than 400 persons in the Florida Keys; in 1938 another hurricane drowned more than 6,000, and in 1954 it is hurricane Carol produced an inundation in which more than 100,000 were killed.

Yet the hurricane's energy at the rate of 500 trillion horsepower, the equivalent of several thousand atomic bombs per second! How does it develop such destructive force?

Our total answers essential to forecasting the progress of hurricanes with members of the air force, has spent the last two years flying into the centers of hurricanes much as an interne might make his rounds in a hospital. In 1951, for example, he spent hours inside the Pacific hurricane Hilda, one of the largest and most violent hurricane on record.

The flight took off from Guam at dawn on August 15, 1951. Says Simpson: "As we approached the storm, we could see long swells in the ocean—evidence of the enormous waves generated at the centre and, on the horizon, great cirrus formations or 'squall lines' spiralling around the eye.

"As we came closer, the surface winds grew stronger and reached 100 miles per hour when we were still 50 miles away. Soon the edge of the rainless eye became visible on the horizon. The embattled plages flew through torrential rain and plunged into a region of violent turbulence. Then, suddenly, a great circle of calm blue sky.

"Around us was an awesome display. Hilda's eye was a clear space 40 miles in diameter surrounded by a coliseum of clouds whose walls rose vertically. The upper rim, about 35,000 feet, was rounded off smooth by against the clear sky. Below us was a floor of scattered clouds through which we could glimpse the surface of the ocean, a scene of unimaginable violent, churning water."

Working from the inside out, Simpson and his daring colleagues found Hilda's bite not by bit. They learned that her eye is fed by warm, moist air currents from both top and bottom, the manner in which droplets of water give off heat and perpetuate evaporation to power her and how the rotation of the earth contributes to her weather spectacular.

Armed with these and related facts gathered from planes and her sisters, the flyers returned home again and again to feed fresh data into the computers.

"Unfortunately," say Simpson, "the three 'R's' of hurricane investigation — radiosonde, radar and reconnaissance by plane — have turned up almost as many questions as they have answered. But the high level air circulation plays in the mechanism of these great tropical heat pumps far eludes our keenest meteorological scalpels. Thus the future of hurricane researches is not without challenge."

Hairdos And Earrings

(Wall Street Journal)

The latest feminine fad in hair-dos—short styles such as the pixie, poodle cut and the Italian hair-do— are partly responsible for the recent trend toward earrings.

That, at least, is the view of the jewelry industry.

The council says the short hair-dos have made earrings more conspicuous, and because of this, both summer and winter, have helped send demand for jewelry for pierced ears soaring. Shopping for bigger, flesh-covering bands for their arms, says Mona Percilla, the council's fashion director.

Little Things Count

(Brantford Expositor)

It's the little services that count in making a political career. A senator from Illinois tells of a call he paid on the widow of an American Civil War pensioner, who had died and he came to him to sign a declaration that she was still alive.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

NOW I DON'T CARE

It may not be much fun—listen to a ladylike column in which one makes no assertions that may induce any one to crack back—but I'm tired of playing Don Quixote, so from now on I shall not go out of my way to engage in controversies—but don't provoke me.

Dr. Brady

Upon reflection I realized that I have made no friends by getting into these endless hassles. On the contrary, I have made some powerful enemies.

For instance, for my teachings about conservation of the teeth, toothbrush and dentifrice people do not like me at all. On the other hand, I have constantly harped on the indispensability of regular inspection and treatment by the dentist if you hope to save your teeth—yet today I'm as unpopular with dentists as I am with the interests that tell the Yankee Wisecracks in technicolor that a "clean tooth never decays."

Ever since I turned quack and launched this health column I have been sticking my neck out to assure readers that aluminum kitchen or cooking ware is harmful to use. This made a few more enemies, but the only indication I have had that the aluminum ware or baking powder interests know about it is a letter I received from a salesman who suggested that I state my views in a letter, duly attested, so he could show to people who suggested that I state my views in a letter, duly attested, so he could show to people who suggested that I state my views in a letter, duly attested, so he could show to people

Picton-Born Defence Minister Used to Working Long Hours

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Affable, robust Ralph Campney bounced into "A" building at national defence headquarters bright and early Friday to take over as Canada's new defence minister.

Though appointed only Thursday as successor to the retiring Brooke Claxton, the long, dreary corridors and hot offices of the squat, wartime buildings are not unfamiliar to the Vancouver lawyer. He was associate defence minister from Feb. 12, 1953.

Mr. Campney, who appears much younger than his 60 years, looked like a man ready to get down to hard work. His post is one of the most gruelling in Ottawa.

USED TO IT

"I'm used to working long hours and I'm O.K. so far," he told a reporter. "My wife thinks I work too hard but it doesn't show in my weight. I'm a little heavier than I care to be and I've been doing a bit of reducing. I feel better for it."

"You know, I had a pretty strenuous time setting up my law practice. And one of the most unusual jobs I ever had was the reorganization of the national harbors board." (Mr. Campney served as chairman of the board through its reorganization period from 1936 to 1940.)

He and his staff have occupied a suite of offices across the hall from Mr. Claxton's but will move into the former defence minister's premises next week.

TALKS SCHEDULED

Mr. Campney conferred with some of his top officials Friday and will hold talks with the chiefs of staff the first of next week. On Tuesday, he will entertain U.S. Defence Secretary Charles Wilson, whom he has not yet met.

"I can't say now what changes there will be in the department," said Mr. Campney. "It won't be the new broom idea but there will be steady activity to increase efficiency and make improvements and savings.

"I hope to have visited all defence installations before the summer is over. That is, the ones I haven't seen, because I've already visited a number of them.

FIRST HAND

"I think a person administering a department (national defence plans to spend more than $2,000,000,000 in the current fiscal year) should have a first-hand familiarity with its problems. Files are only secondary."

In this respect, he will be following in the footsteps of Mr. Claxton, an inveterate traveller and questioner.

Mr. Campney was born at Picton, Ont. He was educated at Queen's University and Osgoode Hall and called to the Ontario bar in 1924. He served overseas for four years in the First World War with the Medical Corps, 19th Infantry Battalion and the Royal Flying Corps.

Lead Split In Golf Tourney

DETROIT (AP) — Firing six birdies apiece, Dick Mayer of St. Petersburg, Fla., and Fred Haas of New Orleans shared the lead at the halfway point of the Motor City Open Friday. Each had a 136, four under par.

Rudy Horvath, of Windsor, Ont., was six strokes back of the leaders with a 73-71-144 for the 36 holes.

The 29-year-old Mayer shot the best round of the tournament — a five under par 66 — and reached the 36th hole mark with 72-66-138.

Haas, using his "lucky diamond" putter which he designed himself, matched this with a four-under 67 for a 71-67-138.

Mayer and Haas held a two-stroke lead over Cary Middlecoff, Memphis, Tenn., Bob Toski, Livingston, N.J., and Bill Markham, Royal Oak, Mich., who finished with two-under par 140's.

Red Cross Branch To Donate $200 For Resuscitator

CAMPBELLFORD. — The Campbellford - Seymour branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society announced that a lucky draw on a money doll held last Saturday was a great success financially. A total of $220 will be donated to the fire department to help towards the buying of a resuscitator for Campbellford and district.

The council, on Monday night, decided to put up the rest of the money and it is proposed to buy the resuscitator immediately The machine will be kept at the fire hall and will be available for cases of drowning, suffocation, polio and electric shock.

The Red Cross, in its announcement, extended its thanks to all the people who so willingly contributed their time and money to this worthy project.

CAESAREAN BABY.

CHICAGO (AP)—A ninth child by cesarean section was born Friday to Mrs. Margaret Thommes, 38. The baby, a girl, weighed six pounds, four ounces. Mrs. Thommes' first child, Peter, is now 17. Years ago three births of cesarean section was considered the limit without endangering the mother's health. Improved care and techniques have removed the hazard.

His will was twelve years old—obsolete in view of the changed conditions in his life and in the world. His lawyer wrote him a letter, suggesting revision—but he put off the matter. Then, one day, the letter was thrown into the wastebasket with an accumulation of papers. With it went his family's last chance for an untroubled future. For within a few weeks he became ill and died; and they, in the hands of a well-meaning but ill-qualified friend, himself a sick and busy man. . . . Are you too, taking such a risk? Don't! Make an appointment with your lawyer now — and let us tell you about the complete attention and skill required for efficient trust management today.

Aikens W.M.S. Has Interesting Meeting

Mrs. Norman Hall was hostess to the July meeting of the Aikens' W.M.S. and W.A. for the month of June. Mrs. Everett Hubbs, program convener, opened the meeting under the main theme of World Council of Churches Assembly, "The Christian Hope."

Scripture lesson was taken from the 27th Psalm beginning at the 4th verse. Mrs. Hubbs was assisted by Mrs. Kenneth Jones and Mrs. Murney Jeffrey, conducted several prayers of "Preparation, let us Worship God for Ourselves." Mrs. Spafford led in several silent prayers bringing to a close the worship service.

The meeting was handed over to the president for the conducting of the usual business. At its conclusion, Mrs. Fred Moon introduced the study of the afternoon which was in the form of a play based on the "World Council of Churches," Evanston, Illinois, U.S.A.

EARLY CHURCH ASSEMBLY

In the play "The Emperor Constantine," Dorothy L. Sayers presents in a dramatic way the story of the early Ecumenical Council of the Christian Church held in Nicaea, May, 325 A.D. She describes with vividness the convening of the council, the gathering of the delegates, and the stir and hustle created in the city by their arrival.

Centuries later, in 1948 in the city of Amsterdam, Holland, another church assembly was in session. Representatives had come to it from a vaster Christendom than the early Christians could have dreamed of. In August, 1954, at Evanston, Illinois, representatives of many churches will meet in council again. This time the words will be, "The Christian Hope."

PROGRAM'S PURPOSE

The purpose of this program is designed to give a glimpse of the things which will be discussed, debated and studied when the World Council of Churches Second Assembly meets at Evanston. For two weeks in August, 1954, there will meet together representatives from over 160 churches of various denominations. Six special topics will be discussed.

Assisting Mrs. Moon were Mrs. Wilfred Bailey, Mrs. Will Bush, Mrs. Everett Hubbs, Mrs. Norman Hall and Mrs. Finley Scrimshaw. Each in turn, acted as a representative "For Faith and Order," "For Commission on Evangelism," "Of Social Problems," "International Affairs," "Inter-Group Relations," "The Laity Commission." Mrs. Murney Jeffrey expressed the solist.

In the closing worship, Mrs. Moon said: "Since we believe that Jesus is the hope of the world, surely our own vocation is to learn to serve Him better where ever we are, work when we do, in order that the world may know that He is the hope of our calling. Let us pray for peace and His blessing."

The meeting was closed with the benediction.

Following a short business period of the W.A., conducted by Mrs. Finley Scrimshaw, refreshments were served by the hostess

Blind Girls Work All Day In X-Ray Darkroom

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Two girls who work all day at Victoria hospital's x-ray darkroom here claim the job is easy. The girls are blind.

Elizabeth Hall, 24, a Jr., 27, began working with the hospital's x-ray department six years ago. She had never handled an x-ray before in her life, but now has complete confidence in her work and the only long time has been processing x-rays by herself.

She became so proficient that recently she took on another task—training another totally blind girl to become her assistant.

For the 19-year-old June Fanson, the student x-ray worker, it is a step into an entirely different world. She had just completed 11 years at the Brantford School for the Blind, and now she is putting her education to work.

TRICKY TASKS

First came the routine requirement of locating the door from the darkroom to the x-ray washer unit and to the drier, so she could make the short trip quickly and confidently.

Now she faces the technical task of pinning x-rays to holders, washing them, putting them in the drier, timing the drying process and a dozen other chores—a difficult task even for a person with sight.

"It's kind of tricky," June says, "because there are so many things to learn and to remember."

Hospital officials are happy to have Miss Fanson with them and are convinced she soon will be an expert worker. They have spoken with pride of her teacher and coworker, Jean Millikan.

GOOD SERVICE

"Marion has given very satisfactory service since she came here," says Dr. F. N. Low, director of the hospital's radiology department. "This work seems particularly suited to a person whose sight is defective."

Both girls graduated their positions at the hospital through the efforts of Harold W. Land, placement officer for the Canadian National Institute for the Blind in the London district. The two are the only blind girls in western Ontario who have been employed by hospitals, he says.

By showing in action what can be done without sight, he said, these two girls have encouraged more general acceptance of the idea blind persons can be permitted the greatest freedom of opportunity in developing their talents.

Joint Service Held at Bethel United Church

RAWDON. — On Sunday morning, a joint communion service was held in Rawdon circuit of Bethel United Church as a memorial to the late Mr. B. C. Tucker, who asked that it be held a year ago. Rev. R. R. Bonsteel welcomed the group and presided over the service. Mrs. Harold Elliott, A.T.C.M., provided the music. Mrs. Don Heath and Mrs. Rev. R. Bonsteel rendered a duet.

Rev. George Craib, Eldorado, was guest minister, and gave a message on "The Value of the Bible and of Prayer in Daily Life."

Mr. Bonsteel spoke a few words of thanks and gave a brief message of farewell.

Mr. Craib conducted communion, assisted by Messrs. William Heath, Edgar McKeown, Leslie Thompson and John Holmes.

Mr., Mrs. Alexander Celebrate Their Golden Anniversary

Fifty years ago, on June 30, the Methodist Church at Deseronto, was the setting for a pretty wedding when Evelyn Topping, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Topping of Deseronto became the bride of William Alexander, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Alexander, both residents of Deseronto. Miss Eva Topping attended her cousin, while Mr. James Topping was best man for the bride, attended the bridegroom. The Rev. Mr. Balfour officiated.

On Sunday last, in commemoration of this happy event, an anniversary turkey dinner was held at their home in Napanee, for the immediate family and close friends. During the afternoon and evening, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander were at home to their neighboring community friends.

For a number of years Mr. Alexander farmed at Marysville; later taking up his favorite hobby of carpentering, which is still his chief occupation. Mrs. Alexander has two hobbies, that of flowers, whose lovely gloxinias and African violets bear witness to her proverbial 'green thumb', the other of cooking, the results of which are of which need no appraisal.

Both are enjoying the best of health, and both are keenly interested in community activities, and of Grace United Church, Napanee, of which they are members.

They have two children, one son, Clifford Alexander, at home, and one daughter, Mrs. Ann Miller, of the Loblaw staff of this city. They give five grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander were the happy recipients of several fine anniversary gifts as well as many lovely cards, and telephone calls, congratulating them on their golden wedding day, thus wishing them health and prosperity for the days ahead, and the diamond anniversary to come.

Cannifton W.M.S. Hears Fine Topic On Spiritual "Love"

The W.M.S. of Cannifton United Church held an open meeting on Wednesday, in the Sunday School rooms when it entertained the younger groups of the church.

All were given a warm welcome by the president, Mrs. J. Williams, who expressed her pleasure at such a splendid attendance.

The worship service was in charge of Mrs. R. Pound, vice-president of younger groups. The theme of the worship service was "Love" and opened with the hymn "Come Let Us Sing of a Wonderful Love." The Scripture 1st Corinthians 13:1-13, was read by Mrs. F. Holgate.

GUEST SPEAKER

The president introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. R. A. Rowley, who chose as her topic "Love", emphasizing friendship, loyalty and joy. She stressed the need to stand up for one's friends, to be ready to give a boost when needed, and to be true to oneself. Mrs. Rowley showed how one can derive much happiness in doing good for others and following more closely the example of Jesus. She closed with an apt illustration, "An Indian Legend of the Water-lily," making her subject more impressionable.

Mrs. Throop thanked Mrs. Rowley for her fine address which held the close attention of the children as well as the adults.

The W.M.S. members served refreshments.

SISTERS ALL

If your youngsters like popsicles and you want to curb their spending and bolster their health, try making your own popsicles in the freezing compartment of the refrigerator. One mother we know fills the ice cube tray with apple juice, flips on the fast freeze and when the juice has firmed a bit, she puts short sticks into the cubes leaving them in the tray. Presto! There is a popsicle, mother yanks out the tray and gives him one of these.

The same can be done with orange juice or with fruit juices mixed with water. . . There are, too, made-up powder preparations for home-made popsicles which while not as healthy, are colorful and inexpensive. By making your own frozen treats, you can thrill a dozen little youngsters for a few cents. They are ideal for parties.

WHO WAS THIS?

Bible Briefs

By A. A. M.

Who was the queen of Persia who lost her throne because she would not obey the King's command, given at a drunken feast, to show her beauty to all his famous guests? Her husband's previous wife was Vashti, but in the Bible he is called Ahasuerus. He was the son of the great King Darius, but Ahasuerus, unlike his father, was both hasty and headstrong. He was the ruler of his reign. Ahasuerus gave a great banquet in the court of the garden of the palace. He invited the princes and army chiefs, the nobles and governors.

Imagine the splendour of the feast! There were beautiful white and blue hangings, caught up with cords of fine linen and purple to silver rings and pillars of the towering marble - pillars. The guests reclined on couches covered and silver on a mosaic pavement of mother-lo-pearl, marble and precious stones. Day after day, for a whole week the feasting continued.

BANQUET FOR WOMEN

The Queen at the same time provided a banquet for the women, in those days the Persians considered it not only unnecessary but wrong for a wife to allow any man except her husband to see her face. Women lived in completely secluded life in their harem.

All might have gone well if at the men's banquet the royal wine had not been drunk too freely and served so lavishly! It is true that the Bible tells us nothing against his will. But the heart of the host, the king, became "merry with wine". At this point he hastily resolved to send his seven chamberlains for his Queen, in order to show the visitors that she was fair to behold.

It must have taken a great deal of courage for the queen to refuse the order of her husband—who was a despot. But all honor to her, she did what she considered the right thing. As might be expected, the king's anger burned within him.

Marilyn McConnell the assisted with the Mission Band hymn and purpose. Barbara Scott read an invitation to visit Wellman's Daisy Mission Band next week. Mrs. Linn presided at the piano and Roger Smith read the Bible lesson. Gail Scott contributed a piano solo.

Women World's Best Drivers Says Writer

(By DOROTHY ROE)
(Ajax, Press Women's Editor)

Some of the world's best drivers are women, says petite Betty Hooker, of Ajax. Betty Hooker, a 3-year-old autumn girl who just set a new women's auto speed record of 143.44 miles an hour.

Having learned to fly an airplane at the age of 11 and having won most of the available airborne championships, Betty looked around for a new thrill recently and hit on sports cars. Now she says:

"It's really harder to drive a car than it is to pilot a plane. I'm tired of all the cracks about women drivers. Actually there are just as many bad drivers among men as among women, and most accidents happen because people don't stop to think."

STUNT PILOT TO SPORTS CAR

Betty looks like a debutante, believes in feminine clothes even when flying or racing, and loves speed like some people love hot fudge sundaes. When she set the new women's speed record in Detroit last week, driving an opaliescent blue Austin sports car, Betty wore a wraparound dress of coral and white linen which she made herself. When not setting records on the ground or in the air, this young Ajax young woman makes all her own clothes and has worked out an all-nylon wardrobe which she says is an overnight bag for her flying trips.

She flew for five years before she got old enough to get a license, at 16, when she became the youngest licensed pilot in the United States. Since then she has won the international aerobatic championship for women, set a number of speed and altitude records for light planes, and has performed with air circuses, doing hair-raising stunts in her 450-pound plane.

Following the reading of an address by Mrs. Nicholson, signed on behalf of friends and neighbors, by Mabel Lloyd and Laura Chambers, in which regret was expressed at losing them from the neighborhood, and recalling the many times at showers, quilting when they were always ready and willing to lend a helping hand, and in times of sickness or sorrow, never too tired to think of others, and stating that although the gift of a lovely mirror Mrs. Donly, on behalf of the Pentecostal Women's Missionary Circle also presented Mrs. Wannamaker with a cup and saucer.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

A HUSBAND WHO NEGLECTS HIS PREGNANT WIFE

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I'm 30 years old, married, have a baby girl a year and a half old and am expecting another baby.

My husband is a hot older man in am, and he always wants to go out by himself. If he does take me to the movies he always travels in front of me, leaving me behind, and he likes to look at other girls and say something to them. He never wants to hold hands with me. Sometimes he is very nice to me, and other times he is very mean and throws things at me.

I just can't stand it any longer and would like to know what you think I should do. — Mrs. D.V.

Dear Mrs. D.V.:

Your letter leaves me wondering just what circumstances brought about your marriage to a man "a lot older" than yourself. You have told me something more about this, I would feel I could advise you better. Apparently there is a much difference in your ages that he just doesn't want to be bothered in a very young woman like yourself, and I can't help feeling that there's some reason why he married you in the first place.

It may be that the fact you are pregnant accounts for his acting so strangely when he goes out to go out, and I think if I were you I would not allow myself to stand any kind of treatment. I don't think you should necessarily expect him to hold hands with you on the street or in the movies, but for him to refuse to would be silly, and to flirt with other women, is quite another matter.

Why don't you try going to the show with some of your girl friends and some other night sometimes with them? If you show your husband that you are not going to look to him for entertainment but will find it for yourself, he might take a different attitude.

Perhaps if you wrote me again and told me about your marriage in more detail I might be able to give practical suggestions for you. As it is, I have too little information on which to form an opinion as to the trouble between you and your husband.

HER SERVICEMAN HAS STOPPED WRITING

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I'm in love with a boy in the army. He told me he loved me, too, and I told him I loved him every week, but then he stopped writing. I keep on writing to him but he never does to me.

How can I get him to write me again? — L.D.

Dear L.D.:

Perhaps if you stopped writing yourself, he would write to find out why. You might try that, anyhow, and see if you get any results. If you don't I'd suggest that you don't send him any more letters. You don't seem to be getting anywhere to a boy who ignores you, do you?

Perhaps you are writing him too too sentimental and possessive, and scared the chap off. He might just have been making polite talk when he told you he loved you, and not actually meaning him. When you took what he said seriously, he may have thought it time to call a halt.

However, if you do try the plan I suggest don't write him any more letters and it results in his writing to you again, keep your own letters just friendly, with no mush and leave romance out of them. That may help.

PARENTS FROM THE "OLD COUNTRY" DON'T ALWAYS UNDERSTAND

Dear Miss Fairfax:

My father came from Italy, is quite old and very strict. He thinks the American boys are wild and bad, and what he reads in the newspapers about teen-ager scandals makes him more set against them.

I've tried so many times to explain to him that all teen-agers aren't that way, but he just gets mad, and won't listen. I'm 16 years old, the youngest in my family and the only girl. My five older brothers entirely agree with my father that 16-year-old girls shouldn't have dates or go to dances or show. My father thinks I should be delighted to stay home every night and work, and actually never seems happy unless he has me doing some task for him.

I think this is all very unfair, and I am at my wit's end. —Camilla D, Her Camilla:

Yours is a problem that a great many girls of your age have to contend with these days, the "Old Country" background. Such parents bring with them their ideas of how young people should be brought up, and are unwilling to change them these even when they see that boys and girls grow up differently here. It is very difficult indeed for their children who are born in this country and who naturally want to do the same things that other boys and girls are free to do.

I suggest that you talk your problem over with the mothers of one or two of your best girl friends and see if they can't figure out a way to help you.

For example, you might take enough interest in what you are up against to make a point of becoming acquainted with your parents and, when their relationship has got on a friendly basis, they might try to persuade them, in a tactful way, to let you have more freedom. Or, they might take the trouble to call your father aside and explain to him that you could spend the evening at one of their homes with some of the wife or boy and girl and gradually, in some such way as this, get your father used to giving you more and more time with your young friends.

Try this as a starter and let me know how you make out.

HE'S A WAR-MADE AMPUTEE— SHOULD HE MARRY

If ever there is a time when extra-earnest heart-searching is needed before marriage, it is when one the other of a couple in love has a handicap of some sort. For the very circumstances that call loudest for caution, for mature judgment, for the patience to wait until one's true feelings and sincerest desires become really clear, all too often the kind of circumstances which lead a person to set aside emotion and think straight and to rush impulsively into a marriage that may later be bitterly regretted.

What I specifically have in mind at the moment is the case of a serviceman who was seriously injured in Korea. Although only 22 years old, he is a young man with unusual ability to face facts. More than that, he wants his girl to face them, too, for he fears the desire to marry him immediately may be less impulsive than deeply and earnestly considered offering.

"When I went overseas three years ago," he writes, "I was deeply in love with a girl who put it in my large fluted pyrex pan and use a graham wafer crust with it, saving 1-4 cup of crumbs for topping.

ANGEL PIE

(Courtney Helen C.S.)

One envelope gelatin soaked in 1-4 cup cold water for 5 minutes. Heat over hot water until dissolved. Pour slowly into three egg whites, beaten stiff, with 1-2 cup granulated sugar has been added. Beat 1 cup cream and fold in. Pour into graham wafer crust and let set. Before serving cover with whipped cream sweetened and add remaining crumbs to cover whipped cream.

ANSWER:

Thank you Helen. My version of Angel Pie has a thin layer of rich lemon filling below the meringue filling, so I was glad to receive another variation, and am sure our readers will appreciate it too. Thanks also for Bette P.'s behalf for the Meringue Triangles. I hope she sees it.

QUESTION:

I have been reading your column ever since we moved here last August . . . think it is the best of its kind I have ever read . . . I wonder if you have any need for your diabetic recipes . . . I am always trying to get new ideas as I am diabetic. Could you tell me how to use sucaryl and fruit pectin to make jelly from fruit juice when I am making ordinary jelly for the family.—M. H. B.

ANSWER:

Jelly is tricky to make without sugar. Actually what you do is sweeten clear fruit juice with sucaryl then stiffen it with fruit pectin. But since it contains no sugar it will not keep unless it is perfectly sterile and sealed. Most diabetic patients make it and keep it in the refrigerator, making up only a small batch at a time and as they need it. I have a booklet on Home Preserves for diabetic jams I have on hand. Thanks for a good question. Let me know if there is some other way I can help you with your diabetic problem.

BRITTLE FINGERNAILS

Fingernails, like the complexion, often reflect the condition of the health. If they are dull, lack lustre, sleep, a diet that does not include the necessary foods, menstrual disorders, unfavorable effect upon the skin, muscles and blood cells may be at fault, as is so common trouble. It is possible that this cause lies in the lack of proteins in the diet. A quart of rich milk taken each day may restore normal condition.

Using the scissors for shaping nails is a mistake. The nails should be filed, first with a flexible file of high grade steel that works quickly, then with an emery board that will impart a smooth edge. Work from sides to centre as there is less chance of cutting the surrounding flesh. The slightest wound is subject to infection. After the filing soak the hands in warm suds and, while still damp, pass white petroleum jelly under the nails.

A cuticle cream should be applied freely. It will soften the cuticle. Like every cell of the body, the nails are nourished by substances absorbed from the blood streams, so massage them while putting on creams. Work the cream thoroughly into the bases of the nails where the matrix is building up a new nail that emerges in tiny over-lapping cells. This practice will tend to make the nails smooth and the hangnails will not form.

While the cream is still there use some of the cuticle cream under the eaves, being careful not to scratch the nails.

In the old days when polish was not considered a nail aid a good deal of buffing that tended to keep them smooth and pliable. Because we use polish we must realize it is a practice to thumb each nail after being colored. Apply a light film, let it dry, then put on a second one.

As Conducted by Mary Moore

LETTER:

Having had your wonderful advice and used so many of your recipes I couldn't help writing today. Noticed Belle P.'s letter re cake with dark molasses base and dark topping and have it. . . .It is called Meringue Triangles and captioned as a chocolate dough lightly flavored with molasses and topped with a tichly nutted brown sugar meringue. It does not contain dates but seems to me these could be added.

MERINGUE TRIANGLES

(Courtney Helen C. S. for Belle P.)

One and one-half cups sifted pastry flour (or 1 1-3 cups sifted all-purpose flour), 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons cocoa, 6 tablespoons butter or other fat, 1-2 cup fine granulated sugar, 2 eggs, separated, 3 tablespoon molasses, 1 1-3 teaspoon vanilla, 1-2 cup lightly packed brown sugar, 1-3 cup broken walnuts, 1-3 cup desiccated cocoanut. Grease 9" square pan. Preheat oven to 350 deg. F. Sift flour, baking powder, salt and cocoa together. Cream butter, gradually blend in granulated sugar. Add unbeaten egg yolks one at a time, beating well after each addition. Blend in molasses and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Add flour mixture, about a third at a time, combining well after each addition. Press into prepared pan. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry; gradually beat in brown sugar. Fold in remaining 1 teaspoon vanilla, the walnuts and cocoanut. Spread meringue over dough in pan. Bake in preheated oven about 45 minutes. Cut into four strips, then cut each strip into pieces, then cut each square diagonally to form triangles. Yield 32 triangles.

Helen goes on to say "I also have a recipe called "Angel Pie" a real favorite at our house any guests who have tried it say it's a good topped with fresh strawberries or raspberries in season. This makes a big recipe and I

THANK-YOU NOTES FOR ANNIVERSARY GIFTS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When guests bring flowers and other gifts to our Golden Wedding Anniversary evening reception (as I imagine they will do), shall I please suggest to me the wording of thank-you notes, should write, Golden Wedding Planner.

Here's the basic pattern for thank-you notes: 1. Mention of appreciation for the thought behind the present; (2) mention the present specifically, by name (not vaguely "your present"); (3) make enthusiastic comments about special features of the present, saying, when possible, how you will use it; (4) friendly bow of again-thank-you, and best wishes. For example:

Dear Mary,

What a "golden thought" you and Arthur had for our happiness on our Golden Wedding anniversary! The gold-luster pitcher is a great beauty, so charmingly appropriate, with its radiant golden color, so distinctive that I just the right size. Phil and I will look at it and use it with joy and delight always.

We both thank you both, you and Arthur, and friends, for this treasure you gave us, and dearest love to you.

Devotedly,

HOUSE WARMING PROBLEMS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I, my husband and baby moved into our new home, and would like to have a Housewarming. Is it necessary to have one, and what is a housewarming?

2. Are guests expected to bring gifts to the Housewarming?

3. Is it proper for a member of our family, such as an aunt, to have a shower for us? — M.B.

1. No, it is not necessary to serve a real meal at a Housewarming. . . . and not customary. Hours most often chosen for Housewarming are the afternoon hours, 2 or 3 to 5, or 6, or 7, most often, 4 to 7, when simple refreshments, really a tea-menu, are served—sandwiches, cakes, perhaps witches, with simple fillings, small cakes and the interesting cookies, tea and or coffee, perhaps either one iced, or other cold beverages; and usually such accessories-for-nibbling as nuts, potato chips, pop-corn, possibly packaged specialties, and so forth.

2. It isn't considered a "must" that guests bring gifts to a House-warming. . . .but they may if they wish to.

3. It is never considered the correct thing for a relative to plan a shower or any kind. As an old-quette-suggestion, this is a natural, because a shower "gift" is the direction of a relative" Just naturally looks like the promotion-for-gifts it really is.

BRIDE'S FATHER'S ATTIRE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

The wedding is to be in the church of the country place where we spend the summer. I am going to have a floor-length gown, a satin wedding gown, with train. The men in the wedding party are going to wear cutaways and striped trousers. Should my father wear this outfit or may he wear striped trousers, or the white coat and dark trousers, as the men in the wedding party are wearing?

Your father, if (as I judge) he is to be the bride's escort, is considered a member of the wedding party, and therefore he should wear the same outfit as is worn by the other men in the wedding party.

PLANS MUST BE MADE DEFINITE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

We are planning a wedding at which there will be approximately 150 Guests. For a 7 or 8 P.M. wedding would it be correct to serve sandwiches and so forth, or would it be more appropriate to serve a "cold plate"? (3) Also please tell us if it would be correct to ask each guest to serve as soon as he or she has passed down the receiving-line, or should all guests wait until the bridal party is ready after receiving all the guests? (4)

(1) The bride-to-be, and her mother, who is to be the hostess of the wedding, must first get busy and decide definitely about the hour of the wedding. Which is it to be—7 o'clock or 8 o'clock in the evening? The difference in hour would, I should think, make a great difference in the kind of plans to serve. Depending, of course, on customs of the community. (You don't want to have the food planned to substitute for a hardy meal, (say) 7:30 P.M. 8 o'clock might be the dinner hour or so- soon after, that only the simplest of menus would be appropriate;" this, dainty sandwiches with salad, ice cream, and cake, possibly supplemented by small cakes or cookies; coffee and tea, a cold beverage with which to drink the toasts. An 8 o'clock ceremony might be followed by a supper-menu, perhaps cold meats, salad, and so forth. (2) If the decision of the guests is to be fairly short procedure, the bride and groom may prefer to have the guests wait until they join them. But if it's to be a fairly long procedure (as it often is, even when there is not a large number of guests, it is usual for them to begin to serve refreshments when guests have gone down the receiving-line.

TIP TO DOORMAN

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When you are a guest (at dinner or luncheon, for example) of friends who live in an apartment with doorman, do you get/give him a tip, are you supposed to tip him? If so, how much?

Yes, you would tip him for this service. . . . . how much it is might depend on the weather (when difficult to "capture" a taxi, for example, and effort he must spend. . .15 cents if it's an easy job, perhaps, but 25 cents considered a generous tip.

IS THIS VISIT PROPER?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Mother, I would like to ask you a question very important to us. Our 18-year old daughter plans to invited in August 4th Fourth of July week-end with the family of a boy friend of hers. They are not engaged, are not even considering being engaged. Is this visit proper? Does it seem proper for her to go? — Mother

Yes, such a visit seems proper, (1) if the girl receives a direct invitation, verbally or by telephone or by mail, from the young man's mother or whoever is the hostess in the home, and (2) if your and husband approve of the friendship and of her going on this visit.

SHE CAN HAVE A FORMAL CHURCH WEDDING

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Dad and I, only, have never been married, and in about four months I am going to marry a man 30 years my senior, who is a widower for three years. I have always wanted to have a large, formal church wedding, and to wear a traditional white wedding dress and veil. Would it be wrong, have many relatives and both have a large circle of friends. Also, since this is his second marriage, would this be proper? — Alice W.

Yes, the fact that this is a second marriage for the prospective bridegroom, does not mean that you cannot have just the formal type of wedding you have always dreamed of. Since this is your first marriage, you may wear the traditional white wedding dress, bridal veil, and plan all details of your wedding consistent with this formality.

Question Box

A Public Education Service of
THE HEALTH LEAGUE OF CANADA
111 Avenue Road; Toronto 5,
in co-operation with this newspaper.

All questions submitted are answered anonymously by members of the medical advisory board or special technical sections of the HEALTH LEAGUE.

The "Health League Question Box" grew out of questions submitted over the years to the Health League of Canada—a unique voluntary lay organization which enlists the advisory support of leading specialists in every field of medicine to combat preventable sickness by means of public education. All questions submitted to the "Question Box" are answered by medical or scientific experts and checked for accuracy by members of the specialized technical sections of the Health League.

The Health League, in presenting this weekly newspaper feature, hopes, by making good medical advice available, to counteract the bad advice on health matters freely offered by non-professional passers-by and well-meaning friends and to submit questions to the above address. Of course, the "Question Box" cannot undertake to diagnose specific ailments by mail. However, all questions will be given courteous attention and answered as fully as possible.

LIMP AND SOGGY

It seems to be an old Anglo-Saxon tradition that meat is to be eaten with pleasure and vegetables out of a sense of duty. The late long-lived George Bernard Shaw may have felt that his being a vegetarian had something to do with his longevity, but if he had to subsist on the kind of vegetables so often served in non-vegetarian homes and restaurants one wonders why he didn't choose to death at an early age. Perhaps his famous wit and versatility intellect were developed in self-defense, which enabled him to live on in spite of his vegetables.

Question: "At 4 h e restaurant where I eat my lunch there is a sign which very properly reminds me to eat my vegetables for health. But the carrots, asparagus, etc., which are served me are not only soggy but overcooked at the cannery but they are watery, limp and tasteless. I am not finicky, and if it will do me any good I am willing to be a soldier and take my medicine, but I suspect that such vegetables are vitaminless as well as tasteless. Right?"

Answer: Yes.

"BASE" FOR COCKTAILS

Following is a question that was bound to come in sooner or later. If the question seems to be intended to be a medium of propaganda, the question would have been slipped discreetly under the desk blotter to be eased unobtrusively, finally, into the wastebasket. The policy of the Question Box, however, is to answer honest questions honestly and let the chips fall where they may. It should be remembered that the answer is based on the evidence available on drinking matters referred to in the question, and would not apply to "heavy" drinking.

Question: "I drink very little but occasionally I go to a party where cocktails are in order, and I do enjoy one or two, but I have been told that eating certain foods before going to such a party gives you a 'base'; so that you can enjoy a drink without any ill-effects. I drink no seldom that I get a little giddy from one drink. What foods should I eat to get the right 'base'?"

Answer: By getting the right 'base' you actually mean having the right foods in your stomach to slow down the rate of absorption of alcohol. Fatty foods are most effective. This is the basis of the old idea of drinking a small amount of olive oil before going to a drinking party. Fatty Hors d'oeuvres such as sardines, sausages, etc., would be fairly effective.

Garden Notes

Gardener's Work Is Never Done

FLORA M. SAVILLE

The gardener can see no end to his work. As soon as he has his annuals out and the vegetables in there is some transplanting or pruning to do. Mildew, insects, drought, sun and low temperatures add to his labors.

But, this should be taken as a challenge, rather than a discouraging fact. Learning how to cope with the enemy is the way of coming out on top in a part of the game. The present day gardener has a host of allies and he should recognize them and make the best possible use of them.

There are the hybridizers who have made careless carrots straightened the curve out of green beans and taken the strings out of the celery and the pink rings out of our tables beets. The chemists have mixed and tested countless materials to kill insects, fungi, and weeds.

WORK ENDLESS

In the field of soil testing work goes on endlessly to discover new ways to renew depleted soils and improve texture. Government experimental stations, universities and many chemical companies carry on long range tests to discover hidden faults and virtues in the soil to enable us to grow better crops.

So, Mr. Gardener, there is an answer for nearly all your problems. "Ask and you shall receive" information.

The early sown carrots failed to come up evenly. This week we put in some more. You can put in carrots for the fall all through July.

For a quick start make the trench a little deeper than usual. Flood the trench with water and allow the water to drain away then drop the seeds in. Cover with half an inch of washed builder's sand. This will be a damp, so don't use damp vermiculite.

The seeds will have little difficulty in pushing through either of these. When the plants are an inch and a half high gradually fill in the row will soil.

Coarse seeds such as beans and beets do not need the sand, but do wet the bottom of the trench for a quick start.

CONSIDER TIME, WEATHER

When you plan to work in the garden consider the time and the weather. Beans should not be touched when the foliage is damp. Fungus spores cause brown spots on leaves when they are disturbed when wet.

It is best to do all watering in the morning, and to spray and dust in the early morning. Delay spraying and dusting until cooler weather if the temperatures rise above 75 degrees, if possible.

Transplanting should be done in the cool of the evening, on a cloudy day. Make up a solution of liquid plant food and add ½ cupful per plant as you put each one in. Do your pruning when there is no drying wind to draw excessive moisture from the cut surface.

Did you stake the trees you set out this spring? Strong winds can curve slender trees and make them permanently crippled. Then too, the roots need help in keeping the trees set until they have had time to form strong anchors. Synthetic (plastic) wire works well, but it is well to put the tree where the pull comes. A piece of rubber hose makes a good guard. Pad bark to prevent wire would touch.

You can move bearded iris any time after they have set seed to divide, move, or set out new plants, cut off their leaves and a fresh fresh new roots rather than old ones.

SHALLOW PLANTING

Iris demand shallow planting. See that the side roots are covered, but leave a little of the fleshy rhizome above ground. Set them too deep they will rot. Cut off old flower-stems and feed all iris with a few handfuls of bone meal to insure large flowers for next year.

If you wish to make green cuttings of perennials, or geraniums, take six-inch cuttings and plant in damp sand, or vermiculite, having first allowed the cut ends of geraniums to dry in the air for an hour. Dip the cut surface in hormone rooting powder to encourage fast, prompt rooting.

If you are lifting bulbs which will be replanted in October, dig out a place in the back garden and spread a fresh screen, place the bulbs on this, mark the corners with stakes and cover with soil. The bulbs will not be forgotten or lost when it comes time to dig them up.

If you noticed badly spotted leaves and twisted blooms on your tulips you have botrytis. The spots are grey and pinkish, are a kind of mold.

TULIP FIRE

The bulbs should be dug and destroyed before the disease spreads to other bulbs. This is the so-called "tulip fire". When you suspect botrytis, spray the new growth early in the spring with ferbam.

It is not too late to plant gladiolus. You may happen on a bargain. Some dealers have a surplus and will sell them at a very low price.

When cutting glads be sure to leave as many leaves as possible. They gather food from the air to store in the bulbs to make next year's blooms.

THOMASBURG

Church Makes Farewell Gift To Pastor, Wife

THOMASBURG. — On Friday evening the congregation of Thomasburg United Church gathered on the parsonage lawn to bid farewell to its pastor, Mr. W. H. Farrow and Mrs. Farrow.

E. Bateman, Ernest Carter, Earl Jones, Thomas White, Fred Preston, Harold K. Morton, Mrs. Grace Thompson, regretting Mr. and Mrs. Farrow's departure, thanking them for their many kindnesses, and for their faithfulness in all departments of the church life, also extending congratulations on their 25th anniversary.

As a slight token of appreciation for their work among the people, they were asked to accept a gift, wishing God's blessing upon them wherever they may be called to go in their future life. Mrs. H. K. Thompson made the presentation of a silver tea service.

Mr. Farrow replied on behalf of Mr. J. E. Bateman, Mr. Horace Vance, Mr. Earl Jones and Mrs. Ernest Carter in appreciation of the services of Mr. and Mrs. Farrow.

Refreshments, served by the ladies in the vestry were followed by a social hour, enjoyed by all.

It was not known before the farewell party where Mr. Farrow would be stationed; he was graduated on Monday and has been completed for him to supply at Janetville, Ontario, under the supervision of the Rev. R. R. Bonsteel, formerly of Rawdon charge, but who is now stationed at Bethany, Ontario.

The best wishes of all follow the minister and his wife to their new residence.

Gunners Sharpen Shooting Eyes On Towed Gliders

LONDON (CP)—British anti-aircraft gunners, the busy men of the blitz, are sharpening up their shooting eyes on towed gliders.

The full-size, engineless aircraft, constructed with pine frames and plywood fabric, provide ideal dummies for spotting and shooting drill. They are similar in appearance to the twin-boomed British Vampire jet fighter, now being delivered with Sabres by the RCAF, but have three tail fins.

Trailed behind jet fighter "tugs," the gliders are capable of speeds between 450 and 550 miles an hour, making them fleet targets to test the gunners' skill.

The gliders can take off or land on grass, snow or ice and are fitted with six - foot parachute brakes cut down the runway length necessary for landing from more than 1,000 feet to about 30 feet.

Horticulture Society Tours Several Gardens

About 40 interested folk and flower lovers gathered at the home of the president, 248 Church street. Here Mr. Houchin spoke briefly and outlined the advantages of such a gathering. This is the best time of year to keep an exchange of horticultural material in mind and many flower lovers might see something in the various gardens that they would like to have, and often they might have an abundance of some particular variety. This year the Stirling Horticulture Society thought up a good idea. Each person can list items they have for exchange, and items they would prefer to receive. At the meeting this autumn, these slips can be handed in, and a committee will arrange for an exchange on a one for one basis regardless of size or value.

The tour continued to the regents of Mrs. J. B. Beatty "Hillsholm", and Mrs. William Ashby along the Trent River, Mrs. Ashley Brooks, Mrs. Burton Woodcock, Mrs. Claude Tucker, Mrs. James Chamberlain, Mrs. Lorne Carter, Mrs. J. B. Belshaw, Mrs. O. Dalrymple, Mrs. Albert Fraser, Dr. E. A. Carleton and ended their final tour at the home of Dr. and Mrs. W. Cornell. Here the party was entertained on the spacious lawns.

The tea table was decorated with seasonal blooms and Mrs. H. K. Beatty and Mrs. J. B. Belshaw presided at the urns. Mrs. J. B. Belshaw, Mrs. O. Dalrymple, Mrs. Albert Fraser, Dr. E. A. Carleton and each their final tour at the home of Dr. and Mrs. W. Cornell. Here the party was entertained on the spacious lawns.

President Houchin hoped the afternoon had been both instructive and enjoyable and that the idea would be used in future years.

MARMORA

Residents Hold Open Meeting For Discussion

MARMORA—The matter of waterworks and sewerage for the village of Marmora received further airing at the public meeting of ratepayers held in the town hall on Wednesday evening with Reeve Ritchie Wells, presiding.

The goodly-sized gathering included a number of ladies. Following the chairman's introductory remarks, a film was shown by Dr. A. M. Bruce, Medical Health Officer for Belleville in which was emphasized the dangers of waters becoming contaminated and diseases resulting therefrom. Dr. Bruce at the end of the film spoke on the need of communities having a pure water supply. The speaker was thanked by H. W. Sabine.

Mr. Hendry, representative of R. V. Anderson Associates Limited, Toronto, gave estimates of the cost of a sewage system alone, also of a waterworks system and then the two systems together. Councillor W. A. Shannon, Finance Chairman, read a prepared statement as to how the cost would be met partly by direct taxation, partly by frontage tax, and partly by monthly water rates. Reeve Clarence Graham of Tweed told of the manner in which Tweed proceeded with their project.

REPORT GIVEN

At the request of the village council the Chamber had a special committee working with the council for the support of the scheme and he called on H. K. Melloy chairman of that committee to give a report. The chairman outlined his committee had done on the matter. He said the council had passed over to the committee the maps and reports on the project for their study. It was the Reeve's desire that waterworks alone was possible just now. Also the committee had interviewed the reeves of Madoc and Tweed, who were in office when these villages went through their waterworks and both had been courteous and helpful.

A discussion period followed with a variety of questions being put from the floor and generally a divergence of opinion still exists. The chairman pointed out that the time for a vote had not arrived and that further study would have to be given the scheme with another public meeting being necessary at a future date.

NO. 6 IN A SERIES . . . YOUR HYDRO AT WORK FOR YOU AND YOURS

YOUR HYDRO
. . . key service in a new community

From 1947 to December, 1953, the number of new dwelling units built in Ontario was 183,515. Each required an average of 1¼ kilowatts of electricity, a total of 229,000 kilowatts, or, 307,000 horsepower. . .

These homes didn't have to wait for Hydro service. Crews were stringing lines before the homes were completed . . . . Hydro was there, before the door key.

To meet this demand Ontario Hydro and your local municipal system must plan far into the future. Power projects must be started years before their immediate need arises, so that new homes, new schools, new shopping centres, new municipal services and new industries, all have power when and where required . . . low-cost power that is the keynote of modern living.

Yankees Creep Into Second Place As Indians Take Two Chisox Scalps

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

TORONTO HERE TONIGHT!

Coach Vern Geyer shook up his bag of infielders in Oshawa the other night, and came up with a combination that appears to be the best to date, if their performance against the league leaders can be judged a criterion. It was a far different defensive squad to that which committed a dozen blunders against the Oshawans on their previous meeting here, and proved that the comedy of errors was a thing in the past.

Geyer had Peter Jones at first, Fitz at second, newcomer Jimmy McCormick at short and brother Gerry at third. The combo clicked, but handsomely, with the quartet, especially Fitz at third with two putouts and an assist, while McCormick scincoming through handsomely. Gerry Geyer played a fine game utilized at short with three outs and three helpers. Peter played his usual "old smoothie" game.

Johnny Mowat, with his team playing superb defensive baseball, emulated his previous effort and although touched for seven hits, had the Oshawans eating out of his hands in the final four frames when only 13 men faced him. It was a sweet dish for Johnny to win after his fine effort in the previous game.

Toronto Dependables, sometimes known as the Caterers, are guests of the Intelligencer tonight, and the Carson crew, fresh from their victory over Oshawa, will be gunning for their seventh victory. Ole "Mystery Man" Goyer as usual "ain't saying" who the starting pitcher will be, but in all probability Art Wright, or Sammy the Man, will get the nod. Game at 8.30.

HARKEN TO THE OSHAWA SCRIBE...

"The big news in the Viaduct-Ontario Baseball League at the moment is the objection being raised by Toronto teams, Hoskins and Dependables, along with Oakville, to Oshawa Transporters using a U.S. college import. Wes Stiff, manager of the Caterers, is quoted as saying he would not object to Americans if they pay large amounts of money to Americans. It should be pointed out to the Caterers' manager that he isn't being asked to pay money—he doesn't have to pay any. If he doesn't wish. On the other hand, history has proven that the Oshawa team, with U.S. imports as an attraction, have drawn more people into Millen Stadium than games between Toronto teams of which the rosters were entirely homebrews.

"We have said it before—and repeat, we never heard of any stipulation being made at the start of the season that Oshawa—or any team, couldn't have an import or two if they wished. The Toronto group claims that Peterborough and Belleville will support the arrangement, but Transporters are on the solid alone, willy they operate a 5-team league. That, my friends—is sheer bluff. Transporters are drawing twice as many fans in Belleville and Peterborough than any of the three Toronto teams (we include Oakville) and what's more—we have on our desk, a copy of a recent sports column from the Lifflock City, in which it is openly stated that they would like an import or two—have tried to get an import or two—but the employment situation in Peterborough at the moment has made it almost impossible. It's the same old petty stuff—some clubs are crying real early about the strength of a rival team—and forgetting that good baseball is what pulls spectators in the stands. We can prove this—and we do—that if the Toronto teams continues this petty bickering over the Transporters, the Ontario Baseball League will be operating again next season. FOR SURE!"

There are none so deaf as those who will not hear. Managers and representatives of five teams in the league could not have made a collective mistake regarding this verbal import agreement.

As far as the "bluff" is concerned, if such is the case why did the VOBL president call a meeting last night in Oshawa to settle the issue. Mr. Campbell is slightly askew in his statement that the Transporters are drawing the biggest crowds in Belleville. Crowds at the Peter and Oakville games outnumbered that of Oshawa games.

Tribe Grabs Twin Victories Paced by Veteran Feller Giants Stretch Lead to Five

By Ken Philegar
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bobby Feller may yet get another chance to win a world series game, one of the few triumphs that has eluded him during his brilliant pitching career.

At the ripe old age of 35 the Cleveland righthander who came off an Iowa farm 19 summers ago with just about the fastest fast ball the majors ever saw is proving a vital factor in the Indians' pennant bid.

He doesn't work often any more and when he does he has to rely on craft and guile instead of blazing speed. But he continues to be successful and might very well get the call in a long series. Cleveland has been in only one world series since Feller joined the club. He lost twice in 1948 to the old Boston Braves.

FIFTH WIN

Friday night he turned in his fifth victory of the season, checking the Chicago White Sox 3-2 on four hits in the opener of a twi-lightlonight doubleheader. The Indians grabbed the nightcap, too, by a 5-4 margin and clamped the lid on Chicagoans into third place.

It might have gotten a pasting except for a couple of good breaks. Feller admitted after the game: "I didn't have much of anything except pretty fair control."

Two of the Indians' runs were homers, by Chico Carrasquel, the first batter he faced, and Vic Wertz in Minnesota leading off in the ninth.

But Feller got some vital help from Dale Mitchell who contributed a 400-foot home run to tie the score in the sixth inning and then singled home the second run of the season came with the score tied and two men aboard in the 12th.

YANKS IN SECOND

The New York Yankees crept in the side streets to second place although they split their 12th consecutive doubleheader. After beating Washington 6-1 in 11 innings, they bowed to the Senators 13-5 in the nightcap on his seventh against a single loss. The Yankees haven't captured the two ball games since of last season.

The New York Giants stretched their National League lead to five full games. They whipped Pittsburgh 5-2 with Ruben Gomez in the seventh inning and Brooklyn lost its fourth straight, bowing 7-6 to the Philadelphia Phillies.

In other National League action Milwaukee's Braves blanked Cincinnati 11-4 and 2-1 and Chicago edged St. Louis 7-6, the seventh time the Cubs have tripped the Cardinals in nine starts.

Elsewhere in the American League Boston thumped Philadelphia 8-4 and Baltimore split a doubleheader with Joe Coleman to turn back Detroit 2-0.

The Yankees' fortunes victory came after Washington had moved into a 5-4 lead in the top of the ninth. Yogi Berra singled home the tying run in the last of the ninth and came through in the clutch again in the 11th with a single that scored Bob Cerv with the winning tally.

COULDN'T CATCH 'F

The Yankees by 5 themselves five runs behind in 2½ innings of the second game and couldn't catch up again. The Senators now hold a 6-5 season's edge over the world champions.

The Giants and Dodgers, fresh from battling each other for three games, hooked up in twin nighters Friday night and neither could survived. Ramon Monzant chalked up his fourth shutout for the Giants in Pittsburgh but had to be yanked during a four-run Pittsburgh rally in the fourth, Dusty Rhodes, who won two of the three games against Brooklyn with pinch-hit singles, delivered another single, again in pinch hitter, to start the Giants' big inning.

Pete Wojey, just up from Montreal, started for Brooklyn and lasted until the fifth in Philadelphia's big blow for the Phillies, however, was a three-run homer by Del Ennis off Clem Labine in the eighth.

Petes Whip Mounties 9-3

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — A seven-goal outburst in the first period here Friday night gave the Peters a 9-3 senior Ontario Lacrosse Association win over the last-place Mounties to put Peterborough again in the lone possession of first place.

Soccer Gossip

Peterborough UEW retained their one hundred per cent record for the season last Saturday when they defeated Kingston United by eight goals to one in the Liffock City. They thus remain in the leading position in the Eastern Ontario Football League. Kingston United are now in a three way tie for second place with Belleville Northerp Electric and Batawa.

The Belleville squad brought their points total to six from five starts by defeating Scarboro Merchants seven to two in Peterborough. Norm. Carter and Bunny Bedford three each for the Electric whilst Scott got the other counter. Dewser and Hall did the scoring marksmen for the Merchants.

No league games have been scheduled for the week-end. The big attraction is the inter league representative match between the Eastern Ontario League All Stars and an all star team from the Toronto Soccer League. This game is slated to be played in Peterborough Exhibition Park at 3 p.m. on Saturday afternoon. The Toronto League has a strong contingent including Bob Lingard, Dowling, Cook and Kelly, Scarboro, Georghegon and Lloyd Arsenal, Dunbar, Bedford, Reid and Duckworth, Lucas Rolex, Lilly and Zbrostin, Eastern Motors, Bowman, Fleming, McCann and Davies, 7900 Club, Henderson, Scarboro.

Local leagues will be represented by Jones, Croll, Buchan, Stroug, Ryan and Biddle of Quinte Rovers, Cooper, Machin, McCabe, Grundy and Gray, Kingston United, Curtis, Bowen, Hopkins, Ellis, UEW, JEW, Northern Electric, Dunn, UEW.

On Tuesday evening Foley Foundry juveniles and Trenton Merchants play-off for the championship game in Trenton's Bain Memorial Park. To make the game more attractive the Trenton defence teamed up with the Foley forwards whilst the Foley defence combined with the Trenton forwards. The game ended with the score three goals to two for Foley. The last with two and P. Wensem were the Trenton marksmen while Findlay and Tanner scored for Foley's. This was another of the series of exciting ties being staged by the Foundry juveniles and the Branch No 20 Canadian Legion Senators in quest for the forthcoming Ontario championship games.

In the Bay of Quinte League Northern Electric assumed top position of Wednesday, when they beat RCAF Trenton nine goals to one at the air station. The Electrics however, have played two extra games than Batawa who are off two weeks due to plant vacation. Nt. Gerrard was top marksman followed by D. Robertson with two goals. Taylor and Robertson scored the other three.

The Bay of Quinte F.A. executive committee met to iron out fixtures, agreements and rough play. Last Wednesday night's meeting was suspended for two weeks and the Discipline Committee has let it be known that they will take a serious view of any future players appearing before them. Referee Gerard Gerard off the field will have to have a very good case if he is not to be severely dealt with. He appears before the Discipline Committee.

Next week's Bay of Quinte schedule calls for Northern Electric and Trenton Merchants to meet up at the Northern sports ground on Wednesday with a 7 p.m. kick-off. This has the only match listed.

American Star Wins Mile Race

WINDSOR (CP) — Pete Gray, an American-born speedster from the University of Michigan, won the special "mile of the century" held here Friday night in connection with the Canada-United Juvenile and midget track and field meet.

His winning time on a very windy night was 4:17.8.

Selwyn Jones of Hamilton Olympic Club was second, losing out to Gray by less than one year. Gray is from Ann University of Michigan was third.

Joe Cole of Michigan State College, the favorite, did not finish. The 1954 Big Ten outdoor mile champion dropped out after three laps because of a pulled leg muscle.

NORTHERN FALLS

Yankee Crew Enters Henley Semi-Finals

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, Eng. (AP) — The Massachusetts Institute of Technology eight rowed its way into the semi-finals of the Thames Challenge Cup event at the Royal Henley regatta Friday by defeating the London Rowing Club "B" crew.

MIT meets the Thames Rowing Club in today's semi-finals, a crew that surprised by winning over the Royal Air Force, defending champions.

The speediest crew in the water was Russia's Krylia Sovetov eight in the semi-final heat of the Grand Challenge Cup—Henley's toughest event. They covered the course in six minutes, 54 seconds. It was the second fastest time recorded but the Russians were impressive.

The Australian eight will meet an outfit rated just about Britain's best, the Leander Club which set a record of 6.38 in 1952.

Russia defeated the Thames Rowing Club by only a half length, while Leander, never pressured, won the course in 6.56 to defeat the Lady Margaret Boat Club of Cambridge. There was no challenge however, that Henley's Grand Challenge Cup, which has had British crews in it since it 115 years, might be hauled off to Russia.

Three Marks Broken At Junior Meet

WINDSOR (CP)—Three records were shattered and one equalled Friday as the annual Canadian junior, juvenile and midget track and field championships opened a two-day stand.

Gordon Downie of Toronto Secondary Schools Track Club set a record in the juvenile broad jump, Roland Hesdon of Hamilton Olympic Club shattered the record in the midget broad jump and Larry Likou of Windsor Track Club established a new mark in the midget broad jump.

Brown, who emerged as the star of the meet, won the juvenile broad jump with a leap of 21 feet, five inches. This wiped out the previous record of 21 feet, nine inches, set by Norm Deborski of Toronto East York last summer at Toronto.

WINS THREE

Brown also won the juvenile 100-yard dash and the juvenile eight-pound shot put and finished fifth in the juvenile javelin throw. He was one of two three-event winners in the final events completed by the end of the day. Charles Dermer, husky 16-year-old Kent, midget also won three first place medals while Max Weisenberger, Hamilton Olympic club midget, grabbed off two firsts.

Nelson, one of Canada's top sprint specialists, equalled the Canadian record for the junior 100-yard dash when he won in 9.9 seconds. This speedy run tied the mark set by Jack Hobbs of Windsor Assumption High School in 1932.

With the meet more than half way completed, the host Windsor Track Club was threatening to run away with all the team championships. The local midgets already have that title in the bag.

Border City Thinclads have scored 121 points to 70 for their nearest rivals while Hamilton Olympic Club has tallied 70. St. Lambert, Que., ranks third with 57.

The meet will end this afternoon with 16 more final events.

Wings Slice Leafs' Lead With 2-0 Win

(By the Associated Press)

Lawrence Jackson of Rochester Red Wings rates high in the Leafs' organized League rookie-of-the-year derby with a pitching performance that speaks for itself.

The 24-year-old righthander, brought up from Houston of the Texas League two months ago, recorded his seventh victory of the season Friday night as he blanked Toronto Maple Leafs 2-0 on seven scattered hits. He struck out four and walked only two.

Jackson, who has a 7-1 record, leads the league in shutouts with three.

SLICES LEAD

Rochester sliced Toronto's league lead to 1½ games as their baseman Tom Alston drove in the first run for the Red Wings with a double in the sixth inning.

Rochester added an insurance tally in the eighth when Bill Virdon's single tallied Vern Benson.

Vic Lombardi hurled three-hit ball for the Leafs and suffered his fourth loss against five wins. Montreal Royals trounced Ottawa Athletics 12-1 with Joe Black, the Negro relief pitcher and prize rookie with Brooklyn Dodgers, turning in his fourth victory of the season against three defeats.

Montreal drove out 20 hitt off three Ottawa pitchers, including a homer by Gino Cimoli. The loser was Ryne Duren, who has a 4-3 record.

STRIKES OUT SEVEN

Black went the distance and struck out seven A's, walked only two and gave up eight hits.

Syracuse scored five runs in the sixth inning and went on to defeat Buffalo 10-3 for the Chiefs' fourth straight victory over the Bisons.

Catcher Joe Lonnett slammed his ninth and 10th homers of the season and Johnny Blatnik hit his sixth, as seven of the Chiefs' 11 hits went for extra bases.

British Cricket

NOTTINGHAM, Eng. (Reuters) — Derek Livingston, in a brilliant batting display, Friday surpassed all his previous best test scores when he hit 175 runs in four hours, 50 minutes, on the second day of the second cricket test between England and Pakistan here.

It was the highest score in present test history and the first over 150 since Hutton scored 156 against Australia at "Hala of Fame Day" at Yankee Stadium Aug. 31, 1939, when New York's home play the Boston Red Sox. They are the first of approximately 20 living members of the Hall of Fame expected to appear.

Redlegs' Bell Tops In Loop Fielding

NEW YORK (AP)—Cincinnati's Gus Bell, generally not rated in the defensive class of Duke Snider of the Dodgers and Willie Mays of the Giants, tops all National League centre fielders in fielding average so far this season.

The 25-year-old Redleg slafwart has made only one error in 183 chances for a .995 mark, figures compiled by The Associated Press disclosed Friday.

Gad, What Next! Curlers May Curl In June Weather

VICTORIA (CP) — The day may not be far away when curlers from across Canada will head for Victoria each winter to take part of their holidays participating in a "social bonspiel."

That's the hope of the two-year-old Victoria Curling Club which is holding its first summer bonspiel next week.

A total of 52 rinks have entered, bigshots are from Prairie points and the British Columbia mainland and the rest from Vancouver Island.

Bonspiel officials said Friday this is an event for "trophy hunting" curlers.

GOOD WEEK.

"We just want to provide a good week or play for those who like curling," one official said. "We want it to be into a good-sized bonspiel."

A "good-sized" bonspiel is 128 rinks.

The idea is for curlers from anywhere in Canada to spend a week of their holidays in Victoria, curling. There are four "trophy-type" events and rinks can be composed of men and women, in any ratio.

To attract curlers the club is offering $2,100 in leather luggage as prizes for the events. First prize in each event will be a travelling case.

Each visiting rink is taken under the wing of a local skip who will show members the city.

Canucks Yanks Split Honors

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian and United States crews split the honors Friday in the first two of six international races during the Lake Sailing Skiffs Association regatta here.

Racing for the Douglas and Emerson Trophies continues Saturday and Sunday.

Canada took the first of three races for the Douglas Trophy, 16-foot dinghy class, with Paul McLaughlin, Toronto, finishing in one hour, five minutes, 33 seconds. George O'Day, of Boston, was second with a time of 1:09.26.

In the first of three races for the Emerson Trophy, two-boat series, Colin Hatry, of Essex, Conn., posted a first for the United States, with a time of 1:06.37. Canadian Doug Hall was second and Dick Besse of Essex was third.

Trophies will be awarded on a three-race, total-points score.

'Lean and Skinny' Satchel Paige Here Tuesday

LEROY (SATCHEL) PAIGE.

It is only proper and natural that the most traveled man in baseball — Leroy (Satchel) Paige — should be playing with the team that travels more and farther than any other in the game, Abe Saperstein's famous Harlem Globetrotters.

Satchel, hailed by millions as the peer of all pitchers, will step off here with the Globetrotters when they play the House of Davis at Bayhurst Park on Tuesday, July 6.

One of the reasons they call him Satchel is because the ancient hurler has been living out of a suitcase most of his life, pitching all over the world. Satchel says:

"I have pitched in every state in the union. More people have seen me pitch than any pitcher in baseball history. I'll be pitching more will see me this season with the Globetrotters.

"I've been out there on that mound throwin' that old ball for more than 25 years, and when it say /years I mean 365 days. I been pitchin' back in 1915 when with the exception of the time I spent in the big leagues with the Cleveland Indians, I've for so long that it's just a habit now.

"All figure I have pitched over 2,000 games, travelin' about 30,000 miles a year. I used to pitch down south in the spring, all over the country during the summer and in the late fall I'd go over to California and play. Then in the middle of the winter, I'd take off for South America.

Why does this famous baseball figure continues to pitch? "You doesn't he quit and live a life of ease?

"Well", Satchel says, "I don't quit baseball because I love it. I like to get out there and let that fast ball fly. I love to see them hitters swing at mine Ole Satch's fast ball and hesitation pitch."

No one doubts Satch's love for the game . . . and it should be added here that his love (baseball) brings him a good salary, too. He will make no less than $30,000 pitching for the Globetrotters this season.

SOLUNAR TABLES

Vacation Hints

VACATION HINTS
By JOHN ALDEN KNIGHT
(Noted Sportsman, Author and Creator of Solunar Tables)

Every now and again this department receives letters asking for information on vacation trips through country where good fishing can be found. Annually these letters are becoming more difficult to answer for the simple reason that good fishing nowadays is not easy to come by.

However, there are still a few last frontiers which very well can be the realization of your angling dreams.

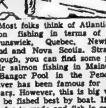
LAURENTIDE PARK, QUEBEC

A few years ago I visited Laurentide Park, Quebec. This is one of the last frontiers of the big, king-size, squaretail trout. We had an exhilarating interesting trip into this country that is about as wild and rough as any I have seen.

The fishing that I found in this area was indeed very good—but not good that we catch large trout but we caught them in quantity. Most of the trout were small, 6 to 9 inches, but live and fight again another day.

For camp use, we preferred the smaller, quicker fish. To pick up enough of these little fellows to feed five hungry men required usually about half an hour or so. For flavor, there is no trout quite like them.

If you want information about guides, camps, fishing, rates, etc., write to Mr. Gustave Bedard, Director Public Relations, Department of Game and Fisheries, Parliament Building, Quebec, Quebec, Canada.



GRAND LAKE STREAM, MAINE

This little community offers two outstanding lures to the ardent fresh-water angler—good fishing for smallmouth bass and landlocked salmon. When I was there the fishing was tops, and recent inquiry shows that it is still very good.

There are two lakes immediately available—Big Lake and Grand Lake. These two are joined by a short, deep Grand Lake Stream. Thus, you can fish from a canoe or you can wade the stream. Either way you will have good fishing.

SALMON FISHING IN MAINE

Most folks think of Atlantic salmon fishing in terms of New Brunswick, Quebec, Newfoundland and Nova Scotia. Strangely enough, you can find some pretty fair salmon fishing in Maine.

Bangor Pool in the Penobscot River has been famous for many years. However, the fish still have to be fished best by boat. If you prefer to wade and fish in smaller streams, these are available also, in the pool below the old dam in the Narraguagus River. I think that is the way to spell it) near the town of Cherryfield. I saw a larger concentration of Atlantic salmon than I have seen in any New Brunswick stream.

For complete information on the salmon fishing and facilities in this country, write: Department of Fish and Game, State of Maine, Augusta, Maine.

EMERALD CIRCLE CRUISE

This is a vacation tour which is now being featured by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. Their advertising folder is quite paints a rosy picture. I have not made this cruise, but I would like to. It sounds quite apt to do as before too much time has passed.

Briefly, it is this—a canoe cruise through an endless chain of streams and lakes, 180 miles in length. You go in from Chapleau on the Canadian Pacific's transcontinental line, 430 miles from Toronto, and 60 miles from Montreal. You complete the loop either at the town of Nemegos, also on the C.P.R., or at Headquarters Camp, midway between these towns.

Here and there along the route you will find good fishing for squarevail trout, Great Northern Pike and wall-eyed pike. All of these are, as you know both fun to catch and good to eat.

BONEFISHING

The great majority of the bonefishing which is done by northern anglers takes place in the months of February, March and April — perhaps the worst three fishing months of the year. Actually the record for bonefishing is during the late spring and summer.

Offhand, one who is not acquainted with subtropical weather would imagine that the weather would be unbearably hot during the summer months. Not so. In 1950 my son and I spent three weeks on Key Largo. The highest recorded temperature during our stay was 86 degrees.

The same is true of Nassau in the Bahamas. Last summer I spent over two weeks in Nassau and thereabouts and the same temperatures maintain as those of the Keys.

In the Keys, where you will find one bonefish during the early spring and early spring you will find ten during the summer months. In the waters at Nassau, there are hundreds by boneish by the hundreds, but the fishing is better in the summer.

Moreover, what they call "the season" is the summer season —a fraction of season rates—maintain.

If you want more information about the Keys fishing, write to: Upper Keys Chamber Association, Islamorada, Plantation Key, Florida.

For information on the fishing out of Nassau, write to: Mr. Dan Malone, Tourist Development Board, Nassau, Bahama Islands.

Of course, there are hundreds of good fishing and vacation spots. However, it is impossible for one man to visit them all. Those mentioned here happen to be places where I have fished and found the fishing to be good.

INSIDE BASEBALL for Little Leaguers

By MICKEY McCONNELL
Director of the Brooklyn Dodgers Baseball School

Using your head on the baseball diamond doesn't mean using it to stop a ball the way Dizzy Dean once did in a World Series game. Dean stopped a shortstop Bill Rogell's throw with his forehead to break up a possible double play. Dean explained later that he was really using his head on that play, but most people agree that there are better uses for most heads. Whether intentional or unintentional, this play could have seriously injured Dean, but it did prevent the completion of the double play.

To avoid developments of this nature, the pivot man should stride out of the base path to make his throw. The he avoids the possibility of hitting the runner with the ball and of being injured by the runner sliding into him. And he has a clear view of his target as he throws.

Madoc Defeats Stewart Warner

(By GARRY ALEXANDER)

The Madoc entry in the City and District Softball League were held without a hit or a run for the first four innings with Stewart Warner last night but came to life in the fifth and went on to rack up a 8-3 victory.

Jack Canning pitched good ball against Madoc, walking only one man until the fifth ...when the winners put together a walk and singles by Killian and McInroy for a 1-0 lead. Killian added another in the sixth when Ernie Sherry singled and a long triple and continued home when the throw from the outfield bounced through the third sacker and into the screen.

Madoc's big boys salted the game away next time around with four runs. Killian was hit by a pitch, Sherry singled, Stewart walked and Harry Brown grounded out for one tally. Wayne "Wiener" Brown promptly followed with a three run homer deep in left field and Stewart went down to end the rally.

Stewart Warner massed a hit parties, two fielders' choice plays, one Madoc error and Shorty Miller's double for all of their runs in the eighth. Two men were on base for them with none down in the ninth but Canning and Wiener Brown's double telling the tale.

Eric McInroy went the route for Madoc's triumph, getting off to a poor start but settling down to scatter nine hits. He gave up three of these in the first frame but was not scored on because of some poor base running and several good throws from his outfield. He whiffed four while Canning struck out one batter.

Bluebirds Bow To Frankford

FRANKFORD — The Belleville Bluebird Juniors and the Frankford Athletics battled for eleven innings last night before the village nine came through with two hits in the last of the eleventh for a 10-9 victory.

The Merchants came back with a run just when they were headed on four occasions as both pitchers went all the way in the first extra inning game of the season.

Doug Sadler allowed seven of the Bluebirds as he walked four while hitting two batters. His opponent, Bruno McCurdy, got five of the winners on strikes while issuing free passes to eleven.

Austin paced the winners at bat with two doubles and a single while Bill Rogers drove home run. Cosgrove had a triple and single for Lewis, Rankin and Rose met McCurdy's slant for a brace of singles each. 'Babe' Grabs Tremendous Lead In Golf Open

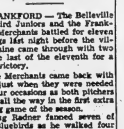
PEABODY, Mass. (AP) — Babe Didrickson Zaharias, her confidence and drives booming, shot a one-under par 71 Friday to grab an almost insurmountable seven-stroke lead at the halfway point of the Women's National open golf tournament.



The brilliant round—a feminine record for the 6,393-yard, par 72 Salem Country Club course—gave the fabulous daughter of Texas a 36-hole score of 143 going into today's double round windup.

In second place at 150, after a sparkling 73, came the defending champion, Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg; S.C., and even she conceded that only a monstrous blowup could halt the Babe's bid for a third Open title.

Claire Doran, Cleveland school teacher who tied Mrs. Zaharias for the first round Thursday, came up with a frigid putting iron Friday and skied to a seven-over-par 79.

This gave Miss Doran 'a tie for third money with Betty Hicks of Durham, N.C.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SUNDAY, JULY 4TH, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — A day for thanksgiving and for good fun. Thought should be given to the true significance of the day and what it means to be independent with dignity, personal freedom.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Truly benefic rays. First go to church and thank God you are permitted to do so, then enjoy wholesome but sane fun. Let all pray for those oppressed and suffering.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Lend an entertaining hand to youngsters, those in hospitals — especially to veterans. Do all you unselfishly aid their fellowmen. Offer your works as thanks giving for your blessings.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — You have splendid influences for personal and other interests. Be your fine self today.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — For you who must labor or do mental work, the planets are happily situated today. You can have wholesome pleasures and still not neglect duties.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo)—Whatever your program be sure it includes church services, prayer and some healthy recreation and diversion from tedious and workaday routine. Happy star influences all day.

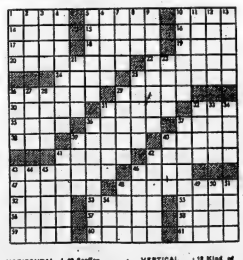
September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Be alert and ready always to protect and defend these blessings. Do your share, too, to aid the less fortunate.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—This should be an intriguing, stimulating day for you. Don't neglect spiritual needs and you will better enjoy everything. Be sensibly careful of health. Essential tasks favored.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Put on your biggest smile. The whole day is under beneficent vibrations for essential duties and hard work, for travelling (if careful), domestic interests, and healthy fun. Pray first.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — Forget anxiety, troubles; join family, friends in recreation, celebration. Sound matters, artistic affairs, children's activities among the many and varied matters stimulated.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—If we would keep most of the good intentions we have, and practice the kindnesses every day that we do at special times, we would live a happier world. Be careful of health. Go to church.



February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Care suggested in water sports, handling beverages, oil, chemicals, etc. Day honors restful, pleasant interests, essential duties and work. Pray at church; don't moon over anything.

YOU BORN TODAY are fond of children, home and old traditions; are loyal to country and loved ones; have many talents and a pleasing disposition. All these, of course, if you are living true to your better nature and God-given characteristics. Faults? Perhaps restlessness, seeking change of scene and occupation too often for true success and high achievement. Realize that you have the capability to achieve in whatever profession or trade for which you are trained. Overcome a tendency to sensitiveness, jealousy.

Seeking to Define Zones If Geneva Orders Truce

Thousand Reds Under Arrest In Guatemala

By SAM SUMMERLIN

GUATEMALA CITY (AP)—The new military government of Guatemala went to work today on a program of rooting out Communists and pulsists and "criminals" responsible for atrocities alleged to the Red-backed regime of ousted president Jacobo Arbenz Guzman.

More than 1,000 Communists and fellow-travelers were reported already under arrest in Guatemala City's central penitentiary.

Most of the country's top Reds had escaped so far.

Col. Carlos Castillo Armas, the victorious rebel chief and No. 2 man on the five-man governing junta, in an interview Sunday said his forces were collecting "much information" on police torture killings of anti-Reds in the weeks just before Arbenz' overthrow.

The information, he added, probably will be submitted to the United Nations.

CLAIM 58 DEATHS

Officials already have blamed 60 deaths on Arbenz' police and say the toll when final accounting will be much higher.

Under the peace agreement signed with Castillo in El Salvador last Friday, Col. Elfego Monzon heads the junta until July 17, when it is scheduled to name a permanent president.

Other developments in Guatemala after the week-end:

El Salvador recognized the new junta as the country's legal government. The little neighbor to the southeast was the first country to take the step.

Roman Catholic Archbishop Mariano Rossell Arellano in a pastoral letter scalded the rebels' critics as the only way to "uproot the Communist seed."

Puerto Ricans Held by Police

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP)—Two men were held by Jersey City police today in connection with suspected operations of Puerto Rican nationalists along President Eisenhower's route to the Maryland vacation retreat Friday.

Police said Jose Angel Bonilla, 22, and Miguel Angelo Rivera, 19, of Jersey City were arrested Saturday on information that a possible occupants of an automobile listed in a Bonilla name had been sighted as seen on route 240 near where Eisenhower had been scheduled to pass.

The car later was found abandoned in Jersey City. Police said it belonged to Victor Rivera, an unemployed Jersey City dishwasher, who is no relation to Miguel Rivera being held.

Police said Bonilla and Miguel Rivera were unable to give a good account of their movements during the time the auto was seen on route 240.

It turned out that the presidential party travelled by another route on its way to Camp David in the Catoctin mountains.

NOW WORK ON THE MOO

VIENNA (Reuters) — Czech inventor Josef Bolik claims he has developed a machine which turns a cow manure into cooking and heating gas. The claim, reported in a newspaper received here from Communist Czechoslovakia, says that a one-cow output of three cows could be used to supply a small farm with gas and that 300 cows could supply a whole village.

By FORREST EDWARDS

HANOI, Indo-China (AP)—The French have finally begun cease-fire talks in Indo-China with the Communist-led Vietminh. But the French union command made clear any final truce decision lies with the Geneva conference.

Officers of the two warring sides held their first meeting in Vietminh territory, 25 miles north of Hanoi Sunday at "neutral" Trung Gia. The session dealt mainly with procedure. The officers were scheduled to get down to brass tacks at a second closed-door meeting today.

The Trung Gia parley is scheduled to discuss such technical truce details as zones for regrouping the opposing armies in Viet Nam in case the Geneva conference negotiates an end to the fighting.

TALKS WEAK AT CLIMAX

The Geneva talks are reaching a crucial stage.

The Trung Gia parley, originally scheduled to begin last Monday, was delayed because of fear on the part of France's Vietnamese allies over what concessions might be made to the Vietminh.

This uneasiness was increased by the French withdrawal from the southern sector of the strategic Red River Delta area to bolster their defences farther north.

Defence Minister Says Program Will Be Reviewed

VANCOUVER (CP) — Defence Minister Campney said in an interview Saturday that Canada's vast defence program will be reviewed to seek economies.

He will tighten up on the estimated $2,000,000,000 defence structure, Mr. Campney said.

"Every dollar is a dollar and it is also someone's tax dollar," he said.

Mr. Campney, in Ottawa, was interviewed by Ross Munro, assistant publisher of the Victoria Province, who talked to the minister by long-distance telephone.

Mr. Campney's estimate of the defence post Thursday, also said he intends to pursue energetically the reorganization of the reserve army, and plans to give careful consideration to all problems of west coast air defence.

REVIEW TRADE PACT

CAPETOWN (CP) — South Africa's economics minister, Eric Louw, will go to Geneva in November for a conference on revision of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade. He said South Africa was conscientiously observing the terms of the agreement but that some European countries were circumventing its provisions.

29 WORKERS PREVENT STRIKE AT NICKEL CO.

Called Traitors To Trade Union Movement

SUDBURY (CP)—A strike that would have affected 18,000 workers at two plants of the International Nickel Company of Canada was called off Sunday night because 29 safety workers refused to walk out.

Officials of the Jeffiat International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.) called the 29 men "traitors to the trade union movement."

The men were among 45 safety workers here who were eligible to strike over new contract demands, mainly wages. If they had struck, nearly 16,000 men in Inco's Sudbury and Coleman plants had promised to honor their picket lines and refuse to go to work.

The walkout of 45 men in itself would not have been serious. But if the main body of workers—who cannot legally strike yet—had refused to cross picket lines the work stoppage would have been complete.

SAY NO CONTRACT

Mike Sabbo, president of Local 598 here, and Rod Thibeault, the union's international vice-president, said the 29 orders were "traitors." They said the men would not get a contract because they were only sign one with the approval of the whole local.

The 45 safety men belong to the union but bargain separately. They refused to accept the bargaining board report on their wage demands and until Sunday night were ready for a walkout. However, he favored reopening negotiations.

Union officials, who addressed a crowd of nearly 8,000 persons in a hall, charged that the 29 workers had weakened the whole union cause. They said negotiations will continue on the basis of the existing agreement for the rest of the membership.

ORIGINAL DEMANDS

The safety workers' originally asked for an increase from $1.82 an hour to $2.03½ cents an hour, a month in the present rate.

The union, in rejecting the company's offer of a one-cent-an-hour increase for work done on afternoon shift, and two cents an hour for night shift, claimed the company was not disputing ability to pay the additional amount boosted. Acceptance of the company's offer would constitute a setback of thousands of dollars, union officials said.

The company now asks for an increase of seven cents an hour. The gap between the two parties at present is one hour. The company says the average hourly rate at both plants is more than $1.82 an hour.

Finds Wife Hacked to Death, Man Grapples With Slayers

CLEVELAND (AP) — A husky neuro-surgeon told today how he found his attractive young wife hacked to death, was beaten himself, then grappled with one or two intruders as he pursued them to the beach near his Fairmount lakeside home at Bay Village, west of here.

His story and two human tooth fragments were the chief clues in the slaying Saturday.

The tooth chips were found in the blood-soaked bed of Mrs. Marilyn R. Sheppard, 31, whose pretty face, framed by light wavy hair, was chopped almost to pieces by an apparently sharp instrument.

Coroner Samuel R. Gerber, who said the four-months pregnant woman had not been sexually assaulted, stated that skull fractures and brain lacerations caused her death, the teeth in her mouth were intact. She was clad in light pajamas.

Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, 30-year-old osteopath, was found wet and dazed in the living room of the fashionable home.

40,000 Mexicans are Homeless Result of Rio Grande Flood

MEXICO CITY (Reuters)—Forty thousand persons are homeless, and three towns and five villages are in ruins after the disastrous flooding of the Rio Grande, which forms the frontier between Mexico and Texas.

Deaths on the Mexican side of the flooded region are put at more than 40, may amount to many more.

Food and medical supplies are being flown in by the federal government and the International Red Cross.

In Eagle Pass, Tex., The Associated Press reported it has been learned from a reliable source that 200 flood victims had been identified and buried in Piedras Negras.

Consumer Price Index Jump Is Biggest in Thirty Months

OTTAWA (CP)—A sudden, sharp jump in food prices combined with higher rents boosted the consumer price index by three-fifths of a point in May, to 116.1 from 115.5. It was the biggest rise in 30 months.

The increase was due almost entirely to higher prices for meats, coffee, fresh vegetables and fruits and canned fruit, the bureau of statistics reported. Clothing, fuel and chicken prices were lower.

Rents also climbed along with such other items as cleaning supplies and furniture. Countering this were lower prices for nylon hosiery, some other clothing items, electrical appliances, radios and motor and garbage cans. Coal prices made their usual summer seasonal decline.

The consumer price index, yardstick for measuring living costs, is based on 1949 prices equalling 100. The climb during May was the biggest since the advance of four-fifths of a point in October, 1951. The index peak was 124.3 reached in December, 1951.

With the exception of a tiny one-tenth of a point rise in March, the index generally had been declining in the early months of 1954 as weakening food prices cut living costs.

The May climb pushes back the index almost to the October, 1953, level when it stood at 116.2. There were only three big rises in 1953, each of one-half point and just a shade below the May, 1954, rise of three-fifths of a point.

The big jump in food prices forced the food sub-index up by 1.2 points to 111. It was the biggest rise in recent years, and followed three consecutive monthly declines, which, altogether added up only to 1.5 points. The peak in this sub-index was 122.5 reached in November, 1951.

With rents continuing their steady rise, the shelter column rose by three-fifths of a point to a new high of 125.4.

The clothing column eased by a fifth of a point to 109.7.

The household operations column also eased by a fifth of a point to 111.1.

The other column of the main index, called "other commodities and services" and including a miscellaneous batch of family needs, remained unchanged at the peak of 117.3 established the previous month.

Finds Uranium While Floating In Remote Creek

DARWIN, Australia (Reuters)—Uranium prospector James Pringle today announced that he discovered a vein of uranium ore—while floating on his back in a water hole.

With two friends, Pringle said he walked down a remote creek Saturday looking for a place to have a swim.

"When they found a clear pool they left me and my friends stripped down and jumped in. Pringle rolled over on his back and began to float.

Then Pringle noticed a green streak in the rock surrounding the pool. He tested it and it proved to be uranium.

DEATH TOLL AT LEAST 75 OVER HOLIDAY

Drownings Claim 26 And Accidents 25

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Seventy-one persons were reported killed in accidents across Canada during the Dominion Day holiday—one of the highest death tolls on record.

The total compares with 15 fatalities during last year's mid-week holiday. But some persons received a four-day week-end this year, while others took their holiday Friday instead of Thursday which was Dominion Day.

Drownings claimed 26 lives and highway accidents took 25 between 6 p.m. Wednesday and early today, a Canadian Press compilation showed. Seventeen were burned to death and three were crushed to death.

Eleven others died in miscellaneous mishaps, including two suicides, an electrocution, a landslide, an asphyxiation and exposure.

MOST IN ONTARIO

Ontario topped the violent death toll with 24, including 7 in traffic. There were 16 deaths in Quebec, seven in British Columbia, six in Saskatchewan, four in Manitoba, two each in New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Newfoundland and one in Saskatchewan.

The list included 22 children.

In Ontario, Daniel Crosbaw, 9, of Kirkland Lake was killed when he fell from a moving car and was dragged for almost a quarter of a mile over a rocky bush trail. His foot became entangled in the horse's log-skidding harness throwing his head downward against the trail.

A 15-months-old girl from Barrie, Ont., was killed when accidentally run over by her father's car while the family was picnicking. Marie Anne Hiltz apparently crawled under the car. Her father said he thought she was with her mother nearby.

Five Persons Lose Lives In Head-On Crash

EDMONTON (CP)—Five persons lost their lives in a head-on collision between two cars Saturday in broad daylight on a clear stretch of road 25 miles southeast of Calgary highway near Nisku, 16 miles south of here.

Dead are: Mrs. Jan Wilhelmina Midenlijk Hendrik, six-year-old son Hendrik and three-year-old daughter Matilda; Herman A. Wiersinga of Edmonton and Reeves A. Sorenson of Weisaikiwin, Alta.

Jan Hendrik Midenlijk escaped severe hip injuries and shock. His condition in an Edmonton hospital was described as good.

Police said Wieringa was driving the Midenlijk family, newly arrived immigrants from Holland, to jobs on a farm at Wetaskiwin, 40 miles south of Edmonton, when he was the sole occupant of the northbound car.

Sorenson, Wierings and Hendrik Grijzen were killed in the crash. Mrs. Grijzen and Matilda died later in an Edmonton hospital.

The collision occurred at a point where the highway narrows from four lanes to two. Police said neither car was travelling at excessive speed and no other car was near at the time.

Rifts in Western Alliances Seen Building Germany

U.S. Diplomats Worried About Whole Situation

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The anti-Communist grand alliance of the Western powers is beginning to pull apart at the seams.

If this process continues in a series of quarrels among the United States, Britain and France, some new international power relationships may spring up—with Germany assuming a far more important role in Europe.

U.S. diplomats are worried about the whole situation. But no one in any of the Allied capitals so far has come up with a guaranteed-effective plan for reversing the trend of disunity.

What has authorities here most afraid is that the disruptive forces are somewhat beyond the control of government policy-makers.

The single most explosive issue in American - British relations at the moment is recognition of Red China. Prime Minister Churchill and President Eisenhower found themselves unable in their talks a week ago to develop a joint plan for handling the problem, which has since become even more thorny because of the new complications for peace in Indo-China.

Churchill and Eisenhower, authoritative Washington officials say, the French will recognize China and this will enormously increase Communist pressure for a Chinese Communist seat in the United Nations.

The week-end word from Britain was that if a vote comes in the United Nations this fall Britain will vote for China. Eisenhower and State Secretary Dulles have taken the position, with strong support from congressional leaders, that they will fight Chinese Communist membership.

The Chinese issue is not the only one which is straining Allied unity in an unprecedented way. Others include:

1. The United States is giving the cold shoulder to French negotiations with the Communists on an Indo-China truce. France's vociferous Premier Mendes - France will probably make a deal anyway, but to a bluntly expressed surrender.

2. Bitterness persists over Britain's unwillingness to get an anti-Communist alliance in Southeast Asia under way at once. Dulles has said that would be one strength ened the Allied bargaining position in Geneva and that British refusal to go along created weakness. British leaders are reported convinced that U.S. policies would probably have expanded the Indo-China war and that U.S. actions were trying hard to find opportunity for intervention.

3. New strains in relations between France and Germany are beginning to appear. Some of the French delays in approval of West German sovereignty and rearmament touched off consideration of European Defence Community plans.

4. American and British desires to go ahead with German sovereignty and rearmament, if necessary without French approval of EDC, touched off suggestions of policy reliance on German power instead of French power in Western Europe.

British and U.S. diplomats are meeting in London today to consider means of granting sovereignty to West Germany without wrecking EDC, a proposed international military organization for Western Europe's defence.

African Game Warden Matches Wits With Maddened Lioness and Wins

KAMPALA, Uganda (Reuters)—An African game warden matched his jaws against the powerful jaws of a maddened lion in a split-second wrestling match to the African death and lived today.

The warden was patrolling a stretch of game country in western Uganda when he spotted the big cat on the trail.

Armed only with a spear, he manoeuvred into position and closed with the animal, a fully grown female. His spear thrust wounded the lion and she loped off into the undergrowth.

The warden went for help. He came back to find the spot with a white hunter, an estate manager, and set off to track the wounded beast.

The two men did not have to look far.

The maddened lioness charged from the bush, her bushy tail sprung at the African.

Man and cat went down, rolled over and over. Lioness closed its jaws on the warden's thigh. The man in fought back desperately. Frantically he sank his teeth into the side of the animal.

As the lioness started in pain, the white hunter saw his opening and aught her with a rifle shot.

138 Girls, Boys Fight Camp Fire On Lake Simcoe

JACKSON'S POINT (CP) — A fire which spread over an up of 130 girls at the Salvation Army camp near this Lake Simcoe summer resort Saturday was unable to stop a fire early today as it destroyed the recreation hall, laundry and staff members' cabin.

No one was hurt.

The girls, ranging in age from six to 13 years, were awakened by eight boy staff members who discovered the fire.

The girls were taken to another camp. Their 10-day holiday was scheduled to end today.

No estimate of damage was made immediately. The Sutton fire department, which answered the alarm, said an inspector from the Ontario fire marshall's office will investigate.

Canadians Have Become Big Spenders Abroad

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canadians, with a yen for travel, have become big spenders abroad. And indications are they will continue to spend freely in 1954.

With the bright spots of the United States participating in a boom year, Canadian tourist spending abroad increased four times in the past 13 years to a new record of $365,000,000 in 1953.

And whereas in olden days more tourist dollars poured into Canada than went out, the opposite now is true.

Tourists visiting Canada increased their spending to $302,000,000 last year from $149,000,000 in 1938. But while Canada had a surplus of $63,000,000 in her international tourist transactions in 1938, she had a deficit of just that amount in 1953.

DRAWN BY GLITTER

Glitter was a big part of the reason for the shift lies in the fact that Canadians still love the glitter of U.S. show places, but Americans—the main spenders in Canada—are finding prices freely as in the past. They want more for their money. Many are taking their money abroad.

The U.S., with a population of 160,000,000, spent some $252,000,000 in tourist dollars in Canada last year. Canada, with a population of about 15,000,000, shipped $307,000,000 worth of tourist dollars to the U.S.

Figures for the first three months of 1954 indicate the trend towards heavy outlays may continue this year. Tourist expenditures abroad totalled $90,000,000, just slightly below the $63,000,000 last year. Spending by visitors to Canada piled to $24,000,000 from $20,000,000.

QUIET WEEK-END REPORT FROM POLICE

One of the quietest week-ends on record was the opinion of city and provincial police of the week-end just passed.

Neither detachment reported any serious accidents. The usual domestic difficulties were at a low ebb. In short, all was peaceful.

TWO BRIEF RUNS OVER WEEK-END

Belleville Fire department went on two brief runs during the week-end.

Early Sunday morning they answered an alarm at 92 Foster Avenue, for a slight blaze in a house trailer. Later in the morning firemen doused a brush fire on the 2nd concession of Thurlow township.

Neither fire was serious and minimum damage was reported.

PROFUSION OF BLOOMS

A little Rosy Morn petunia, which Mrs. Nellie Woodcock, of Belleville, R.R. 4, retrieved last fall from the onslaughts of Jack Frost, is mistaken for a pretty double petunia, has more than repaid her for her trouble and patience. This spring, Mrs. Woodcock replanted the petunia, and in reconpense it has burst into a profusion of pink blooms, 100 at one time.

H-BOMB FORECAST

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times today quotes nuclear physicist Edward Teller as saying Soviet scientists ultimately may construct a more powerful hydrogen bomb than that of the United States. Teller told the newspaper "there is no question that they can, given the time and the will."

Pea-Canning Likely to Reach Peak This Week

Pea-canning will likely reach its peak this week, according to growers and canning factory men of the district.

Factories in various parts of the district worked on Sunday in an effort to get the heavy pack under control. Yield has been extra good in some parts, and in the majority of cases it has been normal.

Late season rains are said to be responsible for a good yield of the early varieties and it is expected the later kind will be sown to plants this week.

Some good yields were reported in the Wellington district with the peas averaging well over the ton, shelled, to the acre. Some grower is reported to have harvested one and five-sixths tons per acre off a fifteen-acre patch.

Prices paid are $20.25 per ton shelled, with $20 per acre deducted for seed.

High Average Temperature Reached in June

Average temperature of 66.5 degrees registered in the city during June was among the highest marks reached during the past 20 years. This compared with 64.9 degrees averaged in June 1953. Mean temperature for the past 20 years was set in 1940 when the mercury averaged 69.4. Similarly rain was heavier with 2.71 inches recorded against the 1.55 inches set for the month last year. However the maximum temperature of 85.8 was well below that of 88.5 in June 1952, while the minimum 47.8 compared with 41.3 last year.

300 Strange Coins Compose Collection of R. Baverstock

To phrase a coin, in fact 300 of them, Bob Baverstock, 21 Bowell Street, has more ancient dates at his finger tips than had Lillian Russell.

Coin-collecting is a hobby with Bobby. He collects them, does not sell them. The change, thus far, had done Bob little good.

He has them in silver, ranging from the fish-scale size of the 1814 English penny to the solid 2½ inch diameter British crown dated 1932. Then there's the Victoria Head Cent dated Merrie England.

Bob keeps the major part of his collection in a half-gallon glass jar. Catalogues contain more. Small boxes hold the more valuable coins.

He has pennies and coppers from all parts of the world. In the collection are novel "token" coins ranging from Upper and Lower Canada banks, to a grocery store in Gibraltar, and one struck by a Bloke who was accused of treason tried and acquitted.

There are silver coins from France, Italy, Germany, The Netherlands, United States, Great Britain, the Channel Islands, South America, Bermuda, the West Indies and other places.

PRIZE POSSESSION

His prize possession is the King Charles crown, two-and-one-half inches in diameter and as solid a chunk of minted silver as ever came out of a mine. The date is 1632, and it pictures a knight in armor as well as the Royal Coat of Arms and the monarchial slogan.

Bob has a British crown that was struck to commemorate the relief of Gibraltar carried on by British during the reign of Charles I. It is dated 1642.

The English minted their silver at various times in various sizes. In this collection are silver threepennies the size of the scale of a carp dated 1834. Then there are the 1841 "penny-groschy", a 1723 "tuppence", an 1823 three penny bit; 1717 four pence; an 1834 "tanner" and an 1841 "bob."

TWO VALUABLE COINS

Mrs. Beaverstock had two small valuable British gold coins, but a light-fingered "friend" who inspected the collection, apparently took a liking to them.

The United States sprinkled plenty of stars on their early 19th century pennies. They are of solid copper and the dates 1800, 1802 and 1817. There is a Portuguese crown of 1810 vintage and a strange Brazilian coin dated 1811 that bears the picture of "Napoleone Imperiatur".

There is a Guernsey island coin dated 1811 that bears the inscription "eight doubles." That could be a ban token.

Isabel of Spain turned out some neat silver coinage in 1842 and the "Carolus III" in 1790. Both are of heavy silver.

The German states also came up with their individual coins. There is a half-eilder with the crest of Wilhelm, Koenig. Wurtemburg and pfennings from the state of Thuler.

An Austrian coin bears the date 1837, Helvetia is represented with a half-franc dated 1810. The Republic of Colombia adds a silver coin.

St. George battles a fierce dragon on a heavy British copper coin dated 1797, while an odd one is that coined in "Hibernia" in 1805 "To Field Marshal Wellington."

An unidentified coin bears the inscription "Ludov 13" and is dated 1791.

RIM-SIDE INSCRIPTIONS

Some of the "token" coins bear odd inscriptions. There is one dated 1793. On it is "Tried for Treason. Acquitted by his counsel Thomas Hardy." Another is dedicated to a New York Hospital.

An 1837 coin struck in Prince Edward Island announces "Self Government and Free Trade." Yet another boasts, and is shown a "Value two quarters. Payable at R. Keeling and Son, Gibraltar." It is dated 1801. The East India Company had its own coins back in 1797.

Mr. Baverstock started collecting the coins from a strange source while stationed in Montreal. He met a strange character at his favorite pub one night, and was shown a handful of coins. He quickly perceived that some of them were unique so a "treat" got him the coins. The two met frequently after that and Bob built up quite a collection.

He never "collected" though, the information as to where the "character" derived the coins.

Oppenheimer Is Returning To Ivory Tower

By SAUL PETT

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP)—In one sense, Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer is returnigan to the ivory tower from which he was lured 15 years ago to direct the making of history's first atomic bomb.

Barred from access to his country's secrets, the famed physicist makes it clear he has no will to vote himself again to the relatively cloistered life of abstract science.

But in another sense, the ivory will never be the same.

For Oppenheimer also makes it clear he will never be indifferent politically where professor he was back in the 1930s. In those days, he has said, he was one indifferent to the affairs of the world around him he didn't even read newspapers.

The scientist, who lost his loog fight for security clearance rein statement because of "fundamental defects of character," was interviewed in the office where he directs—and expects to continue to direct—the Institute of Advanced Study.

Would he comment on reports that he was so bitter he intended to live and work abroad?

"It is precisely clearance rein that I have ever thought of leaving this country, nor can I imagine circumstances under which I would."

But what of his own feelings? Will he bitter? Does he think he had a fair hearing?

LESSON IN CASE

"I hope," he said, "people will study the record of this case and form their own conclusions. I mean not only people interested in physics and science, but a broad background. I think there is something to be learned from it."

Many people have commented that Oppenheimer was a sad figure caught in a great tragedy along the lines of epic Greek drama. What did he think?

"I have often sensed of the drama comes from the chorus," he said cryptically.

Mining Future In New Brunswick Most Promising

By JOHN MOSHER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

BATHURST, N. B. (CP)—While base-metal deposits in the Bathurst area have held the spotlight, other exploration work contributed to making the last 18 months the most outstanding period in New Brunswick's mining history.

With varied assemblages of minerals scattered over two-thirds of the province, and with companies willing to carry out proper and efficient prospecting, the mining future is bright, said D. S. Clements, director of mines for New Brunswick.

"Although more than 61,000 claims have been staked and many of them scientifically prospected, only a small portion of the available and favorable area has been examined. . As a result of mineral deposits already discovered, the province is capable of attracting mining capital — a new and bright prospect.

INTEREST DEVELOPING

After the 1953 staking rush started by the Bathurst discoveries, 14 companies organized in New Brunswick with a combined capitalization of over $38,000,000. Other companies incorporated outside the province have been carrying on mining and exploration activities.

In addition to the Bathurst-area work, surveys have been made in southern, southwestern and northern New Brunswick. Results listed by Mr. Clements revealed new or additional quantities of lead, zinc, silver, copper, titanium, manganese, tungsten, nickel, kaolin silica and, in one instance, uranium and fluorite.

Bathurst and 10 to 15 elsewhere in the province.

A tungsten mill with a starting capacity of 150 tons daily is scheduled to start production this month north of Fredericton in York county. Tungsten is used for hardening steel and in light bulbs, chemicals and batteries.

Titanium, used for heat-resisting steel, was reported in the Ramsay brook district of Albert, south of Moncton. Drilling is pegged this year.

MANGANESE DEPOSITS

Mr. Clements reported explorations of progressive kind on manganese and manganese iron occurrences south of Woodstock and at Tetagouche Falls, eight miles west of Bathurst.

Drilling on kaolin deposits near Welsford, in Queens county, "has indicated large tonnages of the fine brick material," he said. "Several companies have expressed interest and more research work is being done on the suitability of this material for refractory purposes."

Discovery of uranium in the Hampton area of Kings county and of a mild radioactivity in Albert county were reported.

To encourage ordinary prospecting, which might be in competition with wealthy corporations, the provincial government has renewed all mining claims and waived for 1953 a regulation stipulating an annual $5-day work period on claims.

Canadian Soldier Loses Appeal In Murder Case

OTTAWA (CP)—The five-member court martial appeal board today dismissed the appeal of Pte. George Mitchell of Windsor from a murder conviction.

The 22-year-old soldier was sentenced to death by a Canadian Army court martial in Germany for the butcher-knife murder of Frau Elizabeth Selling, about 56, at Iserlohn, Germany, Dec. 31. The widow was stabbed 10 times by a six-inch blade while on her way home from evening Bible class.

The board's decision was unanimous and Mitchell has no further appeal. The cabinet, as in civilian cases, will decide whether the death sentence be carried out or commuted to life imprisonment. Mitchell is being held in jail at Winnipeg and no date has been set for his execution by hanging.

Petrov Declares He Was Called Beria Supporter

MELBOURNE, Australia (Reuters) — Vladimir Petrov, fugitive Russian diplomat, said today he was accused in a telegram which reached the late Josef Stalin of being a supporter of Lavrenti Beria, former Soviet secret police chief who was later executed for treason.

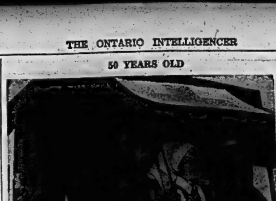
Petrov told the fourth day's session of the royal commission on espionage here that the telegram, criticizing him as the alleged leader of a pro-Beria group, was sent to Moscow by Nikolai M. Lifanov, Soviet minister and ambassador to Australia from December, 1944, to July, 1948.

He also disclosed that his wife Evdokia, 35, who joined him last April as a political refugee in Australia, was falsely accused of throwing a pie in the face of Mrs. Nikolai Generalov, wife of the Soviet ambassador who succeeded Lifanov.

Generalov had claimed the incident occurred as the ladies of the Soviet embassy were preparing a New Year's Eve party last year, he said.

FEELING OF LOYALTY.

Petrov, former third secretary and MVD chief at the embassy, told the commission that he had a feeling of loyalty towards Beria, but realized Beria was a traitor.



Petrov disclosed that he first thought of staying in Australia in 1952 but his wife was unwilling because of her relatives in Russia. She joined him in exile last April 19, 17 days after he sought asylum.)

Earlier, Petrov told the commission that some of Moscow's orders to him as Soviet spy chief in Australia came on undeveloped films through diplomatic channels.

East Pakistan Outlaws Reds

DACCA, East Pakistan (AP) — East Pakistan's new state government today outlawed the Communist party. Reds had supported the ousted administration of former chief minister Abdul Kasem Fazlul Huq.

An official announcement said the government was convinced the organization was a danger to public peace.

The Communists held 40 seats in the provincial assembly elected March 8-12. They were a part of Fazlul Huq's five-party United Front coalition that ousted Prime Minister Mohammed Ali's Moslem League party in the state voting.

Fazlul Huq and his ministerial colleagues were dismissed by the central government May 20 as bitter differences between the divided sections of Pakistan came to a head.

The central government blamed Communists for extensive riots in east Pakistan mill areas early in April in which more than 500 persons were killed.

Welfare Fund Rackets Alleged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Union leader David Dubinsky says "a number of rackets have sprung up" in the handling of big labor group welfare funds and that congressional action is needed to protect the funds.

Dubinsky, an AFL vice-president and head of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, said Sunday that labor organizations may never be able to police welfare funds unless protective legislation is enacted.

Friend Unfolds Tale of Dates Kept by Pair

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP) — An inquest into the lovers' lane strangling of Norman Flanders Tavern was adjourned Friday night after a girl friend supplied a tale of overnight dates the pair kept with men who paid from $15 to $20 for their favors.

Mary Bennett took the stand at the second day of the hearing and volunteered to testify only on condition that she be granted immunity under the law. Evidence Act which would prohibit her testimony from being used against her in any future trial.

Coroner A. D. Maggah summoned seven witnesses and then set the inquiry ahead to July 14 when he said an additional 14 persons will be called to testify.

Miss Bennett told in a whisper of spending time with Mrs. Tavern, 27, and different men in Sydney hotels and tourist cabins on the outskirts of the city near the lonely spot where the woman's half-clothed body was discovered last April 19.

London's Great Meat Market Hive of Activity

LONDON (Reuters) — London's great central meat market, desolate during 14 years of meat rationing, turned into a square mile of shouting humanity today as butchers regained their freedom to buy and sell whom they want.

The end of the war-born coupon system at midnight Saturday caused the greatest traffic jam London has seen since the Coronation.

The back-to-business jam caused a labor dispute within five hours of the system's passing.

About 50 meat porters downed meat hooks because butchers had jammed main entrances with their cars and prevented supplies being unloaded.

But delay in delivery of the meat housewives have waited 14 years to see was avoided. The cars were moved and the porters went back to work.

Much of the country's meat supplies funnel through the great high-ceiling halls of Smithfield—world's biggest meat market.

With the end of meat rationing, all food now is free of rationing in Britain.

THE CABINET CHANGES

Changes made by Prime Minister St. Laurent in his Cabinet will occasion lively interest in political circles throughout the nation.

They are important enough to warrant widespread discussion for their present significance alone. But in any changes of this nature there are also inherent implications regarding the future. With Mr. St. Laurent expected to retire in the not distant future, does this Cabinet shuffle give us some new clue as to the man who will succeed him as leader of the Liberal party—and probably, immediately or later as the fortunes of the parties at the polls may decide, as Prime Minister of Canada?

Hon. Walter E. Harris is the new minister of finance. Traditionally, this post in governments at all levels has been regarded as a stepping stone to the highest post—premier, president, mayor or whatever. Mr. Harris is Mr. St. Laurent's protege. His first elevation above the level of a private member came when he was named as Mr. St. Laurent's assistant when the present prime minister was minister of external affairs. From time to time, observers at Ottawa have forecast his selection as Liberal leader.

But, in these days of high taxes, can a minister of finance gain, or retain, popularity with the voters? Is the elevation to that post destined to shove Mr. Harris further up the ladder or to doom his chances? Or will Mr. Harris, like his predecessors J. L. Ilsley and Douglas Abbott, find in the finance post a stepping stone to the bench?

Some may wonder what qualifications Mr. Harris possesses for his new post. But little was elected to parliament in 1949 as a country lawyer. But 14 years have passed since then. In 14 years much can be learned. Of pleasant mien and manner, young and earnest, Mr. Harris is energetic, never seeking the easy road. He won his seat in Parliament by defeating Agnes Macphail. After his election he donned khaki, served overseas as an armored corps officer and was wounded at Caen.

Next to the post of premier minister, that of minister of external affairs is most likely to prepare a man for the premiership. The one minister plays the leading role in matters affecting domestic policies; the other directs foreign policies. Hon. L. B. Pearson remains as minister of external affairs. A career diplomat with lengthy training, he must be considered a serious contender for the party leadership.

In these days, when defense figures so largely in the problems facing all nations, the position of defence minister is an increasingly important one. Replacing Brooke Claxton at this ministry is Hon. Ralph Campney, his former associate minister.

Filling the vacancy as minister of citizenship and immigration left by the elevation of Mr. Harris to the position of finance minister is Hon. J. W. Pickersgill. Moreover, it is reported that Mr. Pickersgill may succeed Mr. Harris as Government leader in the Commons.

Mr. Pickersgill, a former civil servant, was a Cabinet assistant before he was a member of Parliament, was named State Secretary by Mr. St. Laurent just before last year's general election. The appointment aroused a political storm. But Mr. Pickersgill won his seat. Like Mr. Harris, he may be considered a protege of St. Laurent. His star may well prove to be still in the ascendant. He may be the most serious rival of Mr. Harris for the party leadership.

But perhaps some comparative unknown, ungroomed for the race but blessed by that unacquirable yet unmistakable ability to fire popular fancy, may wrest the crown from the court favorites.

STEEL PRICE INCREASED

The U.S. Steel Corporation has increased the price of steel $3 a ton.

The price was raised to offset a wage increase.

The increase comes at a time when many manufacturers who use steel are finding it difficult to find a market for their products.

For this reason, reports the Associated Press, most manufacturers are inclined to think that the price increase will not be passed on to the consumer.

It will be interesting to see what occurs.

If the increase is absorbed by the manufacturer, there may be some consumers who will ask questions about why this policy was not followed on some occasions in the past.

One explanation which might be advanced is that increased efficiency enabled the manufacturers to absorb the increase. It is fortunately true that there is nothing quite as effective as hard days in forcing firms to eliminate inefficient practices.

Another fact worthy of note is that the United Steel Workers have been successful in obtaining a wage increase at the time when the industry was experiencing a reversal of the growing demand for its products which had featured the post-war years. But just once the long run that which organized labor could not crack, now seems to be firmly in the grip of the unionists. Times change.

FOLLOW THE LEADER

I didn't know then the impres- sion I made,
But there was a game which as To follow the leader we all were youngsters we played content.
Called "Follow the leader," and all of us knew
That whatever he did was our duty to do.
When the leader was chosen we answered his call;
Lessed where he went, walked
Some Made and wall.

In whatever he did and wherever he went
It was only a game, but a good one to play.
All leaders need followers with faith in the boys,
But I follow the leader today as a man.

Relatives got together from Harrowsmith, Queensboro, Yarker, Carl Hart Estate, Wellington, Madoc, Stirling, Corbyville, Marmora, Delora, Frankford and Belleville to the number of 81. An excellent dinner was served at noon and in the afternoon sports were enjoyed. The winners in the races were the following: Girls' race, girl under 12 under Rose Ray; girls' shoe race, Jean Ray; boys' shoe race, Carl Hart; potato shoe race, Mrs. Diamond, Queensboro; stepping stones, Mrs. Steve Wood and Mr. Percy Ray; donkey race, Mrs. Wood and Mr. Ray; wheelbarrow race, Mr. Frankford and Mr. Joe Patton; bean bag relay, Mrs. Arthur Horton's team; clothes pin race, Mrs. Arthur Horton; neckie race,' Mr. and Mrs. Steve Wood; tug of war race, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Horton; slow walk race, Mrs. Searles, Sr. who was the oldest member present. After supper plans were made to hold a gathering next year.

The contract since the new high school at Madoc was laid on Dominion Day with appropriate ceremonies by Dr. Egleson and was witnessed by a large crowd. Mr. Will Connor, the chairman of the high school board, presided and called the following to seats on the platform: The Rev. Mr. Hunter, the Rev. Father Meagher, Mr. James F. Hill, M.P.-elect; Dr. J. Albert Faulkner, M.P.P. elect; Rev. Mr. Doxsee, Mr. Erle Denyes, Mr. S. B. Wright; Inspector of public schools; Mr. A. Dale Lessee; school principal, Mr. A. C. Moon, the secretary of the school board presented Dr. Eagleson with a silver trowl with which he proceeded to lay the lister stone of the new Wigwam of Deloro, read the scroll which was deposited in the stone under with coins, newspapers, the Bible and a scroll bearing the names of members of the school board, the council and high school staff.

The pupils led in singing the Maple Leaf, while Praise God from Whom all Blessings Flow. The singing of the National Anthem brought the proceedings to a close. Miss L. Weed and Mr. Campbell conducted the musical parts of the program. At the close of the ceremony the crowd assembled at the armouries lawn where sports were run off.

Find New Use For Vacuum

(Winnipeg Free Press)

Once upon a time a vacuum cleaner was a primitive sort of machine, somewhat noisy, scarcely dedicated only to picking up a bit of dust, and, one suspects, not too efficiently at that. This was only natural, of course; all mechanisms are, even those designed for the welfare of the struggling housewife—must pass from infital triumph to the next phase in their technological advance.

But if the vacuum cleaner was less than perfect, that time has obviously passed. In fact the housewife's friend, today, is sleek, streamlined and purring machine appears to have overcome all the hitherto unplumbed. Consider for example the Case of the Plucked Parakeet.

According to a United States newspaper, a young chap of seven years accidentally spilled some birdseed on the living room rug. There is no record of why he had the birdseed but he did have sufficient presence of mind to clean it up with the vacuum cleaner. Unfortunately the small pile of birdseed attracted the family's pet parakeet and Zip!—away went the birdseed and the bird up the vacuum.

After much hurried consultations among the adults, and ingenious neighbor ruined the machine in a search for the bird (the machine) was opened up. Out strutted the parakeet, perhaps a bit more at this unfriendly treatment, but unharmed.

Now this is undoubtedly a feat even in this technological age, and one that suggests limitless possibilities. It should surprise no one if an enterprising superwoman soon lays claim to such hidden virtues in his particular cleaner.

It's a pity that her husband's mothers chareased beyond words by the hooliganism of their children will remain immune to such blandishments — unless the machine is capable of assembling a some horrid little girl or boy, as well as birds.

Quite frankly, such a probability presents a delightful picture. Imagine: when a perfect little brat of a child drives mother to final despair, the machine whirs and the little demon away, disgorging it — unharmed of course — when mother is again serene and rational.

Let no one sneeze at such a thought. A world which produced hydrogen bombs could surely accomplish this. And couldn't the temporary banishment of an unruly child be considered as an infinite virtue?

Jericho--The Oldest City

(By Christopher Matthew in Milwaukee Journal).

From ancient Troy to modern Dienbienphu cities have been besieged and taken, but none ever fell in such a spectacular way as Jericho, when Joshua and the hosts of Israel, after 40 years of wandering, crossed the Jordan river and marched against it.

On six successive days, according to the account in the Book of Joshua, the armed men of Israel marched around the walls of the city. With them went a number of priests bearing the ark of the Lord and seven priests blowing on trumpets of ram's horn. On the seventh day the same procession encircled it seven times. Then the people who had been commanded to shout at the moment, "shouted a great shout, that the wall fell down flat, so that the people went into the city, every man straight before him, and they took the city." So was Israel's first conquest in the promised land.

Every living soul in Jericho was killed except Rahab the harlot and her family. Some time previously Rahab had received two of Joshua's spies in her house when Jericho's gestapo was on their trail. That night, after sending the royal cops on a goose chase elsewhere, Rahab let the spies down by a rope from her house, which was built on the wall, and this act she and her clan were spared in the massacre.

Jericho was then a wealth--except the gold, silver, brass and iron, which went to the Lord. One unlucky Israelite named Achan, helped himself to some of the precious metal and was salvaged by "goodly Babylonish garment" and "two hundred shekels of silver" found buried in his tent, Achan, was stoned to death. Joshua placed a curse on the city that "he that builds it "shall lay the foundation thereof in his firstborn, and in his youngest son shall he set up the gates of it." Years later, in the days of Ahab, the curse was literally fulfilled when Hiel the Bethelite rebuilt Jericho and laid both his eldest and youngest sons.

In spite of Joshua's curse, Jericho never ceased being a city again down to the present fact, there is reason to believe that it may be the oldest city in the world, says Dr. Kathleen M. Kenyon, London university, archaeologist, who has been in charge of excavating party there since 1951. Excavations at Jericho were first begun about 50 years ago by German scholars. They found remnants of massive walls, and from them 28 feet high even in their ruins. They placed the ancient city as a veritable Gibraltar and thought they had evidence of a date about 1,000 years before Christ Joshua and his people captured it, about 1400 B.C.

The recent diggings do not corroborate these views, in an article in the Scientific American, Dr. Kenyon reports that after the most careful search she could find no traces of the wall which fell down that when Joshua fought the battle of Jericho. Instead she has been disappointed in our search for the city of Biblical times, and reports that "this disappointment has been more than compensated by the discovery of a much earlier history." Its site is a green mound "rising like a great amphitheater of towns bubilt on the ruins of those that went before."

Layer by layer the earth was removed until the archaeologists had been sunk down 70 feet in places. On the lowest layer, just above bedrock, there were remains of rude round huts which have been found in other prehistoric settlements in architecture. These huts are what she had no pottery," writes Dr. Kenyon, "a fact which underlines how close we are here to the beginnings of town life. Closer to the surface we successful fire occurred. Above layer still, figurines of animals molded in clay suggesting that the religion of those early agriculturists was a fertility cult. The upper most layers at Jericho end with the middle bronze age."

Earlier excavators, who did not get beyond the upper layers, also found inlaids buried in jars under the floors of some of the dwellings. They concluded that these inlaids were victims of Molech, the horrible deity who demanded human sacrifice.

Whatever the nature of the prehistoric city, most people will be interested in the interest in the Jericho of the Bible, which began to play its role in every quarter after the moment the Rahab welcomed the Israelite spies. It was situated on one end of a fertile valley watered by wadis or creeks, that flowed into the Jordan. To its west were the arid mountains that parted it from Jerusalem 15 miles away.

In time a network of aqueducts and canals brought the waters of the wadis to every square inch of territory. Oranges, bananas and dates were grown there for all Palestine. Because of a large palm forest Jericho was known far and wide as "the city of the palms."

From the heights on which the city was built one looked into the mountains of Moab across the river some 20 miles distant. From the north end of one of these Mount Nebo, Moses once stood to get his first—and last—look at the promised land. Not far away Elijah saw his master Elijha, taken up in a chariot of fire. Not Both Moses and Elijah disappeared from the scene in the same locality. At Jericho Elisha sweetened the waters of a spring, and it was there that he met with the prophets who resided in the city.

In New Testament times the city was a transit point for Jewish pilgrims on their annual pilgrimages to Jerusalem. In order to avoid passing through Samaria, which the Galileans usually crossed the Jordan, proceeded to Jericho on the east bank, then recrossed it near the place where Joshua once led the Israelites. It was there where John the Baptist later preached. Then, after a night's rest, the pilgrims went over the short but dangerous mountain road to Jerusalem. This was the scene of the road from ancient times down to the present, has always been dangerous, even in recent times bought immunity from them by paying a five per cent tax on the goods in transit, who probably split his take with the bandits. Whether or not these malefactors inspired the story of the Good Samaritan, one thing is beautiful of the parables.

Jesus took the Jericho route on His last trip to Jerusalem. Outside of Jericho He healed the blind beggar, Bartimaeus. In the city he dined at the house of Zaccheus, a rich publican, and when the crowd—a sycamore tree to see Him past. Jericho had a long history from the east into the interior of Canaan, and it is probable that Jesus was referring to the ancient toils from travellers and merchants who passed through the city, taking what the traffic would bear.

The valley remained a garden spot during the Roman period, Josephus. When the Crusaders captured it they reported that it was a land flowing with milk and honey. They rebuilt the city of Jericho on a new site, somewhat to the south and to the southeast and made it a benefice of the Holy Sepulchet.

But it fell into decay when the glory departed from the happy valley. The Arab village of Riha, which rarely falls below 100 degrees during nine months of the year, still survived. No great man has ever come to it to live, but it has been a resort for everwithstood a siege. Aqueducts, and canals gradually fell into ruin and the land reverted to desert country. The last palm tree in the valley again became 1830. The Crusaders' city deteriorated into a jumble of ruins, lasting about a thousand people. The modern town, known as Richa or Riha, has a Greek Orthodox church, a Latin chapel and several hotels. The General Allenby revisited the area from the Turks in 1918 in the "battle of a dream", and the valley again became a resort area for British officials and rich Arabs from Jerusalem.

NIGHT-CAP READING

I rarely read in bed but think it a good idea, for you are then relaxed and everything is favorable for fifteen minutes or so of reading. Then you are sure to fall asleep and tempt one's subconscious mind to "pleasant dreams."

Of course, generally, of reading before retiring for the night, in a very few years could make anyone's knowledge as a whole a fund of knowledge as a permanent asset. No biography or autobiography has ever been written on this subject. There is always something else that doesn't get between covers. Perhaps we can just say that there is no description to the human soul—that it must remain "anonymous."

This night-cap reading seems to challenge our "innermost feelings and emotions. We are introduced to the "inner man" we have never heard of, and to strange peoples

VITAMIN B-12 NEEDS A BOOSTER.

Back in the halcyon days when Tony the Welsh Terror was running the Brady menage a person with pernicious anemia might reasonably hope to live two and a half years. Today, thanks to (1) liver and/or (2) vitamin B12 and iii potentiation, folic acid, the life expectancy of a person with pernicious anemia is about the same as yours or mine.

Dr. Brady

Recent research has shown that at potentiator (activator) is desirable if not essential for the fullest blood building action of B12. Folic acid is another vitamin which is obtained, like B12, from liver.

If liver were the only source of B12 the cost of this vitamin would be beyond reach, only a few crystals of B12 are obtained from a ton of liver. Fortunately liver is not the only source. Manufacturers of antibiotics found that mold cultured for streptomycin also produced vitamin B12, and this is now comparatively inexpensive B12 in general use today.

In most instances of pernicious anemia the patient can maintain normal blood strength by eating raw liver (say in new liver cocktail) two or three times a week or by eating B12 and folic acid tablets daily.

HOW TO WATER A LAWN

Lawn experts are always saying and writing that you should either water a lawn a great deal or not water it at all. If we water it only a little, the grass roots will be curling up and coming nearer to the surface to get that water, and during the next dry spell, the roots are dried out and the grass withers.

We often hear the statement that a little knowledge is a dangerous thing. A little religion is a dangerous thing also. It anesthetizes people to their evils, and makes them think that they are not so bad after all. The life which is spiritually motivated receives a major damage every time they is a dry spell. Trouble comes upon such people, and they are utterly unable to cope with their problems. Furthermore, they are not able to look back and analyze their situation and see that the primary reality lies on their own level or in their stupidity. So they start blaming other people for their difficulties. They blame everything about life save how to live. The tragedy is that their lives reach up, not down—eager not for nutrition but for a few drops of surface water.

Jesus said, "Either make the tree good and its fruit good or else fruit corrupt." The Master had no use for half-way measures.

The same can be said in the beginning, either water a lawn plentifully, or don't water it at all.

RAF Dentists Have New Drill

(Trade Topics, U.K.)

A new method of drilling teeth, by the use of lasers, has been developed by the Dental Branch of the Royal Air Force. The drill used is described as operating on a reciprocating movement using intense mechanical vibrations at ultrasonic frequencies, but above the audible range".

The tool, which has a high cutting efficiency, moves backwards and forwards 25,000 times a second—a vibration which cannot be heard or felt by humans. Heat generated during the operation is clinically negligible, so that the pain felt with the normal drill is almost eliminated.

This new conception of tooth cavity preparation is still in an experimental stage, and the R.A.F. emphasizes that there is a great deal more to be done in perfecting the technique to mechanical and professional perfection.

Spanking Was in Order

(St. Catharines Standard)

From the town of Twisp in the state of Washington comes the story of a juvenile delinquent who in three minutes by a jury of a charge of "cruel and inhuman punishment" of his father, a 12-year-old boy. The spanking followed a warning to tell where he had hidden dynamite in the school building. The school was destroyed and the principal superintendent of schools, thus threatened, was confident that the man knew his rights and exercised them.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

The late chief justice Sir William Mulock, who reached the 100th year of his age, lived long enough to see plantations of black walnut trees reach near maturity on his farm and see scores of new plantations rising around him. It is safe to say that if he had thought it sooner, he would have been an extremely wealthy man by the time he was a hundred.

But at the time he began his plantations, few Canadians could imagine the day when this country would be worried over its timber supply.

Today, in all provinces of Canada, some of which still have fairly vast but as yet unapproachable resources, there is a sharply rising demand for the growing of crop. Ontario has been collecting some figures that bear on the new experience. They find that Ontario nurseries have produced, in the past fifty years, four hundred million trees for distribution. Of that enormous number, mostly pines, but not a great proportion were for private planting until the end of the war, around 1945. The first nursery was 38 acres. Today, 100, 000 acres are devoted to raising young trees, which are being used though 24 millions trees were distributed to municipalities, schools and to private persons and companies this year alone, the supply falls short of the demand. Twenty-four zone foresters serve private woodlot owners, who are showing interest in tree planting and woodlot management. Apart from Christmas tree plantations, which are growing profitable, there are individuals and groups of investors who are buying waste or worn out acreages to replant them with suitable mixed forests which will create woodlots which, in a calculable number of years, will be worth a great deal more than mixed woodlots now worth today in their prime. Wise men have always invested in high best bonds.

But in Ontario, a factor that has already escaped the public eye is the fact that 12,000 school children in 400 rural schools have joined the trend by planting and maintenance of trees in their home vicinity.

Stratford Festival

By

Robert Tanner

With history and high tragedy awaiting the presentation later in the season of Sophocles' "Oedipus Rex", the Stratford Festival has opened its second year on notes of comedy and vaudeville, first with "Measure for Measure" and then "The Taming of the Shrew".

Dr. Tyrone Guthrie, who directed the latter play, has frequently said, and has repeated elsewhere to me in an interview, that the continued success of the Festival will be ensured by productions of artistic integrity satisfying the most exacting tastes, rather than by performances designed primarily for mass appeal. It is the genius of Dr. Guthrie himself that he can combine these two conflicting requirements and give us productions true to the spirit of Shakespeare, while still revealing wonderful popular entertainment. There may be some who feel that the Taming of the Shrew" he has relied rather too much on forceful physical contact as a source of humor, but surely no one can argue that Shakespeare's own productions would have been lacking in broad slapstick comedy, and enjoyed ever and over again by his dialogue.

To quote only two obvious examples from "The Shrew" itself, the opening lines of Petruchio's entry and the first exchange between Petruchio and Katherine would very well serve as sufficient evidence. One well known critic described the opening scene of the romp by Tyrone Guthrie, based on words by Shakespeare, as one I prefer to call it a romp in the words and spirit of Shakespeare, brought into tune with the 20th century by Tyrone Guthrie.

FACEICAL COMEDY.

In this controversial production, therefore, we have a band of strolling players putting on to the best of their ability and with somewhat limited resources, especially as regards costumes, a facetial comedy at the request of the Lord of the Manor as a part of his practical joke on Christopher Sly, a delightful but befuddled tinker. Some gaps in the players' ranks are obligingly filled by the Lord's servants. (It is not too clear how Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis got mixed up in all this, but here they are, large as life). The most suitable style of acting in which can be found for Petruchio seems to be that wily and woolly west, white Senor Gremlo, one of Blanca's many suitors, wears somewhat over from "Le Malade Imaginaire". Thus the stage is set for a fantastic but delirious performance, full of incident and action in which even Sly himself sometimes joins, and interspersed with exciting crowd scenes. Indeed in its whole's remarkable and inimitable manner.

If I seem to dwell on the direction of this play, rather than on the acting, it is because I feel that the main centre of interest in this year's festival, so far, has been the bare fact of the festival' itself, with its predominantly Canadian cast and exciting new theatre was of absorbing interest. This year we already know what to expect from these for granted, and can turn more attention to the wonderfully revitalized presentations which we hope will be a feature of the Festival for many years to come. And if the acting calls for less comment it is mainly because it is so uniformly good. With only two "outsiders" this year (James Mason, who is Angelo in "Measure for Measure" and will take the title role in "Oedipus", and Douglas Campbell who has parts in all three plays) the Canadian cast demonstrates a maturity and self-confidence which were to some extent lacking before. In the leading roles of "The Taming of the Shrew" Bargara Chilcott as Katherine and William Needles as Petruchio give very spirited and convincing performances, particularly commendable in the latter case as he stepped into the part only three weeks before opening when Mayor Moore fell and broke a rib.

DIFFICULT ASSIGNMENT.

Robert Goodier, as Christopher Sly, is faced with the difficult assignment of being on stage from start to finish, and fulfils it most successfully, his pantomime in the play never flagging until he finally falls asleep during the final scene. Eric House and William Hutt, as Blanca's unsuccessful suitors, give excellent and amusing performances as do William Shatner and Donald Harron (the Martin and Lewis team) as the successful suitor and his servant. Alliance herself does not have much to do but look charming which Frances Hyland does most beguilingly, while Douglas Campbell as Hortensio, father of Katherine and Blanca, gives another of his excellent characterizations.

To turn now to "Measure for Measure" directed by Cecil Clarke who has worked with Dr. Guthrie for many years and is now Artistic Director of the Festival, a rather more straightforward production of a somewhat inferior play, yet in spite of that a very enjoyable show. Here again the acting is of a very high order, and it is a great pleasure to see the Canadian members of the cast holding their own so admirably even in comparison with a star of mitedly, in Angelo, Mr. Mason has a very difficult role to play, that of a sanctimonious deputy enforcing the unpopular laws of the absent duke, yet at the first temptation, secretly arranging to break them himself. It is possibly Mr. Mason's credit that he makes his characterization convincing, yet sympathetic enough to make one glad when in the final scene the Duke, reprieves him from the sentence of death which the law decrees. As the unwitting temptress, Isabella, Frances Hyland is a much more demanding role than that of Blanca, gives a beautiful performance which helps still further to explain Angelo's fall from grace, while Lloyd Bochner as the Duke for most of the play disguised as a humble friar, performs with strength, nobility, fire and great dignity of diction.

ADMIRABLE PORTRAYAL.

Mavor Moore, despite his injury gives an admirable portrayal of an older statesman contrasting strongly with an equally good impression by Donald Harron of an impudent young popinjay; Douglas Rain and Barbara Chilcott are excellent as the unhappy young lovers Claudio and Juliet and two other roles which command attention are those of Pompey played by Douglas Campbell in a manner as delightful as that of his masterly portrayal of Parolles last year, and Mistly Jones as the bawdy lady-dignity-and feeling by Robert Christie.

The costumes of Mia play, which like those of "The Shrew" were designed by Tanya Moiseiwitsch contribute most noticeably to the overall effect. From the rags and sackcloth of the crowd to the beautiful robes of the duke, all are entirely and strikingly in keeping with the spirit and mood of the play, Stratford is very fortunate in having Miss Moiseiwitsch as designer; we hope she will remain so for a long time.

Lastly, a word about the extras, those with few or no speaking lines. It is good to see so many people all acting at once, unobtrusively but effectively, for every moment that they are on stage. It is such a common fault even on Broadway for the lesser players to drop out of character when not vitally connected with the play, that the absence of this fault becomes a positive virtue. For this much of the credit must be given to the directors, yet it is most heartening to see so large a body of Canadian actors and actresses so soundly versed in the fundamentals of their profession that they are admirably fitted to form the nucleus of a truly national theatre.

12 Army Men, Officer Will Undergo Test

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Twelve army enlisted men and one officer are human guinea pigs in a 24-day army search for an emergency survival ration that would sustain a body of men for two weeks under the most trying conditions.

The volunteers will begin the experiment Friday at the University of Minnesota. Conditions will approximate being "ditched up in Alaska and having a walk home" with only starched jelly bars for food, washed down with a little salt drink.

The men arrived from the army quartermaster research and development unit at Fort Lee, Va., June 15 and immediately undertook a one-week diet of 5-calorie, nonsisting of canned meats, desserts, cookies, crackers and powdered coffee and cocoa.

After the 24-day jelly bar hitch, they will return to another three-week session on the C-rations.

SAYS DIET ADEQUATE

The C-ration menu consisting of 3,000 calories a day is described by Dr. Ansel Keys, who is conducting the experiment in the laboratory of physiological hygiene, as "nutritionally adequate."

Friday the ultimate count drops to 1,000 or five jelly bars. This is strictly a carbohydrate diet, without protein or fats.

Inside the laboratory, the soldiers are exercising on bicycle treadmills, one for running and one for walking. They eat, work and sleep in laboratory quarters and take short walks around the campus for recreation.

Doctors periodically check the volunteers' general physical condition, strength, balance, vision, hearing and co-ordination. Dr. Keys says the men will lose an estimated 15-20 pounds during the test.

Globe-Hopping Family Make Toronto Visit

TORONTO (CP) — A globe-hopping California family, Jack and Mary Ford and their eight-year-old daughter Pamela, landed at Toronto Saturday after a transatlantic flight that took in Iceland, Greenland and an overnight stop in Montreal.

It was just another routine mission for Jack, a former U.S. Air Force pilot, who ferries planes for a living. There was nothing unusual in the journey for Mary, only woman to have flown a bomber across both the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. She flew with the air transport auxiliary of the Royal Air Force for three years during the war.

Even Pamela was not particularly impressed, for she has crossed the Atlantic five times by air.

Jack decided the family ought to travel together so that he can get some hofne life. "In 10 years of marriage I've never been home for more than 76 days at one time" he said.

MADOC

Departing Pastor, Family, Honored By Congregation

MADOC — Over 60 members of the congregation, friends and neighbors of the Rev. James Poynter and Mrs. Poynter, of the Holiness Movement Church, Madoc, gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Trotter, on Tuesda evening, to spend the evening with the pastor and his wife, who are leaving next week for a new pastoral charge.

The evening was spent in visiting and singing and after bounteous refreshments had been served and enjoyed by all, Mrs. Jack Smith, in an impromptu address, spoke of Mr. and Mrs. Poynter's leaving Madoc; as they had been good friends, good neighbors and took a keen interest in Sunday School work and enjoyed music and were always most willing to assist in any work in any of the churches of the village. On behalf of the friends she wished for them success and happiness in their new field of labor.

Three little girls, Gail Smith, Ruth Wilson and Lesley Brintnell, presented them with a basket of miscellaneous gifts from their friends, among the gifts was an electric teakettle, several pieces of aluminumware, folding money and many other useful gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Poynter thanked their friends for their lovely remembrances and recalled very with them pleasant memories of their stay in Madoc.

Mr. and Mrs. Poynter and family left Monday to take up pastoral duties at Cardinal. It is their three years in the Holiness Movement Church at Madoc. He will be succeeded by Rev. P. C. Bennett, of Cobden, Ontario.

Symbol of a vanishing breed, she was feted by adults and children along the route she knew by heart. Queenie is retiring to a leisure of chewing grass and watching cars go by.

DETROIT (CP)—An American automotive statistical agency reported during the week-end some U.S. assembly plant Friday turned out the three millionth car made in the United States during 1954.

Ward's Automotive Reports said the 3,000,000 production mark was reached about 2½ weeks earlier in 1953. It reported car output is trailing 1953 by 9.6 per cent and truck production is 12 per cent down.

Canadian producers dropped off 33 per cent last week due to Dominion Day, Canadian vehicle manufacturing is 11 per cent behind last year.

Search for Child At Edmonton Brought to End

EDMONTON (CP) — Midnight brought to an end six days of fullscale searching for 2½-year-old Diane Mason.

Since she disappeared from the neighborhood of her east Edmonton home Wednesday, thousands of volunteers have scoured the 43 square-mile city in the largest search in Edmonton history.

There were dozens of reports of a blonde, plump little girl in various parts of the city but all proved fruitless.

The last important clue came Sunday night when a bus driver recalled seeing a woman and a little blonde girl get on his bus in the downtown area and then get at a stop in the west end. The child matched Diane's well-published description, he said, but searchers found the woman in her home, with her own blonde daughter.

CONTINUE ROUTINE SEARCH

There were many others like it. Unless some tangible lead turns up soon, volunteer searches will officially ended and only police and city employees will carry on through the week.

The muddy North Saskatchewan river was patrolled with privately-owned power boats for 15 miles downstream from the city centre Sunday. Diane's home is separated from the river by a narrow golf course.

Diane is the adopted daughter of Sidwood Mason, 30-year-old ex-serviceman-engineer and his 34-year-old wife. They have two other children.

Police stress they have not discounted the possibility of foul play.

Weddings

BROWN—BROWN

Before a setting of Madonna lilies, delphinium, and tall tapers a very pretty wedding was solemnized on Saturday, July 3rd, in George Street United Church, Peterborough, when the Rev. A. A. Mathews united in marriage, Marion Fern, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon R. Brown, and Cecil Reginald Brown, of Belleville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack W. Brown, of Owen Sound, in a double-ring ceremony.

Mr. Charles Allen presided at the organ and Miss Margaret Hillis, of Belleville, was the soloist. Before the ceremony she sang, "O Perfect Love," and following the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer." During the signing of the register "The Wedding Hymn."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a full-length gown of French lattice lace over blush satin fashioned with a full skirt which extended to a circular train. The bodice featured a scoop neckline edged with Swiss lace and tiny seed pearls. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion fell from a sculptured cap of matching lace and satin. She carried a cascade of Johanna Hill roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. David Stubley, of Montreal, was matron of honor for her sister. The bridesmaids were Miss Marion Pound, and Miss Joyce Trotter, of Peterborough. They wore identical gowns of azure blue pangalaine with long, full skirts. The bodices featured scoop necklines edged with matching lace and three-quarter length sleeves. They wore shirred caps of matching material, and carried nosegays of pink rosettes and stephanotis.

Little Karen Cooley, of Owen Sound, niece of the bridegroom, was the flower girl. She wore a floor-length frock similar to the attendants with puffed sleeves and matching headdress, and carried a miniature cascade of roses and stephanotis which was similar to the bride's.

The groom was attended by Mr. Keith Metcalfe, of Peterborough, with the ushers being Mr. Ralph Brown, brother of the bride, and Mr. Larry Brown, of Owen Sound, brother of the bridegroom.

The reception was held in the Sunday School auditorium with the ladies of the choir catering.

The bride's mother received the guests wearing a gown of Bermuda rose crepe with matching lace inserts, navy pillow accessories, and a corsage of odontioglossum spray orchids.

The bridegroom's mother assisted wearing a navy crepe dress with matching lace yoke, sleeves and overskirt and white accessories. She wore a corsage of white spray orchids.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown will live at 19 Highland Avenue in Belleville.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

NO TIP TO WAITER

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband and I are going to a very large and important church wedding next month, and in the wedding luncheon afterward, to be given in a suite of a fashionable hotel in New York City, my husband maintains that since the reception is to be given in a hotel suite, he should leave a tip, and quite a generous one, for the waiter who serves our table. I'm dubious about the propriety of this, as I'm sure a tip wouldn't be given to the person, waitress or waiter, waiting on the table in a private house. Please advise us, for my husband doesn't want to be in the wrong about this. — E. AND T.

You are entirely right in your feeling about this. Your husband should not leave a tip for the waiter. The tips for the service at a wedding reception, no matter where it takes place, are the responsibility of the bride's family.

THE HOST AS "MASTER"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

No matter whom we are - entertaining in our home, my husband is of the opinion that if cocktails are served I should serve him first and the guests second if I have told him not only are the cocktails to be served to our guests first, but that, as the host, should serve them. (I do believe that when one is serving wine, it is to be served first to the host, to be tasted for proper temperature and flavor.) But I am quite sure that cocktails are served to the guests first.) Am I right? — M.P.

Right you are, on all counts here. Cocktails are, as it is the maestro' of the cocktails, it is he who takes over the making of the cocktails, and he who serves them. You, the hostess, may greet each guest as you meet to make the necessary introductions (or if you must be busy in the kitchen, the host may do the greeting and makes introductions). . .and it is the host who asks each guest, "Would you like a cocktail. . .or what may I serve you?"

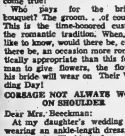
And you are right about the wine-serving procedure. A small amount of wine (about a tablespoonful) is first poured into the host's glass, the idea being that he will say that it is found to be "all well" about the wine; then, when the host indicates approval, the wine is served to the guests.

BRIDE'S BOUQUET. . .WHO CHOOSES IT, WHO PAYS FOR IT?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Who chooses the bride's bouquet? And who pays for it? This question has been a topic of considerable discussion in our group, some of us future brides. Please set us straight. — E.M.

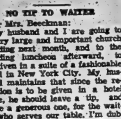
It is the bride-to-be herself. . .and it should be!. . .who decides what kind of flowers she wishes, the flowers and the general design, for this most important of all bouquets. The type of bouquet chosen depends in general on the bride's purse; the contour chosen should be appropriate to the type of wedding dress; and the flower chosen, if of more than one kind, should harmonize with each other. The bride-to-be (perhaps with a bit of friendly direction or suggestion from a really good bridesmaid she trusts) should give most careful and artistic thought to make that bouquet-of-her-dreams come true!



Who pays for the bride's bouquet? The groom. . .of course! This is the time-honored custom, the romantic tradition. When, I'd like to know, would there be, could there be, an occasion more romantically appropriate than this for a man to give flowers, the flowers his bride will wear on Their Wedding Day!

CORSAGE NOT ALWAYS WORN ON SHOULDER

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:



At my daughter's wedding I'm wearing an ankle-length dress, not floor-length. Would it be proper for me to wear a corsage at my belt, rather than on my shoulder? (I'm not too fond of wearing a corsage anyway, and avoid it when I can.) — Frances N.

It will be entirely proper for you to wear the corsage at your belt. The bride's mother should wear her corsage where she considers it most becoming, whether she's wearing a long dress or a short one. To many women it is definitely not becoming for them to wear a corsage on the shoulder. . .this sometimes looks top-heavy, over-emphasized that it detracts from the harmony of the costume. Some mothers prefer to wear the corsage at or in the belt. Others wear it on their neckpiece, fur or stole. Still others (and this might be the best suggestion for you) wear the corsage of their purse.

A motorcycle jaunt in the medicine compound is helpful when you have to use a small pocket, lightly closed bottle.

CANADIAN RADIO'S FIRST LADY

Mrs. Anna Dexter, Halifax's broadcasting grandmother who has been giving half-hour talks six days a week since 1928, cuts herself in on the air. Mrs. Dexter, who has been broadcasting longer than any woman in Canada, is the mother of Dr. Dexter, who is connected with the downtown studio of Station CHNS. She won't tell her correct age but she says she would like to stay in broadcasting until she is 120. (CP Photo).

Anna Dexter for 26 Years With Halifax Radio Station

By JIM SHERBANIUK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HALIFAX (CP) — Mrs. Anna Dexter, whose 26 years at the microphone have made her the first lady of Canadian broadcasting, says she plans to stay in radio until she is "120 years old."

The broadcasting grandmother has been Canadian radio proper from 32 stations to more than 150. She has been on the air longer than any woman in Canada and, so far as anyone knows, is the only woman in North America who has been making regular, scheduled broadcasts since 1928.

She broadcasted from her home now and gets around with a cane, but she maintains her youthful interest in people and she still says what she thinks six days a week.

STRICTLY AD LIB

What has she been talking about during the last 26 years? A little bit of everything — gardening, sewing, current events, anything so long as it's interesting. But there are no interviews.

Her program over the years has always been strictly ad lib. The first and only script she ever used lasted 10 minutes on her introductory broadcast. While still on the air she tore it up and settled down for a homey talk.

But don't get the idea it's strictly a woman's show. Apparently her half-hour program is just as popular with male listeners.

Most of all, she figures, she just says a lot of things other people would like to.

"Mind you, not everyone agrees with me, but no one ever sends me nasty letters."

"People usually write unpleasant things in the hope of changing the other person's views. Nobody bothers with me; they know I'm hopeless."

STARTED IN 1923

She didn't even own a radio when Maj. William Borrett, founder of radio station CHNS was looking for a woman broadcaster in 1928. Mrs. Dexter, then active in women's work and acquainted with everyone in the district, was nominated to Maj. Borrett by a government worker whom she did not know. She is still with CHNS.

A woman in radio was a special touch then, and Mrs. Dexter is still a special sort of person. Last fall she was awarded membership in the Canadian Association of Broadcasters Quarter Century Club.

To anyone brazen enough to ask her age, she gives the stock answer: "Mind your own business." She has a son who is 35 but as far as the public is concerned she's been 30 for a long time and expects to stay that way.

"At that age you're old enough to have some sense and you're youthful enough to understand youth and still able to enjoy both," she philosophizes.

"If you're part of today, you're as young as the minute. Never mind about your body, it's how you think that counts."

TONGUE STILL GOOD

"I'm not old by any means," she tells visitors, leaning on her cane and steadying herself on the chair. "Can't get around as much as I used to though, arthritis of the hip—thank God it isn't in my tongue.

"I plan to stay in radio until I'm 120 years old, then I think I'd like to travel."

Around home, not even the grandchildren are allowed to call her "granny." It's just "Dex" to everybody.

For all her broadcasting and fame, Mrs. Dexter is like any other woman at home. The first thing she did on arrival in Halifax was to call a girl she knew and ask her to marry that she is not a celebrity.

The letter that brings the subject up once more reads as follows:

"Although my boy friend had never spoken of marriage, I understood between us, when he was drafted, that we loved each other and that if would wait for him, I believed he was the one for me and it never occurred to me that there could be anyone else.

"While he was gone, though, I met an officer who was very nice to me. He proposed to me and even introduced me to his family. But things didn't turn out the way you might think. What did happen was that he persuaded me to go by myself to him and a week later, he was transferred and I never heard from him again.

"Now my boy friend is back and wants to marry me. He's the strong, manly type with very definite ideas about everything. Including the notion that I am a virgin, and it has put me into a desperate situation because I don't know whether or not to tell him different. I want to tell him, but I'm afraid to, because this is my last chance at happiness with someone I love. Do I tell a lie and be cheating him if I don't. Please tell me what you think I should do."

This, of course, is by no means the first time I have had to answer to it: The only wise thing to do is to tell your young man.

Why do I say this? For the simple reason that, sooner or later, and usually sooner, the totally unforeseen coincidence, the young man who marries a girl under the circumstances you have described in this letter, is practically certain to find out about it, and then he will feel bitterly that she deceived him, his reaction is far more emotional, even, than it would have been at the time. Moreover, if his nature and convictions are such that he would not marry a girl who had had an affair with another man in advance of marriage, he will certainly better that the girl should have this time, it is much easier to lose a fiance than it is to lose a husband. From the first, eventual recovery is certain, and the experience rarely leaves deep scars, whereas the loss of a marriage is something which leaves an indelible mark on the life of any woman at all sensitive, as she now obviously is.

Or suppose, for a moment, that this girl were to marry her sweetheart without telling him of what had happened in the past, and the ghost of the incident never did arise to torment her century of happiness. Inevitably, she would live in constant dread of that ghost's returns, and the fear of it would haunt her days and nights so that she could never be really at peace as a wife should be in marriage. Added to that, she says that, if she did tell him, he would feel that she was cheating him, and a far more suitable and more comfortable companion than fear of being found out.

If this girl is the strong, manly type" she believes him to be, then there is a good chance that he has the maturity to expect her for telling him the truth and to put the past behind them. If he is not this type, and he rejects her for what she did, then I doubt if he is the type of man who would make anyone the best possible husband. Honesty, standing and insight are essentials to a happy marriage, and without them there can be no complete trust and confidence between a man and wife.

If this girl tells the truth to her young man and loses him, I cannot feel but that it will be unavoidable. If she goes ahead and marries him without telling him, she stands to lose everything.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

SHOULD SHE TELL THE BOY FRIEND?

Well, here it is again. That problem of whether or not a girl should tell the man she plans to marry that she is not a virgin.

The letter that brings the subject up once more reads as follows:

"Although my boy friend had never spoken of marriage, I understood between us, when he was drafted, that we loved each other and that if would wait for him, I believed he was the one for me and it never occurred to me that there could be anyone else.

"While he was gone, though, I met an officer who was very nice to me. He proposed to me and even introduced me to his family. But things didn't turn out the way you might think. What did happen was that he persuaded me to go by myself to him and a week later, he was transferred and I never heard from him again.

"Now my boy friend is back and wants to marry me. He's the strong, manly type with very definite ideas about everything. Including the notion that I am a virgin, and it has put me into a desperate situation because I don't know whether or not to tell him different. I want to tell him, but I'm afraid to, because this is my last chance at happiness with someone I love. Do I tell a lie and be cheating him if I don't. Please tell me what you think I should do."

This, of course, is by no means the first time I have had to answer to it: The only wise thing to do is to tell your young man.

Why do I say this? For the simple reason that, sooner or later, and usually sooner, the totally unforeseen coincidence, the young man who marries a girl under the circumstances you have described in this letter, is practically certain to find out about it, and then he will feel bitterly that she deceived him, his reaction is far more emotional, even, than it would have been at the time. Moreover, if his nature and convictions are such that he would not marry a girl who had had an affair with another man in advance of marriage, he will certainly better that the girl should have this time, it is much easier to lose a fiance than it is to lose a husband. From the first, eventual recovery is certain, and the experience rarely leaves deep scars, whereas the loss of a marriage is something which leaves an indelible mark on the life of any woman at all sensitive, as she now obviously is.

Or suppose, for a moment, that this girl were to marry her sweetheart without telling him of what had happened in the past, and the ghost of the incident never did arise to torment her century of happiness. Inevitably, she would live in constant dread of that ghost's returns, and the fear of it would haunt her days and nights so that she could never be really at peace as a wife should be in marriage. Added to that, she says that, if she did tell him, he would feel that she was cheating him, and a far more suitable and more comfortable companion than fear of being found out.

If this girl is the "strong, manly type" she believes him to be, then there is a good chance that he has the maturity to expect her for telling him the truth and to put the past behind them. If he is not this type, and he rejects her for what she did, then I doubt if he is the type of man who would make anyone the best possible husband. Honesty, standing and insight are essentials to a happy marriage, and without them there can be no complete trust and confidence between a man and wife.

If this girl tells the truth to her young man and loses him, I cannot feel but that it will be unavoidable. If she goes ahead and marries him without telling him, she stands to lose everything.

Feeling Liverish?

By Mary Moore

Liverish in the Victorian era meant bilious and peevishly I think. I feel liverish today, but not that. I feel liverish because (1) I've just cooked chicken livers, (2) have a good idea from Mrs. L. McI. for cooking beef liver for folk who fervently sickened at the sight of it and (3) Dorothy P. asked for a recipe for pork liver with mushroom sauce.

So you are in for a liver talk kids.

First I will quote from Mrs. L. McI's letter: "For the benefit of "Very Anxious" I would like to give you the way in which my family learned to eat and like liver. We all thoroughly disliked it, but my husband was actually ill every time he attempted to eat it. Then one day a Jewish friend gave me how to cook it. When I cooked it that way we all liked it and eventually were able to eat it cooked in any manner.

"You need a pound or so of beef liver in one piece. Then put in a pan (I use underneath what makes pan washing easier) so that the blood falls away from the liver. Cook in a slow oven of 300 deg. for an hour. There should be no blood coming out when pricked with fork. This is delicious either hot or cold. Can be sliced thin for sandwiches."

I am familiar with this method as the only change I make is to cover the outside of the piece of raw beef liver either with butter or 2 or 3 strips of bacon to prevent outside hardening. Thank you Mrs. McI.

Here is the Liver with Mushroom Sauce that Dorothy P. wanted.

PORK LIVER WITH MUSHROOM SAUCE

Cut 2 slices of bacon in small pieces and fry until crisp — remove from pan. Dust 1-2 or 3-4 lb. pork liver cut in 1-2 inch slices with salted flour on both sides and brown in bacon drippings for about 2 minutes. Remove liver, bits to pan and pour over all 1 can condensed mushroom or tomato soup. (If tomato soup is used a good addition is 1-4 cup chopped sweet pickle and 1-4 teaspoon chili powder). Simmer covered 45 minutes.

CHICKEN LIVERS SUPREME

Slice each chicken liver in three thin slices the flat way of the liver. Dredge with salted and peppered flour. Melt 2 tablespoons butter until its bubbles and is golden (this amount of butter is for 1-2 lb. chicken livers) and sauté the livers over medium heat until just set—do not overcook. Remove livers from pan to hot platter. Add 1 tablespoon flour to butter in pan, cook until blended, then stir in 3-4 cup milk or half and half milk and cream, until thick. Taste. It may need a little salt and pepper. A shake of MSG improves this already rich milk gravy. Pour over livers, garnish with parsley. Guaranteed to win over anyone who has previously disliked liver.

Mrs. L. McI. asked for recipe for a low-calorie

FRUIT-MILK SHERBET

One cup evaporated milk, 1 cup water, 12 ascorl tablets (dissolved in the water), 1 6-oz. can frozen fruit juice concentrated fruit juice (this may be orange, grape, tangerine, lemon), Combine all ingredients and mix well. Four into freezing tray. Freeze to mush. Turn out into chilled bowl and beat with rotary or electric beater (at low speed) until blended. Return to refrigerator to tray to freeze until firm.

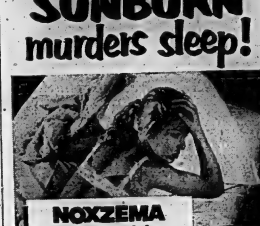
This sherbet is delicious and reducers and diabetics who are allowed the frozen fruit juice concentrates will love it.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

PERFUME IS ENCHANTING

The hard-working homemaker can wrestle with pots and pans, shampoo the kitchen range, do the baby's laundry, work like any old day hired man's hours, feeling the pinch of endless duties. But the girl occasionally, who can don her loveliest evening gown and touches her ear lobes and wrists with perfume, suddenly she feels like a princess. She thinks of her youngest days, of moonlight and old fashioned gardens. She is a romantic girl again. Truly perfume has a magic spell.



The demand for fragrance increases every year. Women find it so necessary for feeling their gools and boosting their spirits that the world cannot grow enough flowers to fill the demand. So synthetic products are employed. Compounding a perfume is one of the arts, as it has been for many centuries.

You will find offerings that are arresting and stimulating that put you on your toes. If you are the dashing type you can get away with them even if they are a bit pungent. They are usually blends or bouquets.

Then there are the single flower odors—gardenia, lilac, jasmine, rose and violet—all favorites of our great-grandmothers—that are having a revival right now. If you choose one of these do not change to another for a week. By using the same one for a long time your wardrobe will become impregnated with it. You will carry a sweet fragrance day and night.

Always have a toilet water of the same scent. You can use that freely without feeling that you are depleting the beauty budget. Spray it on arms and chest after the bath. The warm flesh will absorb the alcoholic content to evaporate, only the sweet compelling elements remaining.

RAWDON

Carmel Indebted To Pastor For New Road Sign

RAWDON — The Carmel community was thrilled recently to see a new sign installed at the Frankford Road and Front Line Stirling, reading "Carmel." Many travellers from distances have no idea when Carmel is situated, as it is purely a rural community, the highway administration usually does not place signs unless there is a small store, however, this is just a bit of fiev. A. E. Baker's unfinished business that has been completed before he left the town of Stirling.

GETS THINGS DONE

He was a man of vision and was keenly interested in improvements. He knew what was to be and he wasn't afraid of public opinion and he also knew by keeping everything in the dark eventually things would become a reality.

Rawdon ratepayers in the Carmel district have repeatedly asked for improvements but no one paid any attention and all were necessary, etc. However the credit goes to Mr. Baker for a decent road from Stirling to Carmel, with gravel fill in the mudholes in front of the church, a good passable road on each county by the Carmel cemetery, making it much easier for members of the county road to turn around and to and fro church without getting extra miles around by the Conley road. Time came the new sign and the country folk were pleased.

OTHER IMPROVEMENTS

During the four and a half years Mr. Baker has been in Stirling he also has been observant, and through his suggestions many improvements were made in the town. Perhaps one of the first was the Union Jack which the council purchased for the community hall. Numbers on the streets were named, houses numbered, and various other improvements came about after Mr. Baker had first pointed out the need.

LLOYD PERCIVAL SPORTS COLLEGE DIRECTOR SAYS—

"OLYMPENE LINIMENT IS BEST FOR SORE ACHING MUSCLES"

USED AND APPROVED BY SPORTS COLLEGE

JOHN NIAGARA talks about:

Why Niagara may be a good place for you to borrow . . .

MONEY

We agree with people who say, "don't borrow money unless you must". However, when you have to borrow money, we think Niagara is the kind of loan company you'll want to do business with. Here are some features you'll want when you borrow:

You'll rate "service" high on your list, we're sure. At Niagara, we do too. We like to think we're prompt—some loans are made in 20 minutes. And polite—our company has been designed to serve our customers. Almost everyone can borrow money at NIAGARA when they need it — our plans are flexible, and on many amounts a 24 month payment period can be used.

"Reliability" will be important to you, too. Our business started in Welland, Ontario, over 25 years ago. We're associated with the Industrial Acceptance Corporation whose financial backing has been used by hundreds of thousands of Canadians to buy cars, appliances, etc. We're an all-Canadian Company with over 80 branches from coast-to-coast.

And here are two additional points about Niagara Loans: Rates are lower on many amounts . . . so you get more for your money. Loans to $1500 are life insured at no extra cost to you . . . when you can get this family protection, why do without it?

If you need money for any good reason—just drop in or phone, anytime.

New Legislation respecting

ELEVATORS and LIFTS

I wish to bring to attention that The Elevators and Lifts Act, 1953, came into force on June 17, 1954. Under this legislation, in Ontario the owner of an elevator, dumb-waiter, escalator, manlift or incline lift must obtain an annual licence to operate the elevator or lift.

The legislation further provides that only a person who holds a certificate of competency issued under the Act may make inspections of these installations in Ontario. In addition, contractors who construct, install, repair, or maintain elevators or lifts, etc., may now only carry on business in Ontario if they are registered under the Act.

In order to comply with the legislation—

Any person employed by an insurer to make inspections must make application immediately for a certificate of competency.

OWNERS of elevators, dumb-waiters, escalators, manlifts or incline lifts must make application immediately for licence to operate their installations.

CONTRACTORS

must make application immediately for annual registration.

Charles Daley

Minister

Licences and certificates of competency for the period ending December 31, 1954, are now available, and enquiries and requests for application forms should be directed to the Chief Inspector, Elevator Inspection Branch, Department of Labour, Parliament Buildings, Toronto, Ontario.

Veterans Attend Memorial Service At Bramshott

BRAMSHOTT, England (CP)—Two hundred Canadian veterans Sunday attended a memorial service for the dead of two world wars, held annually here on the Sunday nearest Dominion Day.

Observances included services at Bramshott memorial parish, Hampshire, where 300 Canadian dead of the First World War are buried, and a visit to the Canadian war cemetery in Brookwood, Surrey, where the dead are mostly of the Second World War.

Norman Robertson, Canadian high commissioner in London, placed a wreath at Bramshott. Among those present was A. E. Lanning of Toronto, president of the Canadian Corps Association.

The Canadians presented Canon E. A. Bernfield, Bramshott rector, with a lectern, canopied stall, a prayer desk, chalice and paten—each decorated with a Canadian symbol such as the beaver and maple leaf. The money came from funds raised in 1945 to provide a Canadian commemorative window for the church.

Reporter Will Be Special Guest At Pense, Sask.

KINGSTON (CP) — Fred D. Pense, a reporter for the Kingston Whig-Standard, is on his way to Pense, Sask., where he will be a special guest at the opening of the celebrations of the 50th anniversary of the incorporation of the small village named after his uncle.

He will give the village greetings from Kingston civic officials and a flag, on behalf of the Kingston Whig-Standard, as a token for the continuing prosperity of the village.

The village was named in 1882 after the late E. J. B. Pense, one-time president of the Canadian Pacific Railway and owner of the daily newspaper, Whig for Kingston.

The late Mr. Pense was touring the West with a group of eastern newspaper men. The rails ended at a small hamlet, and it was decided to name the village after the visiting railway and newspaper man.

Little Benny's Notebook

LITTLE BEN'Y JUNE 12 — LG. Pop was trying to stay awake in his private chair, and ma said, Congratulations, William, you are really a good judge of character.

It's just a knack, my dear, pop said. I simply multiply a man's facial expression by his reputation, and divide by 2, he said, and ma said, Well this happens to be a woman. You made the statement that Mrs. Crewberry is absolutely not to be trusted, and you were perfectly rite, she said.

But for Peet sake, the only 2 words the woman ever said to me were Howdy do, pop said. I dont even remember what she looks like, he said, and ma said, No wonder you dont remember, because she looks like an abolute zero. In other words there's nuthing about her to remember, because she simply has no caracter. She heard me casually discribe a hat that I had fallen in love with in the window of the Corner of Paris shop, and when I went back there to buy it I found that she had swooped down ahead of me and carried it off in her unscrupulous claws like a herd of pray that she is, ma said.

That was a goolish trick all rite, but I'm hanged if I can recall saying a word about the woman, pop said, and ma said, Why William, you distinctly remarked that people who impress you badly the first time you meet them generally live up to your first impression.

Heh! Did I? pop said, and ma said, Yes you did, and I knew Mrs. Crewberry was a 2 faced nobody the first time I saw her, and now I'm absolutely sure of it, so she illustrates your point to a tee, William, and I'm glad you agree with me.

It's a woman's werld, pop said, and just then his head bobbed and he was asleep.

Killed Man Because He Caught Him Robbing The Ice Box

By FRANK FITMAN

DENVER (AP)—A ghostly man, almost as frail as the spiders he called his friends, shadowed Phineas Peters in his home for a month.

Finally he clubbed him to death.

Then he haunted the house for almost a year.

Those are the eerie elements which spin the web of the spider case, a murder that sent shivers down the spine of many a Denver resident in 1941.

It also sent Theodore Edward Conerys to prison for life. "I killed him because he caught me robbing the ice box," was the only explanation Conerys gave for slaying a man who had befriended him 42 years earlier.

Conerys, now 72, was a sickly 17-year-old when he came to Colorado in search of health from Illinois in 1899. He developed a flair in playing the mandolin. Soon he was a member of the West Moorcraft Mandolin Club, which met regularly at the home of Phillip Peters, an ambitious young waiter with the Denver and Rio Grande Western Railroad.

ROAMED COUNTRY

Conerys left Denver in the early 1900s and roamed around the country, but returned for short periods twice before his surreptitious entry of the Peters home in 1941. On each visit, the first in 1910 and the second in 1912, he chanced to meet his friend of earlier days. On the first occasion he was invited to dinner.

When he returned in the spring of 1941, he did not renew his contact with Peters, now 73 and retired from the railroad.

However, he became desperate for food that September and sneaked into Peters' home. No one was there. Conerys foraged around and then hid in the attic—a cubbyhole reached through a trap door in a closet ceiling.

The attic was too cramped for a man to stand. There was no ventilation and the wooden shingles provided little insulation from the hot sun or sub-zero cold.

Describing the first month of his attic life, Conerys said: "When I heard Peters downstairs, I'd keep so still I'd almost hold my breath. Then I got bolder. I used to shadow him from room to room. It was a sort of game. It gave me a sort of thrill. It was the first time in my life I'd ever had anyone at my mercy."

Peters, alone in the house on Oct. 17, 1941, was napping on a couch in the living room. Conerys, who had been in the attic for a month, slipped down to the ice box to take some food.

Something woke Peters, who discovered his old friend. They grappled in the living room. Conerys grabbed a stove shaker, weighing about five pounds, and crushed Peters' skull with repeated blows.

Conerys scurried back to the attic hideout with his "friendly spiders." Hours later neighbors discovered Peters' body. Detectives swarmed through the house but none spotted the trap door leading to the hideaway.

Mrs. Peters, who was in a hospital with a broken hip at the time of the slaying returned to their home to live. She was hard of hearing and although she lived there several months she was unaware of Conerys' presence. But one housekeeper quit because of "ghost-like" noises.

In the spring of 1942, Mrs. Peters' son persuaded her to move to Grand Junction, Colo., to live with him.

Three months later a pair of detectives were assigned to maintain a round-the-clock watch on the Peters home. Reports of a haunted house, strange noises and flickering movements at the window became too persistent for police to ignore.

On a sizzling July afternoon, two detectives crouched behind a nearby hedge peering. One of them saw a curtain move.

Both pulled their guns and started searching the house. One climbed the closet just in time to see a ragged, skinny leg slithering through the ceiling hole into the attic. The officer grabbed, but the rotten cloth ripped away.

With a second grab the detective caught a dirty, bare foot. The scarcrow of a man gave up and five minutes later lay unconscious on the bedroom floor.

He had fainted from the excitement. A police ambulance doctor put a stethoscope to the almost-skeletal chest. "This is the worst case of malnutrition I have ever seen, but he'll live," the doctor said. Later at a hospital, Conerys was found to weigh only 75 pounds.

He said he never once left the house. He scooped snow from the roof gutters in the winter for drinking water, and found enough food to keep him alive. After Mrs. Peters left in the spring of 1942 he lived mainly on home-canned jelly.

AL CLICKS!

Big Al Kelleher departed from his usual custom of standing there and watching the first pitch go by, strike, ball, wild pitch, or whatever the pitcher offers, and swung mightily at Johnny Moore's initial offering in the second inning of Saturday night's tussle between the Bains and Toronto Dependables. Al's big bludgeon caught the pill squarely amidships and it sailed over the left field fence as Peter Jones trotted home ahead of the outfielder and over 700 of the faithful tumbling their approval.

The third time up Al cricket-batted a beautiful bunt, again on the first pitch, and to his best appearances rattled the laths at the centre-right fence for a ringing double. It was his day.

The Bains backed up Art Wright's fourth victory of the season with a good defensive effort, although two infield errors did not help much. Wright pulled himself out of the hole on each occasion. The Toronto club staged a desperate rally in the ninth when they blasted three singles in a row for a trio of runs and had the tying run at the plate when Wright disposed of the third batter.

The win put the club into solid third place in the standing behind the Toronto Hookings. The Toronto club has ten wins and seven defeats for a .588 percentage while the Bains have won seven and lost five for a .583 mark.

The Bains tussle with Oshawa Transporters on Wednesday night in Oshawa, if they are still in the league—and on Saturday they play host to the Oakville Oaks in a twin bill. The first game in afternoon affair and the second is slated for the lights at 8.30.

The controversy over Oshawa Transporters' American import, Howard Stoneback, came to a head last Friday at a meeting of the Viaduct-Ontario League brass when the question was the Transporters "overbally" spanked for allegedly breaking a verbal agreement to the effect that no team would use players from south of the border.

They tell us the words, some of them highly colored, flew thick and fast between Oshawa's Harris and Toronto's Stitt and Hookings if the Dependables and Hookings baseball clubs. The outcome was that the five teams in the league voted against the import business while Oshawa restrained leading a ballot.

The climax came when the Transporters management asked for a 48-hour freeze to decide what they are going to do. Either drop out of the league or refrain from the use of American players.

We do not believe there is any danger of the Oshawa club withdrawing. The franchise would like a save-face move and five gets you ten the Transporters will be back as lively as ever. After all where else can they play unless in exhibition games with a bye into Ontario Baseball Association playdowns?

Ab Walker of the Oshawa club, explained his reason for importing Stoneback as being a lack of pitching strength since three of his star moundsmen were unavailable. He said he would rather import an American hurler than an Ontario boy who is in the thick of competition. He needed another pitcher, he went on, in order to keep up with the strength of the league.

Thus far; as far as we can learn, there has been no official word forthcoming from the Transporters' management, and as was mentioned before, we are of the opinion, the Major City crew will be back in the fold.

HOUSE OF DAVID

From the Israelite House of David cult at Benton Harbor, Mich., comes the original whiskered baseball team of that name and sponsorship to play the Harlem Globetrotters tomorrow night at Exhibition Park.

Now in their thirty-fourth year of travelling baseball, the Davids are more interesting and colorful than ever. Since the start of 1954 the team has played many times in every state of the United States and have toured all of the provinces of Canada, Mexico, the Hawaiian Islands and Alaska.

The first time the House of David nine was organized in 1914 by Francis Thorpe, now secretary of the Colony. However, it was not until 1919 that the Davids made any extensive road trips. During that year they accepted invitations to play in the Polo Grounds in New York City and Shibe Park in Philadelphia. With the exception of the war years from 1943 to 1945 they have had representative teams on the road every year since 1919.

Several unauthorized House of David teams have tried to copy this original club. None but the Israelites can honestly boast of averaging 160 games per year for 30 years with a winning average of .738.

Each spring the Davids established a training camp in the South, and all youngsters asking tryouts have been accommodated. As a rule two or three of the team's players sign contracts in the fall with some club in organized baseball.

The Davids do not hire any players not in good standing in organized baseball and hold all their players during a season despite the fact they sign none to a contract.

The Davids always have strived to maintain a strong and hustling ball club and as a result have built up their tremendous following as a total attendance of 745,000 paid admissions for the past four seasons will attest.

Indians Win Seven Straight Taking Four in Row from Sox; Brooklyn Shaves Giants' Lead

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

The oldest bromide in baseball says, "the teams that lead July 4th will win the pennant." It's true most of the time but if Cleveland and the New York Giants follow through to the 1954 world series, the baseball experts' union will have to fold.

Last spring an overwhelming 82 per cent of the writers picked Brooklyn to repeat in the National League. Complacency and old age scared off some of the boys on the New York Yankees. Still, about 70 per cent thought Casey Stengel would make it six straight.

The Yanks and Dodgers are close to the pace, in a good position to make a move in the second half of the season but the Indians and Giants aren't fading.

The Giants' lead was trimmed to 3½ games when they split with Pittsburgh while Brooklyn scored four in the 10th to top Philadelphia 5-3. After Don Liddle pitched the Giants to a 9-2 opening victory, Ed Gordon hit a three-run pinch homer in the eighth inning to give Max Surkont the nod over Pittsburgh triumph.

Cleveland held tight to its 4½ game margin, making it four straight over the White Sox 2-1, with Mike Garcia, Bob Lemon and Early Wynn pitching no-hit ball for 8 2-3 innings. Chicago's hit was a ninth inning by Minnie Minoso with two out in the ninth and he was the seven strikeout.

Rookie Bob Grim kept the Yanks keen in step with the Indians with a five-hit shutout over Washington, his first in the majors. Yogi Berra drove in three runs with a sixth inning single and Andy Carey doubled to score the other for a 4-0 margin.

SALTS IN SIXTH

Baltimore edged into sixth place in the American by one percentage points ahead of the Philadelphia A's, by downing Detroit 3-1 as Jim Kretlow's five-hitter. Leo Kiely pitched the Boston Red Sox to an 8-3 victory over the A's, scattering eight hits.

Cincinnati moved within a half game of the first division in the National by shading Milwaukee 4-3 on Jim Greengrass' 10th inning single with the bases full in a four-run sixth inning rally. The St. Louis Cardinals split two with Chicago, the Cubs winning the first 4-3 and the Cards taking the second 7-0 with Royce Lint pitching a nine-hit shutout. Ted Kluszewski's first time St. Louis had won in 12 games with Chicago.

The Indians' use of three pitchers to throw a one-hitter called for some comment. Washington, the state, suffered an injury to the middle finger of his pitching hand and had to retire with one out in the second. Narleski, a 25-year-old rookie, held the White Sox hitless but got in a jam in the eighth on a walk and a pair of hits. After Wynn came in, Chicago scored an unearned run with the help of a wind that threw Sal Hi'rum.

Larry Doby drove in both Cleveland runs with his 15 homer and his single to nail down the Tribe's seventh straight victory, dropping the White Sox seven games out of first place.

Grim, a 25-year-old former marine, had Washington in check to convince manager Stengel he should go back on the starting list. He hadn't started since June 6.

A pinch homer by Walt Dropo spoiled Kretlow's bid for a shutout at Baltimore as Steve Gromek dropped down to a 9-8 season record after winning his first seven.

Kiely had some anxious moments on the way to his shutout. He gave up three singles in the first inning but a double play and a fly ball by Gus Zernial got him out of trouble. Sam White, Red Sox left fielder, drove in three runs with a homer and single.

Gordon's home run that cost the Giants a half game of their lead was the first ball hit at Forbes Field this season. The former Giant hadn't driven in a run in 15 games and had hit only two previous homers before he smashed Marvin Grissom's pitch for a game winner. Hank Thompson had just put the Giants on top 6-3 with a three-run homer in the seventh inning of that second game.

The Dodgers blasted Robin Roberts for four runs in the 10th, two more than the Phils got in their half. Triples by Junior Gilliam and rookie Walt Moryn and doubles by Jim Hodges and Carl Furillo gave Carl Erskine win No. 9.

Elgins Grab One-Game Lead In Intercounty

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Harry Fisher, a pitcher from Wardsville, Ont., who once played for Pittsburgh Pirates in the National League, is setting the Senior Intercounty Baseball League afire with his hurling this season. And it's a good thing for Brantford, there's no telling where the Red Sox would be without him.

The fourth-place Sox have won 14 games so far this year and Fisher holds credit for half of those victories. He has beaten every team in the league and holds two victories over the league-leading Elgin Sparks. He is also known as being quite a hitter, and plays other positions when he isn't pitching.

With Fisher on the mound Saturday the Sox were leading Guelph-Waterloo Royals 5-4 in Waterloo when the game was called at the end of six innings because of darkness.

ROYALS BEATEN

In an afternoon game Saturday the Royals were defeated 8-2 by the Panthers in Kitchener. Then Kitchener went to St. Thomas and was downed 5-3 to give the Elgins a one-game lead over the second place Leaside Nats.

London was edged 13-11 by Galt Terriers in Saturday's other game on a 25-12 decision at Galt.

In a single Nickel Belt Senior Intercounty Baseball League game Sunday Creighton Indians edged Copper Cliff Redmen 6-4 in 11 innings to remain in the league lead over the first-place Sudbury Shamrocks by 14 percentage points.

Belleville Bats defeated Toronto Dependables 6-4 in a Viaduct Ontario Baseball League game at Belleville Saturday.

BOATS A BIG 'UN

WEDGEPORT, N.S. (CP) — A 24-year-old American brunette taking her first fling at tuna fishing hooked a 680-pound bluefin off here Sunday and paled the feat of three fishermen who earlier shared the first catches of the 1954 tuna season.

Stan Musial Top Man In All-Star Poll

CHICAGO (AP)—Stan (The Man) Musial of St. Louis Cardinals emerged today as the biggest individual vote getter in the final tabulation of the all-star baseball poll.

Musial, six-time National League batting champion, polled 1,468,377 of the 4,272,470 votes cast by baseball fans throughout the world. Trailing Musial in first choices were Cleveland's Al Rosen, 1,452,-736, and New York's Yogi Berra, catcher Yogi Berra, 1,449,586.

Three National Leaguers and five American Leaguers repeated from last year's vote for starting berths in the 21st annual classic July 13 at Cleveland.

YANK REPEATERS

In the American, Berra joined two other members of the Yankees' world championship club repeaters. Mickey Mantle annexed the centre-field position for a second year in his career, Hank Bauer matched his Yankee teammate as starting outfielder.

Slick-fielding Chico Carrasquel of Chicago White Sox repeated as starting shortstop. Bauer batted last year at third base; moved a utility infielder to first base.

OTHER NATIONALS

Joining Musial, Campanella and Kluszewski in the National League starters are: Granny Hamner of Philadelphia, second base; Ray Jablonski of St. Louis, third base; Alvin Dark of New York, shortstop; and Duke Snider of Brooklyn as left and center fielders.

Manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees and Walter Alston of the Dodgers are expected to announce their selection of pitchers and reserve players Tuesday. The National won 5-1 last year at Cincinnati for their fourth straight victory.

Rules of the voting poll require that players named as starters be permitted to play the first three innings before being replaced.

Al. Kelleher's Bat Sparks Batas To 6-4 Win Over Toronto Dependables

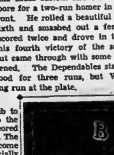
Outfielder Hits 2-Run Homer, Double, Single in Fine Effort: Wright Records Fourth Win

By GEORGE H. CARVER
(Sports Editor)

Al Kelleher's war bludgeon mushroomed into blasting bloom against the Toronto Dependables here Saturday night as the big outfielder sparked his team to a 6-4 win to cut the Batas five points behind the second place Toronto Hoskings.

Kelleher departed from his usual custom and blasted the first pitch off Toronto's Johnny Moore for a two-run homer in the second inning to put the Batas out front. He rolled a beautiful bunt down the third base line in the sixth and smashed out a fence-busting double in the eighth. He scored twice and drove in two runs.

Art Wright, who won his fourth victory of the season, was touched for eleven safeties, but came through with some fine clutch hurling when Toronto threatened. The Dependables staged a desperate ninth-inning rally good for three runs, but Wright disposed of the side with the tying run at the plate.



FAILED IN CLUTCHES

Wright held the Toronto club to one run and eight hits up to the ninth inning when Toronto scored three runs off as many singles. The Dependables batters failed in the clutch in the clutches especially in the fourth innings when they had the bags loaded with one out, and failed to score. They left thirteen runners stranded on the sacks.

Johnny Moore, playing coach of the Dependables and a lefthander and thought went the route for their teams. Wright whiffed nine and walked four besides being forced self to be single while Moore struck out three and issued four free passes.

Kelleher's two-run blast in the second innings gave the Batas a lead they never relinquished. Fitzpatrick singled to start the innings and was sent to second on a sacrifice by Peter Jones fielders-choiced first base. Davy Jones tossed a fly to centre field for the second out, then Kelleher strode to the plate. Over 900 fans gasped their rooters when he swung at the first pitch and parked it well over the left centre field fence to send Jones home ahead of him.

Two Dependable errors paved the way for the second pair of Batas runs in the fourth inning. DiFlorio fanned but booted away Fitzpatrick's bid for a single. Peter Jones walked and a line single with both runners advancing after Davy Jones laid down a beautiful sacrifice bunt. Boyer, Dependables third sacker, bobbled Kelleher's drive and Fitz galloped home on the play, with Jones reaching third. Kelleher advanced to second and when the Toronto catcher tossed the ball afar, Jones neared from third. McCormick walked and was thrown out at second on Wright's infield tap and Hull struck out to retire the side.

AL KELLEHER

The Dependables clustered a pair of singles in the fifth to open their side of the scoring. Speers singled and Gerry Goyer took care of Hundley's pop up. DiFlorio drew a walk. McKee drove a grass cutting single through the middle that got by Davey Jones with Speers scoring and the batter going to second. Wright settled down and struck out Boyer and Couch in succession, but Anderson came through with the needed single of the innings pushing Speers to third. Moore popped out to Fitzpatrick to end the innings.

MARGIN OF VICTORY.

The Batas came through with what proved to be the margin of victory in the fourth inning. After Davy Jones flied out, Kelleher blasted out his apex-rattling double and Jimmy McCormick, the next man up duplicated the feat. Wright struck out. Art Wright came through with his second hit of the game to score McCormick, but was tossed out on Hull's infield hit. The Toronto second baseman threw out Gerry Goyer to end the innings.

The Dependables made a strong bid to pull the game out of the fire in the top of the ninth. Trailing 6-1, the Toronto team scored three runs before the side was retired to cut the margin to 6-4. Huntley led off with a single and DiFlorio tapped out a weak hit to the box. Wright turned to throw to second but no one was there and both runners were safe. McKee flied out and Oddie singled sharply to score Huntley. Rosser, a pinch-hitter, struck out but Couch came through with a single scoring DiFlorio and Oddie. Anderson popped to second base and the game was over.

Oddie, Couch and DiFlorio each had two hits for Toronto with DiFlorio including a double. Wright was good for a pair for the Batas. McCormick had a double, with Peter Jones and Fitz good for singles, besides Kelleher's big contribution.

Germany Edges Hungary For Soccer Crown

By COLIN FROST

BERN (AP) — Darkhorse Germany Sunday won the world soccer championship by upsetting supposedly unbeatable Hungary 3-2 on a goal by outside right Helmuth Rahn with only five minutes remaining in regulation time.

It was a brilliant victory for the Germans, who came from behind to tie the score at 3-2 at the half. In the first round of the 16-nation competition, Hungary —unbeaten in four years — had swamped the Germans 8-3.

But that time the Germans fielded seven reserves, choosing to regulars for what they called play-offs. Sunday the Germans were at full strength and combined a sparkling offence that overpowered Hungary's own similar style, together with a splendid defence.

Much of the game was played in rain.

BIGGEST TRIUMPH

Rahn's winning goal sent the thousands of Germans in the crowd of 55,000 roaring crazily. He picked up the ball on the line and slashed around two Hungarians and sent the ball hard and hard just inside the goal post.

The victory was the biggest triumph for the Germans since they re-entered international soccer four years ago.

"We are absolutely overjoyed" said Hans Koerer, chairman of the German Football Association. "This goes far beyond what we ever expected."

The Hungarians took the defeat philosophically.

"Well, that's sport," said Istvan Krajcovitz, Hungarian official. "You can't always win."

Motor City Open To Middlecoff

DETROIT (AP) — Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, Tenn.—who almost quit in the first round—smashed Meadowbrook's par and a strange one-year slump Sunday to win the first of a three-tourney bid to win the Motor City Open with a 72-hole total of 278.

The 32-year-old dentist, winless since the Carlings Open last summer, dismantled Meadowbrook's par 71 with rounds of 72-68-70-68—278, six under par. It gave him a two-stroke edge over Gene Littler, the promising newcomer from Palm Springs, Calif., veteran Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill., and Tommy Bolt, Houston, Tex.

Littler and Furgol topped Middlecoff's 68 with a pair of hot 67s but the doctor's nimbleness in the four-day tournament was the turning point.

Running his third Motor City title, Middlecoff picked up first prize of $3,000. He shared the crown with Lloyd Mangrum in 1949 and won it outright in 1952.

Eastern Canada Track, Field Stars Take Major Honors in Junior Meet

WINDSOR (CP)—Eastern Canada track and field stars ran off with the majority of top honors in the Canadian junior, juvenile and midget championships concluded here Saturday.

Western Canada athletes will have an opportunity to even the score next year when the annual two-day meet will be staged at Saskatoon.

Windsor Track Club, the host for this year's meet, won the team championships in all three classes while Tommy Skimmings of Toronto, unattached, captured the junior individual title. Gordon Brown, pace of the Secondary Schools Track Club grabbed off the juvenile individual crown and Max Weisenburger of Hamilton Olympic Club bagged the midget individual championship.

TWIN TITLE

Windsor took the junior title with 130 points with Hamilton Olympic Club as the runner-up with 82 points and Toronto Cork Track Club third with 60.

A sparkling victory in the 880-yard relay event brought the border city athletes the juvenile crown after a tight race with Scarborough was A. A. U. Windsor tallied 100 points, five more than the western and Toronto Secondary Schools ranked third with 75 points.

Windsor was at easy winner in the midget class with 133 points.

JUNIOR CROWN

Skimmings won the junior individual championship with 15 points. Gary Douglas of Windsor was second with 23 and Fred Mosher of Windsor third with 22.

Brown took the juvenile individual crown with 43 points, 26 more than Jan Grant of the Windsor Track Club.

Don Armitage of Regina, running for the Saskatchewan A.A.U., was awarded a trophy as the meet's top athlete. He highlighted Saturday's action on a rain-soaked track by setting a Dominion record in the midget 880-yard dash of 2:06.4. This erased the former mark of 2:09.8, set by Don Aitkens of Toronto Track Club in 1950.

Canada's Swim Cycle Stars Start Drive

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canada's swimming and cycling stars opened a three-day drive today for the honor of representing their country in the British Empire Games.

About 375 hopefuls are entered in the Games' swimming and cycling trials. After the final heats are run off Wednesday, Games officials will select 50 contestants—40 swimmers and 10 cyclists—for Canada's team in the big Commonwealth sports extravaganza which will be held here July 30 to Aug. 10.

Most of the contestants are competing in the swim events, being staged as a combined Canadian A.A.U. and Provincial Championships and Games trials. Of the 40-member Games team to be selected, 30 will be male athletes.

The cyclists held their Canadian championship meet last week with Pat Murphy of Delhi, Ont., walking off with major honours.

Coach Percy Norman of Vancouver, head of Canada's Games swim team, is openly predicting that eastern Canadian swimmers will have to post record - shattering times during the trials if they hope to beat out Vancouver speedsters like Jerry Campbell, Ken Carter, Ted Simpson, Ron Crane, Bob Clair and Helen Stewart.

EASTERNERS STYLISH

Eastern hopes rest with such stylish swimmers as George Park of Hamilton, a top sprint man; Jim Macdonald of Quebec City, specializes in the mile and 440-yard events and Robinson Cole, backstroke ace from McGill University, Montreal.

However, most experts coacede victory to either Hamilton's Irene MacDonald or Quebec City's Jacqueline LaBlanc in the women's diving division. The Hamilton diver is a former Canadian champion and Miss LaBlanc is the present titleholder.

Daily Double Pays $12,724.80

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico (AP) — The biggest daily double payoff in the annals of modern horse racing was registered Sunday at Caliente racetrack when long shots Rocklite and Slick Trick won to provide a return of $12,724.80.

The previous record payoff was $10,772.40 at Washington Park in 1939.

Only one ticket was sold in the winning 13-3 combination. The lucky bolder was Mrs. O. Alexandra of San Diego, Calif.

Rocklite, a field horse, returned $30, $9.20 and $3.80, while Slick Trick rewarded its backers with $16.20, $7.20 and $4.40.

Leafs, Wings Wage Dogfight In International

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rochester Red Wings have a golden opportunity to go into first place in the International League today after manhandling the league leading Toronto Maple Leafs in the past three games.

The Red Wings entertain the last-place Ottawa Athletics in a doubleheader while Toronto visits fifth-place Syracuse for a pair.

The Red Wings actually are half a game ahead of the Maple Leafs, but trail by six percentage points—623 to 629.

Jim Bloodworth whipped the Leafs 4-2 Sunday before the second game of the scheduled doubleheader was suspended at the top of the sixth, tied at 1-1 because of the curfew law. It will be completed later.

TWO HOMERS

Memo Luna went all the way for the first game victory. He was aided by two home-run blows by outfielder Tom Burgess.

Syracuse Chiefs won two games from the Buffalo Bisons, 3-1 and 5-4; Jack Sanford blanked the Bisons until the last inning of the first game. In the nightcap, however, Cubs' Chiefs' hurler was defeated a 3-0 deficit. Marvin Blaylock hit a home run and a double in the losing effort.

Havana edged Richmond 5-4 on Tommy Dell's seventh inning home run in the ninth inning. It was the 19th one-defeat of the year for Richmond.

Tom Lasorda tossed Montreal to a 2-0 victory over Miami in the first game of a doubleheader, but the Athletics came back to take the second game, 5-2, getting the decision in the seventh inning.

Brockville Takes Eastern Regatta

LACHINE, Que. (CP) — Brockville rowers bucked rough water and high winds Saturday to take top honors in the Eastern Canada Association regatta.

The Brockville crew, with strong crews in all divisions, ran up 58 points to head off Lachine, Ottawa and Toronto clubs.

The home team with 27 points was second while Ottawa got 11 points and Toronto two.

Don Boomer of Lachine won the junior single sculls. The event was swamped attempting to defend his high school singles title.

Rough running waters led to postponement of the senior single event after several boats were swamped. Blowing gusts of wind playing havoc with the course and there were several collisions during late events.

WINS DECATHLON

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Rex Bob Richards won his second annual U.S. AAU decathlon championship Saturday, soaring to a world decathlon record of 15 feet in the pole vault. The 28-year-old Olympic and national pole vaulting king broke his own decathlon vault record of 14 feet, 11½ inches. He wound up with 6,501 points.

Way to Win Tennis Singles Is to Quit Doubles--Drobny

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—The way to win the Wimbledon singles title is to forsake the doubles competition, Jaroslav Drobny, the 1954 champion, said today.

Drobny, who won the crown after trying for 11 years, played both singles and doubles last year and burned himself out. This year, he played only the singles and finished the longest final in Wimbledon history as fresh as paint. Ken Rosewall, 13 years his junior, looked like a tired hack after his defeat.

Drobny had played only 19 sets in the entire tournament until the final. Rosewall, entered for the men's and mixed doubles as well, had played 44.

"If you win the singles, it could mean around $56,000 a year as a professional," observed Drobny. "If you win the doubles it doesn't mean a thing. I was far more relaxed this year and I had plenty of chances to rest. That's the way I'm going it from now on."

The championships also showed the gulf between the American and European girls is as wide as ever. And the gulf between Maureen Connolly and her American compatriots is getting wider.

Britain's Angela Mortimer and Helen Fletcher, the only other American seeds this year, both were brushed aside easily by Americans. Miss Mortimer's poise coming up on this side of the Atlantic to challenge them.

WINS RICH STAKES

NEW YORK (AP)—King Ranch's High Gun won the $37,600 Dwyer Stakes in a close finish with Greentree Stable's Palm Tree Saturday before 29,128 fans at Aqueduct. Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Fourth Target was third in the field of five three-year-olds. Porterhouse was fourth and Queen's Own, owned by E. P. Taylor of Toronto, finished last. The winner, ridden by Eddie Arcaro for his owner, Robert J. Kleberg of King Ranch.

Aussie Lass Breaks Records

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Fifteen-year-old Lorraine Crapp bettered two women's world swimming records and one women's Olympic mark at Townsville, North Queensland, Saturday night.

She swam 440 yards in five minutes, 11 seconds, beating the world long course record of 5:14 held by Val Gyngell, of Brisbane.

Her swim also broke the world and Olympic 400-metre records, both also held by Gyngell.

On June 25 Miss Crapp broke the women's 880-yard world record by 8.2 seconds.

Bluebottle Wins Five-Race Series

TORONTO (CP)—Fred McLaughlin's Toronto boats also teamed to defeat two U.S. entries for the Emerson Cup. The Canadians scored 15½ points compared to the 14½ compiled by the Americans.

Bluebottle, the Duke of Edinburgh's dragon class yacht, won the international dragon class regatta which also finished Saturday.

World Soccer Like World Series In Germany

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—It was like the world series, heavyweight championship fight and the Kentucky Derby rolled into one in Germany Sunday.

The occasion was the world championship soccer game in Bern which the German team won over Hungary in a great upset 3-2.

In Berlin, fans from the Soviet sector drifted over to the western sector and watched the game on television sets in shop windows.

Taverns all over Germany were filled to capacity. Customers jumped on tables and chairs, knocking over beer glasses, to get a better look at the TV sets.

Every West German radio and television station carried a play-by-play account of the game. The streets virtually were deserted and in Hamburg telephone operator reported she had hardly a call while the game was in progress.

East. Ontario Trims Toronto In Soccer Tilt

PETERBOROUGH — Eastern Ontario defeated the Toronto All-Stars, 4-1, here Saturday in the annual exhibition soccer match staged by these two associations. It was the first time the classic was played in Peterborough and the first victory for the Easterners in the yearly contests. President Les Digby of Belleville welcomed the visitors at a dinner given later by the Eastern League.

Tom Ryan scored two goals for the winners with one each counted by Frank Biddle and Tom Hoyle. The losers got their lone marker in the second half by Sig Jensen. The score was 1-0 for the Eastern side in the first half but they finished stronger with a three-goal attack in the last stages. Senior teams of: Kingston, Belleville, Batawa and Peterborough were represented on the Eastern squad.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON

The Kibitzer

A plan of play you follow in one deal may ruin your chances in another. Which is why there are so many different results with some duplicate hands. As in the spread shown here:

	NORTH
	♠ 7 4 2
	♥ K 5 2
	♦ A J 6 5 2
WEST		EAST
♠ K Q 10		♠ J 5
♥ 4		♥ Q 8 7 3
♦ 10 9		♦ Q 8 7 3
♣ K 8 7 5 3		♣ 10 9 4 2
	SOUTH
	♠ A 9 6 3
	♥ A J	10 9 6
	♣ Q 6

At some tables, north pushed his partner into a contract of four hearts. Most of the south players took only nine tricks. At least one got ten tricks out of it in an interesting plan.

West opened three spades fast and led his fourth spade. On the third and fourth spade rounds, east ruffed two clubs. The fourth spade was ruffed by south who now had the best trick.

A study of the north and south holdings will now show that ten tricks can be lost in diamonds. If a club finesse works, a third club can be ruffed. If east has trump queen, a finesse kills it. Those who reckoned like this went down with the lost club finesse.

On the other hand, a club finesse can be avoided by ruffing two clubs in dummy. If so, not enough trumps are in dummy for leads in that suit to pick up east trump queen with finesse.

But ruffing two clubs is the second-best play and east can still be finessed out of the queen. Where this worked, club ace was cashed and dummy ruffed a small south club with a small trump.

The other dummy small trump was led and finessed. Diamonds king and ace were cashed. A dummy diamond was ruffed in south. Club queen was ruffed with dummy trump king. East stuffed a diamond.

Dummy now led a diamond to the nine, when the only cards left in east and south were trumps. So, east was smothered into playing one of his two trumps. This permitted south to overruff.

You see the advantage of such a smother. It saves the declarer the necessity of saving a trump in dummy for a lead through east. With this luck, brother, finesse by a smother.

Electrics Trim Bobcats 17-7 For 12th Win

Scoring all their runs in three innings, Northern Electric made sure they came up with enough at one time to stay well ahead and coast home for a 17-7 win over Temple's Bobcats in a game played at the CNRAA Park Saturday night.

The league-leaders brushed aside a 1-0 deficit in the second frame with six tallies but were followed closely by the Bobcats with four and the count read 6-5 after 2½ innings. The big explosion finally came for the winners in the fourth as they poured seven tallies across home plate and sent another pitcher to the showers in the fifth as Bobs had four. The Bobcats got singletons in each of the sixth and seventh innings.

Al Adams sweated the distance for his team's twelfth triumph although he was tagged for 18 hits including a pair of home runs. He whiffed three and walked five.

Buck Burshaw, Jack Reid and Bunk Young paced before the Northern bludgeons to the tune of 18 hits. They divided six strikeouts while issuing nine free passes.

Bob Nolan opened the game with a single and scored later on a passed ball for the Cats initial run and the only run they got out front. The winners second inning rally was highlighted by John Batchelor's three run circuit clout while Carr, Culkin and Cousins contributed singles. A walk, an error, Bunk Young's single and Duke Doran's pinch-tripper in the third made it a 6-3 game. Doran also hit another home run for the losers three counter in the seventh.

Glenn Young set the pace in the big fourth as he had a triple and single while Batchelor, Locke, Whiting and Adams got one-baggers for the seven runs. In the fifth, it was Bunk again with a single teamed with three walks and base hits by Whiting and Locke for 7 runs and the ball game.

Big "Jawn" Batchelor had four hits including a trio of singles and his fifth home run to pace both teams. Duke Doran was the Bobcats slugger with two homers and a single.

Glenn Young added three hits, including a triple, to his collection while Earle Cousins had a triple and single. Don Locke and Deacon Whiting banged out a brace of singles each while Batchelor "Red" Culkin and Al Adams completed the sixteen hits with a single each.

Harry Wardhaugh claimed a double and single to follow Doran in for the Bobcats, while Bob Nolan and Good Deacon Cousins collected two singles each. Ken Dusberry, Bunk Young and Buck Burshaw had the other hits.

The line ups:

Bobcats — Nolan, Dusberry, Wardhaugh, Donovan, Young2, Logue, Doran, Johnston, Burshaw, Reid.

Northern Electric — Young, Carr, Batchelor, Culkin, Batchelor, Hene, Locke, Whiting, Souler, Boyle, Cousins, Adams.

TWO NO-HITTERS

SARNIA (CP)—Two no-hit, no-run baseball games were pitched by local hurlers during the Dominion Day week-end.

Saturday, Bill Chalmers of Sarnia Juveniles pitched his team to a 5-0 nine-inning win over Wallaceburg Juveniles in a Western Counties Juvenile League game. On Friday, Don McPhail of Sarnia had a seven-inning 2-0 no-hitter against Port Huron in a Port Huron-Juvenile League game.

Detroit Gets National Hockey All-Star Game

DETROIT (AP)—The National Hockey League all-star game will be played at Olympia Stadium Sunday, Oct. 3.

The date was announced by Jack Adams, general manager of Detroit Red Wings whose Stanley Cup champions will oppose the pick of the league's five other teams.

Four Detroit members of the all-star team, selected by hockey writers, telecasters and broadcasters, will be joined with the Red Wings instead of the all-stars.

Adams said Clarence Campbell, NHL president, advised him that replacements will be chosen for the Wings would be announced as soon as picked. Red Kelly and goalie Terry Sawchuk.

Babe Zaharius Wins Third Open Golf Title

PEABODY, Mass. (AP) — The over-astonishing Babe Zaharias, solid 15 favorite who might never play again, completed a stirring comeback Saturday when she won her third women's U.S. open golf championship by 12 strokes.

Front running all the way but tiring at the end of the final day's 36-hole grind, she finished with rounds of 72 and 75 for a total score of 291.

No one else in the field came close to cracking 300 for the three days over the 6,295-yard Salem Country Club course.

The premier American woman athlete, Olympic gold medalist and a star in many sports, was struck down by cancer in the spring of 1953 and it was thought her brilliant career might be at an end.

But she vowed to let me play again and I'd take care of the writing." the Babe, wet-eyed, said after her victory Saturday. "Today we sealed the bargain."

See them both on our giant panoramic screen.

AT THE BELLE.

"PETER PAN" RIDS FAIR TO BE DISNEY'S FUNNIEST FANTASY

Mary up. Walt Disney's most humorous fantasy "Peter Pan", the all-cartoon Technicolor version of J. M. Barrie's celebrated stage play.

Without minimizing the heart-touching sentiment and nostalgic emotions which have kept the play's enshrinement fresh through three generations, Disney has filled his screen version with humor.

The comedy, springing naturally out of the behavior and escapades of Peter and Wendy and all the visitors to and inhabitants of Never-Never Land ranges from the innocent drolleries of childhood to broad farce and the boisterous hilarities of violent action, when virtue triumphs over villainy. Almost every scene is fully packed with fun, from the time Peter pilots the daring children to the magical isle of their fabulous adventure with pirates, Indians, mermaids and the incredible crocodile and the sundry sprites and pixies led by Tinker Bell.

This is a rousing tale of adventure, as Disney relates it, with his finest animation art and his best story-telling manner. With laughter as his shield, no small youngster will cringe at the villainies of Captain Hook or the bluster of the Indian chief. And the rest of the family will all the more relish the adult appeal of one of the world's most treasured tales.

Also on the program is every foot of exciting, pulse-stirring film. From wit to tender humor, it is all keyed to attract, the gulleless heart of youth which, as Barrie said and Disney agrees, experiences very little consciousness after the age of twelve.

The music matches the mirth of Disney's "Peter Pan", in a score of lilting appeal.

DISNEY'S "BEAR COUNTRY"

FUNNY — Another great entertainment triumph by Walt Disney and his Real-Life Adventure, "Bear Country", will be presented on the same program in Technicolor. Regular prices prevail for this Happy Family entertainment.

Greek Family Is Reunited After 7 Years

By TOM MCCUSKER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

QUEBEC (CP) — Tears flowed freely today when four Greek children were reunited with their parents after several long, lonely years of separation.

"At last, I have' my children," cried their short, swarthy father, Theofilos Likopulos of Toronto. Their mother was speechless as she hugged the three girls and one boy who became separated from their parents in 1947 political unrest in the little fishing village of Gravia, Greece. The reunion took on the deck of the liner Scythia.

Zonkis, 16, Dimitrios, 14, and Fotini, 12, had been living in Hungary in Red Cross orphanages and eight-year-old Nina had been under Red Cross care in Roumania. Their parents emigrated to Toronto in 1949, hoping that some day they would earn enough money to arrange for repatriation of their children.

FORMER FISHERMAN

Mr. Likopulos, a fisherman back in Greece, could not speak English when he arrived in Toronto and it took all of the 3½-week salary as a dishwasher in a Toronto restaurant to support his wife and baby six-month house in east-end.

In 1952, he decided t consult Alex Kaye, a lawyer, who later got in touch with the Canadian Red Cross Society during the 18th annual International Red Cross conference at Toronto that year. At the conference the late W. E. Sanbury, national commissioner of the Canadian Red Cross Society, discussed the case with Roumanian and Hungarian Red Cross officials and began two years of negotiations which ended successfully this morning as those four children were reunited with their parents.

70 Meet Death In Accidents In Europe, Africa

CHATEAUBURGO, France (AP) A death toll of more than 70, with another 55 injured, was estimated today in the wake of a series of week-end transportation accidents in Europe and elsewhere.

A train wreck in village in southern France at least 35 men, women and children were killed when a two-car autorail train, travelling a mile-a-minute, crashed head-on into another train late Sunday night.

Police said an inexperienced switchman who threw the wrong lever caused the wreck.

At Tetuan, capital of Spanish Morocco, a bus rolled over a cliff and up to 30 Moslem passengers were reported killed. Six men were killed when a bus overturned near Valencia, Venezuela. At Pineiro, Peru, a bus overturned, injured 19 persons. A similar mishap at Leliboch near Graz, Austria, injured 17 passengers.

The toll in the French wreck may be higher. Two-seven year sons were severely injured and were being kept in nearby hospitals.

The four-car autorail was two motorcars and two trailers—one travelling from Lyon to Nimes and the other to meet the locomotive. The locomotive picked up the motorcar and tossed it to the side of the right-of-way.

The second car skidded up the nose of the locomotive. The third ripped off part of the rear end of the second car and then shot right over the top of it.

The fourth car was not damaged, and the passengers in it, all bound for a vacation camp in southern France, escaped severe injuries.

INSPECT MINING OPERATION

Base Metal Discoveries In Bathurst Area in N.B. Among Biggest in Canada's History

By JOHN MOSHER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

BATHURST, N. B. (CP) — Provincial authorities have backed up the claims of mining officials who said the base metal discoveries in the Bathurst area are among the biggest in Canada's history.

Since discovery of the deposits was announced 18 months ago, authorities have confirmed the original optimistic predictions and now these facts and statements from responsible sources stand out:

1. The two largest deposits are being prepared for production.

2. A pilot mill will be built this summer to determine the best method of ore treatment.

DELAYED BY FIRE

Production of the first base-metal concentrates is expected to start next fall. It was delayed six months when fire destroyed a new mining mill, first in the Bathurst area.

One company alone, Brunswick Mining and Smelting Corporation Limited, which sparked in New Brunswick a single-year staking record unmatched by any other province, reports it will continue to spend a monthly average of $100,000 in early development work.

Most of the potential wealth, however, will remain underground a considerable time.

"It is there and it is going to be big," said Mines Minister Norman B. Buchanan. He added that "some years" would pass before full development could become possible. Exploration had proven "tens of millions" of tons of lead, zinc, silver and copper - bearing sulphides.

"It is impossible to develop an industry of this size more rapidly than is now being done," said M. J. Boylen, Toronto, head of the Brunswick Corporation. Mr. Boylen and associates have 78 mining projects, mostly in New Brunswick.

Dr. A. L. McAllister of the University of New Brunswick geology department said gross value of the two biggest surveyed ore bodies at current average market prices would be roughly $1,200,000,000.

CANADIAN RECORD

In last year's staking rush 41,616 claims set a Canadian record. About $,000 in the Bathurst area have been covered by geophysical methods at a cost of approximately $1,000,000.

C. S. Clements, director of mines for New Brunswick, said the largest known deposit, 40 miles south west of Bathurst, has been traced for a length of 1,400 feet. Reports indicated reserves of 27,440,000 tons to a depth of 1,000 feet averaging 3.28 per cent zinc, 1.98 per cent lead, 0.58 per cent copper and 0.39 ounces of silver per ton.

The other big ore body is in the same area, at Austin Brook. Reserves above 1,000 feet in both zones, excluding metals indicated below that level, total 48,970,000 tons, Mr. Clements reported. Geologists estimate the eventual total production for the Bathurst area up to 100,000,000 or more.

The mines director said no base-metal company elsewhere in Canada had as impressive tonnages at such an early stage of development.

The ores contain about 40 per cent sulphur, Mr. Clements said, and this could lead to development of sulphur mines in which base metals, if lesser value, would be considered by-products.

PRODUCTION FACTOR

The value of the ores was "beyond question" to the value to New Brunswick would depend to a large extent on the feasibility of producing, in the province, refined metals and sulphur products.

The Brunswick Corporation solicitor told the Gloucester county council the company is committed to spend nearly $27,000,000 before mining starts on its holdings.

Great advantage of the mine fields' proximity to tidewater and mainline railways was pointed out by Prof. F. A. Milligan, of the UNB economics department.

Although the deposits can be mines easily and cheaply, Professor Milligan said, New Brunswick will not reap full benefit unless a smelter is established in the province. This would result in a valuable chemical industry.

SMELTER COST

Cost of a smelter has been estimated at $30,000,000 and no plans have been announced for such an undertaking. As shipment to the smelter at Trail, B. C., would mean a costly haul, present intention is to send the first base-metal concentrates to some plant in the United States or Europe.

With New Brunswick's present electrical supply neither plentiful nor cheap enough for industrial demands, Prof. Milligan said the solution would be hydro-electric development of power from the St. John river. If one step to provide power the provincial government is building a $3,000,000 extension to its generating plant at Chatham.

ATOMS FOR INDUSTRY?

VIENNA (Reuters) — Russia exploded its first atomic bomb against a mountain in the Kara Kum desert in Turkistan-border-ing on Iran's north-eastern frontier, according to a Hungarian Communist newspaper quoted by Budapest radio Friday night. The newspaper, Szabad Nep, official organ of the Hungarian Workers' Communist party, suggested the 1949 explosion was used to clear ground for new industries.

BASE-METAL AREAS

Discovery of base-metal deposits in the Bathurst area of northern New Brunswick 18 months ago started a staking rush. Darker-toned areas on this N.B. government map shows where prospectors have staked claims which may bear lead, zinc, copper, silver, titanium, manganese, tungsten and nickel. More than 41,000 claims were staked in the province in 1953 and more than 6,000 are in the Bathurst area. (CP Photo).

Food Terminal On Queensway Starts Business

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario farm produce started moving into the new $4,000,000 Ontario Food Terminal on a 56-acre site on the Queensway in west Toronto.

Laden trucks that once fought for space in the old downtown St. Lawrence market unloaded their produce in truck-high loading platforms and conveyor belts. The new market also provides space for a farmers' and truckers' market for those who want to sell direct to retailers.

The terminal has one of the largest one-floor cold storage markets in Canada. It also has facilities for refrigerator cars to move directly into the cold storage area to unload.

The upper floors of the two-storey buildings are rented to firms associated with the terminal. Cost of the project has been advanced by the Ontario government and will be amortized over 30 years out of the rents for the quarters.

United States Will Celebrate Holiday Today

NEW YORK (AP) — The last day of the long holiday week-end was observed today with more fireworks, oratory and patriotic and religious exercises marking the 178th U.S. Independence Day.

Most businesses in the United States were closed today because the holiday fell on Sunday.

One of the most observing notes was a statement by the National Safety Council in Chicago that the Fourth of July traffic accident death toll seemed likely to be below the forecast of a record 430.

Americans around the world, from historic New England village greens to Moscow, celebrated the Fourth of July Sunday in traditional style.

Many millions in this country were at resorts for the three-day holiday, and more millions attended observances in their home communities.

In many places they offered prayers for peace in an uneasy world, and for preservation of the freedom left by their forefathers.

Most sections of the county enjoyed pleasant weather. Baseball games and other sports events drew big crowds.

Rev. G. A. Puttenham, as master of ceremonies, led in community singing, followed by a piano solo by George Puttenham, Jr. In the remarks by Mr. Puttenham, was the wish that they have many more years of happy married life and that he was glad to be helping in the celebration.

A reading, "Seventeen Points for a Happy Marriage," was presented by a niece, Mrs. D. McComb of Belleville; a fine piano solo was rendered by a cousin, Mrs. W. Steenburg, of Trenton; Miss Sylvia Miller, a grand-niece, entertained with her tap dancing; a piano solo was given by a niece, Miss Gloria Black, of York Road.

An address by Mrs. Terry of Frankford, an old neighbor, was read to Mr. and Mrs. Brooks wishing them all happiness and told of the esteem in which they were held in the community and asked them to accept two gifts presented by Mrs. Earl Brooks, of Frankford, and Mrs. Clayton Curtis. The gifts were a chest with set for eight of 1847 Rogers silverware in Heritage pattern and also a large cut-work tablecloth. Mr. and Mrs. Brooks were so taken by surprise that they could not think of anything to say except "thank you very much."

Photos were taken of the bride and groom of 25 years ago.

Mrs. Earl Brooks then moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Fred Meyers, and Mrs. Clayton Curtis for helping her to put the surprise on.

Young relatives walked on the large group at lunch time, Miss Gloria Black, Miss Sharon Steenburg, Masters Ronald and Wayne Brooks.

The wedding cake was cut by the bride and groom while photos were taken of them and son, Wayne.

Dodder Scourge Of Legumes

Dodder, Straggle Weed or Devils Gut as it is variously called is a true parasite of the vegetable kingdom, reports the Crops Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. It constitutes a real threat to legume seed production particularly as it is very difficult to separate the seed of the weed from that of clover.

Dodder has no leaves, being a pale yellow vine that twines itself around clovers and other weeds. It sucks its food from the host plant and produces clusters of pale white flowers, which in turn develop four celled seed pods. It has no roots as the tiny plant lets go of the soil when it becomes attached to a host plant. One plant may travel for several feet and produce thousands of seeds. As well as clovers and most weeds it has a marked preference for flax and buckwheat plants.

Prevention is the safest means of control. All seed must be free of this pest and if found it must not be allowed to produce seed. If it is in the early seed stage or later, the crop must be destroyed in order to prevent it spreading. Seed may be examined in the seed laboratory for a fee of 10 cents. Under our Dominion Seeds Act this weed is in the prohibited class and when found seed is of a rejected grade.

Black summer fallow is to be advised but may have to be continued for several years. Grasses and cereals will not support this weed but such crops must be free from dodder's stems and weeds. Farmers are warned to treat it as a scourge and not think of it as "just another weed."

Britain Undecided Whether to Build H-Bomb Shelters

Defence Chiefs Study Costs To Decide if Work Feasible

Blame Old Mine As Ground Sinks At Glace Bay

GLACE BAY, N. S. (CP)—The ground stopped sinking in mid-town Glace Bay Monday but engineers planned a careful check to see whether week-end subsidence damaged the central water main supplying this town of 25,000.

A buried crack showed the big pipe was apparently sound.

Street paving was fissured and plaster fell from the walls of several homes Sunday when the ground began to recede. Initial examination indicated old mine workings underground were responsible.

Five homeowners reported varying damage to their properties. Two acres affected is about 450 feet at its greatest length. The spider-webbed fissures in several feet deep and some were as much as five inches wide.

LONDON (Reuters)—Home Secretary Sir David Maxwell Fyfe told the House of Commons Monday that civil defence chiefs have not yet decided whether it is worthwhile to construct A-bomb and H-bomb shelters.

Opening a debate on civil defence in the House of Commons, he said the question was "determined as to whether it was "feasible" to provide such a degree of protection in the face of the work and cost involved.

A thorough study of technical and other problems would have to be made before the country embarked on any large-scale spending on such shelters, he said.

Painting a startling picture of a country devastated by atomic and hydrogen bombs, Fyfe said: "It would be foolish to attempt the impossible task of providing impenetrable shelters, but we have to mitigate the consequences, and it is the duty of everyone to do the best they can."

At the beginning of his 80-minute speech Fyfe said: "I am clear that if ever an attack with atomic weapons were made on any of the countries of the country, the loss of life, suffering and material loss, would be such as to constitute a tragedy without previous parallel in history."

Churchill Arrives Home After Talks

LONDON (Reuters)—Sir Winston Churchill returned to Britain today after high-level talks with leaders of the United States and Canada.

Political observers believe the 79-year-old prime minister will report to the House of Commons after Wednesday or Thursday on his trip to Washington and Ottawa. They say he will tell them that his parley with President Eisenhower did much to ease anglo-American ill will over the Southeast Asian defence policy.

Immediately after the 79-year-old prime minister landed at Southampton from the liner Queen Elizabeth, he boarded a six-car special train to London. He was accompanied by foreign secretary Anthony Eden.

CABINET CALLED

Churchill worked hard throughout the five-day voyage from New York and he sent off a constant stream of radiograms to his ministers.

Just before the Queen Elizabeth docked, he telephoned them to arrange a cabinet meeting for Wednesday morning. He also ordered another cabinet session for Thursday.

At these meetings he will brief his ministers on his Washington and Ottawa talks and tell them what he will say in the House of Commons. He will also hear a report on what has been going on in the country during his absence. When he makes his report to parliament, Churchill is also likely to stress that swift action was stemmed from the Washington talks. Official groups are already at work following up the two main topics he and Eisenhower discussed — southeast Asian defence and the European army plan stalemate.

HASTEN PLANS

Churchill and Eisenhower declared after their meetings that they would "press forward with plans for collective defence" in Asia. They also underlined the necessity of West Germany taking a place as a partner in the European community of nations so the cash contributed in defence of the continent.

British and American officials are meeting in Washington to plan a southeast Asian defence organization.

TEMPERATURES

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: A high pressure area moving eastward across the lower Great Lakes today will cause warm sunny weather in southern Ontario.

A weak cold front is pushing slowly southward bringing cloud and widely scattered showers and thunderstorms to northern Ontario, by late Wednesday afternoon.

Traffic Deaths In U.S. Holiday Stand at 333

CHICAGO (AP)—Traffic deaths in the U.S. over the long Fourth of July week-end appeared running about 190 below the estimates of safety officials.

The death toll in automobile accidents from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Monday was 333. This compared with the National Safety Council's estimate of 420 traffic fatalities for the 78-hour period. The council expressed admiration for the "good and sensible" restraint by motorists during the week-end.

Drowning also mounted steadily and boosted the country's violent death toll to nearly 600, two hundred more than the council showed 184 persons drowned and 79 lost their lives in a variety of accidents.

Fireworks were blamed for the deaths of many youngsters compared to only one death from fireworks during last year's two-day July 4 holiday and two in 1953.

The traffic deaths compared to the 340 persons killed in traffic toll of 368 in 1952 and to 362 in last year's two-day holiday.

Duke of Edinburgh Calls Parley Of Empire's Budding Industrialists

OXFORD, Eng. (Reuters)—The Duke of Edinburgh has called a conference of budding industrial leaders from the Commonwealth and Empire to be held here in 1956.

The first preliminary meeting to discuss plans for the talks will take place under the duke's chairmanship in Buckingham Palace July 13.

Conference delegates, their ages ranging from 25 to 40, will be potential industrial and commercial leaders, destined to hold positions of responsibility in industry. It is understood that the duke has called the conference as patron of the Industrial Welfare Society, which has organized special assault camps to break down social barriers between industrial apprentices and public schoolboys entering industry as a career.

The society said Monday the main topic before the delegates would be their social responsibility in industry.

The duke has always shown keen interest in industry, particularly its human side.

Two American Officers Asked To Leave Soviet

Reprisal for Ousting Three from U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three Russian diplomats—one of them identified by the Soviet delegation at the United Nations—have been thrown out of the United States during the last six months on charges of spying.

The Russian government, the state department claims, has now ordered two American military attaches charged against two members of the U.S. diplomatic mission at Moscow to leave the Soviet Union by midnight Wednesday.

The two Americans are military officers, as were the two Russians ousted from the embassy here.

The state department said the order was by virtue of the evidence against the Soviets, but press officer Henry Suydam said "we got the goods on them and out they went."

DECLARED UNWELCOME

The two Americans whom the Russians accused are Lt.-Col. Lloyd H. Leonard, assistant military attache at the Moscow embassy, and Maj. Walter McKinney, assistant air attache. The Soviets declared them "persons non grata" unwelcome in the U.S.S.R. The United States rejected the charge and declared it was "absurd," but it informed Russia they would be withdrawn.

Maj. McKinney is on vacation outside Russia and will not return. Col. Leonard will leave the Soviet capital Thursday. He will fly to Berlin with ambassador Charles E. Bohlen, who is going on a month's leave.

The three Russians whose ouster from the U. S. was disclosed were named by the state department as Cmdr. Leonid K. Amosov, assistant naval attache, Soviet embassy, who was declared personally unacceptable last Feb. 3 and left Feb. 6.

Alexander F. Kovlyov, second secretary of the Soviet delegation to the United Nations, was asked to leave on Feb. 3 and who departed Feb. 6.

Lt.-Col. Leonid Z. Pivnev, assistant air attache, Soviet embassy ordered to leave May 26, who left June 6.

Three Fishermen Saved from Reef In Niagara River

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—Three fishermen were rescued from a reef about a mile above Niagara Falls Sunday after their boat capsized in the rushing current.

One of them, Martin Bell, 23, estimated the fishermen had been pulled over the falls's crest downstream before he "kicked bottom" and realized they were in shallow water. The men, all from Niagara Falls, were taken to hospital.

Bell and Edward St. Pierneskr, also 23, struck bottom at a point where the water was only knee deep. Bernard W. Irish, 27, who was submerged up to his shoulders, was pulled to safety by a piece of a rock to keep from being carried downstream to the falls.

Ottawa Boy, Aged 4, Run Over by Father

OTTAWA (CP)—A four-year-old boy was killed Monday when his father accidentally ran over him with his truck.

Edward Martin told police he was driving part of his yard when he saw his son, Daniel, running toward the truck. He said he moved the boy away, then lost sight of him.

Six Dragged from Lake Huron, Boat Upsets in Choppy Waters

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Two London families—including a babe in arms and a six-year-old girl who was trapped asleep under the deck of an overturned motorboat—were today thought they scarcely knew why.

The six were dragged from Lake Huron Sunday by three boats off Ipperwash after they spent "an eternity" battling the choppy waters to save the lives of their children and grandchildren.

Mrs. William McCoy said: "My arms were getting so tired when I saw the baby on the bottom of that boat. I didn't think I could hang on any longer."

Their boat suddenly flipped over, dumping Mrs. and Mrs. McCoy, their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry McCoy and the children Bonnie, five, and Dennis, 15 months, into deep water three quarters of a mile offshore.

"When I came out from under the boat I heard my husband yelling 'get the baby, get the baby,'" Mrs. William McCoy said. "The baby was about a foot under the water floating away from the boat. Our son got to her first and put him in his arms, but he was still going under every little wave. Finally we got him to the bottom of the boat."

When Mr. McCoy, Jr., 26, discovered his daughter Bonnie was still under the boat, he dived under and dragged her to the surface.

Bonnie had been asleep under the decking over the bow of the boat. "When I woke up I could just see the water and it was white," Bonnie said. "I wasn't afraid, I knew my daddy would come and get me."

For the grandparents it brought back tragic memories of another son, Ronnie, drowned at Ipperwash nine years ago, the day before his ninth birthday.

About 15 minutes later three other Londoners, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Rice and their son Douglas, 14, noticed the red bottom of the boat about a quarter of a mile away and went to investigate. Within seconds a boat from Forest arrived.

New Zealand House Is Told China Should Get UN Seat

AUCKLAND, N. Z. (AP)—External Affairs Minister Clifton Webb said Monday that Communist China should be admitted to the United Nations in an "endeavor to drive a diplomatic wedge between Russia and Red China."

Webb told the House of Representatives that he felt previously that China should not be admitted to the UN until it would "work its way into the family of nations of the free world." He said as a result of Chou En-lai's actions over Indo-China and Korea he had come to deny them entry.

"China is a great nation, a force to be reckoned with in world affairs," he said during a foreign affairs debate in the House.

"Together with Russia, the two countries occupy an enormous slice of territory and have nearly half of the world's population.

"We must look at our country in the fight against communism and see it is in the right direction. We should endeavor to drive a diplomatic wedge between Russia and Red China and the first step would be admission to the United Nations."

He said it could not be seriously argued that the Chinese Nationalists on Formosa speak for the 500,000,000 people on the mainland.

The formation of a South East Asian alliance is essential, Webb said. New Zealand and Australia could help to bring this about, but there must be conferences between Britain and America "upon whom our security so much depends."

Wife of Fugitive Red Diplomat Worked as Spy in Australia

MELBOURNE, Australia (Reuters)—Mrs. Evdokia Petrov, wife of fugitive Russian diplomat Vladimir Petrov, said today she learned of a secret Soviet spy ring a week as a veteran Soviet spy in Australia.

She told the government commission on espionage that she worked as MVD agent for Soviet captain under her husband, who was former MVD secretary and MVD chief at the Soviet embassy in Canberra. One of her jobs was to size up Australian political parties, who would make likely agents.

Attractive, blonde Mrs. Petrov —the daughter of a secret police official—said she was ordered a week before he "kicked bottom" and realized they were in shallow water. The men, all from Niagara Falls, were taken to hospital.

Bell and Edward St. Pierneskr, also 23, struck bottom at a point where the water was only knee deep. Bernard W. Irish, 27, who was submerged up to his shoulders, was pulled to safety by a piece of a rock to keep from being carried downstream to the falls.

Convict Jumps To Death From Guard Tower

BURNABY, B.C. (CP) — Elmer Ranta, 46-year-old Toronto man, jumped to his death from a guard tower at Oakalla prison farm here Monday.

Warden Hugh Christie said scores of prisoners and officers watched Ranta set up a prison guard crawled out on the two-foot ledge and tried to reason with the prisoner before he plunged 50 feet to his death.

As he leaped, four other guards were rushing to the steps with a blanket but their quick responsibility fell.

Ranta had been in the prison hospital in the tower awaiting psychiatric examination.

CHATHAM (CP) — Echeard Cole, 18, rescued from Lake Erie Sunday in a small outboard which capsized near Erie beach, is being held here by Ontario provincial police for immigration officials chairman, Windsor.

He was pulled from the water by Jean Forley of Grosse Point, Mich., and Miss N. White of Detroit after the sail on the boat broke and the boat capsized about two miles off shore from Erie beach, 25 miles southeast of Chatham.

Police said the sailboat has been identified as one belonging to Rondeau provincial park since Sunday.

REAPPRAISAL OF U.S. FOREIGN POLICY CONTINUES

U.N. Membership For Red China Issue

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is beginning a reappraisal of its foreign policy which may prove to be much more "agonizing" than State Secretary Dulles foresaw.

Dulles was talking only about a packaging of U. S. policies in Europe when he served notice on France that the United States might undertake an "agonizing reappraisal." He now heads Republican leader William Knowland of California has raised a far more sweeping issue over the possibility of United Nations membership for Red China.

The issue essentially is: At what point in its efforts to get along with Allies should the United States decide the struggle is not worth the result, and strike out on its own?

What Knowland has proposed is that U.S. delegates to the United Nations override America's objections and bring Red China in, the United States should walk out.

While some members of Congress in the American and British zones, including powers to raise a defence army.

2. Abandon the U.S. - British-French high commissioners in Germany and American and British embassies.

Such action would leave the French zone, in southwest Germany, the only occupation zone without federal republic and would put the French under acute German pressure to fall in line.

ORDERED LAST WEEK

The drafting of plans here was ordered by President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Churchill at their meeting in Washington last week. They agreed then that West Germany should be given "its place as an equal partner in the community of Western nations."

The French were not invited to take part in the talks here, but the admission of France from joint Allied planning on Germany dates to the war. A British foreign office spokesman said France has been informed in advance of the U.S. political conference and "no doubt" would be advised of its results.

Military Men Of Four Nations Commence Talks

SINGAPORE (Reuters) — Military officers from the United States, Britain, France and Australia met in Singapore today here on a defence against Communist expansion in southeast Asia.

The secret talks are expected to last a week and are a direct action of the "five-power staff agency" discussions started in Washington last year.

The office of Malcolm MacDonald, British commissioner-general in southeast Asia, has said the talks are "routine" and not connected with the Geneva conference discussions on an Indo-China settlement.

It was reported that plans for allied action in the event of Communist attack on Hong Kong or a Vietminh push across the border into Thailand would also be considered by the conference.

WATCH BUFFERS

WASHINGTON (AP)—American defence officials are standing by Representative Judd (R-Minn) in the face of a major storm of discussion when the Interprovincial Farm Union Council meets here July 20-21. The council, comprising representatives of Ontario and the prairie provinces, will hear a panel discussion on the question: "Can livestock producers control their own marketing?"

Mr. Legate estimated the community could be moved for about $1,700,000 of which he said about $1,000,000 could be obtained through direct grants from provincial and federal governments.

He said if Bluewater stays where it is installation of a $750,000 sewage system is a necessity.

Representatives of Bluewater's 500 families will be called to a general meeting July 19 to vote on the re-location.

U.S., U.K. Ready To Give Germany Full Sovereignty

France Put on Spot With Respect to EDC

BY ARTHUR GAVSHON

LONDON (AP) — The United States and Britain pushed ahead today with plans to give West Germany almost full sovereignty, including rearmament powers—in their two occupation zones if France does not ratify the European army plan.

Political and legal experts of the two allied nations opened meetings at the foreign office Monday in London with a program of joint British action to be launched if the European defence community is not set up soon.

PROPOSALS STUDIED

The conferences here are expected to conclude before the end of this week. Under study are proposals:

1. Give the West Germans' government almost complete independence in the American and British zones, including powers to raise a defence army.

2. Abandon the U.S. - British-French high commissioners in Germany and American and British embassies.

Such action would leave the French zone, in southwest Germany, the only occupation zone without federal republic and would put the French under acute German pressure to fall in line.

ORDERED LAST WEEK

The drafting of plans here was ordered by President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Churchill at their meeting in Washington last week. They agreed then that West Germany should be given "its place as an equal partner in the community of Western nations."

The French were not invited to take part in the talks here, but the admission of France from joint Allied planning on Germany dates to the war. A British foreign office spokesman said France has been informed in advance of the U.S. political conference and "no doubt" would be advised of its results.

PRINCIPLE OF POLICY

The United States for a decade has been building on the principle of collective defense against aggression, that is, building up the forces of the United Nations grew out of the idea that if everybody joined in a friendly pooling system no nation would dare attack.

Russia joined the UN briefly here with its expansion in Eastern Europe and its ready use of the veto. The United States then took on regional defence systems authorized by the UN charter.

The whole purpose of U. S. postwar diplomacy has been to work out friendly pooling systems for collective defense of security through collective defense of security through collective defense.

In the last year the process has become increasingly difficult. Russia has signed only one European defence treaty which was with the Red German independent and rearm it. It was to prod the French into action that the Eisenhower - Churchill meeting was originated.

DANGER BECOMING ACUTE

The great impending danger of a break with Britain over China is becoming more acute daily. This, coupled with the probability that France will recognize the Chinese Reds and admit them to China peace deal, has forced the issue of China's membership to the fore again.

There is great opposition in the United States, particularly in the Congress to letting Communist China into the United Nations and Britain seems willing to go along as far as it can be pinned down, is that the United States should stick to its guns. That is unlikely to ever happens.

It is believed posed the issue whether Red China policy may not mark the breaking point with the United States—perhaps even in connection with Dulles' restudy of policies in Asia. Some state department officials have been quietly at work for some time, however, on the whole question of what basic U. S. foreign policy should be in the Far East.

PARMERS TO MEET

WINNIPEG (CP) — Producer-controller livestock marketing boards will again be the subject of discussion when the Interprovincial Farm Union Council meets here July 20-21. The council, comprising representatives of Ontario and the prairie provinces, will hear a panel discussion on the question: "Can livestock producers control their own marketing?"

Will Cost $700,000 to Move Village Or $750,000 to Construct Sewers

SARNIA (CP)—If the people of Bluewater want their community moved wholesale from the industrial south end of Sarnia into the residential east side it can be done, planning director John Legate told community leaders Monday night.

The Village is located in the middle of Sarnia's "chemical valley" and its inhabitants claim the area is unsuitable for residential use.

Plan Concert To Rescue Seal From Inner Tube

HUGH TOWN, Scilly Isles (CP): Things will get worse before they get better for Sammy the seal.

A child's inner tube jammed around his neck has played gob with Sammy's customary diving for fish for the last week, but the seal has still been agile enough to dodge helpful fishermen who tried to catch him in their net and remove the obstacle.

So a four-piece orchestra—two trumpets, a flute and a concertina will perform in Sammy's St. Mary's harbor haunts, hoping to attract the curiosity long enough for his rescuers to grab him.

Inspector Jim Greenaigh of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals dreamed up the concert. As kicker, he planned to send pretty Moyra James along as concertina player.

"Seals are said to be attracted by music," he said. "We're taking a pretty girl, so she will be sure to be attracted by a pretty face."

Municipalities To Receive Eleven Million in Grants

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario municipalities will benefit to the extent of $11,000,000 in provincial grants this year.

The unconditional grant system, authorized at the 1953 session of the Ontario legislature, goes into effect this year.

The grants are based on population with per capita grants running as high as $4. Static for the cities by municipal affairs department was the 1951 census and population changes certified since by municipalities.

The new grants, totalling $11,306,-121, replace the former flex, police and guaranteed one-mill grants made for the provincial police force. They represent an increase of more than $6,000,000 over payments made in 1953.

Townships will make the greatest gains, with the grants increased by 265 per cent to more than $3,800,000. Cities will have their grants increased by 83 per cent to more than $8,000,000; to towns, 60 per cent to more than $1,000,000; to villages, 59 per cent to about $315,000.

Six Dragged from Lake Huron, Boat Upsets in Choppy Waters

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Two London families—including a baby in arms and a six-year-old girl who was trapped asleep under the deck of an overturned boat—are alive today though they scarcely know why.

The six were dragged from Lake Huron Sunday by three boats off Ipperwash after they spent "an eternity" battling the choppy waters to save the lives of their children and grandchildren.

Mrs. William Bonnie said: "My arms were getting so tired holding the baby on the bottom of that boat, I didn't think I could hang on any longer."

Their boat suddenly flipped over, dumping Mr. and Mrs. McCoy, their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry McCoy and the children Bonnie, five, and baby Susan, 18 months, into the choppy waters 200 yards off shore.

Mrs. Bonnie managed to get under the boat I heard my husband yelling 'get the baby'," Mrs. William McCoy said. "The baby was about a foot under the water floating away from the boat. Our son got to him first and got him in his arms. Then he got Bonnie and got her every little wave. Finally we got him to the bottom of the boat."

When Mr. McCoy, 47, 26, discovered his daughter Bonnie was still in the dashing over the bow of the boat. "When I woke up I could just see the water. All I was white," Bonnie said. "I wasn't afraid, I knew my daddy would come and get me."

For the grandparents it brought back tragic memories of another son, Ronnie, downed at Ipperwash nine years ago, the day before his ninth birthday.

About 15 minutes later three other fishermen, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Rice and their son Douglas, noticed the red bottom of the boat. It was a quarter of a mile away and went to investigate. Within seconds a boat from Forest and another boat arrived.

New Zealand House Is Told China Should Get UN Seat

AUCKLAND, N. Z. (AP)—External Affairs Minister Clifton Webb said Monday that Communist China should be admitted to the United Nations in an "endeavor to find a diplomatic wedge between Russia and Red China."

Webb told the House of Representatives that he felt previously that China should not be admitted to the UN until it had proved by its way back into the good graces of the free world." He said it as a result of Chou En-lai's actions over Indo-China now "it would be hard to deny them entry."

"China is a great nation, a force to be reckoned with in world affairs," he said during a foreign affairs debate in the House.

"Together with Russia, the two countries occupy an enormous slice of territory and have nearly half of the world's population.

"We must look at our policy in the fight against communism and be sure we are right direction. We should endeavor to drive a diplomatic wedge between Russia and China and the first step would be its admission to the United Nations."

He said it could not be seriously argued that the Chinese Nationalists at Formosa speak for the 500,000,000 people on the mainland. The Nationalists have "no hope."

Asian alliance is extremely urgent, he said. New Zealand and Australia must help to bring this about and also reconcile differences between Britain and America "upon whom our security so much depends."

Wife of Fugitive Red Diplomat Worked as Spy in Australia

MELBOURNE, Australia (Reuters)—Mrs. Evdokia Petrov, 40, wife of fugitive Russian diplomat Vladimir Petrov, said today she earned £72 Australian (£162) a week as a secretary-typist in Australia.

She told the government commission of espionage that she worked as an MVD secret police informer for her husband, who was former third secretary and MVD chief at the Soviet Embassy in Canberra. One of her jobs was to size up guests at embassy parties, with a view to recruiting agents.

Attractive, blonde Mrs. Petrov —the daughter of a secret police official—had emerged from behind the curtain for her husband and expose a Soviet spy ring in Australia.

Vladimir Petrov touched off the current probe when he broke from Russia and secured political asylum in this country April 2. His wife joined him in exile two months later.

Before she entered the witness box, he concluded five days of testimony during which he said that MVD headquarters in Moscow had ordered him in June, 1952, to establish a fifth column, ready to work in event of war. He was also advised to recruit agents by influx of "illegal workers," or espionage agents.

Speaking confidently in a light, clear voice, she told the commission that she was born in 1914. Her father was in the NKVD (which preceded the MVD) and before and after her marriage she was employed by the MVD under the code name of Tamara. She married Vladimir Petrov in 1940.

Mrs. Petrov said Vladimir was her second husband. Her first marriage in 1936 was to a man named Krivosh, an MVD worker who was purged in 1937 and sent to a labor camp.

Her brother was also sent to a labor camp in 1941, she said.

She told the commission she holds the rank of Red Star Major in wartime services and, apart from Russian, speaks Japanese, Swedi and English.

Her monthly salary was £104 (£234) before taxation. She was also paid to her in cash. But another 1,750 rubles "about $440 was sent by her husband's account in Moscow. She said she had about 30,000 rubles in a Moscow savings bank. She thought she could get this money if she wrote to her husband in exile.

Petrov himself testified his salary at the beginning of 1954 was about £1,000 (£2,250) a year a month. Justice Owen, the commission chairman, pursed his lips and said: "I must say, the salaries are surprising to me."

Petrov gave statistics about her income. Mrs. Petrov was asked by the chairman: "How much is your husband's would cost in Moscow?"

"It is difficult to estimate because I never had one there," she said.

Convict Jumps To Death From Guard Tower

BURNABY, B.C. (CP) — Elmer Rants, 46-year-old Toronto man, jumped to his death from a guard tower at Oakalla prison farm here Monday.

Warden Hugh Carlisle said scores of prisoners and officers watched silently as a prison guard crawled out on the two-foot ledge and tried to reason with the prisoner before he plunged 50 feet to his death.

As he leaped, four other guards were rushing up the steps with a blanket in an attempt to break his fall.

Rants had been in the prison hospital in the tower awaiting psychiatric examination.

REAPPRAISAL OF U.S. FOREIGN POLICY CONTINUES

U.N. Membership For Red China Issue

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is beginning a reappraisal of its foreign policy which may make it be much more "agonizing" than State Secretary Dulles foresaw.

Dulles was talking only about a reshaping of U. S. policies in Europe when he served notice on France that the United States might undertake the "agonizing reappraisal." But now Senate Republican leader Knowland of California has raised a far more sweeping issue over the possibility of United States membership in Red China.

The issue essentially is: At what point in its efforts to get along with Allies should the United States decide the struggle is not worth the result, and strike out on its own?

What Knowland has proposed is that if United Nations members in terrible disagreements and bring Red China in, the United States should quit.

While some members of Congress have aligned themselves with Knowland, others have indicated that U. S. policy toward China should not be affected by whether or not it is from the UN would be a grave error.

FRENCH LACK OF POLICY

The United States for a decade has built its policy on the principle of collective defence against aggression. Its leadership is organizing the United Nations grew out of the idea that if everybody joined in a world-wide policing system no nation would dare attack.

Russia rendered the UN ineffective with its veto power in Eastern Europe and its ready use of the veto. The United States fell back on regional defence systems authorized by the UN charter.

The whole purpose of U. S. postwar diplomacy has been to work with friendly powers in expectation of getting enough strength for collective strength.

In the last year the process has become increasingly difficult. France has delayed action on a European army plan without which it would make West Germany independent. Premier Mendes-France has avoided the French into action that Dulles spoke of a possible agonizing reappraisal.

DANGER BECOMING ACUTE

Now the long impending danger that Britain and France will make is becoming much more acute. This, coupled with Premier Nehru's threat that France will recognize the Chinese Reds as part of an Indo-China settlement, has raised the issue of China's membership to the fore again.

There is great opposition in the Eisenhower administration and in Congress to the British policy toward China into the UN. The question thus arises: Is there a point the United States do about it if Allied nations force it anyway?

The present answer is that question in the state department, so far as it is known, Chinese Reds in the United States should stick with the UN and its Allies whatever happens.

But Knowland posed the issue when he said Monday he may not go mark the breaking point with the Allied governments. Taken in conjunction with Dulles' threat to reappraise U. S. policy for some time, this raises a fundamental question that Knowland is a far policy should be like in the future.

U.S., U.K. Ready To Give Germany Full Sovereignty

France Put on Spot With Respect to EDC

BY ARTHUR GAVSHON

LONDON -(AP) — The United States and Britain pushed ahead today with plans to give West Germany almost full sovereignty—including rearmament powers—in their two occupation zones if France does not ratify the European army plan.

Political and legal experts of the two allied nations opened meetings at the foreign office Monday to draft a program of joint U.S.-British action to be launched if the European defence community is not set up soon.

PROPOSALS STUDIED

The conferences here are expected to conclude before the end of next week. Under study are proposals to:

Give the West German government almost complete independence in the American and British zones, including powers to raise a defence army.

Abandon the U. S. - British-French high commission in Bonn and set up American and British embassies.

Such action would leave the French zone of occupied Germany, the sole occupied territory in the federal republic of Konrad Adenauer's French under acute German pressure to get out.

ORDERED LAST WEEK

The drafting of plans here was ordered by President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Churchill at their meeting in Washington last week. They agreed then that West Germany should be given "its full place as an equal partner in the community of Western nation."

The French were not invited to take part in the talks here, the first such omission of France from a joint allied planning session since the war. A British foreign office spokesman said France has been informed in advance of the U.S.-British conference and "no doubt" would be advised of its results.

Military Men Of Four Nations Commence Talks

SINGAPORE (Reuters) — Military officers from the United States, Britain, France and Australia today began discussions on the defence problems of Communist expansion in southeast Asia.

The secret talks are expected to last a week and are a continuation of the "working party agency" discussions started in Honolulu early last year.

Air Marshal Malcolm MacDonald, British commissioner-general in southeast Asia, said the new talks are "routine" and not connected with the Geneva conference on restoring peace in Indo - China cease-fire.

It was reported that plans for allied action in the event of a Communist attack on South Korea or a Communist push across the Mekong river into Thailand would be considered at the conference.

WATCH SUPPLIES

WASHINGTON (AP)—American defence officials are standing astride the pipeline of military supplies to Europe, ready to shut the valve if French resistance collapses. All current weapons shipments are being scrutinized carefully, too, to reduce the chance of equipment falling into the hands of the advancing Red Vietminh forces.

Plan Concert To Rescue Seal From Inner Tube

HUGH TOWN, Scilly Isles (CP) — Things will get worse before they get better for Sammy the seal.

A child's inner tube jammed around his neck has played hob with Sammy's customary diving for fish lovers to grab him.

Inspector Jim Greenaigh of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals dreamed up the concert. As kicker, he planned to send pretty Moyra James along as concertina player.

"Seals are said to be attracted by music," he said. "And Moyra's a pretty girl with us in case they are attracted by a pretty face."

Municipalities To Receive Eleven Million in Grants

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario municipalities will receive more than $11,000,000 in provincial grants this month.

The unconditional grant system, authorized at the 1953 session of the Ontario legislature, goes into effect this year.

The grants are based on population at $2 per person, plus grants ranging as high as $4. Basis for the grants by the municipal affairs department is the 1951 census and population changes certified since by municipalities.

The new grants, totalling $11,306,-151, replace the former fire, police and gasoline tax grants. Grants made, by the province since 1949, by the department, a total of more than $6,000,000 over payments made in 1953.

Townships will make the greatest gains, with total grants increased by 67 per cent to more than $3,600,000. Grants to cities have been increased by 26 per cent and to towns, $6,000,000; to towns, 47 per cent to more than $1,250,-000; and villages, 59 per cent to about $375,000.

New President Of Rotary Club Gives Report

Fred Adsett, new president of Belleville Rotary Club, started off his term of office yesterday by reporting to the club's weekly luncheon meeting, on the 1954 annual convention of Rotary International, held at Seattle, last month.

Mr. Adsett, as Belleville representative, was among nearly 5,700 Rotarians from 53 countries of the free world, who thronged Seattle's Civic Auditorium during June 6-10 for a busy round of speechmaking, official installations, and working on club legislation.

Prominent among the speakers was U.S. Secretary of State, John Foster Dulles, who spoke on the difficulties in international co-operation.

Well received was an address by Canadian newspaperman Bruce Hutchinson. One criticism of his, reported Mr. Adsett, was that Canadians had more confidence in their administration than the Americans themselves.

Delegates were urged to do more for young people by giving them the Rotarian point of view on life, Mr. Adsett said.

In all, there are 89 countries in Rotary International and next year the convention will be held at the 50th anniversary. Elected president at the convention was Chicago businessman Herbert J. Taylor, succeeding Joaquin Sibila of Monte video.

The next convention is scheduled for Chicago.

At yesterday's meeting announcement was made of the Line-Service Club Golf Field Day, scheduled for the Bay of Quinte Golf Club, July 7, with members of the Kiwanis, Lions, Kinsmen, Rotary and Y's Men Clubs competing for the match trophy, the Murray Davis Cup.

The only other Canadian competitor, Lieut. Bill Hall of Camp Borden, was outside the first three with a score of 162.

The Bisley meet starts next Monday.

Six Little Stinkers Have Not a Scent to Their Names

Six little stinkers haven't a scent to their names today.

The whole story might be called the tale of a tail.

The story began last Thursday afternoon, when Mrs. Walter Allen, Foxboro, was startled to noticed five baby skunks cavorting in the sunlight in her backyard. When their play took them near skunks retreated to their home under the wooden floor of a barn at the rear of the Kokesh property which is owned by Bernard T. Bennett Jr., 208 Bunker East.

On Saturday, with children playing in the backyard and the skunks anxious to join the party Mr. Kokesh decided to put an end to the nuisance. He called pound keeper, Charles Thorne.

Mr. Thorne was a eager to purchase a half dozen skunks as anybody and promptly inspected Clyde Elliott, of Canada Elliott Ltd. Mr. Elliott, whose hobby is raising skunks and influencing people to take the deodorized models into their homes for pets, didn't need any big business suit in answering the summons.

With Mr. McLaughlin in front, and Mr. Thorne two paces to the rear and Mr. Kokesh well out of the line of possible fire, the hunters entered the Bennett barn. The skunks were under the barn. The problem of getting them out seemed elementary so Mr. Thorne proceeded to take up the floor.

After uncovering four or five skunks more or less, Thorne discovered the baby skunks in a nest. Mr. Elliott bagged the 5 in WO2 Les Mason and Mrs. Mason married Mrs. Frank Belsey; ladies' ball throwing, Cecilia Tessis; men's ball throwing, Roland Weaver.

A convincing 26-13 victory for Cord Schaffer's "Associates" over Jack Murphy's "Associates" in the feature softball game brought the afternoon's sports events to a close.

Mess president WO2 G. E. Scott said tribute to the committee of Sgt. Gord Carter, Sgt. Bill Bennett and WO2 Howard Kokesh, and for a fine job of organizational work. Other committees were S/Sgt. Frank Belsey, Sergt. Frank Butler, WO Walter Lavery and the piano caterers Bobby Brown and Jack Cook.

Truck Driver Trapped 3 Hours After Accident

KINGSTON (CP)—Trapped in his wrecked transport cruiser for three hours early today a Toronto driver watched and prayed as workers sawed, hacked and dripped gasoline and fumes which stopped until rescue men arrived.

The driver, Len Brillinger, had both legs crushed beneath the dash board as his transport collided with a second truck on a narrow highway bridge on No. 2 highway near here.

Neither John William Burman of Belleville, driver of the second vehicle, nor Roland Martin of Toronto, a passenger with Brillinger, were hurt.

The crash threw the cabs of both trucks off the high rails of the bridge. John Thompson of Collins Bay, Kingston, said both trucks approached at a high rate of speed.

Rescue workers dared not use acetylene torches because of the dripping gasoline. But shortly after 7 a.m., Brillinger was freed and taken to hospital here.

U.S. Boy Drowns North of Ottawa

GRACEFIELD, Que. (CP)—Richard Davies, 17, of Philadelphia slipped from his father's grasp and drowned in Lake Dasserat, Wednesday afternoon after their outboard motor caught fire.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Willard Davies and their son arrived on vacation in the lake resort area only about 65 miles north of Ottawa earlier Monday.

The three of them jumped overboard as flames spread to the boat and started to swim toward an island about 150 feet away. When Richard, only a strong swimmer, faltered, his father tried to hold him up, but he slipped from his father's hands and disappeared.

Churches Form Group for Boys

TORONTO (CP)—A new church organization for boys 12-14 formed through co-operation of the Canadian Protestant denominations will be introduced next fall, the United Church of Canada announced today.

The group is to be known as Sigma-C. It results from three years study and research by the Baptist Federation of Canada, the Churches of Christ (Disciples), the Presbyterian Church in Canada and the United Church.

The program will combine individual initiative and responsibility with the experience of working together with other boys in their own group, the United Church said.

Arrest Chinese Business Man In Theft Case

NEW YORK (AP)—A Chinese business man was arrested here today in connection with the alleged theft of $810,000 in Chinese Nationalist funds.

The man, identified by Nationalist officials as Ku Chih Chang, 48, was said to have received the funds from former Nationalist Gen. Fang Tzu Mow, who fled to Mexico in 1951.

The general was accused of embezzling some $6,000,000 in Nationalist funds while in charge of the Chinese Republic's air force office in Washington. A charge against Chang was quoted as saying the Nationalist government owed him more than $1,000,000 for property it had confiscated from him in China.

Gen. Mow now is in prison in Mexico awaiting the outcome of extradition proceedings to return him to Formosa to face embezzlement charges.

Assiniboine Bursts Dike At Brandon

BRANDON (CP) — The Assiniboine river, swollen by a torrential downpour overnight burst through one dike here today and threatened another, at least 12 hours before the river's crest was expected to reach Brandon.

Shortly after midnight, the flood waters ripped a 200-foot wide gap in the dike and poured into low-lying market gardens here.

Civic officials said they expect the flood crest to reach Brandon after mid-day, boosting the river level another one or 1½ feet. Dikes were reported severely strained, and indications were that the flood crest would rise through or near them. Last reported level of the Assiniboine was 19 feet, 10 inches above normal—2½ feet above minimum flood level.

The heavy downpour overnight turned roads leading to the dikes into quagmires. Skeleton crews worked through the night to bolster the weakening flood defence system.

Officials said the main part of the city is sufficiently high to escape flooding.

WAIT EXILE FOR TRIAL

The uranium gains went to companies in the Blind River area of northern Ontario, following announcement that the Canadian government will buy uranium from them.

In the rest of the market industrials were strongest with an increase of almost three-quarters of a point.

Senior base metals were ahead except for Noranda. Juniors were steady with small price changes.

Western oil gains balanced losses and golds were slightly ahead in all groups but holding companies. Manitouwadge and Bathurst stocks were weak.

First-hour volume was 620,000 shares—heaviest in more than a month.

Windsor Woman Killed, Ten Hurt In Chatham Crash

CHATHAM (CP)—Mrs. Harvey Hathaway, about 40, of Detroit was killed and 10 others injured in a four-car crash on No. 2 highway about three miles west of here Monday.

Admitted to hospital were her husband, 60, Mrs. Gertrude Lewis, about 40, of Detroit, and Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Darryle, both 40, of Calgary, Alta. Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. Darryle were reported in serious condition.

Six others were treated at hospital and released.

Witnesses said the Hathaway car was following a west-bound transport-truck and pulled out of the line of traffic. It collided with an east-bound car driven by Miss Doris Vincent, 20, of Windsor. The Hathaway car then crashed headon with the Darryle car and another car smashed into the wreckage of the Darryle car.

Twelve Canadian Soldiers Charged With Army Thefts

TOKYO (Reuters)—Four Canadian soldiers serving in Japan have been court-martialed and given sentences ranging from severe reprimands to 12 months imprisonment for stealing army clothing and equipment—but the Canadian Army is withholding their names "until next-of-kin have been informed."

Eight other Canadians, also members of the Royal Canadian Ordinance Corps and arrested on similar counts, still have to be tried.

Court martial of the four soldiers sentenced, who were alleged to have disposed of the stolen clothes and equipment on the black market through Japanese agents, was convened last Saturday, but no information was released to correspondents until today.

Capt. Eric Luxton, press liaison officer for the Canadian military mission in Japan, declined to release the names of the four men on grounds "strict secrecy" had not been notified.

Luxton said the names of Canadian men among the 18 accused are: Sgt. M. P. Lamb, Ottawa; Sgt. O. L. Cooke, London, Ont.; Cpl. L. Irish, Ottawa and L.Cpl. M. J. Parfitt, Kewatin.

A spokesman for the British Commonwealth forces here said June 28 that court-martial charges had been laid against 11 Canadians, two Australians and one Canadian soldier for theft of army stores. The 12th Canadian was charged after that announcement.

Gunfight Rages After Policeman Stops Fireworks

NEW YORK (AP)—Three men objected Monday when a policeman stopped their cars and a shooting off firecrackers, and a wild battle of bullets and beer bottles resulted. Fifteen shots were exchanged in an eight-minute flurry.

Wilis were chipped and automobiles were gashed. Some 2,000 persons were attracted to the scene, but only one was injured. Police said he was the man who started the shooting with the first glass.

While patrolman William Linder was questioning the youths about the firecrackers (illegal in the city) three men drove up in an automobile and one shouted: "Why don't you mind your business and leave these boys alone?"

Linder said when he identified himself the spokesman emerged with a beer bottle, smashed it on the police car, and lunged at him with the jagged glass.

OPEN FIRE

The officer ducked away and drew his revolver. The attacker also produced a pistol and the two started shooting at each other from behind automobiles.

Another man in the automobile opened fire. Beer bottles were hurled at the officer from windows of nearby buildings.

Linder said that when the man who had started the argument, later identified as Austin Alleyn, 30, made a dash for a nearby house, he fired and struck Alleyn in the groin.

Police reinforcements arrived and all three were arrested.

Alleyn and his companions, identified as Oliver Swindell, 30, and James Eckston, 20, were charged with felonious assault and illegal possession of weapons.

Russians Veto Firemen's Visit

NEW YORK (AP) — A verbal alarm sent two fire companies to the headquarters of the Russian delegation to the United Nations late Monday night but firemen ran into a veto—they weren't permitted to enter.

The Russians said there wasn't any fire.

Fire headquarters surmised later that someone had burned inside the building, possibly in an incinerator, causing smoke and showers of sparks to fly from the chimney.

A woman ran into the fire station and said she had seen sparks —and possibly flames coming from the roof of the building at 68th St. and Park Ave.

An engine company and a hook-and-ladder responded to the alarm. After being ignored for half hour, they returned to their stations.

Times Deplores Proposal Made By Sen. Knowland

LONDON (AP) — The Times strongly deplored today a proposal by Senator William Knowland (Rep. Calif.) to cut off U.S. financial support if Red China is admitted to membership.

"On the whole, British opinion looks at the problem of Peiping's admission to the United Nations as one of fact, not of morals," the Times said editorially.

"Recognition of one government by another is usually seen here as part of the mechanism of diplomacy, and not as a gesture of approval. In the same way the United Nations is regarded as a forum for the peaceful settlement of disputes, not as a club of kindred spirits.

"This is not the same as urging that the admission of Communist China to the United Nations should be immediate. But one of the American arguments against immediate admission are strongly based. The continuance of Chiang's refuge to Vietminh has inevitably held up consideration of Peiping's candidature."

Army Negotiates For Release Of Seven Soldiers

NURNBERG, Germany (Reuters)—German border police said today a Czech army officer has informed them that Czech authorities are holding seven United States soldiers until three Czechs are returned from West Germany. The seven American servicemen have been missing from their units in Germany since Sunday.

The police said the three Czechs fled across the border near Waldeck, northeast of here, on Friday.

The Czech officer said one of the three is wanted on a murder charge, the German police added.

A United States army spokesman at Heidelberg said earlier that the army is negotiating for the release of the seven soldiers.

The spokesman said a rumor that two of the men had asked for political asylum in Czechoslovakia is "highly improbable."

An army spokesman at Heidelberg said he had no knowledge that the United States army was holding three Czechs.

He said even if the report were true the army would "rule out the question of trading."

Heavy 'Quake' Shakes Barren Nevada Desert

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — A "very strong" earthquake which would have caused widespread damage if it originated area shook the barren northwest Nevada desert early today.

It was centred near Fallon, Nev., where it toppled chimneys and cut off power.

No other damage was reported. Don Tocher, assistant seismologist at the University of California here, said the quake had a Richter magnitude of from 6¾ to 7. It was the biggest shock in this area since the Tehachapi-Bakersfield earthquake in July, 1952.

The 1906 San Francisco quake was 8.25 on the Richter scale.

Today's shock was felt as far west as the San Francisco-Oakland area.

Astronomers Puzzled

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese astronomers were puzzled Monday over the disappearance of a "lake" on the planet Mars, now making one of its rare close approaches to the earth.

Trueno Saeki, a leading Japanese authority on Mars, said observations made Thursday and Saturday nights from the Osaka electrical science hall failed to disclose th landmark.

It was clearly visible in 1939 under similar conditions, Saeki said.

Turns Down Request

WINNIPEG (CP) — A Winnipeg magistrate turned down a request Monday that he order a wayward youth to go to church.

"You cannot legislate for a person's morals by making him go to church," said magistrate D. G. Potter in suspending sentence for three years on Alfred Ross Brown, 18, who stole a calf and $3.30 worth of gasoline.

Defence counsel asked that church going be made a condition of the suspended term.

AN EXCELLENT BEGINNING

Australia's immigration laws bar Asians.

But a breach has been made in this barrier.

While Asians cannot take up permanent residence in that land, there are now 3,000 or more students from Asiatic lands studying in Australia.

These students have been favorably impressed. Albert E. Norman, Australasian news chief for the Christian Science Monitor, quotes a letter by one Australian woman who gave part-board to three Asian students studying in Australia under the Colombo Plan for technical assistance to Asian nations. She found them of excellent character, intelligence and sensibility, and quite likeable.

Australians have also been serving in Indonesia, under a plan sponsored by the National Union of Australian University students and backed by the Australian Government. One of these Australians has enthusiastically reported that "from all I met, I received hospitality, courtesy and interest."

Here is an excellent beginning toward the growth of understanding and respect between white man and Asian in lands beneath the Southern Cross. It would be too much to expect that many Australians would join with the woman whose letter was quoted in advocating permitting Asians to settle in Australia, for it is natural and understandable that they would fear the changes in their way of life which any open door policy would produce. But here we have a start of a trend.

Time may do the rest, with science increasing the ability of Asiatic nations to provide the necessities of life for their peoples and a resultant decline in the birthrate which will reduce the pressure of surplus population. One of the most intensive results of research on population problems has been the development of the theory, apparently well substantiated by facts, that high birth rates are the result of, rather than the cause of, poverty and malnutrition. So the technical assistance envisaged by the Colombo Plan, and the co-operation which Australia is now providing by training Asian students and sending its graduates to offer their confidence in Asian lands, offer great hopes for an eventual solution of a troublesome problem.

STRANGE REVELATIONS

Vladimir Petrov, Australia's "Gouzenko," has been testifying before a royal commission.

Some of his statements are puzzling.

Item 1—Petrov says that a telegram accusing him of being a supporter of Lavrenti Beria reached the late Josef Stalin.

Since Beria was head of the Soviet secret police at that time, and since Petrov was the top secret police agent in Australia, we naturally think it necessary to "inform" Stalin that Petrov was a supporter of Beria?

Even if Stalin did not know this, why would anybody consider it a black mark against Petrov since Beria was then high in the favor of the Kremlin?

Item 2—Petrov told the commission that he had a feeling of loyalty towards Beria, but realized Beria was a traitor.

The word "realized" is in the past tense. How long ago did Petrov "realize" that Beria was a traitor? Was it at the time when Stalin received the telegram that Petrov was a supporter of Beria? If so, how did it happen that it took the other Communist leaders several months after Stalin's death to "realize" that Beria was a traitor? It is evident that the word as used at the time of the trial by the Communist sense of the word and what he is saying here is that Beria was guilty of those "crimes" of which Malenkov and Co. accused him—especially plotting with the Western powers to overthrow the Communist regime. How many of us are willing to accept that charge as true?

Just one more point. If Petrov was accused of being a Beria supporter when being a Beria supporter was no crime, why did Malenkov leave Petrov in charge of spying operations in Australia after Beria had been accused, "tried" and executed?

ARE WE "JAMMING" THE DUCK'S SIGNALS

There has been a lot of fuss and feathers, lately, about a statement in the RCAF publication "Roundel" which resulted in the incorrect inference being drawn that Canada's radar network was to blame for ducks flying into it.

Defence officials were quick to deny this report, but they virtually ignored a disturbing incident on which it was based.

It seems that a flock of geese landed near a radar station in the Far North, apparently much confused. Attendants at the radar station thought the radar waves might be disturbing them. Sure enough, when the station shut down at midnight, the geese got organized. Defence spokesmen hastened to explain that all stations close briefly for necessary overhaul, but that the network, as a whole, remains in continuous operation.

That should still fears about enemy bombers sneaking through the radar screen undetected in the small hours of the morning. But it offers no reassurance about the geese—and ducks and other migratory birds. Is man's radar "jamming" the birds' built-in direction-finding equipment? If it is, some very unpleasant results could develop, of which the end of duck-hunting, while a major tragedy to many, could easily prove of minor importance in the overall picture. Without our migratory birds, mankind in many sections of the world would face unusual and perhaps disastrous problems combatting insect pests.

CHILD INTERPRETER

A little girl begins to speak.
When she is scarcely two,
She has a mind, as all will find,
Much clearer than her tongue.
She chatters at the livelong day
From start unto the close
And what she's told her grandpa old
Only her mother knows.

The other day upon the porch
Our Uncle Hugh said he
I knew full well she'd news to tell,
For voluble was she.
"Ba-be, boo-boo," I'm sure she said,
And since I can't recall,
For scarce a word of what I heard
I understood at all.

The telephone her mother took
And daughing said to me:
"She told to you, her 'bookie' now
Has on its kittens three.
And one is brown and one is white,
The other one is gray."
"It's my dear, translation clear.

Bringing Back Breakfasts

(By John Gould in The Christian Science Monitor)

Something desperately needed in our time is a government subsidy of breakfast. It may even now be too late. People don't look upon the matutinal repast with the vigor and enthusiasm formerly displayed. The breakfast of champions, I am told, is a dish of cold cereal. I call red dark shavings, and great efforts have been expended to make that unattractive. The manufacturer has tried some generalizing over food, but it isn't getting in the direction I mean. I think breakfast may be doomed as a great national occasion.

As I understand it, the school lunch program, the 4-H movement, and perhaps some other concerted activities have tried to impress the masses with the importance of a sensible nourishment. I am not a student of such crusades and can't differentiate between what I believe "balance" has been the keyword. You must have fruit juices to curl your hair, proteins to expand your muscles, phosphorous to make you smart, and vitamins to enhance your ambitions. I believe there is a fine concept that will let you excel in sports and saw wood all day without fatigue. In the meantime people seem to be in a decline.

From what I can gather, the American breakfast has degenerated to a hurried noggin of orange juice and a piece of toast. There may be toast and jam, even, but not what we would call a meat-potatoes-and-vegetables meal. National habit tends toward morning abstinence, and the ancient seer is right until noontime. It is high time steps were taken.

Once a year in my community the Bearers of Cheer of the Eighth Concession put on an enormous May Breakfast, which is not operated on the rainy Caribbean style that festa are not uncommon hereabouts if anybody wanted to he could eat at a number of places, such as a hotel or restaurant. The Lions meet on Monday and Grant's Corners Sat. Sun., and there is something about every night. The causes range from public library to the Red Cross to downright fund-fattening for proposed altruism.

The basic soiree is minor. You get fine exercise wielding the table and a generous helping. Since the work is generally done as a donation and the supplies are donated, the net gain for the feeding organizations can set you down for a dollar-and-a-half or 50 cents, and you get the idea happy days are here again. But these are evening events.

The May Breakfast starts before daylight. The Bearers of Cheer and their ap'ns tucked under their arms start the preparations for the feast and get things started. The May Breakfast started a few years ago, but in those years it was mostly a private feast for the immediate clique. Had there been a fence for advertising, and before long the May Breakfast was a thing of the past. Folks came from town, but from towns quite distant, and the event had no interest for them.

Now the arriving breakfasters often must wait for places at tables and the rubbing of sleep from their eyes. It is an institution, an established May-day function.

I have noticed in years immediately past that the great many people who come to this breakfast are of the contented hogs, and gayly bandy the explanatory theme, "This is the only good breakfast I get all year." I have noticed this somewhat at this year's May Breakfast, and find it mostly so. The quality of run-of-the-mycar breakfasts in this community is not up to the level of the national average, and seems to be the reason why so many folks swallow and a bit or dry toast.

The people who admit to such breakfast deficiencies at the May Breakfast with sparkling eyes and malice aforethought. Their appetites have just barely strength enough to push through the first cup of coffee (a second cup of smoking bacon that greets them in the vestibule. They gasp, strike vocalizations reaching a seaside salt air, as if to restore their faith in humanity. The price this year was 50 cents for adults, and the tickets were going fast.

The May Breakfast is strictly a country affair. Its locale is exclusive. It is a real breakfast. You are not asked if you want an egg. You are asked how you want your eggs. It is assumed that you will start with at least two. With the meat and potatoes this goes very well. The kitchen is crowding with Bearers of Cheer, whose original name selection has no reference to the quality of food on Mayday.

The crackling of eggs sounds like the fall of rain on a tin sky, and the cry of pork fat is joyous. The smell of the coffee and the porridge being ladled into bowls, and the oven doors open and shut in rhythmical cadence as the muffins, corn bread, and rix rolls bide their allotted time. All about you are happy people who are eating the best breakfast of the year. That is obvious, people evident, and clear that here is mankind in a glorious gusto-filled moment. Breakfast! Here is the didactic opportunity to see a whole town catching up on its sleep.

I think our legislators need to take notice of this, and enact a good breakfast into a national emergency. We have bureaus and agencies for many less worthy projects. I have had feelings that our national diet is in less than hal. Politically nobody seems concerned that our people are drifting away from a solid, sound, fundamental morning meal. How much better our congressmen to concern themselves over breakfast than some of the things they do expound!

Whither are we trending? At the crossroads again? Somebody ought to do something about it. I am grateful to the Bearers of Cheer for their annual memorial. Icing of a vanishing institution at popular prices. I think they should be subsidized at a party price of at least 75 cents.

Guatemalan Mule Ride

(By Jack Spalding, in the Atlanta Constitution).

The tractor is driving the mule from the Georgia scene. This is a good thing for the mule, but it soon be a rarity, something to be preserved in the zoo.

I have a great respect for mules. For more than a year I lived on the ground with them. I have been a war of constant attrition, this mule and I, and victory went first to the mule.

It was in Guatemala, a land where wheels are scarce as they ever. They were used for all purposes on the banana plantation on the rainy Caribbean side of the country. There were no roads. The ground was soft and deep and full of holes. A horse would have broken his leg and his rider's neck in no time flat.

A mule, however, is sure footed, and has a sense as to what he will support him and what won't. They most have been bred to force a self-respecting mule anywhere the mule doesn't want to go. He knows better than to try it.

My job as timekeeper on a banana plantation kept me traveling the farm via mule to see that the help wasn't sleeping in the bushes. I soon found out that done in the big stock saddle, but mule tricks usually kept me awake.

My mule Satanas, was clever with his tricks. Whenever I got on an outsize gray, Missouri bred and back kept him in the lead.

The day officially began with Satanas trying to break away as I tried to mount. If I got aboard he would bite, he would cowkick at me, unprovoked. If I stayed on, out they are pretty faithful members of the communion with the mule.

The tongue, however, is a tricky little character, wayward, unpredictable, and the bane of the end of trouble by going often into action before we have time to think.

We can't even say ouch without our tongues. Try it. It will not. So independent is the tongue that, if we sit on a tack, before the brain has received the sad news, the tongue has already uttered its complaint.

If we could confine the tongue to emergencies like these it would not be so bad. But before we are out of infancy, the tongue is already assuming control. Not only does it speak before it thinks, but it says all sorts of things, the tongue is the most untamable member of the body.

Satanas was well named, for he had more than his share of the devil in his make-up. Before his life and trying to shove a train off the tracks while being frozen an earthquake, for he was not the kind of mule to die peaceably of old age in a quiet corral.

Beat Trustees As Tax Raised

(Winnipeg Free Press)

In Abakalniki, in Eastern Nigeria, where the pale hand of civilization has not yet reached the citizens of all their savage independence, the school board, or its Abakalkin counterpart, decided to increase the annual schooling fee $1.40 per year. The reaction was immediate and unfavorable. A delegation of citizens, armed with matchsticks, approached C. Ian Gavin, the senior district officer, and came to the point at once by backing him to pieces.

Those delegates, impervious, it would seem, to the notions of certain modern economists, entertained somewhat old-fashioned views on the subject of public finance. "Mr. Garvin", says the official report, "though severely jostled, managed to regain his motor transport, but the councillors, the court messenger and four policemen were captured, put in chains and beaten."

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

SERVANTS ALL

There is nothing so dignified as work—any kind of useful work. Even the so-called menial tasks are honorable, all to their own. We are servants all, to someone. So long as what we do is honest and useful, we are serving others. It is the welfare of our time. I don't like the word menial as applied to any service. There is no "servant type." We are all servants in a relative sense. We ought to search out and find our niche, where we can be most useful and happy. It is a waste of life to work at anything that does not give to one a personal satisfaction. At times we are thrown into such an acceptance, but it should only be temporary. "Happy is that one who has found his work," once wrote Elbert Hubbard.

So long as it is understood that we are all servants to someone, let us never lower the standard. Let us serve those upon whom we depend, as those do who depend upon them. The President of the United States is a servant, as is every ruler. Take all the good workers where we live and work. I never pass a single one at work but I do not secretly honor him, for he is serving me.

The creative work we cannot help to be happy, for he has before him the vision of creating the opportunity for another to work profitable work. No matter what our work may be, if it is useful and gives us personal satisfaction, we know that we are in large measure serving others at the same time.

I have worked at many different jobs, and from them all I learned something. I once sold type to publishers. At the time I saw nothing to be gained by it, but my book one day said to me: "You will never know too much about type." I have been in business nearly half a century and that early knowledge that I acquired about type has been invaluable to me. Knowledge, as well, is a servant to us!

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

O V D COMES SO ONE OR LATED.

There are no particular signs or symptoms by which physician or patient can recognize the early stage of cardiovascular degeneration — hardening of the arteries and / or thickening of the heart muscle — but one or more of the following signs may be present and should warrant a thorough physical examination if you are over middle-aged or health examination if you are past thirty:

Dr. Brady

1. You require longer hours of rest and you do not recuperate as quickly with rest as you formerly did.
2. You have digestive difficulties unknown in earlier years, especially a sense of fullness or bloating and of "gas".
3. You are becoming somewhat flabby if not overweight and disinclined to indulge in physical efforts or exercise you formerly enjoyed.
4. Your skin has grown shallow and harsh and dry; your eyes dull and often congested.
5. You become winded if you run even a few blocks.
6. You are easily fatigued by mental effort such as reading or writing for a short time, and you have grown forgetful of details of your work or of recent events.

Even if you have all of these "symptoms" and more it does not necessarily signify that there is hardening or thickening of the arteries and slow heart muscle failure will not always anyrody. After all, every one gets it if he or she lives long enough. So I think you should worry you just enough to make you do something about it, for if you do what we do or fail to do when we are thirty or forty determines whether we shall have cardiovascular degeneration sooner or later.

Unearth Toys 2,000 Years Old

(Montreal Daily Star)

We find very touching the story of a little boy buried under in Southern Italy uncovering, by chance, a row of children's tombs dating 2,000 years old in which the bones were found surrounded by the remains of little toys. One boy's grave contained a fine bronze breastplate, a gift, no doubt, from an elder. A girl's tomb revealed a tiny bronze mirror and a miniature vase. These were jointed, quite like modern dolls, so the owner could probably play the part of a bride to be dressed, just as little girls do today.

There is no great moral to be drawn about the discovery. The toys found in the tombs of children buried near Pacstum, south of Naples, by the city of Salerno, Italy, B.C. They followed Greek colonists on that coast, and, in dug course, were conquered by the overmastering Romans. But their habits of life were like to ours, their little boys liked to play at soldiers, and the little girls loved their dolls, which were buried with them by grieving parents, who wept as parents do today when a child dies, leaving a vacant chair. Children they took their playthings, and buried them with the children, so that they would not be all alone in their narrow graves.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

ONE WOMAN'S SECRET

When you feel discontented with your lot in life, do you shout a middle-aged woman in our community. Five years ago she and her family were in easy circumstances. Then suddenly her husband was struck by a paralysis that left him a hopeless invalid for life. His income gone, they had to move into a small, shabby apartment. He was in the verge of manhood, so she taken from school and put to work at his moral stability and fell into virtual delinquency. She herself, with no special training or experience, had to support the family.

How do your troubles seem now, compared to the sudden ruin of this woman's life?

But let me tell you the rest of the story. She took a job—not a good one—and studied in her spare time to qualify for a much better one, which she now holds, in spite of that "spare" time she labored with her son to make him a good citizen—and succeeded. She cared for her husband and nursed him back into as good health as could be expected.

A busy woman? Busy as she is she finds time to teach a Sunday-school class, to be a leader in the P.T.A. takes part in community affairs. She always has time for other people. She gives her life away.

And that's the secret of her success.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

The tongue is surely the most unruly organ in our bodies. It is true our stomachs have to be pampered most of our lives. Our hearts are, in a sense, beyond our control. They mind their own business, as though they were mechanisms, apart from us. Our good old hands, feet, legs occasionally let us down; but even, by and out, they are pretty faithful members of the communion with the mind.

The tongue, however, is a tricky little character, wayward, unpredictable, and the bane of the end of trouble by going often into action before we have time to think.

We can't even say ouch without our tongues. Try it. It will not. So independent is the tongue that, if we sit on a tack, before the brain has received the sad news, the tongue has already uttered its complaint.

If we could confine the tongue to emergencies like these it would not be so bad. But before we are out of infancy, the tongue is already assuming control. Not only does it speak before it thinks, but it says all sorts of things, the tongue is the most untamable member of the body.

Session Proves Satisfactory To Both Parties

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada and the United States have opened preliminary negotiations for joint construction of the navigation works of the St. Lawrence seaway.

After a 1½-hour session across the conference table Monday, officials said they hoped that by today an agenda will be completed for later and final negotiations on the big job.

"We made excellent progress at this first meeting," Hon. Lionel Chevrier, who heads the agency in charge of Canada's part of the work, said after the conference broke off Monday night.

"A very satisfactory meeting," commented Lewis Castle, administrator of the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corporation, the U.S. counterpart of the St. Lawrence seaway authority headed by Mr. Chevrier.

The meeting resumes today at 10:30 a.m. EST, and spokesmen said it was expected the agenda would be ironed out at a morning sitting.

500 Sea Cadets Start Training At Naval Base

POINT EDWARD NAVY BASE, N.S. (CP)—A large Ontario contingent is among 500 sea cadets from the Atlantic provinces who settled into this big RCN depot across the harbor from Sydney Monday for two weeks of stiff training.

Tough navy personnel will drill the cadets in nearly every phase of RCN life: seamanship, navigation, swimming, physical training and general recreation.

Ontario cadets came from Sarnia, St. Thomas, London, St. Catharines, Brantford, Welland, Port Colborne, Niagara Falls, Toronto and Windsor.

Two thousand cadets altogether will train at Point Edward during July and August in batches of 500.

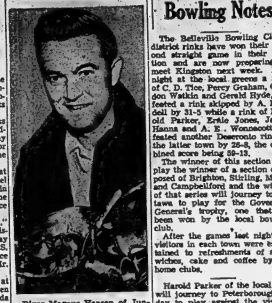
The boys will get their sea time aboard the naval training ship Scotaer which operates out of Sydney. The 2,000-ton ship has put at their disposal more than 50 sailing cutters, whalers and dinghies.

Youths Fined For Beach Party

WINDSOR (CP) — Two Windsor youths Monday were fined $15 and costs in connection with a wild teen age party at Emery's beach June 19. They were charged with having liquor in a public place.

A third youth was charged with assaulting a police officer and remanded for sentence. All three pleaded guilty.

Charges were laid after police raided two beach parties celebrating the end of the school term. Liquor was found and some girls and youths were drunk. One boy scratched, bit and fought all the way to police station.



Fined were Robert Brown, 17, and John Essex, 16. Thomas Newton was remanded on the assault charge. A host of parents and friends of the youths were in court to hear them warned by the magistrate against rebelling against even minor laws.

MASS DEPORTATION IS RUSSIAN POLICY, SAYS EX-MVD AGENT

Lt.-Col. Gregori Stepanovich Buriakat, a former high-ranking officer in the MVD—the dreaded Soviet secret police—told a U.S. congressional committee in Munich that mass deportation and wholesale murder is the "routine way" in which Communists enforce their rule. He said he once helped to supervise the huge mass deportation of almost a million people from the autonomous Soviet republic of Checheno-Ingushetia, located next to Georgia in southern Russia. The U.S. committee is investigating Russia's seizure in 1940 of the Baltic republics of Latvia, Lithuania and Estonia, —Central Press Canadian.

Mammoth Shark Tows Fishing Party 18 Miles

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—A 50-foot whale shark towed a 65-foot boat and 50 passengers about 18 miles before it escaped. The party fishing vessel had to radio for help during the seven-hour battle.

This was the story told today by Capt. J. B. Matthews and his fishing party aboard the Capt. Bae Strickland.

The mammoth fish was sighted some 50 to 60 miles out in the Gulf of Mexico and the ship's log showed the Capt. Bae Strickland was towed for 18 miles before the whale shark gave a lunge and snapped the line. The shark was estimated to weigh at least 10 tons.

CRUISER BLOWS UP

OTTAWA (CP)—A 45-foot cabin cruiser worth $12,000 blew up on the Ottawa river Saturday, hurling its two young occupants into the water. Both managed to reach shore suffering only minor injuries. Raymond Rocque, 23, and Andrew Bergeron, 17, said the motor began to smoke, driving them out of the cabin before the blast.

Bowling Notes

The Belleville Bowling Club's district rinks have won their second straight game in their section and are now preparing to meet Kingston next week. Last night at the local greens a rink of C. D. Tice, Percy Graham, Gordon Watkis and Gerald Hyde, defeated a rink skipped by A. Rendell by 31-5 while a rink of Harold Parker, Erkie Ross, James Hanna and A. E. Wonnacott defeated another Deseronto rink in the latter town by 26-8, the combined score being 59-13.

The winner of this section will play the winner of a section composed of Brighton, Stirling, Madoc and Campbellford and the winner of that series will journey to Ottawa to play for the Governor-General's trophy, one that has been won by the local bowling club.

After the games last night the visitors in each town were entertained to refreshments of sandwiches, cake and coffee by the home clubs.

Harold Parker of the local club will journey to Peterborough today to play against the visiting British and Scotch bowlers on their way to Vancouver to take part in the British Empire Games. Cliff Argue, past president of the Provincial Lawn Bowling Association has been in charge of the overseas party since they arrived in Montreal. The visiting bowlers will be entertained by the Peterborough club after the games.

A most successful twilight jitney was held at the local greens last night when over sixty bowlers took part in the three ten end games arranged by the committee under the direction of Orio Smith. Valuable prizes were awarded the winners. The greens were in excellent condition and the bowling exceptionally keen in all the games. The mosquitoes were not too bad.

Weddings

SKURKA—ROBINSON

Tall standards of pink and white peonies and fern formed a lovely setting on Saturday, July 3rd, at 3:00 p.m., in Trinity United Church, Kitchener, Ontario, for the marriage of Shirley Donna Robinson, of Kitchener, daughter of Mrs. D. Robinson, of Belleville, and the late Mr. John Robinson, to John Skurka, of Galt, Ontario, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Skurka. The Rev. J. Pratt officiated.

The church organist, Mrs. Kenny Knowles, played the traditional wedding music.

Given in marriage by her uncle Mr. G. Robinson, of Galt, Ont., the bride was charming in white nylon, floor-length gown, worn over white nylon satin. She wore a tulle illusion fingertip veil held by a matching tulle cap, and carried a Colonial cascade of pink roses and white pom poms.

Miss B. Greatrix, R.N., of Belleville, was maid of honor, gowned in pink nylon sheer over pink taffeta, in street-length. She wore a white half hat and carried a Colonial bouquet of yellow roses and mauve pom poms.

Mr. G. Bigelow, of Galt, Ont., attended the bridegroom, while Mr. G. Robinson, brother, cousin of the bride, and Mr. J. Sollis of Galt, cousin of the bridegroom, were ushers.

The reception and dinner were held at six o'clock in Bridge Hall, Galt, with the bride's mother, wearing navy blue nylon with white accessories, and corsage of pink and white carnations. The bridegroom's mother, assisted, wearing light blue crepe and corsage of pink and white carnations.

For traveling to Saskatoon, Sask., where they will reside, the bride wore a pink linen suit, matching hat, straw colored accessories, and pink and white Sweetheart rose corsage.

STIER—McLEOD

A very pretty wedding of local interest took place in Claude Presbyterian Church, Claude, Ontario, on Saturday, June 19, when Jean, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David J. McLeod, of Ingleswood, became the bride of Mr. Gerald Downing Stier, of Brampton, son of Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Stier.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. W. Blair.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in floor-length Chantilly lace and tulle. The long sleeved bodice of lace was fashioned with a cameo neckline. From the V waistline, the full skirt of tulle fell to floor-length. Featuring lace about the hipline in a star-pointed effect and ending in a slight sweep. Her fingertip veil was gathered into an open crown of satin studded with pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and lily-of-the-valley.

The bride chose for her attendants, her sister, Miss Margaret McLeod, Ingleswood, and Miss Rose Chiles, Brampton, who wore floor-length gowns in romance blue taffeta. Panels of tulle misting featured the fitted strapless bodices which extended over the hips and formed deep points. From the minute waists, the bouffant skirts fell in crisp folds. Brief boleros of matching taffeta were worn over the dresses offset with tiny standup collars and cap sleeves. They carried cascades of pink poms, forget-me-nots and Sweetheart roses.

Mr. Samuel Stier, of Roslin, was groomsman for his brother, and the ushers were Mr. James Smiley, of Willowdale, and Mr. Harry Stirk of Orillia.

Following the ceremony, a reception for around eighty guests was held at Hill-Top Lodge, Erin. The bride's mother received in a gown of bridesmen blue silk and corsage of roses assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who chose a gown of orchid lace over taffeta and wore a corsage of orchids.

For a wedding trip to Eastern Canada and the United States, the bride wore a rose colored dressmaker suit, white hat and accessories and corsage of roses.

On their return they will reside in Brampton.

KISSELL—ALVEY

Lovely baskets of assorted summer flowers, pink and white streamers, pink wedding bells, and candles formed a pretty setting in St. Peter's Presbyterian Church, Madoc, Ontario, on Saturday, July 3rd, at 7:00 p.m., when the Reverend Marshall Heslip, pastor of the church, united in marriage Violet Winnifred Alvey, of Toronto, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Alvey, to Richard Kissell, of Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Kissell, of Ayr, Scotland.

The wedding music included "The Wedding March" from Wagner's "Lohengrin", and "The Wedding March" by Mendelssohn.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in her bridal gown of hyacinth blue brocade, with fitted bodice and full skirt, white picture hat and matching accessories. She carried a shower bouquet of vari-colored roses intermingled with pastel-tinted sweetpeas.

Miss June Kissell, of Toronto, attended the bride, attired in misty blue and white nylon taffeta with white accessories and corsage of tea roses.

Mr. John Morton, of Toronto, attended the bridegroom, while Mr. Adam Brown and Mr. Maurice Malina, were ushers.

At the reception, which was held at the bride's home, the bride's mother wearing dusky pink Shantung with navy accessories, received the guests.

For the wedding trip to the Thousand Islands, the bride chose a two-piece blue and white dress with navy Cashmere coat.

Guests were present from Ayr, Scotland, Slough, England and Belleville. Telegrams were received from Montreal, and Ayr, Scotland.

A dainty buffet luncheon was served with Mrs. John Fleming, Jr., and Mrs. Mark Jones presiding.

MURPHY—BLEECKER

On June 19th, at a double-ring, evening wedding ceremony in St. James United Church, Peterborough, Ont., Evelyn Christine Bleecker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Bleecker, of Halloway, Ont., became the bride of Albert Charles Murphy, of Toronto, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Murphy, of Longford, Ont. The Rev. Lloyd Shorten, pastor of the church, officiated. The church was beautifully banked with evergreens, pink and white carnations and baskets of pondies and daisies.

The organist, Mrs. Charles Renaud, played softly during the ceremony, and at the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, looked lovely in a gown of bridesmen white nylon over white taffeta. The floor-length gown of embroidered tulle. The fitted bodice was strapless, having a brief, cutaway bolero fashioned with long, fitted sleeves and small soft collar. The full skirt billowed over a crinoline to the floor, from the petite waistline. Her hem-length veil of tulle was caught to a mother-of-pearl tiara and carried a cascade of pink Delight roses and lily-of-the-valley.

Attending the bride was her sister, Mrs. Gerald Frederick, as matron of honor, attired in a gown of shrimp peau de soie with matching tulle gloves and tulle headdress caught with seed pearls. She carried a nosegay of tinted button mums and Sweetheart roses.

Little Miss Brenda Frederick, niece of the bride was flower girl in a frock of debutante blue peau de soie with matching tulle gloves and tulle headdress held with seed pearls. She carried a basket of tinted button mums and fern.

Mr. Elmer Fisher, of Toronto, attended the bridegroom, while Mr. Gerald Frederick, and Mr. Richard Eglinton, were ushers.

At the reception and dance which followed the double ceremony, the bride's mother received in a gown of rose beige Chantilly lace over taffeta with floral corsage of roses. Later, the happy couple left for Toronto and points west. The bride donned a strapless, flowered cotton dress of mustard, and mustard blue and white shoes, mustard and white accessories and corsage of pink Delight roses.

Out-of-town guests were present from Guelph, Toronto, Montreal, Belleville, Halloway and Foxboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Murphy will reside in Toronto.

Previous to her marriage, the bride was the honored guest at several showers; one by Mrs. Mitts and Mrs. Parks as co-hostesses at the home of Mrs. Parks, Halloway; a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. Herb McCabe, of Belleville; and at the home of Mrs. Carson, Halloway, when the neighborood ladies made the presentation of a beautiful wool blanket, and also at a presentation held by the W.I. of Chatterton, when she was the recipient of a cornflower crystal rose bowl.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Charles Murphy are shown signing the register following their marriage in St. James Church, Peterborough, Ontario. The bride is the former Miss Evelyn Christine Bleecker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Bleecker, of Halloway. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Murphy, of London, England. Golden Wedding Marked By Anniversary Dinner

Tuesday was a happy day for Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bell, of Peterborough, when in commemoration of their fifty years of married life, they enjoyed an anniversary dinner given by their daughter, Mrs. R. B. Larush, of Ontonabee, with three of their four children and their families present.

Mr. and Mrs. Bell were married at the home of the former's aunt, Mrs. James Kidd, of Lakefield, in 1904, by the Reverend F. W. Legge.

Following their marriage, they resided in Warsaw for six years, later moving to Emily, and two years after, began farming at McCracken's Landing. Two years ago they moved to Peterborough, due to a stroke suffered by Mr. Bell, which occasioned him to give up the farm. Although they like city life because of its many conveniences, they still have a warm place in their hearts for the country and its wide, open spaces.

Work on the farm was arduous requiring nine cows to be milked each morning, previous to the eight to ten hours work on the land, aside from the delivery of the milk to the dairy.

Mr. and Mrs. Bell were both born in Dummer township. They have four children, three sons, Ernest and Harold, of Peterborough; and Oswald, of Belleville, and one daughter, Mrs. R. B. Larush, (Pearcie), of Otonabee. There are 13 grandchildren.

Best wishes are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Bell, (formerly Mary Little), in the years that lie ahead for continued health and prosperity.

Unique Maternity Hospital Operated by Nuns in Peru

Written for The Canadian Press By MARGARET ECKER

LIMA, Peru (CP)—Between 300 and 600 Peruvian babies come into the world each year with a better grip on life than most of their compatriots. This is the monument to the efforts of a handful of cheerful Canadian nuns from New Brunswick.

They are group of sisters of the Holy Cross of Saint-Joseph whose mother house is at Bathurst, N.B. They operate in a pleasant suburb of Lima, el Hagar de Madres.

This unique maternity hospital in a low Spanish-style building that rambles around patios and flowery courtyards, is maintained as a hospital and clinic for needy mothers of Lima. Gay, spotless wards open onto gardens where bougainvillea drenches the walls with color. There is the laughter of small children playing around a wading pool in the nursery wing.

FROM DISMAL HOMES

Indian mothers in bright Peruvian clothes stroll under the trees or pause for a few minutes in the mission-type chapel.

But to grasp the miracle the Canadian nuns are performing in Peru, you have to see outside the gates of el Hagar de Madre. Or the hillsides outside the city the hoses of most of the city's population are rabbit warrens of caves, squalid, windowless rooms where a large family shares space with chickens, pigs, the family dog.

Many Peruvian babies are born in these hovels, and dreary, overcrowded hospitals are the best that Peru can offer at the moment to charity patients.

In spite of President Manuel Odria's valiant welfare program, hundreds must still die because of poor medical, post-natal and natal care.

Rev. Mother Marie - du - Sacre-Coeur and her five sister assistants are working night and day so that it doesn't happen to all babies as soon as they know a baby is on the way. The mother may have free examinations for seven and a half months before the baby is born and is advised on prenatal hygiene.

Two weeks before the arrival of the baby, the mother, with perhaps one or two of the youngest children who cannot be left home alone, moves into the hospital.

The smaller children are given complete medical checkups and the mother is advised on their feeding. They play in the sunny, courtyard playground and are fed a balanced diet to build up their resistance to the many Peruvian childhood diseases. After the baby is born, the little family remains at el Hagar for 15 days while further instruction is given in the care of young babies.

GET FRESH START

Mother superior Lee Plante of Bathurst, provincial superior of the sisters who operate in Peru, was enthusiastic about the work. "You have no idea," she said, "what this can mean to these mothers and children, to get a fresh start in life."

Between 30 and 40 charity cases are cared for, as well as another 12 to 15 who can afford to pay 50 soles, (about $2) for their confinement. Due to the demand for modern maternity care, a new private ward wing has been opened where mothers can pay approximately $75 for their month's stay. Each room here has private bath, and opens onto a private patio.

This charity hospital was founded 25 years ago by three Lima aristocrats. They still finance the project but for the past few years the sisters have been incapable of running it the way it should be run.

The new wing of Hotel-Dieu had come to Peru six years ago to work in the interior — along the Amazon. A group of 12 still work amongst the lepers under Mother St. Albert of Malima, Ontario.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

GROOM WANTS HER TO DRESS LIKE A "REAL BRIDE"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Please help us plan for a small wedding that suits our attendants and the members of our families present. That is, do you think I should wear a wedding dress or a suit? (My groom-to-be prefers to have me wear a wedding dress.) And do you think it would be proper to have the ceremony in our church auditorium? — H.

I agree most enthusiastically with your prospective bridegroom . . . that you should, if at all possible, look like the "real bride" he wants you to be on this wonderful and romantic occasion. Why not? Then you will do this, even though your wedding is to be quite a small and intimate one, with only the families present. Make it a charming and wonderful memory! And I hope you and your bridegroom will be married in the church . . . then have a simple gathering in the church auditorium, with a wedding cake for you and your bridegroom to cut, and some drink, fruit punch perhaps, for the drinking of the toast: "To the Bride and Groom!"

"NO WAITING"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Please tell me the proper time to unfold and place a table napkin on my lap, both when dining in a private home or in a restaurant. I have been told by some that in a restaurant one should wait until the waiter or waitress takes the order, while others say that one should wait until the order is served to you. — M.M.

No "waiting" necessary. Whether you are dining in a restaurant or in a private house, as soon as you have taken your seat you take your napkin from your place at table, unfold it in one direction, and place it on your lap. (It doesn't make sense to wait to do this until your food is served to you . . . for then the waiter or waitress has to wait for you.)

"Jr." . . or "Junior"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Our little son, seven weeks old, is a "junior," named after his father. When I write his name, should I write "junior" or "Jr."? I've never been sure about this anyway, and as it of course concerns me very closely and it's important that my husband and I know the correct form. Thank you. — New Mother

Two forms of this suffix are correct. You may use "junior," the word spelled in full . . . then it is not capitalized. Or you may use "Jr." . . . the word abbreviated . . . then the capital must be used. (Today "Jr." is more requently used, even in such formal items as cards and wedding invitations.)

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

THE CAREFUL USE OF MAKE-UP

Women have good reason to be grateful to cosmetic chemists, of course, but they should also remember that it is essential to learn How to use make-up. Those precious items in the make-up box should be used—not abused. A little too much and their magic evaporates.

The first thing necessary for a flattering effect is a clean, healthy skin of fine texture and smooth texture and smooth surface. One should have the right kind of canvas when painting one's portrait. No artifice has yet been compounded that will camouflage a skin that is grey, dingy or sallow.

Foundation cosmetics give a nice finish and serve as protective agents against strong sunlight and harsh winds. To be effective they must be applied exactly and precisely according to directions. Laid on lavishly they can give the feminine face a mask-like look and that is no way to win beauty laurels. Foundations come in different forms. The wise woman will try out several as one may prove favorable to her complexion than another.

Experiment with powders, too. Some have oily bases, are more suitable to dry skins than to oily ones. Match the coloring of your skin as closely as you can. Sometimes it is a good plan to find one slightly darker.

Cheek rouge should not be applied to form a circle, which seems to be the general practice. A triangular pattern is better—a line under the eyes, with a bit of upward sweep toward the temples, then down, and back to the starting point.

HILLY SPOT

The city of Dunedin in New Zealand is built on seven hills amid beautiful scenery.

Do FALSE TEETH Rock, Slide or Slip?

FASTEETH, an improved powder to be sprinkled on upper or lower plates, holds false teeth more firmly in place. Do not slide, slip or rock. Gives greater comfort. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

Canadian Women's Press Club General Meeting

By Mary Moore

Yes, I went to the Canadian Women's Press Club Triennial General Meeting in Toronto. Yes, I was made a special delegate. Yes, I will tell you about it.

There was more fun than serious business, thank goodness, but among the serious business that stayed with me was some advice contained in the presidential address of Barbara Ondaatje. She looked directly at some of the food editors in the audience and said we had a big responsibility.

We all know that any women's editor on a big daily newspaper can reach for a cookbook, select a recipe to print for that day and do the duty to the cooks in her audience has been performed.

But during World War II so many recruits had to be rejected by the army doctors because of physical unfitness due to faulty nutrition that it was a disgrace to our nation. It's ignorance of nutritional principles is more to blame than lack of discipline or apathy. There are hundreds of readers who write to me imploring me for all of the information I can give them on how to feed their families economically but scientifically. I am always eager to answer them and do to the best of my ability.

I harp on eating whole wheat bread, naturally grains, last-mint preparation of salads and raw vegetables, serving fresh fruits, drinking plenty of water, taking out-of-door exercise. I harp on these so much that I wonder you are not bored with the sight and sound of me, but while I can still pound a typewriter I am going to keep it up.

I am not yielding one inch in my pursuit of delicious flavor combinations either, for if we obey all of the rules for healthful eating, we can conscientiously have the extra delights we so dearly love to concoct.

For instance at a dinner given us by one of the big sewing machine companies, when dessert time arrived, two tall be-capped white uniformed chefs bore in on their shoulders a huge slab of ice on two poles supporting an "Algoquin Log". After wending their way between the tables for all to behold the work of art, they served it and it turned out to be frozen dessert made up to look like a log with bits of curled chocolate to resemble bark, peeling off, intriguing and delectable bits of fudge, fun of being a master chef. You too can work such wizardry on a smaller scale in your own kitchen.

But remember that while you may not be raising your boy to be a soldier (and I fervently hope he never has to be one) feed him such good nutritious food that he measures up to Canadian army standards.

Young mothers have the ideal opportunity of training their babies from the day of their arrival by serving only the foods that are good for them, never allowing never acquire a taste for the foods that are eaten habitually by the folk who are all too often the patients who inhabit our hospitals.

On Thursday I will tell you about the dishes that were served to us at the conference that were highlights.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

YOUR FATHER WILL LOVE YOU EVEN WITHOUT HIGH HEELS!

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a 13-year-old girl, five feet and five inches in height. I would like very much to buy a pair of pumps with heels three inches high, but my mother thinks I'm too young.

The reason why I want them is because my father is coming home from Germany and bringing us three-year-old boy. I am to meet them at the bus station, and I would like to look nice for him. My mother makes me very attractive clothes, and I think I should have good-looking shoes to go with them.

Would you please advise me? I shall abide by your advice. — R.M.G.

Dear R.M.G.:

I'm afraid I agree with your mother that a girl of 13 is a little too young to go into three-inch heels. If I were you, I'd be content with the shoes you ordinarily wear, and be sufficiently enough to wait awhile for those that belong to the older years.

I'm sure your father will be so happy to see you waiting for him at the bus station that you'll look wonderful to him in anything you wear, even more so if you say your mother makes you attractive clothes. So—when you go to meet your father, wear the prettiest dress you have, do your hair as neatly and becomingly as you can, put on your very brightest smile and he'll think you're the most beautiful-looking little girl he ever saw.

HE'S JUST LOOKING FOR AN EASY OUT

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I'm 19, and so is the boy I've been going with for the past eight months. We really fell in love, and were talking about marriage, but recently he told me that while he loved me very much, and was sure he would never find another girl like me, he should break up. The only reason he gave was that he just didn't think he was good enough for me.

He is going with another girl now, but his friends tell me he isn't happy, and I am wondering if I should try to get him back. — Mary Alice.

Dear Mary Alice:

As I look at it, you would make a great mistake to try and get this chap back, because I doubt very much if that is what he wants. When a young man tells a girl that he must give her up because he isn't good enough for her, it usually means that he is losing interest in her and is anxious to get away before getting any more involved. To say he isn't good enough for her makes him look like a hero, saves the girl's pride, and at the same time provides him with an easy out.

My advice to you is to let him alone and find a more reliable boy friend.

Wife Preservers

After washing children's plastic or rubber bottles in soap and water, leave a small absorbent towel in them while they dry. This will prevent the smell of bad sticking together. It is also a good idea to sprinkle a little talcum powder over the inner surface of each garment when it is new.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both— Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)— For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observation.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name, Preparation H.® This price is only $1.19 a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied—your money will be refunded promptly. ®Trade Mark

Frank Anderson Defeats Russian In Chess Match

TORONTO (CP) — A Canadian has beaten a Russian grand master of chess.

Frank Anderson, a young Toronto university student and co-champion of Canada's chess players, became the first Canadian to beat Igor Bondarevsky by defeating him in 44 moves in an exhibition game Monday night. Bondarevsky resigned after 5½ hours of play when Anderson threatened to force a pawn into promotion.

The 26-year-old Anderson, who lost to Bondarevsky in a Trans-Atlantic match conducted by cable last February, was happy about the victory.

"It was wonderful," he said. "It was a fine game."

Bondarevsky, elevated to grand master when he became champion of the Soviet Union in 1941, made no excuses for defeat. He smiled as he congratulated Anderson. Both spent nearly a half-hour analyzing their moves.

Bondarevsky said he made his mistake in the 12th move when he captured a king's pawn with his Queen's pawn. He said he should have done it with his king's bishop's pawn.

New French Plan To Be Presented At Peace Talks

GENEVA, Switzerland (Reuters) — A new French plan designed to break an East-West deadlock over international armistice supervision in Indo-China will be presented today at the nine-power peace talks.

Differences over the composition and powers of a neutral armistice commission have plagued the Indo-China talks since soon after their start on May 8.

Both the Communist Vietminh and Russian delegation have said the French proposals, still secret, have "some common ground" with earlier Soviet proposals.

In the past, the Communists have insisted on representation in a neutral armistice commission and veto powers for members of joint military teams which would supervise a cease-fire in the field.

Western delegates have rejected Communist representation on grounds that no Communist country can be really neutral and have said the joint military teams should be responsible to the main neutral body. They have opposed veto powers.

In a speech at a convention of the 82nd Airborne Division Association, Gavin said the Russian troops he saw while on duty in Berlin were younger and far better equipped than those of the Second World War.

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Reeve Howard Elson of London township Monday night refused to sign a franchise granting Union Gas Company of Chatham permission to lay a pipeline across the township despite claims that it is the only municipality holding up a pipeline from Hamilton to Dawn township near Chatham.

"Not until the Union Gas Company can assure this council that all the property owners in the township across whose land the pipeline will cross have reached agreement with the company will I sign the franchise," Reeve Elson told solicitors for the company.

Councillor Frank Fellner said the reeve could not sign the franchise until council was assured by the Federation of Agriculture it had reached agreement with the company.

Tonight's the night "Ole Satch" Paige, baseball's ageless wonder pitching artist, makes his Belleville debut. "Satch" brings his Harlem Globetrotters to Exhibition Park where they clash with the famous House of David team in what should be the baseball classic of the season.

"SATCHEL" PAIGE

But while "Satch" is billed as the star attraction, don't think for a minute these fellows that comprise the Globetrotters and House of David teams, are a bunch of amateur handlooters. Either team can give the major league entries a run for their money.

The Globetrotters are a handpicked organization, chosen not only for their brilliant play but as potential big leaguers. The Davids are equally as good, and the result should be one of the best diamond battles seen here in a long time.

Over 2400 fans saw the Globetrotters and House of David play in Peterborough the other night and the consensus was "the best yet." Fans should not miss the famous pepper play and the clowning activities of the comedians of the team. Game at 8.30.

'TWAS EVER THUS . . .

Put that five back in the wallet. You can't collect our ten, for as this department predicted yesterday, the Oshawa Transportees are back in the Intermediate baseball fold after their allotted "48-hour frees.up." They notified league officials they would continue in the league for the 1954 season, because the "local players want to play baseball" and "not because we condone the loose-leaf decision handed down at the meeting last Friday."

They surprised, and rightly so, that the league draw up a set of rules. Said Oshawa: "We find it difficult to operate as a reliable team in the league when it is run by gentleman's agreements," or words to that effect.

And so the scheduled game between the Batas and Transporters slated for Oshawa tomorrow night will be played.

TRAGEDY OF LIFE . . .

WELLINGTON — Lush wheatfields undulate in golden ripples on the outskirts of this pretty lakeside village. Green gold is finding its way from heavy-cropped pastfields to the hungry maws of canning factories. On the well-appointed park-in-the-sun, cabin and tent, carp-free vacationists enjoy to the full, the cool breezes, fishing, swimming and other holiday facilities. It is summertime in Wellington.

But a pall of sadness hangs over the homes of veteran and other-villagers. Like residents of any small community, joy, sorrow, all the emotions have a collective effect. Wellington is no different.

For the third time in a comparatively few short years, death has struck suddenly, savagely, like a bolt from the blue. And in each case it has demanded and taken the life of one of the village's most promising young men.

First it was youthful Ernie Callow, a heroic Boy Scout, who made the supreme sacrifice. Ernie dived into the harbor off the brick plant dock to the rescue of an adult who could not swim. The fourteen year-old Scout battled bravely against deep water and the frantic efforts of a drowning man. Both lost their lives.

Next was Bob Gréer. Bob, one of the finest athletes ever developed in the district, and a promising major league prospect, was killed near Windsor when the car in which he was riding crashed into a parked transport. Mr. and Mrs. Pat Downing, who were with Bob, also lost their lives.

Now the third tragedy has sent the village into deep sorrow—and sympathy for grief-stricken parents.

Last Wednesday afternoon in Windsor, Gordon Dorland, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Dorland, and a graduate in mechanical engineering from the University of Toronto, plunged to his death in deep water at a swimming spot. Gordon dived into the water, threshed for a moment, sank and failed to surface. He was 23 and an excellent swimmer. It is believed he took a sudden cramp, or a heart seizure.

It seems to be a tragedy of life when three young men, are cut off at the threshold of a lifetime of usefulness and service to their fellow man.

"We know Ernie and Bob well. We have a slight remembrance of, Gordon, but we know the family well. Gordon gave every promise of a life of brilliant achievement in his chosen field. He had been graduated but a year—when his life was snuffed out like the proverbial candle.

He was a universal favorite not only with the boys and girls of his own age but with the village in general during his earlier school days. He was a brilliant student, and an athlete of more than passing ability. His popularity came easy. He had a warm, friendly personality and the happy faculty of making friends "on sight."

The news of his sudden passing came as a distinct shock to his many friends, former schoolmates and boyhood pals here. The funeral was held on Saturday, and almost an entire village paused to pay final tribute to a brilliant young life cut off at its prime.

This department extends heartfelt sympathy to the sorrowing family.

ROUGHHOUSE LESSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Featherweight champion Sandy Saddler gave game Libby Manzo a lesson in roughhouse fighting, cutting both eyes of the 24-year-old New York choir singer to score a knockout in 2:25 of the 10th round in a title bout Monday night at St. Nicholas Arena. Saddler weighed 131½, Manzo 134½ pounds.

Cleveland's Glynn Hits Trio, Noren, Mathews, Jackson 2; Giants, Brooks Clash Tonight

By Joe Reichler
Associated Press Sports Writer

Big league ball players celebrated Independence Day with a home-run barrage that rocked eight baseball stadia from dugout to bullpen and sent the harried, defenceless pitchers running to cover.

The day of doubleheaders reverberated with 35 home run blasts, only five short of the major league record for most homers in one day. A total of 315 hits were peppered about the parks as 75 pitchers were used. That's an average of almost 20 hits and more than four and a half pitchers a game. And some of them acted like they were only half-pitchers.

Cleveland's Bill Glynn was the merriest celebrant. The normally light-hitting first baseman exploded three home runs in the 15-8 opening victory over Detroit and drove in eight runs. Ray Boone and Wayne Belardi homered for Detroit. Glynn had company in the slugging of the other Indians, who silenced in the second game that went to Detroit 14 to 11 innings on Harvey Kuenn's home run.

THREE HAD TWO

Three others — the New York Yankees' Gil Noren, Milwaukee's Eddie Mathews and the Chicago Cubs' Randy Jackson — walloped two homers in one game. Dusty Rhodes of the New York Giants and Ted Kluszewski of Cincinnati had two homers, one in each game. Glynn, Jackie and Roy Sievers of Washington had grand slammers.

Only nine of the 32 starting pitchers went the distance, and four of them turning in shutouts. The Washington performance was established by George Zuverink of the Tigers. A member of the Indians in 1951, Zuverink limited his former teammates with three hits and was rewarded with the victory when Kuenn homered off rookie Don Mossi.

The split, which snapped an eight game winning streak for the Indians, came after a full game in the Yankees and trimmed their first place American League lead to 5½ games.

YANKS TAKE TWO

The Yankees trimmed the Philadelphia Athletics twice 7-4 and 11-6 to win their first doubleheader in almost a year. They had split the last three twin bills in 1953 and their first 35 this season. Successive homers by Joe Collins and Mickey Mantle and a run-scoring double by Gene Woodling provided the margin of victory in the opener. Noren drove in five runs with his two homers in the nightcap. Bill Wilson hit Philadelphia's only homer.

The Giants and Dodgers both swept doubleheaders, leaving the National League - leading Giants still six games in front of Brooklyn. The two rivals begin a three-game set at Ebbets Field tonight.

Johnny Antonelli won his 11th game with a three-hit 10-0 shutout over the Philadelphia Phillies in the opener. Rhodes, subbing for Monte Irvin in left field, homered and doubled in the first game. In the second game he hit two singles and a homer with two mates well aboard that gave the Giants an uphill 4-3 triumph.

HEAVY HITTING

Rookie Walter Moryn, playing in place of the slumping Jackie Robinson, cracked four hits, including a homer, as Don Newcombe shut Pittsburgh 5-0 in the first game. Duke Snider banged his 20th four-base clout in that game, and Junior Gilliam homered for the Dodgers in the second game but it was Carl Furillo who drove in five runs to account for the 7-3 victory.

Milwaukee's two slugging matches from the St. Louis Cardinals and 10-4 sweep each team slammed four homers. Besides Mathews' pair, Nos. 17 and 18, Joe Adcock and Del Crandall homered for the Braves while the Cardinal homers were hit by Ray Hemus, Rip Repulski, Ray Jablonski and rookie Joe Cunningham.

Cincinnati's Redlegs defeated Chicago 6-5 in the opener despite two homers by Jackson of the Cubs. Bobby Adams drove in the winning run in the 10th with a single. The Reds also took the nightcap 8-7 on Hobie Landrith's home run. Cincinnati's Ted Kluszewski hit his 21st homer in the first game.

Boston's Red Sox won a first game 14-0 behind Willard Nixon's six-hitter as Ted Lepcio batted in five runs with a triple and single before his grand slammer. Washington took the second 7-1.

Only one homer was hit in the Chicago - Baltimore doubleheader, won by the White Sox 3-0 and 2-1. Billy Pierce hurled a four-hit shutout in his first complete game since May 19. The lone homer was by Chicago's Jim Rivera, a 30-year-old home player, subbing at first base for Chicago in place of the injured Ferris Fain and Phil Cavarretta.

Whipper Watson Here Friday

Whipper Watson, one of the most popular wrestlers to show his wares here will make his 1954 Belleville debut at Memorial Arena on Friday night. The Whip will team up with Paul Baillargeon the Quebec strong man in a tag-team match against The Mighty Ursus and his villainous pal Don Leduc.

The Whip has fully recovered from the head injury that sidelined him for six weeks and judging from his recent successes in the ring is as good as ever. But he and his buddy will have a man-size job on their hands for the Ursus and Lewis are as tough a pair of ombres as ever came down the grunt-and-groan pike.

Geo. Bolan, who used to be the "Zebra" will take on Bill Stack in the semi-final and Timothy Geoghagen will tangle with Lee "The Leer" Fleming in the opener. Now there should be a bout.

The Northern Electric girls traveled to Trenton last night where they met and defeated the Trenton RCAF team by a 6-2 score in the Lakeshore Ladies' League game.

Majors Blast Terriers 9-1; 3 Homers Help

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Jim Halkard of the London Majors is a strikeout victim about as often as any other player in the Senior Intercounty Baseball League. But pity the pitcher who throws a ball that the big first baseman doesn't mist.

And he hasn't been missing very many lately.

The Majors climbed to within one of a game of first place Monday night by blasting Galt Terriers 9-1 in London. It was Halkard's bases-loaded home run in the first inning that provided the winning margin.

Saturday Halkard slammed out two homers and knocked in seven runs against the Terriers in Galt and the night before that, also in Galt, he plated three tallies with a bases-loaded triple.

In the only other league action Monday night the longest game of the season was played in Belleville between Guelph-Waterloo Royals 11-10 in 13 innings and Brantford 4-3 victory hoisted the Sox into third place, vaulting them over the Terriers.

Condon's Red Sox moved into a third-place tie with Carson Greyhounds in the Mid-Ont. Senior League by defeating Copper Cliff Redmen 6-5 in Sudbury.

Besides Halkard's big blow, the Majors also received fine pitching from Ron Hall, who went the distance to four hits and struck out 10 Terriers for his third victory.

BROKE IT UP

Catcher Shanty Clifford broke up the 2-2 10th marathon in Brantford when his single chased home the winning run in the 13th inning. It was Clifford's only hit of the night.

George Carruth was Brantford's leading slugger, getting out two of the game's five homers and chalking up two RBIs. Harry Fisher hit Brantford's other homer while Ed Sokol and Bobby Fischer poled Guelph's other two.

The Royals play the Panthers in Kitchener, while Intercity leaders Toronto Elgins are at Brantford in the Intercounty League tonight.

About 3,500 people turned out. Each pacer won a heat and Evelyn G. Dillon taking the fifth and eighth races, and Lena's Boy the fourth and seventh. The former is owned by John Goyett of Hamilton, Lena's Boy is owned by Reg McGee of Goderich.

Snider, Avila Still Tops in Batting, Schoendienst Making Determined Bid

NEW YORK (AP)—Red Schoendienst of St. Louis Cardinals, currently major league baseball's hottest hitter, is moving swiftly to the top of the National League batting parade as he seeks the title which barely eluded him in 1953.

The aggressive second baseman ranks sixth at present, but at the pace he's going he should be headed for better things.

Schoendienst had a consecutive hitting streak of 22 games—the best spring in either league this season—through Sunday's games. In that span he collected 38 hits in 96 at bats and lifted his average from .313 to .335.

Last year Red was edged out for the batting title by Brooklyn's Carl Furillo, .342 to .344.

Schoendienst still has a long way to go to the top, for Duke Snider of the Dodgers, the leader, shows little signs of slumping.

Snider, sidelined briefly last week with a bruised elbow, cracked out six hits in 14 trips and gained six points to .374.

STILL SECOND

Don Mueller of the Giants dropped 21 points but remained in second place at .333. He's followed by Granny Hamner of Philadelphia, .341; Gus Bell of Cincinnati .346 and Jackie Robinson of Brooklyn, .338.

In the American League, Bobby Avila of Cleveland held onto his lead despite a drop of 22 points to .349. Bobby only had four hits in 25 trips.

Al Rosen of Cleveland tailed off eight points to .332 and Vic Wertz in the runner-up slot. Nellie Fox of Chicago and Jim Busby of Washington are deadlocked for third at .319. Minnie Minoso of the White Sox, the league's leading slugger, is better with 64, a .318 with a .316 average.

Stan Musial, the No. 7 batter in the National League with .332, regained the lead in home runs. The slugging Cardinal hit three last week to bring his total to 26, one more than the Giants' Willie Mays. Musial still leads in runs batted in with 76.

Mickey Mantle of the Yankees, also with three homers last week, took over the top spot in the American League with 16.

Petes, Tigers Play 10-10 Tie

HAMILTON (CP)—Peterborough Trailercrest and Hamilton Tigers fought to a 10-10 draw Monday night in an Ontario Lacrosse Association senior A game.

Dinny Paterson and Gus Ashbee of the Petermen were ejected from the game and referee Mickey McDonald said he would also report Bob Thorpe and Peterborough manager Bob Cumby to the OLA executive of a hassle during which his shirt was torn.

Thorpe fired three goals to lead the Peterborough marksmen. Bob Allen, Paterson, Ross Donnelly, Nichols and Slater also scored for the Trailermen.

ANCIENT GAME

The game of checkers or draughts, in one form or another, was played by the ancient Greeks and Romans.

Casey Stacks Righthand Deck In Pitch Deal

CHICAGO (AP)—Casey Stengel of New York Yankees, who will manage the American League team in the annual all-star baseball game at Cleveland July 13, named eight pitchers for the battle today.

The American League released Stengel's choices along with the other players who, with the eight starters selected, form a roll of fans.

EIGHT STARTERS

The eight American League starters, announced Sunday night, are Al Rosen, Cleveland, first base; Bobby Avila, Cleveland, second base; Ray Boone, Detroit, third base; Chico Carrasquel, Chicago, shortstop; Orestes Minoso, Chicago, left fielder; Mickey Mantle, New York, centre field; Hank Bauer, New York, right field, and Yogi Berra, New York, catcher.

Each of these eight top vote getters must, according to the regulations governing the game, start and play a minimum of three innings.

For possible use in later innings, Stengel chose the following with the second out his 25-man squad:

Catcher—Sherman Lollar, Chicago.

Infielders—Ferris Fain, Chicago; Jim Piersall, Boston; Harvey Kuenn, Detroit; Chicago; George Kell, Chicago; Harvey Kuenn, Detroit.

Outfielders—Larry Doby, Cleveland; Jim Piersall, Boston, Ted Williams, Boston.

NATIONAL OPPOSITION

Stengel presumably stacked a right-handed pitcher deck because of the National League's starting lineup of lefthanded batters.

Only lefthanded hitters in the line-up are Stan Musial and Duke Snider of Brooklyn and Stan Musial of St. Louis.

The pitchers and other National League members will be named tonight.

Daligan, promising third baseman for the Athletics, is the only rookie on Stengel's squad.

Ed. Schamerhorn Loses by TKO

The bout, watched by 300 fans, was in the 152-pound division.

In the 150-pound event, Louis Simon of Toronto scored a technical knockout over Eddie Schamerhorn, Toronto, at 1:45 of the second round. The bout was slated for five rounds.

East, West Split Honors In Swim Trials

By PETER MURRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—The honors were split between east and west Monday as the Canadian swimming championships and Commonwealth Games trials swimmers meet got off to a splashy start. British Columbia had the 880-yard race with eight, three of them by slender Allen Brew, 16-year-old flash from Crescent-Beach in the junior men's events.

Ontario was close behind with six championships and Quebec snared one title to complete the day's action.

Highlight of the action-studded card was a down-to-the-wire duel by Hamilton's George Park and Gerry McNamee of Vancouver in the 110-yard men's freestyle.

Park, a burly policeman, won out by a hand's length. Both were timed in 1:00.2.

Brew scored a clean sweep in the 220-yard breast stroke, the 220-yard freestyle and the 220-yard backstroke. In the breast stroke he beat Pete Fowler of Woodstock, Ont.

MARRED BY ACCIDENT

The three-metre diving event for junior women was marred by an accident suffered by Jacqueline Gilliam of Quebec City, 1953 Canadian champion.

Her head struck the board when she cut a difficult back somersault too close. She was taken to the university hospital nearby where 10 stitches were required to close a three-inch gash on her head.

The event was won by Irene McGill of Hamilton, who took the accumulating lead in the after-noon's compulsory dives and held her own in the optional dives at night.

SPARKLING PERFORMANCE

Two of Canada's top junior swimmers, Sara Barber of Toronto and Gladys Priestley of Verdun, Que., turned in a sparkling performance in the 110-yard free style.

The Toronto miss won by a scant five feet over the favored Miss Priestley in the fast time of 1:09.2.

Miss Priestley also lost out in the 110-yard junior women's backstroke to Sara Barber, a slight, 15-year-old whiz from Brantford, Ont.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The rampaging Rochester Red Wings held down first place in the International League today and undisputed hold on their rivals are going to see nothing but smoke!

The Wings nudged the slumping Toronto Maple Leafs out of first place Monday by sweeping a doubleheader from the next-place Ottawa Athletics 6-4 and 5-0. Meanwhile, Syracuse Chiefs walloped the Leafs twice, 6-1 and 5-4.

Ed Ludwig, second of three Rochester pitchers, got credit for the first - game victory when catcher Pete Riggan singled home the winning run in the eighth inning. In the nightcap, Jack Fussell hurled his third shutout of the season to run the Birds' winning streak to six games.

CHIEFS' ATTACK

Joe Lonnett hit a pinch home run with one on in the fifth to put Syracuse ahead of the Leafs for good in the first game. Marv Williams went the distance. Bob Bowman and Marv Blaylock hit home runs for the Leafs in a circuit attack in the second game.

In other action, Havana Sugar Kings split with Richmond Virginians and Montreal Royals and Buffalo Bisons broke even in a bill. Richmond coasted to a 9-3 triumph in the first game of the afternoon-night doubleheader, but the Sugar Kings came back to take the second game 5-4 with a run in the third inning.

Ken Lehman tossed a 6-0 shutout for the Royals over the Bisons in the opener of their doubleheader. Lehman was the loser in the second game for the Bisons when he hit Montreal's winning home run in the last of the seventh inning to give them a 5-4 victory.

Threaten Marks In Empire Cycle Trials

By AL MARKLE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—Records for the 1,000-metre match sprint, broken Monday, and the 4,000-metre pursuit race were threatened around today, as the second day of the British Empire Games cycling trials prepared to start.

Jim Davies of Vancouver shaved more than a second from the 1,000-metre time trial mark Monday night, clocking a blistering 1:14.0 for the four laps around the new $105,000 yellow-cedar oval.

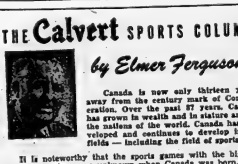
The record for the 10-mile test fell Friday. Pat Murphy of Delhi, Ont., paced the field for a remarkable 21:37.2 in the Canadian championships, but was second in the same event during Monday's trials.

The event was won by Fred Marcus, 24-year-old Toronto youth whose showing in the Dominion contests was most impressive. Marcus' time of 22:21.5 was well away from Murphy's, but still inside a berth on the team.

Although there is no official Games record for the 4,000 metre pursuit, fans and officials expect the best time of the Canadian and championships to be topped. Italian immigrant Tony Bacchetta of Vancouver completed the 16 laps around the 250-metre track in 5:27.3, but it is believed the time is better if the calibre of the first day's racing continues. The first race gets away at 7 p.m. PDT tonight.

Thinks Tribe Can Make It

DETROIT (AP)—Alfonso Ramon Lopez, the youthful baseball manager the Cleveland Indians, credits a brilliant bull pen for his club's torrid 40 - 22 pace in the American League.



The senor, he say simply:

"We're in first place because our bull pen is a lot stronger. I don't give my big leg the most credit. Now I can yank Lemon, Wynn and Garcia a lot quicker than in past years."

Speaking before Monday's holiday doubleheader with Detroit, Lopez admitted "it's a nice feeling" to lead the New York Yankees by a keen.

"But it would be nicer if this were September instead of July," he added. "It's a rough down the stretch but I think we can make it this time."

It is noteworthy that the sports games with the biggest followings today were unknown when Canada was born. Lacrosse, basketball, football, hockey, football, tennis, basketball and many other sports have all budded and blossomed since 1867.

Our great - grandfathers enjoyed numerous games adapted to local conditions. They had cricket, baseball, lawn bowls, track-field, golf, archery, croquet, boating, canoeing, sailing, skating, curling, lacrosse, swimming, skiing, caribou, boxing, wrestling, tobogganing, snowshoeing, skiing, rowing, and the classical threesome of hunting, shooting and fishin'.

Many of the sports popular 87 years ago still endure, in an even greater measure than then. But other sports have since come on the scene to reach tremendous popularity. Golf is one of these. It came into being soon after confederation, developed rapidly after the turn of the century, and bloomed into its present international status after 1919.

Canadian football, developing from English rugby, has attained a tremendous vogue here. Baseball has become international. Golf has developed into a widely-played game for the masses, rather than the classes.

Curling from a modest corner in the early sports picture, has expanded into one of the great sporting games in the Dominion. Ice hockey, comparatively new, has reached high peaks of popularity the last 20 years.

There's more sport today; and what is more important, there's a greater degree of participation than ever before, from which Canada, still a young nation, doubtless draws much of its virility. Our sports haven't had many new additions, but its virility. Our sports haven't had many new additions, but they have grown tremendously in scope and healthy public interest.

Sham McGonigle Gene Sarazen Lead British Open

SOUTHPORT, England (AP)—Ireland's John (Shamrock) McGonigle and America's famed old-timer, Gene Sarazen, made good use of the high winds over Southport Monday to lead the field in qualifying for the British open golf championship.

McGonigle set a record with his 33-33—65 and Sarazen nudged in just behind with 32-33—67. Both players used the driving wind to such golf in British and they did it under adverse conditions.

At times the wind charged in off the Irish Sea with gale force.

Both McGonigle and Sarazen, 52, tested the wind before every shot and many times they aimed a shot at a 35-degree angle from the green, banged away and watched the ball go onti Once in the air it would catch the wind and blow back into the fairway or onto the green.

TWO COURSES

Two courses were used, the 6,967-yard, par 73 Birkdale and the 6,-415-yard, par 70 Hillside.

The latter is a stroke or two easier and that's where McGonigle and Sarazen, and most of the other U.S. golfers were on the job.

Today the 300 golfers will swap courses. After today's round, the low 100 shooters, plus ties, will qualify for the 72-hole tournament proper.

Bobby Locke of South Africa, three-time British Open champion, and amateur Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O., each shot 68s.

Jockeys Refuse To Ride At Connaught

OTTAWA (CP)—A $500 bonus wasn't enough Monday night to get jockeys at Connaught Park race track to continue riding after the first race. They said the track, soaked earlier Monday by rain, was too dangerous.

The first of the night's seven races had just been run when the jockeys announced that because of the condition of the track, the jockeys had refused to ride the remaining races. That ended the night's racing program, cut the next race meeting and, possibly, thoroughbred racing here for some time to come.

The crowd of approximately 4,-000 filled up to the refund windows of the mutuels and then went home.

ANSWER STILL NO

The track stewards talked it over with the riders, but the jockeys refused to change their minds. Connaught owner - general manager Tommy Gorman then offered the riders a $500 bonus if they would ride out the program, but the answer still was "No."

The racing ended on the 13th day of a scheduled 14-day meeting. It was postponed on the 12th Monday night anyway, though one race was finished. Under the rules the schedule since a day's racing was washed out early in the meeting.

"The track management and representatives of the Thoroughbred Benevolent and Protective Association spent the day discussing purse distribution. It was the opinion that at one point all difficulties appeared straightened out and a second 14-day meeting would start Wednesday.

Late in the afternoon, however, the situation changed and the Connaught Park track was declared not ready to announce the end of the meeting a f t e r Monday night's races. The jockeys saved the day.

Gorman told a reporter that harness racing will be inaugurated Saturday night. He gave no details.

Platt Replaces Rochon On Davis Cup Team

TORONTO (CP)—Don Platt of Toronto has been named to replace Henri Rochon of Montreal on Canada's Davis Cup tennis team as the selection committee prepared to go with four youthful players in the Davis Cup match in Chile. The tie is at Toronto July 15-17.

The selection of Platt to replace Rochon was the only change in the team that represented Canada last year. Others named were Lorne Main, 24-year-old veteran of five Davis Cup teams; Bill Willey, 24, of Vancouver and Bob Bedard, 22, of Cornwall, Ont., both on their second cup squad.

At 25 Platt becomes the oldest member of the team. His seniority over the 31-year-old Rochon knocks three years off the team age total, however.

SELECTION BASIS

The players were chosen on the basis of their Canadian ranking last year and their performances this season. Main, Canada's top ranking player, and Bedard second-ranked, were certain choices on the basis of impressive showings in tournaments abroad during the winter.

The selectors passed up Jim Macken of Vancouver, Canada's No. 3 player, because of poor performances this year. Macken had shot picked Willey, the No. 4 player, and Platt, No. 5, ahead of him. He not play in enough tournaments to be ranked last year, lost his service to Rochon in the team when he was defeated by Platt in the semi-finals of the recent invitation tournament at Mont Gabriel, Que.

Laird Watt, a former Davis Cup player from Montreal, was named captain for the Canadian team.

Canada won against Cuba and Argentina last year but bowed to the United States.

Winnie Ready For Big Swim

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Canada's great distance swimmer, Winnie Roach of St. Thomas, Ont., announced Monday night that she is ready to start early Wednesday to swim the rough Catalina channel.

The plans to plunge into Santa Catalina Island's Emerald bay at 12:30 a.m. and hopes to reach Point Vicente on the southern California mainland in less time than Florence Chadwick's 1952 record of 13 hours and 47 minutes. The distance is about 22 miles.

"I'm confident I'll make it," grinned Winnie in her trailer home here. "I wouldn't have come out this way if I didn't think I could. My father, Edward Roach, who is also her trainer, will accompany her in a rowboat. Her husband, Michael Kosisky, was unable to get leave from the RCAF to be here to watch her attempt the crossing.

Among Winnie's long distance feats is a successful swim across the English channel.

South knows he must lose a trick to the east trump king. So, the temptation is to lead some spade suit that will force east to use up the king with a ruff. South will then have only one more east trump.

This could be done by overtaking a club in dummy and letting east ruff a second club on which south can shed a diamond. But this will mean the loss of another trick when a diamond is lost to east.

Leading diamonds for any form will lose a diamond trick and the trick to the trump king. So, this plan is no good, either. Then do you come to the only plan left, the lead of a trump.

Lead good small trump and sluff a dummy diamond. East must take it with the king and return a diamond that the south ace wins. South now leads his remaining club.

This club is won with dummy's nine at a time when opponents have no more trumps. Club king also takes a trick and the opponents' clubs are gone. So, the last dummy club takes the remaining trick.

Of course, plays like these are difficult. They are difficult mostly because a player tries to remember too many cards. An expert does it easily by forgetting the cards he does not have to remember.

Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Mae West today handed some advice to Marilyn Monroe: You'd better win over the ladies, baby.

Miss West, still the epitome of sex, a legical party to hand out advice. She made millions muttering spicy comments while her shapely figure posed in a fancy car with the motor running. She will still command a top salary when she opens at Las Vegas' Sahara July 27.

The fabulous star's living room is unbelievably garish. It is all done in white, with Louis XV furniture trimmed in gold. On one wall is a nude painting of Miss West, for which she says she has refused $100,000. Atop the piano is her huge likeness in white marble. Beside the statue are tintypes of her parents.

90 BUT SEEMS 40

The record books indicate Mae is around 60, but she seems 20 years younger. Her figure is still there, and complexion, her skin smooth and her chin singular.

I asked her how she felt about Marilyn Monroe.

"I haven't seen her on the screen," Miss West said in her soft, nasal voice. "But folks tell me she is using a lot of things I did. She's got the wiggle and the humorous things she says. I don't know whether she has said them herself or not. At any rate, the press boys have done a good job on her."

Miss West reflected on her own rise to fame and said she "broke records everywhere" because she didn't alienate the female audiences.

RESPECTFUL TO WOMEN

"You'll notice in my pictures I never went after a married man or took a man away from another woman," she said. "I always treated other women with respect. That was all part of my plan to keep the women in the audience happy."

She said she arrived at this theory during the run of her famous play, "Sex," which was raided by police after a two-year run in New York during the gaudy 1920s.

"I found out that the women were offended by some of the things on the stage. One of them was a dance I did. It was a sort of belly dance I had learned when I was a kid. My father was an athlete, you know, and I used to watch him move the muscles of his abdomen. I learned to do it, and I incorporated the trick in that dance I did."

WON'T APE MARLENE

Miss West is following Marlene Dietrich, at the Sahara. I asked if she intended to attempt a similar act.

Miss Dietrich's topless gown.

"No, I don't think so," she replied. "I don't want to copy anyone. Besides, I prefer to work covered up. I've always thought a big piece of jewelry here or there can be sexier than a low-cut dress."

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — All in a week's work. . . .

James Cagney is going to play the villainous captain in "Mister Roberts," all because of his friend- shiip for another Irishman.

The tough redhead is playing his first western in 16 years, "Run for Cover." I watched him shoot up a barroom, then asked about his next assignment.

"Roberts." I mean- ioned that the captain is a heel.

"Yes, but what a wonderful heel!" Jimmy said. "I can have a lot of fun with him."

$150,000 FOR NOTHING

He told how the role came about. When he did "What Price Glory" with John Ford, he and the director agreed they would work together whenever a suitable role showed up. Recently Ford called Cagney.

"I need you," said the director. "I want you to play the captain in 'Mister Roberts.'"

"Fine, when do we start?" was the reply.

How would you like $150,000 for doing nothing? Things like that can happen if you work for Howard Hughes.

A few years back, Alan Young signed with RKO for two films a year at $75,000 each. So far the Vancouver actor has done one, "Androcles and the Lion." But the checques keep coming in. Sound wonderful? Young doesn't like it.

FLOATING KIDNEY STORY

"I want to work," he says. Even after I got paid, I offered to do a picture for nothing!" . . . John Payne, who is starring in the queerly titled "Co-Pilot," says he has the largest floating kidney in the world.

It seems Payne had a hemorrhaged gland removed in a Malibu beach home. The builders ignored a report that there was an old spring on the property and went right ahead.

FAST SCOT

Long-striding Jim Hamilton, half-miler from Glasgow, Scotland, says he hopes to be on Canada's track team in the British Empires Games which open at Vancouver, July 30. He came to Canada a year ago and has made a good showing in Pacific track and field meets. Hamilton submitted his running times to the Scottish selectors, but he was not placed on Scotland's team for the games. He felt he owed Scotland first chance, but says he prefers to run for Canada. AT THE BELLE

Walt Disney's Artistry Adds Magic To 'Peter Pan' on Lavish Production

For the first time since J. M. Barrie's play "Peter Pan", opened in London at the Duke of York theatre on December 27th, 1904, the hero is portrayed by a boy. The "actor" is one of Walt Disney's most endearing cartoon characters, articulated by Bobby Driscoll in Disney's sparkling all-animation feature, "Peter Pan".

From the time Mina Boucicault played in the role at the first Peter Pan, it has been traditional to cast an actress in the part. The greatest names of the stage have so appeared. Among them Maude Adams, Marilyn Miller, Eva Le Gallienne and Jean Arthur in the American showings, and, in the English performances Cisele Loftus, Fay Compton, Jean Forbes Robertson, Gwenneth Cranham, Edna Best, Gladys Cooper, Nova Pilbeam, Joan Hopkins, Margaret Lockwood and Glynis Johns have appeared.

But the screen version, under the magic of the Disney cartoon artistry offers a boy. And he must have been in Barrie's mind. The little, pixie-type tomb, with a puckish face, a slim, graceful body, a jaunty air, and a precise and lively voice.

In color by Technicolor, highlighted by the delightful score, combining all the grace of imagination with the earthy comedy of pure adventure, Walt Disney's "Peter Pan", showing Today and Wednesday, at the all-conditioned Belle Theatre, matinee daily, accomplishes a new achievement in motion picture entertainment.

DISNEY'S "BEAR COUNTRY" FUNNY

A special added attraction on the same program is Walt Disney's "Bear Country", the happiest, most rollicking adventure of all.

"Bear Paw and Bear Country", combined on the one program, and presented exclusively on the Belle Wide-Vision Screen, are Happy Treats for the whole family to enjoy.

AT THE ODEON McCARTHY THEATRE

Lovely blonde Marilyn Maxwell, a phenomenal success as a band singer, and Scott Brady, one of the rainers who quit while on top in order to carve out a new career, as an actress. Miss Maxwell is currently starred with Paulette Goddard, Eva Gabor, Barbara Florence, Cecil Kellaway, Robert Hutton, Leif Erickson and Mona Freeman in Columbia Pictures' "Paris Model," the frivolous new comedy now at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre.

AT THE CAPITOL — Marion Brando and his new mate Mary Murphy from a scene of Columbia's new picture "The Wild One" showing today and Wednesday at the Capitol theatre now in its first city showing. On the same program in Technicolor "The Loves of Carmen" not the opera starring Rita Hayworth and Glenn Ford.

Born in Clarinda, Ia., her mother's association with famed dancer Ruth St. Denis, as her pianist, made it only natural that Marilyn should become interested in music and dancing. Especially was she attracted the attention of top orchestra leaders and soon was singing with Buddy Rogers' band. After Rogers disbanded his musical outfit, she signed as featured girl vocalist with Ted Weems' orchestra to share the spotlight with a male singer named Perry Como.

Weems frequently urged Marilyn to try motion pictures, but she ignored the suggestion each time. Finally he discussed the matter with her mother and offered to finance Marilyn through the famed Pasadena Playhouse. She took to acting! Weems and her mother than anything else, she accepted. A talent scout saw her at the Playhouse and she was signed to make her screen debut with Harry Cohn in "Stand By for Action." She next appeared in "Reveille With Beverly" and then in Stanley Kramer's "Champion."

"The Alamein" featuring Scott Brady is the 2nd feature.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your life outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR WEDNESDAY, JULY 7, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Commonsense and attention in duties are imperative now but this does not mean you should be gloomy or humorless. We do our best and accomplish most when, though rightly serious and objective in action, still maintain a sense of humor.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Your Venus and other planets indicate irritation, nervous haste, so do be on guard. Start day's usual tasks—and new ones, too—with cheer yet with vigilance and ambition. It will pay.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — It is an excellent policy at times to retire from strenuous activities, take stock of self, mode of procedure, the kind of co-operation you are giving associates, employers, employees. Today is one of those periods.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — Refuse to be antagonized, inveigled into unpleasant bickerings or controversy. Keep—calm, reasonable for your own advantage and to better the quality of your efforts. Shine!

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Keep a stiff upper lip, as they say; show your fine courage and ability to manage things even though everything may not go just as you wish. A good day to check for errors, make improvements.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo)—It's better to accomplish a little and be sure of your footing than reach for too much and gain less, perhaps err. Study, careful analysis and cooperation with others should bring results now.

September 24 to October 22 (Libra)—Similar to Taurus now. But remember, there is never a day in which some good cannot be accomplished, some advancement made, and that is true today, mostly up to you—and your use of good judgment.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Self-control, consideration of others' rights and attributes are important today. Be your usually kind and capable self and you will gain, make friends.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Not an especially attractive period for money-making or producing showy results, but steady application to tasks will bring lasting benefits. Confer, seek advice if in doubt.

December 22 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Those who handle metals, machinery, tools, in mining; use extra caution. All: check to avoid needless hazards, mistakes. Your natural industriousness can bring fresh rewards.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Do not allow yourself to be diverted from your goals now. Keep going straight ahead, attending duties—even extra chores—as you so well can, and you will gain.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—This period is less restricting for you perhaps than for most of us now, but be prudent and stay with essentials primarily. You can relax later and with ease of conscience. New benefits possible.

YOU BORN TODAY are active, normally determined, very talented and versatile, but also likely to yield to emotionalism and perhaps fall into gloomy spells. When true to your finer characteristics you are kindly, generous, have an engaging personality and are entertaining. Avoid fretfulness and oversensitiveness. Keep usefully busy, and constantly improve your talents since many in your Sign achieve late in life, bring new laurels as the years advance. Good reading, religion, wholesome, intelligent associates will aid you in every way. Pray daily for God's help.

APPEALS FOR ASIAN PROTECTION

President Syngman Rhee of South Korea, speaking in Seoul at a war anniversary celebration, makes an impassioned plea for joint action to have Southeast Asia from Communism. Later, he conferred with Gen. James A. Van Fleet, the administration's fact-finder in the Far East, and reportedly asked for $300,000,000 a year more in the way of arms. Surrounding him are relatives of men who died in military aid. (Central Press Canadian).

More than 100,000 persons packed Olympic stadium in the British sector of Berlin to hear U.S. Evangelist Billy Graham. Other thousands who could not get into the stadium thronged adjacent May field. This general view showing part of the huge crowd was made as Graham (in dark suit) delivered his sermon. At the end of the meeting, Graham asked all those who believed in God to stand. The evangelist expressed his reaction to the response he received by saying "I've never seen anything like it in my life. This might be the beginning of a new Germany." (Central Press Canadian).

Canadian Cheddar Returning to U.K. Says R. F. Hart

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Canadian cheddar cheese is returning to the United Kingdom market through ordinary commercial channels have just been resumed after 14 years of government bulk purchase.

Robert F. Hart of Belleville, Ont., who introduced black diamond cheddar to Britain in 1934, said last night "some sales" have been made in the last week to private British importers. He declined to give details.

Private buying of the high-quality Canadian cheese, which has caused a number of inquiries by British wholesalers, is being resumed under import quotas based on the amount of natural cheese imported from North America in 1937-38. About £1,500,000 will be available for the purpose in the year which started July 1, 1954.

"We are prepared to come back into the British market with a distinctive type of cheese," said Hart, who is sales representative of the Ontario Cheese Producers Association. "We feel we can spare for export about 8 000,000 pounds, or 128,000 boxes."

Prices will be crucial. Canadian cheddar, made from raw milk, is considered superior to continental and New Zealand varieties made from pasteurized milk. But the British palate may have to be educated all over again. Under bulk purchase, little distinction was made between types.

Hart came to Britain to sound out the wholesalers along with W. Ormond Coon of Elgin, Ont., chairman of the Ontario cheese producers marketing boards and Everett Biggs of Brampton, Ont., dairy commissioner for the province. Coon and Biggs have since returned to Canada.

Hart estimated first deliveries of cheddar under the new import quotas might start in three to five weeks.

Many Started As Salesmen, Plant Employees

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

The milkman, like the cream in the bottle he delivers, rises to the top.

This is on the word of the Ontario Milk Distributors' Association which states that four out of every five senior executives in the province's milk-distributing industry, started as route salesmen or plant employees.

The association's finding is based on a survey of nearly 500 companies, with 23,000 employees, including 1,770 executives.

M. G. (Mike) Simpson, OMDA's general secretary, who himself started his career as a milkman in Moose Jaw, Sask., says this usually high ranks - to - executive showing probably results from employment policies of many of the large companies, who believe in filling managerial positions from its employees. One of the largest companies has a 100 - per - cent "grass-roots" executive.

Specialized jobs account for most of the 20 per cent of executives brought in from outside. Even here Mr. Simpson says, a large number of companies prefer to give the jobs to office and administrative clerks who study through correspondence or night schools.

TALES OF CANADA

When Alfred Driscoll, governor of New Jersey from 1947 to 1953 came to Toronto recently in his new position as president of Warner-Sudnut, Inc., he talked more of Canada's northwest and northeast than of his firm's pharmaceutical and beauty-aid products.

In 1926 he made a canoe trip from near Edmonton to Lake Athabasca and then, via Great Slave lake, down the Mackenzie river to the Arctic circle; and, after that, along the flat river to Alaska.

While governor of New Jersey he visited Labrador to look at its iron ore to see how it might fit into an Atlantic coast steel industry.

Mr. Driscoll is vice-chairman of the United States commission on intergovernmental relations.

Real War Threat Existed in Pacific In Recent Weeks

Military Quarters at Tokyo Say Danger Has Subsided

GLOBE-GIRDLER FOR CANADA

Elsa Jenkins is ready to start out on a whirlwind around the world trip at the request of Canadian ambassadors in various countries. In Egypt she will be presented with a camel, in New Delhi she will receive a pair of love birds. And in other places she will pick up examples of native handicrafts to bring back to the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto. Miss Jenkins is one of women's activities at the CNE and she is travelling to publicize the Exhibition's international character. — Central Press Canadian.

By ROBERT EUNSON

TOKYO- (AP) — Informed military quarters said today there has been a very real threat of world war exploding in the Pacific in recent weeks, but the danger has subsided.

These sources said that up to a week ago patrol planes anxiously scanned the skies north of Japan will warnings on the alert sped through the South Seas.

The tension has eased considerably in the last three weeks, these sources said, but the Russians still have 24 army divisions and 700 jet bombers poised for a possible attack on Japan.

JAPAN THE KEY

The tension was said to have resulted from the possibility "that U. S. forces would 'intervene' in Indo-China. Sources here said such intervention might well have reopened the shooting war in Korea. And Russia was poised for a possible attack on Japan, rated by both East and West as the cornerstone to control of the Pacific.

Military observers say late spring thaws in Siberia probably have already removed too much snow for quick movement of men and supplies. Redeployment of Allied ground forces from Korea is under consideration, now that the threat of war has lessened, it was reported.

There was speculation that the Sir Q. Division stationed in Korea would be pulled out, leaving 20 South Korean divisions and the air force to guard the demilitarized zone.

The RoK divisions are rated capable of holding off an attack by the estimated 500,000 North Korean and Chinese soldiers in Korea.

Plans also are under consideration to shift the U. S. 1st Cavalry Division from Japan's northern island of Hokkaido, leaving Japanese units to defend it.

BIRTH OF FORCES

Japan is building her ground forces to six divisions and could station a corps on Hokkaido if U. S. forces turn over their installations.

Military sources said these, two moves would:

1. Eliminate the necessity of tying down U. S. divisions in the defence of Japan.

2. Make Japanese and Korean troops more aware of their responsibilities for carrying a larger share of their defence to them.

Detroit Paper Says Ivan Will Go to Chicago

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit News said today that Tommy Ivan, coach of the Detroit Red Wings National Hockey League team, would be hired within 24 hours as general manager of the Chicago Black Hawks.

The News said James D. Norris, owner of the Black Hawks, asked Red Wings general manager Jack Adams to release Ivan, who has coached the Red Wings for seven years. The paper said Adams indicated he would not stand in Ivan's way.

Ivan would not comment on the story. Neither Adams nor Red Wings publicity director Fred Huber was available for comment.

SMALLER BITE

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP)— Ratepayers twice have rejected a school-building plan costing $2,000,000. Now the school board committee has decided to submit a new plan, costing half as much.

Chemical Compound Product Permanent Cancer Cure Reported

NEW YORK (AP)—Development of a chemical compound that produced permanent cure of one type of transplanted cancer in 100 per cent of its trials on rats has been reported by the Sloan-Kettering Institute.

The institute, which made the announcement Tuesday, noted that other chemical cures of any form of cancer in man have been achieved to date."

The institute's research unit of the Memorial Centre for Cancer and Allied Diseases, has the largest chemical testing program among cancer research groups.

They said the drug, which cured all cases of Jensen Sarcoma in rats is known as TEM—triethylene melamine—and was developed at the institute.

The results, the report said, "justify the hope that further study of these compounds capable of achieving permanent cure in man, not only of leukemia but also of other forms of cancer now beyond control."

URANIUM PLANT WORKERS STRIKE AT OAK RIDGE

If Plant Is Closed, Opening Long Process

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP)—CIO workers who help produce the enriche U. S. supply of fissionable uranium-235 for atomic weapons struck today at plants here and in Paducah, Ky.

Ignoring the possibility of a Taft-Hartley law injunction, the CIO chemical workers union posted pickets at 6 a. m., EDT, three hours before the appointed hour of the strike. Some 4,500 production and maintenance workers are affected.

The Carbide and Carbon Chemicals Company, which operates the plants for the Atomic Energy Commission, ordered its supervisory personnel to keep the plants in production.

NO INCIDENTS

Police said construction and other workers passed through the picket lines into the plants area without incident.

The chemical process for production of U-235 is so complex officials have said it might take a year to get the plants in operation again once stopped.

Democratic Governor Issued an order Tuesday for a fact-finding board to investigate the wage dispute. But union officials said they would ignore the president's action.

The strike call unless the 5 per cent union members received a 10-cent hourly pay raise. The demand was scaled down from 21 cents after union members rejected a 14-cent raise recommendation after parallel negotiations for a year.

Members of both unions authorized a strike call, but Jess Haman, president of the council, said the AFL workers would stay on their jobs. The strike for all plants range from $1.58 to $2.40.

The dispute already has gone through special atomic energy labor relations without settlement. Federal Mediator Howard's order that a fact-finding board be set up is the first step toward invoking the Taft-Hartley law's injunction provision. The board would report in 60 days after which the president could seek an injunction for an 80-day cooling-off period.

Churchill Will Speak Next Monday

LONDON (CP) — Prime Minister Churchill will make a statement Monday in the House of Commons on his Washington conference with President Eisenhower and also will report on his visit to Ottawa, Capt. Harry Crookshank, leader of the House, announced today.

Churchill plunged back into the parliamentary spotlight today with a full-scale "Cabinet meeting which he called after his triumphant flight in the liner Queen Elizabeth.

Parliament's summer recess is scheduled for Thursday.

Churchill was briefed the government leaders on his talks both with Eisenhower and with Canadian Premier St. Laurent. He and Foreign Secretary Eden were expected to discuss further their views on the Washington meeting behind many of the Anglo-American spoiler differences which broke out before the top-level talks.

Tonight the prime minister declared that he and Eden had "not entirely failed" in their efforts to "create understanding and solid agreement possible" between the Eisenhower team.

"Nothing comes before the true and lasting friendship between the British and United States," he said in a dockside comment.

Republicans Almost Close Door on Intelligent Policies Contention of British Paper

MANCHESTER (Reuters) — The Manchester Guardian says today that President Eisenhower's thinking now is being obscured and that Republican leaders in the United States Congress have almost closed the doors on "intelligent policies either in Europe or in Asia."

"President Eisenhower no longer speaks for the United States," the Liberal newspaper says. "To some slight his foreign policy he must secure money and approval from Congress and the Republican leaders in Congress are adamant against the kind of policies Sir Winston (Churchill) must have tried to persuade the president to accept.

"A stronger president would have more leadership through his party on its leaders in Congress, but Mr. Eisenhower is not a political tactician and he has perhaps too much respect for the independence which the constitution allows Congress."

It outlines the foreign policy views of the Republicans in Congress as being based on "no negotiations with Communists, no admission of China to the United Nations, and no more help for western Europe unless the European Defence Community is ratified—such is their unreasoning hatred—or still compromise with American policy!" the Guardian says.

If Eisenhower "accepts the view of his congressional leaders or by inaction leaves them to shape American policy, then there is little likelihood that Britain can continue to share a common policy with the United States.

"The divergence opens appalling possibilities—among them the dissolution of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization—but it has to be faced.

This was something Senator William Knowland, Republican majority leader in the Senate "and his friends have been expecting," the Guardian says. It adds that the Knowland group regards "the British and European Allies as unreliable," and although "they do not specifically say it, they seem to 'go it alone' they are ready for it if necessary."

It declares: "They have probably not fully understood the cost of their policy to the United States' itself, and it ought to be brought home to them.

"If they cannot persuade their Allies in Europe to follow them it would mean eventually the loss of all their European military bases except in Spain — and probably Spain, too, because forces of western Europe and Britain into 'neutralism'—which, in spite of what Mr. Knowland thinks, is about the last thing most people here want—and the establishment of an 'uncommitted' country in the world.

"Can we still be expected to follow them, if possible, not by anyone in Europe but by President Eisenhower himself. He must know it well."

Feared for Her Life in Embassy Mrs. Petrov Tells Spy Probe

MELBOURNE, Australia (Reuters)—Mrs. Evdokia Petrov today told an Australian spy probe commission that she lived in fear of death at the Russian embassy in Canberra and was sure her husband, Vladimir, quit his spy chief post last April only to escape communism.

Guards surrounded her day and night after she was taken to the embassy on April 3, and a curtain of silence cut off the outside world, she told Supreme Court Judge Owen, the commission chairman.

Mrs. Petrov broke down in tears in the attractive 40-year-old blonde said she feared she might be murdered in the embassy if she showed any sign of "planning things."

No one was allowed to talk to her, she said, and a man and a woman guard sat with her day and night. She was allowed to read only one newspaper, and the exchange of "Pravda" for Australian ambassador Nikolai Generalov told her Australia had "sold" her husband.

Generalov, meanwhile, forced her to write a letter refusing to meet Petrov on the grounds she would only "fall into a trap," she compiled after telling the ambassador "she'd like to stay." She addressed Petrov by the name "Vlayoda" to show she was not writing of her own free will.

Mrs. Petrov seemed emotionally shaken as she told of the ominous atmosphere which made her fear for her life. She was released from the commission today after government counsel W. J. V. Windeyer said he was sorry "very distressful for her."

Mrs. Petrov opened her testimony with a claim that the embassy's second secretary,—F. V. Petrov, was in charge of organizing a fifth column in Australia.

Kislitsin was one of the three Russians named by Mrs. Petrov Petrov back to Moscow by plane.

Mrs. Petrov said her husband after Australian officials offered her asylum at Darwin April 19. He told her he had had a communication that Petrov had hinted at his intention of seeking political asylum in Australia but had not told her outright. For the greater part of the following week, Mrs. Petrov said, she believed the story that he had gone to Moscow.

Earlier in the session, Windeyer revealed that he had called upon Australian Ambassador Max Bulgin Lockwood to appear before the commission today. Lockwood, not only Australian named so far in testimony before the commission, has entered suit against the government Tuesday in answer to charges made against him in a book the author of "Document J," a Russian embassy secretary who defected to "criminal libels" against several prominent Australians.

Father Saves Three Children Trapped in Fire

TORONTO (CP) — Three young children, badly burned and unconscious, were rescued from a fire early today after fire razed their apartment in eastern Toronto.

Firemen said it was a "miracle" the children were still breathing after the blaze because of the intense heat. Their father, Cecil Smith, carried Sharon, nine, Lynda, eight and Allan, six, from their flaming bedroom after Mrs. Smith gave the alarm.

Most seriously burned is Sharon, who suffered extensive burns about the head, face, arms, legs and hips. The other two children were burned about the upper parts of their bodies.

All three are in the emergency list in hospital and had to undergo immediate surgery.

Cause of the fire is not yet known.

Firemen chief Norman Ashley called in the arson squad to investigate.

Bench Warrant For Arrest Of Crooner Obtained

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The monetary history of crooner Dick Haymes had more sour notes today after a second ex-wife obtained a bench warrant for his arrest.

Rena Eddington Flynn Haymes charged the singer owed her $3,800 in alimony.

It was the second such warrant for Haymes who also is having troubles with both the U. S. Internal Revenue and the revenue departments.

Friday in Santa Monica superior court, Judge Orlando H. Rhodes issued a bench warrant for Haymes' arrest on a charge of non-support. Jeanne Dru, that he is in arrears $4,800 in alimony for support of their three children.

Joanne was wife number 2. Rena was number 3, and Dick currently is reported at Lake Tahoe with Elaine Mayo, his fifth wife-to-be number 4. For the record, number 1, was a club singer he wed in Chicago, but the marriage lasted only a few weeks.

AWAIT RESULTS OF POST-MORTEM IN TWO DEATHS

Woman Shot to Death, Man Found in Bed

STRATFORD (CP) — Police investigating the shotgun slaying of Mrs. Elizabeth Keen, 50, and the death of a former boarder in the home today awaited the results of post-mortem examinations.

They said the shot which killed Mrs. Keen Tuesday was fired through a window in the living quarters behind the refreshment booth she operated.

William Chornobity, about 55, was found dead in his room when his landlady went to call him for breakfast.

Police said they believed the post-mortem would show Chornobity died of poisoning. They said he had experienced considerable vomiting prior to his death. There was a deep, bloodless cut on his head.

BODY ON BED

The body of Mrs. Keen, who was struck on the head by many school children who frequented her tiny shop, was discovered in the blood-soaked bed by two boys who peered through a window into the living quarters from the back door, no one in the store.

Charles Huthmann, a border in the Keen home, told police he heard a shot at about 4:30 a.m. Believing automobile backfiring, tires on his car, Huthmann went down to inspect his car and then returned to bed.

Chornobity had been evicted from a room in a home six months ago.

Police said Chornobity, unable to work because of a recent attack of asthma, apparently got out of bed at the usual time Tuesday morning. His landlady, Mrs. Jessie Mark, told police she heard him moving about and went up at about 10 o'clock to ask if he wanted breakfast. When she received no answer she went into the room and found him on the bed.

Authorities said Mrs. Keen apparently was killed by two blasts from a shotgun. There was no evidence that the woman's living quarters had been forcibly entered or that anything was taken.

Eisenhower Not Advocating Quitting UN

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today he is completely and unalterably opposed to taking Red China into the United Nations under present conditions. But he told a press conference he does not favor the U. S. should withdraw from the UN if the Reds get in.

Eisenhower thus took issue by implication with Republican Senate leaders Knowland of California and some other lawmakers who have urged the United States withdrawal from the UN if the Peiping government is admitted over American protests.

Canada and U.S. Move Step Closer To Seaway Start

Agenda for Negotiations At Cabinet Level Filed

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada and the United States moved a step closer to a start on joint construction of the St. Lawrence seaway today, as an agenda for final negotiations at the cabinet level was forwarded to the governments of the two countries.

The final talks expected to be opened later this month were planned at a 1½-day conference of Canadian and American officials and could mean a start this year on the $200,000,000 navigation phase of the deep waterway.

The date and place for the final negotiations will be set after the governments have studied the tentative agenda which, it is understood, dealt chiefly with changes to be made to a Canada-U.S. agreement two years ago.

CHANGES NECESSARY

The agreement, approved Canadian construction of the navigation facilities, but some changes have since become necessary in the light of U.S. legislation approved this year.

Legislation has been passed by the national section of the 27-foot deep canals to the U.S. side of the St. Lawrence.

Canada has not said it will approve the change, although it has conceded unofficially she is ready to accept it, provided there is no delay in building the canals.

Latest official statements, however, indicate Canada is not already to proceed alone. This country must build a cost of about $200,000,000 canals down river from the International rapids section, and enlargement of the Welland canal by-passing Niagara Falls.

Meanwhile, work on the $600,000,000 power development is due to start this year. Ontario and New York state will share 50-50 the cost and the 2,200,000 horsepower to be harnessed from the St. Lawrence.

FIRST MEETING

After the international conference, Canada's newly-appointed St. Lawrence seaway authority held its first meeting. The agency is headed by Hon. Lionel Chevrier, former transport minister, who was Canada's chief delegate at the preliminary discussions here May 31 day and Tuesday.

"We were drafting plans for getting our organization set up," Mr. Chevrier said. "From now on, we hope to get down to brass tacks."

Although the final talks will be between Cabinet ministers, members of the seaway authority and its U.S. counterpart are expected to be present.

The trussed body of Mrs. Estelle Kopplin was found with her skull smashed amidst the ruins of the 10-room log-and-frame house fire in which her two children also perished.

Boys Stow Away on Liner in Norway, Detected 5 Hours Out of New York

NEW YORK (AP)—Four 14-year-old boys Destin Smith knew of no place like home, even if this home is in hot, muggy New York.

His parents thought it would be a good place, too, for the boys' summer in Norway, where he goes to school.

This idea Pete didn't like at all.

"If you don't send me passage to Norway I'll run away," he said, "and I'll run away," he warned in a letter to his mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Kendall Smith. Pete didn't get the money.

Tuesday, when they returned from a Fourth of July week-end trip, the Smith telephone rang and the stepfather picked up the receiver.

"Hello papa," he heard. "Papa, Peter and 13-year-old Jon Eric Johansen decided to come over. Norway."

So they walked aboard the Norwegian American line flagship Oslofjord on the crew gangplank, and that was that.

The two spent nine days aboard the ship, mixing with the paying passengers, playing deck games and sleeping in shower rooms.

"It was fun—it was simple, explained Pete.

IN THE KING WITH DEMPSEY

A San Francisco hat check girl, Patricia Erickson Harbers is in a fighting mood as her claims for $500,000 against a U.S. beer concern, claiming that her chances for being featured in an advertising campaign were knocked out by Jack Dempsey. She said she had won a beauty contest, and believed her picture would be used. Instead, she avers, the concern decided to use a photo of Dempsey. — Central Press Canadian.

Basilian Order Names New Superior General

TORONTO (CP) — Very Rev. George B. Flahiff, 49, of Paris, Ont., Tuesday was named superior general of the North American community of the Basilian order.

He succeeds Very Rev. J. McCorkell, Brechin, Ont., who held the post for two six-year terms.

The Roman Catholic order's week-long meeting, attended by delegates from many parts of North America, opened Monday.

Delegates will discuss the possibility of reuniting with the order's mother community in France.

The North American community separated from the mother community in 1922. Now the mother community, which has not developed as much as the North American community, has requested that the two be united.

Father Flahiff will head the community of priests who are in charge of the order's educational institutes in Canada and the United States. He now is professor of mediaeval history at St. Michael's College, Toronto.

The procurator-general, who will represent the community in Rome, is Rev. V. P. McLaughlin, Cornwall, Ont.

Drama Festival Outlined To Kiwanis Club

The Kiwanis Club was given an insight into this year's Stratford Shakespearean Festival yesterday when Robert Tanner, of Ryerson Electric, who recently attended the festival, gave the Brighton group a description of what now is Canada's premier theatrical event to the club's regular meeting.

Mr. Tanner, who attended presentations of "Measure for Measure" and "The Taming of the Shrew", cited the performances of the Canadian artists in both productions.

The next production, the ancient Greek tragedy, "Oedipus Rex" will be presented in the original classical style, promised to be "a very interesting production," he said.

Last year the festival came through its birth period with a deficit of about $4,000. This year with the primary expenses of construction and installations out of the way a bogey the festival hopes to show a credit balance of some $20,000, Mr. Tanner said.

He also discredited reports that the festival has been completely booked out.

"There have been various statements that tickets have been just unobtainable. That unfortunately was not out before the various agencies had returned tickets they had not sold."

The speaker was introduced by Everett Fairman and thanked by Bob Punchard. The after luncheon songfest was led by Vic White.

Hasty Pees Will Train In Niagara

When the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment leave for Camp Niagara on historic Niagara-on-the-Lake on Saturday, 24th July, it will mark a new departure in the mode of transportation for the Unit.

This year the members of the Battalion will proceed by bus to Toronto and embark on the newly commissioned steamship S.S. Cayuga for Niagara-on-the-Lake. Put back into service this year after being completely refitted and refurbished the Queen of the Great Lake will take on board some one hundred members of the Regiment from Bancroft, Trenton, Picton and Belleville for this cruise. This marks another milestone in the history of the regiment. Two years ago regimental transport was used to convoy the troops to Petawawa; last year chartered buses carried the members to Niagara and this year by ship.

Arrangements for this voyage were, recently completed by Col. E. N. Carr, commanding the 7th Canadian Infantry Brigade to give the troops this additional "outing". A combined trumpet band composed of elements of the Princess of Wales Own Regiment band of Kingston, recent winners of the Eastern Ontario Band Tattoo and the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment will lead the brigade from its rendezvous at union station, Toronto, to embark on the Cayuga at Toronto harbor and will entertain the troops aboard ship during the cruise. Embarking at Niagara-on-the-Lake the brigade will be paraded to the camp adjoining the town where it will remain for a week's training amid the historic surroundings of the Niagara peninsula.

Returning on the 31st July, the regiment will again go aboard the Cayuga for the trip to Toronto where buses will be waiting to lift the troops back to Belleville.

Vacancies for specialized training in the motor platoon, signal platoon, carrier and transport sections still exist for those who can qualify. Information is available at the armouries in your district and there is sufficient time to complete your arrangements in order to proceed to summer camp with the Hasty Pees.

Child Kidnapped From Baltimore Home, Murdered

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Judith Ann Roberts, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roberts, was kidnapped from the home of her grandparents today and murdered. Police found the nude and savagely battered body of the little girl in a wooded area just off fashionable Bayshore Drive on the shore of Biscayne Bay.

She had been reported missing some five hours before by her mother, Mrs. Shirley Roberts. She disappeared from the home of Mrs. Roberts, parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rosenberg.

The child's absence was discovered at 1.10 a.m. when Mrs. Rosenberg was awakened by the sound of a car roaring away from her home. Police on a routine patrol found the car at 2 a.m., between Bayshore Drive and the bay shore.

Scores of officers fanned out from the abandoned car and one of them found Judith Ann's body at 6.15 a.m. in a clump of bushes a block south of where the car was discovered.

She had been beaten on the head, apparently with a heavy instrument. Her body was caked with blood and dirt, indicating she had put up a fight. A piece of gauze was around her throat and police said it appeared the material had been used to strangle her.

Homicide detectives I. J. Whitehead and Charles Sapp said there was no indication that an attempt had been made to collect a ransom. Mr. Roberts said she and her husband, James, were in modest circumstances and not a likely target for a ransom kidnaping.

Council Prohibits Parking In Front of Memorial Gates

TRENTON (Special) — A new by-law authorizing parking in front of the Memorial Gates at Sunnidale Park was passed after a changed and limited parking will be allowed on the other side of Albert Street in front of the Trenton Memorial Library. The Trenton Branch of the Canadian Legion requested council change their decision about parking in front of the cenotaph. Mayor Ross Burtt, a member of the Legion and member ex-officio of the Trenton Parks Board, said he felt there should be no parking in the area of the memorial and the memorial library. "I still am of the same opinion," he asserted, "regardless of what we do on Albert Street." Library Board Secretary Fraser Memorial Park and the Trenton Memorial Library property's council member Basil Smilanin favored restricting parking in front of the cenotaph leaving a space of three car lengths as a prohibited area. Councillor Clarence Bonter wanted no parking on one side of the street or the other. "The Legion pointed out the place but we have to have parking," he pointed out. Councillor Jack McDonald said it all for keeping the entire street clear of cars. He asked his colleagues to consider another parking section and look at the long range needs. Councillor Lyn McNair, G. Weaver and R. Armstrong indicated that they would see the situation. Councillor Bonter expressed a desire for parking on the other side of the road. The councillor commented: "when the Library was on the east side of the park we used to cover parking in front of the building without trouble."

WANTS DAMAGES

D. K. Vanderwater living at the corner of MacLellan and Bluster streets claimed that he had been refused $250 damages resulting from a sewer backing up and flooding his basement. Town Engineer Reid Clark reported that blue colored water was covering the floor of the claimant's cellar three inches deep. The trouble had been no rain and the ground outside was dry. He figured the flooding was caused from industrial waste from the Trenton Dyeing and Finishing Company blocking the sewer. He recommended double screens for the sewer and a precaution against blocking.

Gibb Auto whose Dundas Street store was also damaged by cellar flooding claimed $56.

Both claims were sent on to the town's liability insurance company.

Council supported Port Arthur's fight for an all Canadian cross country pipeline to carry natural gas from the Alberta field. Opposition wants the pipeline to branch off down into the United States and then enter Canada at a point farther east missing head of the lakes communities. The letter from the Port Arthur Council noted the difficulty that faced the pipeline builders proposing to push the pipeline through rock laden country north of Lake Superior.

Town Engineer Clark suggested that the town's acknowledgment carry a rider requesting all Canadian engineers, workers and materials be employed on the pipeline project if Port Arthur is successful. Council accepted Mr. Clark's advice.

WILL CANCEL EASEMENT

O. G. Alyea served notice on the town council that the easement permitting the town to cross his property to the river on Ontario Street would be cancelled in 30 days.

Engineer Clark informed council the survey of Ontario Street and Wragge Street properties on the waterfront would commence Thursday.

Council recommended one meter in front of Roy Peters' grocery on Front Street be removed and a "Truck Parking Only for 15 Minutes" sign be erected in its place.

Clerk Lucy was instructed to advise contractor J. F. Day that he was beyond council's control to authorize exchange of lots on the south side of Mount Pelion. The decision is in the hands of the Parks Board with jurisdiction over park's property.

By-law 795 covering dance halls has been redrafted and expanded to cover "persons or persons, corporation or corporations."

Cambodia Will Fight to End To Defend National Territory

By EDDY GILMORE

GENEVA (AP)—Cambodia will fight to the end to defend her national territory, a spokesman said today as a Cambodian military delegation opened conferences with the Communist-led Vietminh on possible armistice terms for Indo-China.

In a statement issued before the session, Cambodia's Pe Thein said his people respect all races, religions and political beliefs and ask only for reciprocity.

The statement indicated the Cambodians intend to maintain their stand that there is no indigenous resistance movement in Cambodia. They say peace can be restored to the country by the simple withdrawal of Vietminh troops.

The firm Cambodian stand was outlined only a few hours before Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov was scheduled to return to Geneva to resume the long deadlocked Indo-China peace talks.

Molotov's early return...was regarded in Western circles as an effort by the Soviet minister to force early reconvening of the conference at top level. The next session of the conference is scheduled for Friday and it was generally expected Molotov would be there.

Jean Chauvel, acting head of the French delegation, left today to leave by train for Paris tonight for consultations with Premier Mendes-France, new French premier.

Mendes-France, who is reported eager to undertake direct peace negotiations here, may now find it possible to come to Geneva next week. British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden is generally expected back in Geneva early in the week. There has been no word about the plans of Communist China's Foreign Minister Chou En-lai.

There has been no indication here as to whether U. S. State Secretary Dulles or Undersecretary Walter Bedell Smith, both of whom were in Geneva earlier, will return.

A French spokesman said today reports that France and the Vietminh have agreed on the 18th parallel for the partition of Viet Nam "did not correspond to reality." The French spokesman said the talks had not progressed far enough yet to reach such a firm decision.

Sunday School Picnics

VICTORIA AVE. AND FAIRWAY AVE. BAPTIST S.S. PICNIC

This year a joint picnic was held at Centennial Beach on Thursday with about 300 in attendance from both Victoria Ave. and Fairway Ave. Baptist Sunday Schools.

Ideal picnic weather made the day most enjoyable except for a shower after supper which sent many on their way home sooner than was scheduled.

Bathing was slated first on the program, where the sandy beach and refreshing waters of Lake Ontario left nothing to be desired. The handing out of tickets to pupils of both Sunday Schools for free ice cream cones and soft drinks preceded the races. The customary scrambles for kisses and peanuts were also thoroughly enjoyed by all—both young and old.

The silver cup trophy baseball game for boys and girls, 12 years of age and under to be competed for between Victoria Ave. and Fairway Ave. Sunday schools was called off because of rain but will be held in the near future. However after the rain was over, several members, who remained, enjoyed a lively ball game.

The races for the two Sunday schools were held separately, which were as follows:

Bodies of Guide And Indian Girl Were Headless

GLASSVILLE, N.B. (CP)—New Brunswick pathologist R. H. MacKeen testified Tuesday that the bodies of an 18-year-old Indian girl and her fiance were headless when a professional guide stumbled on them near here two weeks ago.

Dr. MacKeen summed up the inconclusive medical findings at a coroner's inquest into the deaths of sporting guide Douglas Grant, 25, and Malicest Indian girl Madeleine Polchies.

The jury returned an open verdict which left the cause of death undecided but attached a recommendation for further investigation.

Dr. MacKeen said the two might have been shot or beaten to death. Bludgeoning, however, did not jibe with an earlier theory of murder and suicide.

Bloomfield Girl Awarded Silver Cross

TORONTO (CP)—Marilyn Frail-eigh, 15-year-old girl guide from Bloomfield, Ont., has been awarded the Silver Cross by the Girl Guides Association for her heroic attempt at rescuing a little boy from drowning last February.

On Feb. 22 Marilyn tried to rescue Douglas Urquhard, 3, who fell through the ice into a mill pond at Bloomfield. However, there was a swift current and the child's body was swept away from her.

The water was from eight to 10 feet deep and his body was not found until the ice was dynamited several days later.

Bloomfield is 18 miles southeast of Trenton.

Communists Open Fire On Allied Police Boat

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—Communist troops opened fire today on an Allied police boat which ran aground in the Han river while patrolling the cease-fire line in western Korea, the United Nations command charged.

The UN did not say whether anyone aboard the boat was hit or how many shots were fired from the Red-held site of the broad river.

Rear Admiral T. B. Brittain accused the Communists of violating the 2½ mile wide demilitarized zone between Allied and Communist armies.

Each side patrols its half of the zone, using boats on the Han where it becomes the cease-fire line in the west.

THE USE OF PRESTIGE

William L. Laurence of the New York Times Service has interviewed Dr. Edward Teller, considered the chief architect of the hydrogen bomb.

He asked Dr. Teller "whether a scientist had the right to decide for himself on purely moral grounds if his special talent should be lent to the development of weapons of mass destruction, such as the hydrogen bomb."

In reply, Dr. Teller is quoted as follows: "I believe in the right of any person to be a conscientious objector. But I do not believe that the scientist has the right to use his scientific prestige to influence politics. Scientists as a group should stay out of politics except in areas touching on science."

There are three sentences in that reply. Each is important. The first deals with conscientious objection, always a controversial subject. With reference to the third sentence, one might wonder whether, in this day and age, there are any kinds of activity which are not, in some manner, "areas touching on science." But it is the middle sentence which is most highly controversial.

Dr. Teller says that he does not believe that "the scientist" has the right to use his scientific prestige to influence politics. The question immediately arises as to exactly what he means by the words "the scientist." If this phrase was used to refer to scientists as a group, then what Dr. Teller is saying is that they should not use their prestige as a group to influence political decisions. A case might be made for such a contention. But if by "the scientist" Dr. Teller meant any scientist, then he is denying to the scientist a right now accorded to men and women in practically every other calling.

The scientist uses his prestige as an industrialist to influence politics. The labor leader uses his prestige as a labor leader to influence politics. The lawyer, the lawyer, the doctor and the clergyman all, upon occasion, use the prestige they have acquired in their profession or occupation in an effort to influence political decisions.

But perhaps this is wrong. Perhaps it is true that the social judgment and clear thinking which win a man or woman prestige in one field of endeavor are no guarantee that this same soundness of judgment and clarity of thinking will be evident in his or her political thinking. Indeed, some striking examples could be assembled to bolster such a contention. Dr. Teller, if he were asked to contribute to such a list of examples, might name Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, against whom he was the principal scientific witness at the A.E.C. hearings on the question of security risks as a result of their political views. But of Dr. Oppenheimer's standing as a scientist there could be cited respecting the political naivete of persons in other fields besides scientific research.

Under our democratic system of government the right to influence politics cannot be reserved to politicians. We all have the right to use whatever prestige we possess to influence political decisions in the direction which we think will be effective and just. If brilliance as a scientist is no guarantee that a man will be equally brilliant as a politician, it at least should not disqualify him from exercising the same right to express his political views as that enjoyed by the butcher, the baker and the candlestick maker.

TOURIST FIGURES

In 1953 the average Canadian spent eleven times as much money in the United States as the average United States citizen spent in Canada.

U.S. visitors to Canada left $282,000,000 here. As the population of the U.S. is 160,000,000, that is a per capita expenditure of roughly $1.76. But Canada, with a population of 15,000,000, spent $307,000,000 for travel in the U.S., or an average of $20.47 per head.

There was a time when "tourism" was being painted as a great national industry, on which our prosperity depended.

These figures put it in its proper light.

The tourist industry is big business. But Canada is something much more important than merely a summer playground for the citizens of her great neighbor to the south. Canada's prosperity depends not on her fishing and scenery, but on her industrial plants, her mines, her farm and factory, mine and mill. She is wealthy enough to enable her citizens to spend abroad every dollar which visitors leave here—and $3,000,000 extra dollars besides.

IT DID NOT SEEM FAIR

If straws show the way the wind is blowing, perhaps Canadians may not yet be spared a costly railway strike.

Ron Haggart, writing in the Toronto Globe and Mail, reports an incident which reflects credit on a group of railway union officials. They were sending out strike ballots. As railway workers, they had the right to send packages by express for nothing. But they paid for the shipments.

"It didn't seem right," said one union official, "making the railways carry our strike ballots for nothing."

It is refreshing to read of an incident like this and arouse no resentment, where such a spirit exists, some method of settling the dispute without a work stoppage may be discovered.

PITY FOR A SEVENTY GOLFER

He stood beside his locker door
And watched his hand to mine.
He shuddered when I asked what for:
"I envy a seventy-nine!
It is the first I've ever had.
My card I wish you'd read."
Said he: "That's wonderful but sad,
And pity now you need.

"It's pride that fosters misery
Among the golfing clan.
Henceforth you'll think yourself
so big
A proven seventy must
And that you will happiness destroy.
As long as you're alive
You'll never more get any joy
From scores of eighty-five.

"Your hand today your friends will shake,
But this I wish you'd heed:
Those seventy-nines are hard to make
And very rare, indeed.
The thought that you're a seventy man
Must not too long survive.
Forget it. Then again you can Enjoy an eighty-five."

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

CONFIDENCE

I like that word—confidence. If we have confidence in ourselves, in our friends, in those with whom we are associated in business, in our government which is ours, then the way ahead can be looked upon as clear and full of hope.

When we take a seat in a railroad car, a bus, or public conveyance, we do so with confidence.

We would be so full of worries and doubts about that we would amount to nothing were it not that we had confidence in those who take us under their care.

To have confidence in a person or in the future is as essential as water, air, and food for the body. Confidence is the vitamin that is wrapped up in confidence. The future would be a dark and gloomy prospect without a wholesome confidence in ourselves, other people, the business in which we are engaged, and confidence in the free way of life' in which we were born. When you lose confidence in a person or enterprise, all is lost as far as you are concerned. You can neither be successful nor happy with anyone in whom you have no confidence. Since confidence means so much, it is a crime to shake the confidence that another has, regardless of whether or not that confidence is wrongly placed.

A child has perfect confidence in its parents. It is inborn. That confidence should be greatly encouraged all through life. All of us no matter what our station in life may be, must strive to live worthy lives. We want everyone with whom we come in contact to believe in us, to give us a word of cheer, whether in victory or defeat.

No Sympathy For Fish Hogs

(Sudbury Daily Star)

Seven Ohio fishermen who were fined at North Bay for being in possession of 365 pickerel, when their limit was 25, and who reportedly told the game overseers they would tell their friends to stay away from Ontario, have met with little sympathy in their home state.

A writer for the Cleveland Plain Dealer, Lou Gall, wrote:

"Fellows, we've news for the likes of you, even if you do come from Ohio. Most Canadians and practically all Americans who could never qualify for your master fish hogs' club would be pleased no end if you and your kind never went to Canada.

The writer maintained that in his opinion the Canadian courts were "too lenient" with the offenders.

Another writer, Hank Andrews, of the Cleveland Press, said:

"Ohio has a black mark against it in the eyes of many Canadian people as a result of this incident and I maintain that if Ohioans don't like the fishing laws in Ontario, they should stay away. They shouldn't try to cheat the law. Sportsmen must really cringe in disgust at such a wanton violation as this one."

Ontario sportsmen are the first to admit that most of the visitors from south of the border are true sportsmen, and that they can give lessons in sportsmanship to many of their Canadian cousins.

The suppression of opinion from the pens of writers in the fish hogs' home state would indicate that their home is welcome to keep Ohioans away from Ontario will not be far removed from nil.

June, with its school examinations, is one period when the average man is happy that time does no intention of turning back in its flight and making him a boy again.

Reforming Chinese

(Edmonton Journal)

Peiping radio, in a broadcast heard in Tokyo, has announced that a new drive has begun on a reform of the Chinese language. Apparently, it is proposed to eliminate gradually the ancient characters at present in use and replace them with an alphabet. Even for the Chinese Communists who seem to believe in accomplishing prodigious tasks, the hard way, such a reform represents a formidable undertaking.

In contrast to such alphabetic languages as English or Russian, written Chinese makes use of characters each of which denotes one word. Thus, even though a northern and a southern Chinese may pronounce a word differently, both can read the same newspaper or book, since the characters are uniform throughout China. A analogous situation exists in the Western world with respect to numerals. The symbol "4" is understood by Spaniards and Germans, for the sounds, or the spoken words, for four are quite different in the two languages.

Happily, in the West this device has restricted use, But in China the written word avoids difficulties which may prove nightmares of English or Germans. Chinese root-words are all monosyllabic; disyllables are rarely encountered, and polysyllables, as in the English maltman compounds, are unknown. This is not a handicap in itself, as will be seen from the word "fu" which can mean either wife, spirit, or belly. In the present written language, of course, each of these alternatives is represented by a separate symbol.

The difficulties do not end there. In the example cited, fu is pronounced in the first instance in the second tone it can mean fortune; in the third, government official; and in the fourth, rich. Thus, where present Chinese has a plethora of characters for fu to cover all its meanings, an alphabet such as the Roman is limited to f and u. In the sentence, "the rich father opposes a split in the Communist office," fu would occur five times. If there were no indication of tone, the sentence would be more gibberish.

Despite the complexities, however, efforts at reform are not hopeless. In 1928, Turkey discarded Arabic for Latin letters, and in Chinese Latin alphabets at reform have already been made. The Chinese scholar used a transcription called the National Language Romanization which he arbitrarily selected Latin letters tacked on to the ends of words to denote tones. In another system, small numerals followed the words; and yet another, which seems the most promising against adopting a foreign alphabet, embodied a Chinese phonetic and thirty-nine native characters.

Whether the Communists are basing their reform on any of these systems, or whether they have evolved an entirely new system, is unknown.

As for pale, Mao Tse-tung has compelled in his country a unity of language, script and speech; and is presumably supporting the latest reform; this will give it control of the press. In addition, it is said that Pekingese is steadily progressing toward a reform. The other Chinese dialects and many eventually become extinct, as they have in China. It is, therefore, eligible as a basis for the reform. But even so, the common language has hampered previous attempts.

The factors combined may lead to a turning point in the Chinese culture. The Communist reform of language should succeed, it may well go down in history as a notable achievement.

How to Catch An Alligator

(Milwaukee Journal)

Next time the little lady says she wants a new alligator handbag, don't worry about the budget. Go out and catch one yourself. The Louisiana wild life and fisheries commission is promoting alligator hunting as an inexpensive and exciting pastime. It estimates that the alligator hide bringing $2.75 a foot on the New Orleans market, and not-needle experts advise, is a little hatchet, a 14 foot pole, a neck and shoulder length boot and a reasonable imitation of an alligator.

Wearing your hip and tennis shoes you hike to a Louisiana swamp, where you find not only plenty of alligators but an abundance of mosquitoes, gnats, wasps, briars, spiders and snakes.

Ignoring the other wild life, you go to a palmetto or prairie area, where you locate a small but deep water holes. In the cool blue mud of these holes lie alligators, which make certain which hole an alligator is in, you look for—and find—a big footprint in the brush left by the alligator's body as he entered or left the pool. Then with your pole until it shakes slightly. You have reached bottom. Pull out of the water rises and falls as the alligator emerges from his den.

Now you begin to grunt. It is an nasal sound which is supposed to be the delight of the alligator. You hear an eerie, hissing-reply as the alligator answers and you slow him to the surface. The reptile's snout breaks the surface and you drive the hatchet between the pressence of his enemy.

If you're still with us that's you. Once the alligator sniffs your presence, he dives back down to the bottom. Your next step is to leave the vicinity.

The gator has no sense of smell under water. Even though he has poor eyesight, he doesn't know what it is. Anyway, that's what the Louisiana fisheries commission say.

Up moves the alligator along your line. This is the time when you begin to think of the merits of model railroading instead.

The moment the flat, evil looking head breaks the surface you grab the line, plunge a vise clamp the lower jaw and the thumb clamping down atop the snout. Then you're ready to learn to write with your other hand.

Now, dodging the lash of the alligator's vicious tail, you bring the hammer end of the hatchet down solidly behind the eyes in the area enclosing the brain. Three or four blows should ought to do the job.

That leaves nothing to do but cart the alligator back to the pickup truck and have a handbag made.

Or could the wife get by this year with something a patent leather?

New, Low-Slung Train Planned

(Wall Street Journal, New York)

A western railroad may be the first to put into service a radically new, low-slung, lightweight passenger train.

The Rock Island Railroad, it is learned, soon will place an order for the train, said to embody features of the Talgo and Aerotrain and a new German train, the "Gliederstrizuge." However, the pattern which meets specifications of both railroads is somewhat nearly follows the German train.

The Rock Island Railroad, it is reported, is planning to operate first-class fares for reserved seats in the new train and to have it attached to arm rests.

Each individual must be wrapped up, but this is a close approximation of what is called "Hi-Level."

It will carry four triple-unit cars, each 100 feet long. Seating capacity of the train will be about 300 passengers, depending on whether you will be served in the lounge and on how kitchen facilities are arranged. Each triple-unit 75-foot coach, in short haul service can carry up to 150 passengers. The center unit of each "Hi" car will have a single axle under each end, and the two end connecting units will rest on and be articulated to it. The connecting units will have no axle under the articulated end, but will each have a single axle at the other end.

Each triple-unit coach will be about 11½ feet from rail to roof compared to 14 feet for conventional equipment. It will have riding qualities and faster acceleration and deceleration. The coach weight will be suppended on springs below the wheel axle, instead of being mounted above.

A controversial, though "dolical" 1,500 horsepower diesel will propel the new train.

Weight of the whole train would be about half of that of a conventional streamliner of the same length.

Saw Leaves No Sawdust

(Windsor Star)

Man's strivings may be getting somewhere after all.

From a report, for example, the invention reported in Australia, the saw that leaves no sawdust.

It has a wood dust from a saw, cannot we hope for no plunging of saw dust into borings from an auger or bit, no chips from an axe, and no down the line?

The charge most often thrown at the home repairman is that he causes a bigger mess than he performs repairs for. In the brave new world ahead, he can hope at least to be tidy.

Even the farmer's axe of the future may leave no debris behind.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

PREMONITORY SLOWDOWN

"Mother is 71 years old and she has developed a SLOW GAIT, Dr. Brady inch by inch walking, shuffling slowly. At times she makes an effort to lift the feet but soon tires and resumes shuffling. Many doctors have examined her but none has told us what the trouble is. X-rays made repeatedly, without revealing any or abnormality. No pain. Heart normal. Blood pressure normal. No solution offered, except reducing weight. She weighs 185 pounds." (W.E.I.)

If I had second sight—all you tell me is that mother walks slowly and drags her feet. Even without extra-sensory perception I might get a lead if I knew your mother's present height and how much she has shrunk in stature in recent years.

If she really lifts the feet as she should when walking, instead of a short time by special effort, she probably has no nerve or spinal cord ailment.

Whether in particular ails your mother it can do her little harm and may do her much good, to supplement her diet with a generous ration of the three minerals and three vitamins most likely to be lacking in our refined modern diet.

For health and prolonged life your mother should consume not less than 1½ pints (three glasses) of milk daily or the equivalent in milk products.

Regardless of chronological age, the most obvious evidence of aging in many instances is just what W.E.I. describes as slowdown. Not only the gait but a noticeable slowness of all movements.

It won't hold back senility much just driving oneself to walk faster or with more lively step, although that is better than no exercise at all. Nor will such conscious affectation of briskness conceal one's decline.

Another way to manage this premonitory slowdown is to begin thirty or forty years before it sets in, rolling somersaults, taking your iodin ration, practising belly breathing, following a protective, corrective or regeneration diet, supplementing your ordinary diet with the three minerals and three vitamins generously lacking in the ordinary diet.

Now, young ones, while you are pondering methods of prolonged senility and decline, (or if you don't like those words) still it does constitute physical degeneration, that is) for peace of mind remember that it happens to everybody in the world. It is the way we all go if we live long enough.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

HAWKS ARE NO SOLUTION

In recent years the pigeons around a public building in one of our cities have become a perfect nuisance. Every conceivable plan to get rid of them has failed. The birds have learned to laugh and thought up a lot of silly plans for frightening the birds away. But still they haven't succeeded and they multiply. Recently, however, a hawk has been installed to swoop down and get the young birds. Many people think it is a real deliverance. But is it?

As a general principle, it never pays to try to do away with one evil by employing another evil. Across the pages of history are written the accounts of hundreds of projects wherefore kings and parliaments tried to rid their nations of evils by the clever employment of some evil not so well known. In the end the cure turned out to be as bad—and frequently worse than the disease.

The way to get rid of pigeons is to get rid of them in such a way that satisfactory means can be found for doing this, they have to be employed. Only in that way can the problems of life is to solve them, not by try to circumvent them by substituting something easier to endure.

Hawks are no solution for two many pigeons. Neither are the crafty plans of all kinds of amelioratonists, who plan not to cure the source of our social and political troubles but to make them less painful.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

One of the queerest things in our queer social system is the fact that a taxi driver, when he is your taxi driver, is almost invariably a man of quite decent and respectable fellow; but when he is somebody else's taxi driver, he is a ruffian or a scoundrel.

In fact, thinking it over, I don't believe I have had a bad behaved taxi driver in years. Trying to picture the average hackie who has driven me, both here and abroad, the past ten years, I find he is a man in his thirties, as a rule, an ex-soldier, a cheerful character who jumps out to open the door for me and utters pleasantries to me while turning the knob of the taximeter, opens a most pleasant conversation with some remark about the weather or whatever happens to be headline in conventional spheres at the moment. Indeed, taxi drivers generally are my most pleasant companions at close quarters than taxi drivers.

Yet, when you are driving your own car, who is it that comes up behind you at the wrong side and spurts past you, with a contemptuous over the shoulder glance? The taxi-driver. Who is it dawdles ahead of you in traffic, watching for a pickup, when you are in a hurry in the down-town? Who is it nips in ahead of you in a parking spot, who scares the wits out of you by cutting so close across your front fenders that your stomach almost falls loose from its attachments? The taxi driver. Who is it who gives a withering glance, with what dry sarcasm, with what scorching contempt, when you attempt to voice protests and outcries?

Of course, it must be admitted that when are are passengers in a taxi, it is astonishing how many stupid people get in the way. For instance, it seems to me, that we would encounter if driving in our own cars, if we stood there in the back of the taxi, we can heartily sympathize with our driver when he leans out and utters abusive remarks to the stupid motorist. We might well join with him, if our window is open.

It's very curious.

Britain to Buy Another Ten Million Bushels

WINNIPEG (CP) — Britain has made substantial commitments for shipments of wheat through the northern Manitoba port of Churchill, George McIvor, chairman of the Canadian wheat board, says.

He was commenting Tuesday on an Ottawa dispatch in the Winnipeg Free Press Tuesday that Britain will buy an additional 10,000,000 bushels of wheat from Canada under terms of a deal completed within the last 10 days between interests in the U.K. and the Canadian government.

Price to be paid for the wheat will be the price effective at Churchill, approximately $1.80 a bushel, the paper says. The wheat is to be shipped at the start of the Churchill shipping season in late July.

Mr. McIvor said it was not the policy of the wheat board to disclose the quantity or price involved and therefore he would give no further details.

In storage at Churchill at present are about 2,516,000 bushels.

U.S. Defence Secretary Visits Federal Cabinet

OTTAWA (CP)—U. S. Defence Secretary Charles Wilson Tuesday held a "general discussion" with the Canadian cabinet and chiefs of staff.

Defence Minister Campney said following the brief meeting that the talks were mostly routine and that there was a general discussion of problems common to both countries.

On his arrival here from Washington Mr. Wilson said Canada and the U.S. are making "lots of progress" in continental defence but that the job takes time.

Mr. Wilson appeared a little bewildered by the full-dress Canadian military reception, including trie service guard of honor, band and 17-gun salute.

Layoffs at Ford Bring New Union Protests

WINDSOR (CP) — Layoffs at Ford Motor Company of Canada required by adjustment in production schedules brought new protests from union leaders Tuesday.

Charles McDonald, president of Local 200, United Automobile Workers' Union (CIO-CCL), said a phone call to his office from Ford officials brought "once again grim news of mounting layoffs."

A Ford spokesman said: "Production schedules are on a day-to-day basis and current adjustments require temporary layoffs of employees in various departments."

The spokesman said some of the layoffs are in excess of those announced by Ford president Rhys M. Sale late in June. Mr. Sale said in a letter to employees, about 450 men would be laid off in June and about 750 at the end of July.

Municipalities Will Discuss Road Projects

TORONTO (CP)—A multi-million dollar road project for the nine communities to be flooded by the St. Lawrence seaway power development will be discussed next week when municipal representatives arrive here for a conference with the Ontario government, it was reported Tuesday.

Tentative date for the meeting is next Wednesday.

The conference will be the first joint meeting of the provincial government's special cabinet subcommittee and the municipal committee that Premier Frost suggested should be appointed when he visited Morrisburg June 25.

The relocation of roads and about 40 miles of railway tracks to be flooded when the project is completed will be discussed at the meeting. The stretch of road from just west of Brockville to a point east of Cornwall will be included in the talks.

Meanwhile an "important" meeting of officers of Ontario Hydro and the New York state power authority planned for July 13 at Massena, N.Y., has been postponed, Hydro officials said.

Problems of financing the relocation of nine communities to be flooded by the St. Lawrence Seaway power project, in which Ontario and New York state are partners, will be discussed at the meeting.

Another date is expected shortly, Hydro said.

Pair of Scared Boys Rescued From High Bridge

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Two scared little boys, who had spent a night of cold and hunger perched atop a 100-foot bridge abutment, were rescued Tuesday by a pair of veteran bridge painters who struggled for 2½ hours before they were successful.

The youngsters, Ronald 8, and Billy Hughes, 6, had run away from home after the boys' mother locked them in their room for disobedience, Mrs. Sarah Hughes said that the boys "somehow snuck out."

Their rescuers, Regis Cusick and Bill McNally, finally climbed along a catwalk and then slid down to the pier with the aid of a rope.

The two painters strapped the youngsters into a boatswain's chair and slowly swung them into the waiting arms of a policeman.

No one was able—to learn how the boys got to—their perch—or the Highlandtown bridge which is 265 feet high.

The boys, barefoot and covered with dirt, were none the worse for their experience.

Robb's Royals, reinforced with bantam players, won a close 9-8 victory over Houston Lumber Company in a scheduled midget game played at King George School last night.

Lee St. Denis went the route to gain the win, allowing but five hits while whiffing 15 and walking six. St. Louis and Bennett shared hurling problems for Houston's, giving up 12 hits as Bennett fanned seven.

Robb's had 3-0, 7-3 and 9-4 leads at one time with the losers closing in with a pair in each of the sixth and final frames but it proved to be too little and too late.

Lee St. Denis also led his club at bat with a triple, double and single while Kingston contributed a triple and double. Litchford had a two-run homer in the fifth that proved to be the winning run. Art Culloden banged out a brace of doubles.

Mike Ryan had a home run for Houston's while Wannemaker, St. Louis and Bennett chalmed doubles.

Weddings

DAFOE—MEYERS

Tall, white standards of pink and white peonies, intermingled ferns and orange blossoms formed a lovely setting in Foxboro United Church, Foxboro, Ontario, on Saturday, June 19, at 2:00 p.m., when Delia Marie Meyers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Meyers, of Foxboro, became the bride of Lawrence Samuel Dafoe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Dafoe, of Frankford, R.R. 2. The Rev. H. W. Giffin, pastor of the church, officiated. White satin bows designated the guest pews.

Mrs. David Moore, of Napanee, provided the wedding music, and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Irvin Badgley, cousin of the bridegroom, who sang before the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer," and during the signing of the register, "Because."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in an ankle-length bridal gown of white nylon net, Chantilly lace and satin, featuring a full skirt accented by front panels of lace inserts. The fitted, matching lace jacket was fashioned with high neckline having a small collar, and buttoned down the front with tiny, self buttons to the peplum. The sheath-like sleeves ended in lily-points over the hands. Her double veil of lace-edged, imported French net was of fingertip length, and held by a sculptured cap of matching lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink Delight roses and white stephanotis.

Miss Jean Dudley, of Belleville, R.R. 3, as maid of honor, and Miss Joan Meyers, of Foxboro, sister of the bride, as bridesmaid were attired alike in powder blue ankle-length gowns having-molded lace bodices with matching lace bolerros, and net skirts over taffeta. They wore floral headdresses of matching net with pink rosebuds and carried nosegays of spring flowers centred with pink Delight rose similar to that of the bride's.

Mr. Earl Dafoe, brother of the bridegroom, was groomsman, and the ushers, Mr. Maurice Dafoe, brother of the bridegroom, and Mr. Earl Meyers, brother of the bride.

The reception was held in the church parlors, where the bride's mother, wearing navy sheer with pink accessories and pink rose corsage received the guests.

She was assisted by the bridegroom mother, who was gowned in navy sheer with white accessories and corsage of white roses.

For travelling to the United States, and the Maritimes, the bride donned a navy silk ensemble with white accessories and corsage of pink roses. Mr. and Mrs. Dafoe, are residing on the homestead, Trent Road.

COOKE—WILEY

Christ Church, Bellevile, was the scene of a pretty candlelight wedding on Friday, June 25th, at 8.30 p.m., when Archdeacon, the Venerable J. B. Creeggan, rector of the church, united in marriage Barbara Jane Wiley, of Frankford, R.R. 1, Ontario, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell C. Wiley, to James Oliver Cooke, of Belleville, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Cooke. White and pink palms adorned the altar, and lighted candles the sanctuary.

The wedding music was rendered by the church organist, Mr. John Croyden Wilson, who accompanied the choir (of which the bridegroom is a member), as they 'sang, before the ceremony, "O Perfect Love," during the ceremony, "Brother James' Air," and during the signing of the register, "Holy Art Thou."

Given in marriage by her cousin, Mr. J. P. Dier, of Corbyville, the bride was lovely in her waist-length bridal gown of white Chantilly lace, nylon tulle and taffeta, fashioned with molded, lace bodice edged with pleated nylon tulle having a matching lace bolero jacket with long tapered sleeves, ending in "v" points over the wrists, and Peter Pan collar. The five-tiered skirt of white nylon tulle over taffeta fell in graceful folds. Her fingertip veil was held by a nylon petal-headdress centred with seed pearls. She carried a white prayer book crested with Garnet roses and white stephanotis and white satin streamers, knotted with rosebuds and stephanotis. Her mother's pearls completed her ensemble.

Miss Ilda Ketcheson, of Belleville, was maid of honor, wearing shrimp colored nylon net over shrimp taffeta with matching bolero jacket and net mitts. She carried a basket of white sweetpeas with white ribbon streamers, and wore a headdress band of matching net ruffled with small flowers.

Mr. Charles E. Cooke, of Belleville, brother of the bridegroom, was groomsman.

Due to the illness of the bride's father, there was a quiet gathering of the immediate family at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Dier, Corbyville, where the bride's mother, attired in navy crepe with pink carnation corsage and white accessories, received, assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who was gowned in pink sheer with pink accessories and white carnation corsage.

For the wedding trip to Kingston, Gananoque and The Thousand Islands, the bride chose a pink mudlla empire styled gown with white collar, and white pumps, white flower-petal hat, white gloves and handbag, with corsage of Garnet roses and white stephanotis.

Guests were present from Frankford, Corbyville, and Wooler.

Mr. and Mrs. Cooke are residing in Belleville.

McQUAID—HENDERSON

Red roses decorated Albert St. United Church, Oshawa, for a wedding at two o'clock, Saturday afternoon, when Elizabeth Ann Henderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Henderson, of Oshawa, was united in marriage with Mr. Bernard Jerome McQuaid, son of Mrs. Edward J. McQuaid, of Belleville, and the late Mr. McQuaid. The Rev. S. C. H. Atkinson performed the ceremony and Mr. Ronald Kellington played the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. John Gooding, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white satin fashioned with a sweetheart bodice trimmed with pearls, and topped with a shoulder cape. The fully gathered skirt featured a full length overskirt of nylon net. Her veil of embroidered net, sweeping into a train, was held by a coronet of white flowers. She wore a single strand of pearls and carried a cascade of pink roses with white ribbon ties.

Mrs. James Peters was matron of honor, wearing a floor-length gown of Arizona blue. A shoulder cape complemented the formal bodice of white satin, and the billowing skirt was of tulle over taffeta. She wore a match ing headdress, and carried a nosegay of pink roses centred with blue forget-me-nots.

Mr. James McQuaid, of Belleville, was best man for his brother. The ushers were, Mr. Archie Bruce and Mr. William Gooding.

The reception was held at 20 Oak Street, Oshawa, the future home of the bridal couple, where the bride's mother received the guests, wearing an afternoon dress of light blue moire taffeta and net, a white beaded hat, and matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother, who assisted, chose a navy blue dress with white accents and a matching hat.

Before leaving for their honeymoon, the newly wedded couple were appropriately toasted. For travelling the bride donned a navy blue gabardine suit with white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

St. Joseph's Parish Enjoys Successful Lawn Social

The ladies of St. Joseph's parish recently held a highly successful lawn social and games night at Mr. Dunnie's, Kingston Road.

The ladies, under the convenorship of Mrs. J. D. Panting served a delicious cold ham and salad supper to numerous patrons.

There was also a variety games where the patrons tried their luck. The ever popular fish pond entertained the younger crowd. There were refreshment booths as well, with ice cream and cold drinks.

WINNERS

The winner of the beautiful handmade quilt, which was on display in a prominent spot at the social, was won by Miss Helen Cooper, A delectable super-size angel cake drawn for, was won by Miss M. McAvoy.

A fine event well attended, bringing much appreciation to all those who worked so diligently also to all those who sent donations and assisted in any way to make this social the success it was.

MONTHLY MEETING

The monthly meeting of St. Joseph's C.W.L. was held recently in the school hall.

General business was attended to, and final plans were made for the recent lawn social. Numerous other projects were discussed to be held later.

It was decided to resume meetings in August at the meeting date is towards the end of the month. Tickets on the quilt drawn at the lawn social were turned in, receipts so far were very good.

After the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. B. Bankey and committee.

TINY MENACE

The spruce budworm which endangers Canadian forest areas is only three-quarters of an inch long.

Belcrest H-S Assoc. Holds Picnic Makes Presentation

Belcrest Home and School Association held an enjoyable picnic at Cedardale on Sunday with about 75 attending.

After treats for the children, and a sumptuous supper, a presentation was made to the teacher, Mrs. Ormsby, who is leaving.

The children and grown-ups enjoyed swimming during the afternoon.

A GOOD POLICY for beach behavior is to let your child set his own pace. If you force him into the water before he's ready — even safely perched in your arms — you risk frightening him to the point of hysteria. Better not show impatience if he fails to share your enthusiasm for a dunking.

Colorful Pennywise Summer Buffet

By Mary Moore

For some obscure reason I was asked to be present when some color photography was being done of some food items.

I was only mildly interested in the whole business because it was a hot night, I was tired and I was leaving work undone on my desk.

But that all changed.

When the photographing lights were turned on real felt as if you had stepped out into the hot sun, but to hear Ron Clare say "Look at that contrast!" when you had arranged white cottage cheese around a tomato jelly mold on a bed of dark green spinach and mint—well, it suddenly made you feel as if you were a little bit of an artist too. What does an artist care about a little bit of heat?

Golly it was fascinating! Ron took three shots to make the composite color photograph—one to "filter out the yellows", one to "get blues", another "to get reds" and still another "to get yellows"—all very professional sounding as you can plainly see.

Those blazing lights made every highlight on the tomato jelly and the bowl of spaghetti in tomato sauce shine like stars, and before we left the studio at 11 p.m., he had developed the plates and joy oh joy the first try was perfect and we went home feeling like a prima donna floating on a cloud.

The whole out-of-this-world experience included some extra dividends for we met Ron's wife Hazel, who is his right hand, and cheerful and clever and altogether delightful. She it was who chose the color-contrasting dishes which were used in the photograph. Shopping for interesting shapes and colors and textures in dishes is an art in itself and Hazel can do it.

We lugged home some of the food which included the tomato jelly mold with four times too much gelatin in it to keep it firm even under the beating, melting glare of those lights. . . and naturally enough I thought of you readers and how very economical tomato jelly is and what a simple, inexpensive buffet meal you could prepare for a summer evening party.

How I'd love to have one of Ron's color photos at the top of the column of this

Platter of Devilled Eggs with Sliced Cucumber Border

Cocoanut Cream Pie

Iced Tea or Iced Coffee

The beauty of this inexpensive meal depends on your imagination—we give it full rein.

TOMATO JELLY MOLD

One 28-oz. tin tomato juice, 2 tablespoons plain gelatin, 1 bay leaf, 1 slice onion, sprig of celery leaves, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1-2 teaspoons salt, 2 teaspoons lemon juice. Soak the gelatin in 1-2 cup of the tomato juice and to the remainder of the tomato juice add all other ingredients but the lemon juice and simmer five minutes. Strain this over the soaked gelatin and stir until dissolved. Add lemon juice pour into mold to chill and set. Serve firm. Turn out on platter lined with dark greens—spinach, cress or parsley. Use the base of the mold to make a border of cottage cheese.

COCOANUT CREAM PIE

In top of double boiler—mix together 3 tablespoons cornstarch, 1-3 cup sugar, shake of salt and when blended stir in 1-2 cup cold milk. Stir in 1 1-2 cups scalded milk over boiling water until thick, cover and cook 15 minutes, stirring twice. Separate yolks from whites of 3 eggs. Beat yolks and beat a little of the hot mixture into them, then return all to double boiler and stir for 2 minutes. Remove from heat and stir in 1 teaspoon vanilla and 1 cup shredded cocoanut. Cool. Pour into cook baked pie shell. Beat egg whites until stiff then gradually beat in 6 tablespoons sugar until very stiff. Spread over filling, making meringue touch pie shell all around. Sprinkle top with 1-2 cup cocoanut. Bake meringue at 375 deg. Fahr. until it and cocoanut are tinged with gold all over.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

WHAT HAPPENED TO MRS. R. B.'s HUSBAND

All through the period when Mrs. R. B.'s husband was in the army overseas, both of them walked impatiently for the time when he would be home again. Back and forth the letters went, always telling of what they would do when he came back, always planning great things for the future.

And then, about six months ago the serviceman came home, and it was time to begin turning their dreams into realities.

But nothing happened. He didn't seem interested any more in carrying out those plans so eagerly discussed in their letters. In fact, he doesn't seem to want to discuss them any more, or, indeed, anything else. When he's home, he says little or nothing, which is disturbing enough to his anxious wife, but, even worse, she says, is the fact that "he often goes off alone and sometimes stays away two or three days at a time without saying where he is going or when he will be back. When he does come home, he never tells me anything about where he has been, but just acts as though he had never been away."

"Somehow, I don't know how, he manages to keep his job. It may be that he is only staying at a hotel right here in the city instead of coming home.

"Another thing is that, where he never used to drink at all, he almost always stops for drinks on his way home from work, and sometimes even brings a bottle home.

"I am at the end of my rope with this problem because he seems like a different man entirely from the the husband he was before he went away."

Here, I believe, is one of the many cases in which a man became so unsettled by the change in all his habits and relationships throughout about by his experiences in the service that he is completely—one hopes, temporarily—unable to adjust himself to his old life. Because he was out of touch so long with the ideas, the standards and the ambitions to which he was accustomed, and has not been able to work out new ones, he is floundering around, not knowing what he really wants. The simple things he used to enjoy before he went away no longer interest him, so he hunts elsewhere for pleasures to take their place. Almost certainly, his drinking is due to unhappiness and dissatisfaction, for when he is drinking, he can forget that life no longer suits him.

What this man really needs is the help of someone who thoroughly understands his state of mind and can show him how to come out of it. The person who could probably help him best would be a psychiatrist who is trained in that sort of understanding.

Since it is not always easy, however, to arrange for this sort of help, I think, this wife should try to see what she could do herself, by getting her husband know she realizes it has been hard for him to settle down and that she wants to do everything she can to help him get back to normal living again. She should realize that he is not behaving the way he is simply to be mean, or because he doesn't love her any more, but because he is confused and bewildered, and does not know what to do about it.

If she could make him feel that she is anxious to give him a chance to get on his feet again, and in the meantime try to make as happy a home for him as she can, and if she tries to avoid reproaching and nagging at him, it might be that things would straighten out after awhile. It might be a helpful thing for her to write a letter to the chaplain of his old outfit and get some suggestions from him as to what she might do. Certainly army chaplains must have had much experience in just this sort of thing.

There is nothing harder to bear than to sit by helplessly while a loved one seems bent on wrecking his own life and the lives of everyone close to him. If this wife would go into action with some definite plan which she has devised with the aid of some adviser, she would help herself while helping her husband.

WANTS GODCHILD IN WEDDING PARTY

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am making my wedding plans. I would very much like to know if my godchild, who is ten years old, can be a ring bearer or in some way be in my bridal party. This is very dear to my heart!

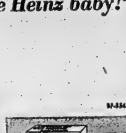
—M.F.

Your godchild (I take it he is your godson) is too old to be a ring bearer. However, if he is not too tall for his age, you might have him as page. . . then this be-loved godchild of yours will walk in an honored place, directly before you and your father or whoever is to give you in marriage.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCEMENT IN BOTH CITIES

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

We are going to announce our engagement soon. My parents are not going to give an engagement announcement party—they are making the formal announcement in our local newspapers. I met my fiance on a cruise several months ago; he and his family live in a city several hundred miles from here; and I should think that some announcement of the engagement should be made to his relatives and friends there. How is this done? — Lola



At the time you are telling your relatives and friends and writing to those at a distance, your fiance should be telling or writing to his relatives and friends. This thoughtful procedure informs those most closely "concerned" with the Happy News. (Before doing this you should decide definitely on the date of the public announcement, each person told or written to should be asked to keep the secret of the date until the announcement is made.) Then you or your parents send to your fiance or his parents the formal engagement announcement to be sent to their

River Valley Women's Institute Celebrates Dominion Day

RAWDON—On Canada's 87th birthday anniversary approximately 50 adults and children gathered at River Valley school house in Sidney township, along the Frankford Road, to celebrate Dominion Day. It was the occasion of the regular meeting of River Valley Women's Institute.

Mrs. Allan McDonell was the gracious hostess for the afternoon, and as each person arrived they received a lovely red, white and blue badge complete with pin which they wore during the afternoon. Beautiful bouquets of roses and pansies were in evidence as decoration. Several ladies wore rose corsages, the gift of Mrs. Roy Bush who had thoughtfully brought them to the meeting.

Guests were present from Chatterton W.I., Pinegrove W.I., Bay of Quinte W.I., also some former members who had taken up residence elsewhere.

The meeting opened at 2.30 p.m. and Mrs. Ross Bush extended a gracious welcome and presided over the meeting. Mrs. Phil Conley officiated at the piano. Mrs. J. L. Donohoe reported a bank balance of over $80. At the August meeting on Monday it was decided what plans to make to add to the treasury.

WELCOMES GUESTS

Mrs. Roy Bush officially welcomed the guests especially the guest speaker, Mrs. John Reid, Trenton district president, and she was given an ovation. Roll call, "Something nice about the lady on your right or left," sounded like a mutual admiration society.

A letter of thanks was read from the past district secretary, Mrs. E. B. Fiskin for the W.I.'s share of the lovely cameo brooch which she received upon her retirement.

Several other messages of thanks were read and expressed by those who had received fruit baskets.

The usual donation of $5 was made to Stirling Agricultural Society. Mrs. Percy Mackley reported that Abbot's Leigh W. I. in England, had received the books and were enjoying it. Five ladies have received letters from penpals in England Mrs. Ina Frew, Mrs. Jack Sager, Mrs. Ralph Ultsman, Mrs. Edward Heasman and Mrs. Allan McDonell. The president of Abbot's Leigh W.I. is anxious to have a correct list of letters received at River Valley W.I. from English friends.

Following a sing-song, Mrs. Gerald Irvine, Chatterton W.I. read a selection entitled "My Financial Career." Mrs. Phil Conley and Marilyn contributed a piano duet.

PANEL DISCUSSION

Mrs. Harold Detlor president Pinegrove W.I. conducted a panel discussion which she had heard at the Guelph conference on the theme, "Start where you are with what you have."

Mrs. L. Bartindale said, "the aim of Institute work in any community is to promote more abundant life and a deeper appreciation of things at hand. "She gave a graphic picture of several groups of women who comprise an Institute, there are those who work, those who find fault, and those who just let Nellie do it."

Mrs. Fred Campbell stressed the need of each community and the value of doing things together. Both cultural and practical ideas are necessary. A good leader of an Institute needs patience, persistence, endurance, and she needs to create public opinion. Her closing thought was, "spend your money at home first, and then broaden out to help others."

Mrs. Harry Coulter gave a full explanation of what each Institute pays out of the 50 cent fee. "As active member who merely pays her fee and does nothing else, simply does nothing." She gave an interesting summary of various pages in the handbook that should be studied by each Institute. She also suggested many sound ways of making money, especially those which use local talent and here she told of ways to find unexpected talent in any community. Children's concerts are especially good, as well as a "Farmers' Frolic" and a novel idea for an afternoon tea.

WISE SPENDING

She stressed wise spending and the great value of raising funds for educational purposes, and gave a true story to illustrate this point. In closing, the speaker suggested that each Institute plan to send some woman to Kemptville for the August holiday, and that she be some active member who would qualify for "sig fo" a Guelph conference.

Mrs. Farley Lindenfield spoke of four-sided educational ideas and stressed that well-conducted meetings are an asset in understanding and vision. The speaker narrated a host of witty jokes for programs that would help all members interested. She said, "The Women's Institute is the country woman's university". She gave good explanations regarding the various departments, and urged greater use of the loan library with its wealth of material.

Mrs. Detlor concluded with a message on "The Hidden Talents" Institute women have access to cooking, nursing and various homemaking subjects and they also learn as they work in Institutes a host of valuable knowledge as today more and more women are realizing responsibility outside their home. Healthy differences of opinion are necessary as well as sociability and there is more to be gained in a W.I. organization than one can realize.

SPECIAL ADDRESS.

Miss Barbara Green of Bethel sang a vocal number, playing her own accompaniment.

The group sang "O Canada", and the special address was given by Mrs. John Reid, Trenton, district West Hastings District W.I. She said, "On this historic 87th birthday anniversary of our great country, The Dominion of Canada, what better time than now for us to give a little thought to our past history."

Mrs. Reid gave a graphic picture of all the preliminaries that were necessary before the great conference was held at Charlottetown in September 1864, when Upper and Lower Canada sent delegates and the idea of Confederation of all provinces was discussed.

At that time, Hon. John A. MacDonald quoted the prophetic words, "to extend from shore to shore." Today visitors at Charlottetown can vision a plaque which reads, "Providence being their guide, they built it better than they knew." These men had used the Bible quotation in psalm 72, "They shall have dominion from Sea to Sea."

There is a good historical report in the archives of those first debates and a compromise to form some resolutions. One thing they did definitely decide, was that the country would be called "The Dominion of Canada", and that Ottawa would be the capital. They also ouilined briefly what each province should control.

In 1866 a delegation of the "Fathers of Confederation" journeyed to England and held a conference with Disraeli. These men were full of vision and they felt those plans would benefit future generations.

DECRED BY QUEEN VICTORIA.

On July 1, 1867, Queen Victoria decreed the first Dominion Day, and throughout the 87 years it has always been commemorated on the official day. Canada is not a flag-waving country, but her 15 million people in the ten provinces of 1954 are mostly all patriotic.

The provinces did not all join up in 1867, so Mrs. Reid explained how from 1870-73 three more provinces joined and in 1905 two more came in the union and the youngest province, Newfoundland, made the tenth province on March 31st, 1949. This was the oldest colony and the story of its entry was graphically pictured by the speaker.

To date, Canada has had two birthday parties. At the first in 1867, the ladies wore dresses fashioned from the yards of crinolines and the men wore all the whiskers they could grow for that special occasion. At that time, butter was 13 cents a pound; eggs 11 cents a dozen; pork seven cents a pound and a large house in the city was rented for $5 monthly.

The speaker pictured that National birthday party at Ottawa, with its ringing bells, bon-fires and 100 gun salute. Homes were elaborately decorated and the militia made a colorful addition.

DIAMOND JUBILEE.

She then pictured the Diamond Jubilee in 1927 with its process on of motor vehicles, the Peace Tower, and the Carillon bells with the great Canadian statesman, Hon. Mackenzie King as premier. She closed her most interesting and worthwhile address with the thought that this Dominion would celebrate its centennial in 13 years and that West Hastings W.I. charter a bus and travel to Ottawa to have a part in that great event when, as Institute members, they could register deep pride in their country's achievement and its onward progress.

This address was one of the best ever given on this patriotic subject, and will long be remembered by the group in attendance on Dominion Day 1954.

Brief greetings were brought by Mrs. Bartindale, Pinegrove W.I. and Mrs. Ben Bleecker, Chatterton, followed by "The Maple Leaf."

Mrs. Ernest Carr voiced thanks to all who had presented such an interesting and varied program and the National Anthem closed an exceptional meeting.

The lunch committee set up two long tables where bountiful refreshments were served and a social hall hour enjoyed.

Sen. Knowland Bids for Recall Of Congress if UN Should Admit Communist China

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator William Knowland (Rep. Calif.) said today he thinks President Eisenhower will promise to recall Congress to deal with the question if the United Nations should admit Communist China this fall.

Knowland, leading the delegation of Republican leaders to a weekly conference with the president, hinted in an interview that such a pledge might forestall moves in Congress to adopt a resolution for automatic American withdrawal from the UN if the Peiping regime is admitted.

Congress is planning to wind up its present business July 31. The China issue could come before the UN in September or later in the year, perhaps during the campaign for control of Congress at the November election. The next Congress is scheduled to convene in January.

WOULD RESIGN AS LEADER

Knowland has said he would resign his party leadership post to campaign for U.S. withdrawal if the UN accepts the Communists. But opposition appeared to be developing among some other congressmen against committing Congress in advance to becoming — as some members phrased it — a prospective "executioner" for the world organization.

State Secretary Dulles has pledged a vigorous fight against seating of the Chinese Communist regime in the UN but he has declined to commit the administration in advance to quitting the UN if American objections are overridden.

Knowland and Dulles discussed the issue with Eisenhower Tuesday but gave no public indication of the president's attitude.

SEES POLICY STATEMENT

Knowland predicted Congress will write into pending foreign aid legislation a strong statement opposing Communist China's entry into the international organization. But he said this might take the form of a policy statement, rather than any automatic withdrawal of funds into Soviet-dominated states voted by Congress last year.

Several senators, including Herbert Lehman (Dem.-Lib. N.Y.); William Fulbright (Dem. Ark.) and Wayne Morse (Ind. Ore.), have said it would be unwise to tie U.S. policy in advance to a contingency that may never arise.

There are indications that other senators also strongly opposed to admission of the Chinese Reds believe it would be better for Congress to wait and see what happens before it acts.

C. Mapledoram May Be Minister Lands and Forests

TORONTO (CP)—The Globe and Mail says today it has learned that the new lands and forests minister for Ontario will be appointed this week.

The newspaper story says:

"While speculation as to who will be the new cabinet minister succeeding the late Welland Gemmell has even included Premier Frost, the best bet now is said to be Clarence Mapledoram, 51-year-old member for Fort William."

Mr. Gemmell, 43, died of a heart attack in North Bay June 18.

The Globe and Mail says the "appointment of Mr. Mapledoram, who was elected to the Ontario legislature in the general election of Nov. 22, 1951, would not only bring an experienced lumberman into the job of handling one of the most important departments of the government, but would also retain the geographical balance of the cabinet, an important factor with Premier Frost."

The story also mentions Works Minister Griesinger and Provincial Secretary Welsh as candidates for the post.

Pushed Off Cliff

TORONTO (CP)—A 43-year-old man was convicted Tuesday of pushing a trespassing youth over a cliff and was fined $75 and costs.

Stanley Burnett was found guilty of assault after Nati Poldvee, 18, told a court he was shoved over a 30-foot cliff at suburban Scarborough Bluffs after he walked into Burnett's property and threw stones into Lake Ontario. He admitted that Burnett ordered him off he property.

Enough Weapons to Equip Small Army Found in Italy

By HORACE CASTELL

ROME (Reuters)—Enough weapons to equip a small army have been found in Italy since the war and as many probably still are hidden in secret caches all over the peninsula.

Statistics just issued for the period 1945-1953 show that the police haul of hidden arms and ammunition includes 173 machine guns, 729 mortars and grenade-throwers, 5,000 heavy machine-guns, 35,000 sub-machine - guns, 185,000 rifles, 41,000 revolvers and pistols, 780,750 hand grenades, 22,000,000 rounds of ammunition, 222 radio transmitters and a large quantity of explosives.

Weapons found were of British-American, German and Italian manufacture.

Italian police have classed the discovered arms in two main groups:

1. Those stored away by Fascist die-hards "for another day."

2. Those hidden by Communist partisans at the end of the war for the time when they could again be of use.

Group No. 1 comprised Italo-German weapons. Group No. 2 was a mixture of arms parachuted to the partisans by the Americans and British, and weapons captured or pilfered from the Germans and Fascists.

The partisan caches were in the better state of preservation. Each revolver was oiled and wrapped in oiled paper. Each round of ammunition was stored with care.

None of the arms which fell into the hands of the Communist-led partisan brigades was ever given up to any non-Communist authority.

Police are certain that, on orders from the Communist party, arms and ammunition were stored in strategically - placed arsenals, ready for use in a future Communist coup.

These caches have been discovered, sometimes accidentally, sometimes as a result of an organized search, in the most unlikely places. One small arsenal was recently discovered in the disused furnace of a workshop, another in a sewer, and another sharing a grave with a coffin.

300 Inches Rain Will Fall In Next 4 Months

By ADRIENNE FARRELL

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — The small town of Cherrapunji, in Assam, the "wettest place in the world," is into its annual four months of continual downpour, during which 300 inches of rain will fall.

The average rainfall in Cherrapunji for a year is 450 inches.

The average world rainfall in land is measured at 40 inches.

To the inhabitants of Cherrapunji, the monsoon means heavy rain breaks in June means four months of boredom. It is too wet to go out. Inside the house the air is heavy with moisture. Leather goes green with mildew. Everywhere, there is the dank smell of rotting and re-burgeoning vegetation. Beetles and other insects thrive, carpeting the floor, dropping from the ceiling or crawling up the walls.

For four months, from inside their bamboo houses, the inhabitants of Cherrapunji gaze gloomily through the door at the endless curtain of rain.

Cherrapunji lies 4,000 feet up, on the edge of the Shillong plateau in Assam, overlooking the plains of Bengal.

The monsoon clouds roll in from the Bay of Bengal, across the waterlogged soil of the plains, and pile up between the hills to Cherrapunji. There, the warm moist currents of air rise and precipitate their entire load of rain on the small town.

Only a few miles north of Cherrapunji, on the other side of the plateau, the rainfall drops to a moderate 50 inches a year.

While Assam and Bengal are being watered by the monsoon, most of the rest of northern India is sweltering in a heat wave with temperatures up to 116 degrees fahrenheit.

New Delhi, lying between the two monsoon zones from east and west, often misses the main force altogether and suffers a drought.

Farther south, in Rajasthan, lies desert which gets no rain at all.

Conservationists May Have To Figure Out Some New Angles to Keep Eagles Alive

By JOE WING

NEW YORK (AP)—If American eagles are going to scream in the future to tourists, conservationists may have to figure out some new angles to help them survive.

A pessimist is the "eagle man" himself, Charles H. Broley. A retired Winnipeg banker, Broley started studying eagles 16 years ago as a hobby and soon made a reputation for himself among ornithologists. Ranging Florida's west coast, to which he had "retired," he got in the habit of climbing tall and frequently dangerous trees to visit the eaglets so that their subsequent wanderings might be recorded.

If he and the eagles hold out, Broley—now 74—is looking forward to climbing trees for five years more.

The trouble is, he explains, that so much forested land in Florida has been cleared and so many housing projects developed, that many eagles have been crowded out. Citizens and officials have been more than anxious to help generally, but the birds just can't stand so much civilization.

KILLED BY KINDNESS

They have been killed even by kindness. Sometimes they have nested in "eagle trees" left for them by well - meaning persons near houses and then been shot from their eggs for long periods by workmen, with fatal results to the eggs. In other stances young birds have been captured by friendly human neighbors in Florida fell easy victims to unfriendly gunners during waterfowl hour-neys farther north.

As a result of all this, Broley was able to band only 18 eaglets this year compared with 150 in 1939. He figures there are 60 active nests in Florida compared with 500 then, and says:

"I cannot see anything else than a gradual decrease in population."

The bald eagle used to breed widely but now its nests are concentrated in a few regions such as Florida, the Chesapeake bay area, Minnesota and Wisconsin, and in Canada, in the Great Lakes country and the Maritime Provinces.

Wm. J. Matthews Expected to Head Airways Board

OTTAWA (CP) — A top federal government job, chairman of the air transport board, is widely expected to go to the transport department's chief legal expert.

Informants say the likeliest appointee for the $13,500-a-year post is William J. Matthews, 54, director of administration and legal services in the department for the last five years.

The work of chairman of the three-man board is being done by John R. Baldwin, but he is giving it up as the result of a promotion last week to senior deputy minister of transport. Since early this year, he had been associate deputy and board chairman.

The air transport board has general charge of civil aviation, reporting to cabinet through the transport minister. The minister now is Hon. George Marler, who succeeded Hon. Lionel Chevrier Thursday when that minister became president of the St. Lawrence seaway authority.

EARLY APPOINTMENT SEEN

An early appointment to the air transport board is looked for since Mr. Baldwin, apart from working under a new minister strange to Ottawa, is known to have definite work formerly done by two deputies.

Informants said Mr. Marler, as is customary with new ministers, is expected to undertake a reorganization of the department in line with his own ideas. This will take a few months.

One result, it was stated, may be that the system of two deputy ministers will be abolished, with the department reverting to the one-deputy setup that prevailed up to the end of last year. The last single deputy was Jean Lessard, who resigned to enter industry.

RETAINED CHAIRMANSHIP

He was followed by Car. W. West as senior deputy and Mr. Baldwin as associate deputy, while retaining his ATB chairmanship. Mr. West left the department last week to become a member of the seaway authority.

Should an associate deputy be named, the most likely candidate was regarded today as Mr. Scott, 39, director of the government's bureau of transportation economics. Mr. Lessard left the same job to become deputy.

In certain quarters, Mr. Scott has been alternating between his bureau job and special adviser to the transport minister. He had a big hand in drawing up recent legislation for handling over to the provinces federal authority over interprovincial and international highway traffic.

200 Chinese a Day Executed by Red Firing Squads

By THOMAS ALDEGUER

HONG KONG (Reuters)—A 39-year-old Australian who arrived here Tuesday after spending eight years in Communist - controlled Shanghai told reporters he watched up to 200 Chinese a day being executed by Red firing squads between 1950 and 1952.

Frank Griffiths, put out of business by the Chinese Communists, said he thought British estimates he had heard that 14,000,000 Chinese had been killed by the Communists just reflected "the usual British conservatism."

Griffiths said: "As far as I am qualified to make any estimate of the situation after having lived in a country where there is no freedom of information, I would say it is more people than anything like equitable terms."

WAIT FOR VISA

After liquidating his firm, China Coal Supplies Limited, Griffiths had to wait 18 months for a visa to get out of Communist China.

He said that between 1950 and 1952, he was able to look with binoculars from the eighth floor of a formerly British-owned brewery in Shanghai into a Communist execution ground.

His saw usually 200 Chinese shot every day. The victims had their hands tied and then roped to their cohorts, with their heads pulled back.

STILL PURGING

The Chinese were shot in a kneeling position, either with pistols at the back of their heads with rifles aimed at their hearts.

Griffiths said intermittent purges still are going on.

One method was what was commonly known as "the ambulance epidemic."

Ambulances with big red crosses were seen frequently in the streets of Shanghai, apparently taking victims to hospitals. But often the white-masked ambulance bearers entered homes, shot the victims and left, leaving a flat empty of stretchers to the ambulance cars.

Co-Existence Between West, Communist Worlds Impossible Says Franco in Conference

MADRID (AP) — Generalissimo Francisco Franco says that co-existence between the Western and Communist worlds is impossible and the free world must beware of "opening breaches through which the enemy can penetrate."

The Spanish chief of state made this declaration in his first press conference since the Spanish Civil War in the 1930s.

He said that 10 years of trying to live peacefully with the Russians had been a failure and "we are in a worse position now."

Franco received five United States correspondents who live in Madrid in an antechamber of his study in the Pardo Palace.

He said many of the Western democracies were making a big mistake of looking covetously at the potential markets behind the Iron Curtain. This is only "playing the game of the aggressor without any positive advantage because they won't in the long run be the suppliers of this market. Once the channels for interchange are open, it will be Germany and Japan who, as before, will end by conquering them."

EASY TO REPLACE

Franco said it would be relatively easy to replace the markets behind the iron curtain with others.

"There exists a free world this side of the iron curtain of vast one hundreds of millions of souls who, because of their backwardness or lack of trade exchange, are hardly consumers and who could be rapidly changed into a consuming mass and a good market if there existed an ample provision of long-term low-interest credit. This would permit them to absorb the present excess production. . . ."

Asked if Spanish newspapers would in the future be given greater liberty, he said, "I, who have been a newsman and still have it as a hobby, do not believe in freedom of the press."

Newspapers, he said, are "mercantile enterprises" and when you speak of freedom of the press in Spain you are speaking for 50 proprietors of newspapers."

Ontario Hydro Expected to Call First Tenders

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario Hydro is expected to call its first tenders today for the St. Lawrence seaway power project.

However, the official groundbreaking ceremony and a start on the first major phase of construction—the coffer dams at the powerhouse site—has been set back several weeks, probably until the second week of August, it was reported.

Hydro had originally planned to call tenders the week of June 21, but delays in approval and engineering work by the New York Power Authority, Hydro's partner in the development, have forced postponement of the date several times.

Tenders will be sought first for a project office building.

WORK DIVISION

A provisional division of work has been made between the two power authorities.

Hydro will construct the coffer dam at the powerhouse site between the Ontario shore and Barnhart island, while the New York agency will build the coffer dam near the U.S. mainland. It is responsible for the large excavations required for channel enlargements above the power works.

Hydro is expected to play the major role in building the Iroquois control dam.

One of the more important developments in the past completion of initial financing plans for the New York authority. A group of New York banks has agreed to underwrite a $40,000,000 one-year loan until permanent financing can be arranged, it was reported.

Return to Station

EGLINTON, Northern Ireland (CP)—Six Canadian Navy pilots have returned to this naval air station after completing a course of training aboard the aircraft carrier HMS Illustrious.

The group will leave soon for the RCAF base at North Luffenham, England, before returning to Canada to join the Royal Canadian Navy air squadrons. Aboard the Illustrious the six carried out about 25 deck landings during instruction in takeoffs and landings.

The six include sub-lieutenant John Hewer, Guelph, Ont., and Gerald Moore, Stratford, Ont.

NOTICE TO THE CITIZENS OF BELLEVILLE & DISTRICT

JULY 3rd 1954

At a recent meeting held by the Radio and Television Dealers of the City of Belleville, they were unanimous in their decision that owing to a lower margin of profit, increased operating expenses, and T.V. stations being more powerful, assuring better reception, they can no longer see fit to place on Demonstration, Television Receivers, which bear a list price of $300. or less.

Insofar as local Television dealers are concerned, television sets which sell for the above prices include in the price a 90 day free warranty, whereas, in most cities, dealers charge an extra premium for this service.

On more expensive receivers, where the mark up is slightly greater, local dealers will at their discretion be pleased to place these sets on approval for a reasonable period of time.

We sincerely appreciate the courtesy the Citizens of Belleville and surrounding areas have afforded the dealers of Belleville and it is our hope that you can appreciate our position in this matter.

Council Institutes Action Against Construction Co.

PICTON — Town council last night approved a bill to authorize, ratify and confirm the institution of an action against the Cornish Construction Co., Phoenix Assurance Co. and James F. MacLaren Associates for the sum of $100,000 damages arising out of a certain contract for the construction of extensions to the water purification plant of the corporation.

The extension to the local water supply was built last year on the harbor shore. The building settled and the town was forced to spend $27,000 to provide extra underpinning and other repairs.

A by-law was passed authorizing the borrowing on debentures of $27,000 to cover this cost.

Permission was given Prince Edward Health Unit to use the house on Bacon Park as headquarters. Present quarters on the market square are inadequate.

DEDUCT FROM ACCOUNT.

Mayor R. J. McFarland asked that $190 be deducted from his account against the town. This represents grants made by the town to various organizations.

The by-law which called for straw up a by-law which calls for cars to be off certain streets from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. so that the sweeper can be used daily.

On recommendation of the Police Commission, council agreed to purchase a 'speed trap' for local police.

That police are checking on speeding and non-observance of stop streets was indicated in their report. In June, 84 were summoned for infractions of the Highway Traffic Act, and there were 37 parking meter violations.

Boards Airliner Waving Gun, Boy, 15, Is Killed by Pilot

CLEVELAND (AP) — Five minutes before takeoff time, 53 passengers buckled themselves into an American Airlines DC-6 as it was being prepared to leave Cleveland airport.

Then a husky 15-year-old boy in a leather jacket and denim trousers lumbered up the loading ramp and into the cockpit. Waving a broken, unloaded 38-calibre revolver, he ordered Capt. William F. Bonnell to "fly to Mexico or be shot."

The pilot dug into his flight kit and whipped out his own revolver. He fired twice and the 200-pound youth, Raymond A. Kuchenmeister, Jr., died an hour later at a hospital with bullet wounds in his right hip and chest.

"What the hell could a guy do?" asked the pilot later, after he brought the flight to St. Louis, where it stopped over briefly en route to Fort Worth, Tex., and Mexico City.

Capt. Bonnell, a Clevelander, said:

"I had a maniac on my plane. We had women and children. . . ."

At first he thought it was a joke, Bonnell said, "I asked the flight engineer and co-pilot if they knew who this fellow was. The fellow said 'it's none of your damn business.'"

Most of the passengers aboard the flight did not realize what had happened until the boy's rear six-foot frame was removed from the cockpit. The plane left about an hour late.

Donald "got scared" as they neared the edge of the field, so "I told him to go ahead and I would hitchhike out later."

Standing near the ramp while his brother was shot was 12-year-old Donald, who told police the two boys had left their home, a rundown old farmhouse in suburban Parma, to "get jobs as cowboys."

The gun Raymond carried had been given his father by a truck driver, by a friend some seven years ago, his mother, Mrs. Ruth Kuchenmeister, 42, said.

TCP gives you up to 15% unexpected power from your engine

Blended into Shell Premium Gasoline, TCP* releases power locked in by lead and carbon deposits. It's the greatest gasoline development in 31 years.

You'll feel your engine's had a tune-up before you've finished your second tankful.

YES, your engine may be 15% more powerful than you think!

And the reason is this:

Lead and carbon deposits are constantly building up in your engine. They lock in power that you should be getting.

These deposits get red hot and set off the fuel charges ahead of time . . . before the piston reaches its proper firing position. Power works against you—not for you. This condition is called pre-ignition, and automotive engineers consider it the biggest cause of power loss.

You also lose power when these deposits make your spark plugs misfire. Building-up on spark plug insulators, they short-circuit the spark.

Both of these power robbers—pre-ignition and short-circuited spark plugs—are at their worst when you need power most—when climbing a hill or accelerating.

Now, however, you can change all this. TCP, a Shell-discovered additive, blended into Shell Premium Gasoline releases the "captive power" in your engine.

First, it "fireproofs" the deposits in your combustion chambers—to stop pre-ignition. Second, by making the deposits non-conductive, TCP additive stops the short-circuiting of your spark plugs.

Shell Premium with TCP acts quickly, too. In fact, before you've finished your second tankful, you'll feel your engine's had a tune-up. But, remember, because these deposits accumulate constantly, continued use of Shell Premium with TCP additive is essential to retain its full benefits. It is the greatest gasoline development since the discovery of tetraethyl lead.

Shell Premium with TCP is available only at your Shell Dealer's.

*Shell's TCP—Tetrahydro-Carbon Petrene—gasoline additive developed by Shell Research. Patent applied for.

ANOTHER SUMMER

Just another summer
Added to the store
Of the long-lost summers
That have gone before,
Just a fleeting summer
With its fruit and flowers
Bringing to remembrance
Happy by-gone hours.

All the golden summers
Of the years long past
Hold for us a fragrance
That for aye shall last;
Year after year is passing
With pleasure or with pain
But their fervid impress
On the heart remain.

—Helen B. Anderson.

Returning home from a brief holiday Monday evening, we noted in this quiet town evidences of summer activity in the passing trucks laden with peas on their way to the canning factories and men and women hurrying by to assist in canning operations. New-mown hay is an adjacent lot and a wealth of bloom in flowers on the lawn seemed to emphasize the arrival of summer.

A DRIVE TO BATH AND KINGSTON

A drive over Glenora ferry to Bath and Kingston always takes our thoughts to Ontario's early history and the very air seems to speak of the historic past. Kathar-ine Hale in her book of travel, "This is Ontario", writes of Bath as follows:

"Bath is a daguerotype village. It should be framed in crimson velvet. I am almost afraid to let the light shine on it lest it fade away before our eyes. There is nothing like it in Ontario, though it might easily exist in Mississippi or Alabama. The wooden buildings have two-storied pillared veran-dahs. The tiny street is wide and so short a motor can flash through in a moment. But I am sorry for the motorist who would dare to do so."

In the early settlement of the country Bath gave promise of be-coming a noted Ontario town. Al-though not fulfilling this prediction, it still retains an historic glamor and atmosphere. And in the past recent years we note changes and improvements in the numerous summer cottages and homes for tourist accommodation, and in the many fine private homes. A motor drive from Wellington along the scenic highway to Bath and King-ston is a delight to the summer tourist.

Mr. and Mrs. Glendon Sanders, Toronto, spent the week-end with friends in Wellington.

Mrs. Wylie, London, spent a few days the guest of Miss Mary Lamb.

Mrs. Ralph Morden and Mrs. Harry Carley motored to Trenton on Friday.

Miss Marjorie Blakely with Miss B. E. Blakely and Mrs. H. B. An-derson spent a few days guests of Mrs. Leona Whyte at her summer home near Bath and also visited Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. M. McArthur and family of Welland, spent over the holiday, guests of Mrs. Edna Platt, Maple Ave.

The auction sale of household ef-fects at the home of Mrs. Lorne Keane on Wednesday drew a large crowd.

Miss Mary Lumb and Gladys entertained friends from Bowman-ville over the holiday.

Mr. Billie Vandewater who is holidaying in Bath called on his parents Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Vandewater, Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Edna Platt entertained at afternoon tea guests including Mrs. G. Upton, Mrs. Ernest Bond, Mrs. Wilson Ainsworth and Miss M. Blakely.

SONGS OF STEPHEN FOSTER

The entertainment on Monday evening in the United Church, fea-turing the songs of the late Stephen Foster and sponsored by the church choir, was a very pleasant affair and enjoyed by an appreciative audience.

With Mrs. Harold Nash as an-nouncer and Mrs. McNeill pianist the meeting opened with remarks on the life of Stephen Foster fol-lowed by a large choir singing "My Old Kentucky Home." Solos followed including "Massa's in De Cold Cold Ground" and "Jeanie With the Light Brown Hair". A number that brought much ap-plause was given by Rev. and Mrs. Poulter who rendered "The Old Folks at Home" with really dram-atic effect, interspersed with the southern songs, were several cor-net and accordion selections which added pleasing variety. The splen-did evening closed with the choir's selection "Old Black Joe" and the National Anthem.

Much credit is due the organist Mrs. McNeill and choir members for presenting so fine a program. Those in the audience who had visited the South and heard the southern airs must have exper-ienced a feeling of nostalgia as they listened to these touching songs.

CANADA

O Canada, our native land,
The soul we hold so dear,
How bountiful on every hand
Thy golden gifts appear;
Thy prairie lands and mountain peaks,
Thy lakes and rivers free,
With farms and homes and fruitful plains
A chain from sea to sea.

O dear northland, our love, our pride,
We hear the spirit call
Of those who for thy dear sake died,
Who gave their life, their all,
That every race beneath the sky
Be free from tyranny,
And 'neath the folds of freedom's flag
Might dwell in unity.

The thistle, shamrock and the rose,
The fleur-de-lis of France,
United on our life bestow
The spirit of romance;
As long as dear old Britain's flag
Waves over land and sea,
Canada will stand with heart and hand
For truth and liberty.

STILL AT IT!

While we cannot go along with the Oshawa Transporters statement that they did not know anything about a "verbal agreement" being made by entries in the Viaduct League (after all, five men can scarcely be wrong) we do concur in their suggestion that the league officials get down to some sort of administrative business, and operate the league according to a constituted Hoyle.

Manager Jack Carson of the Batas, when we have known, both cordially and "unballistically" for a number of years, is a man whose word is as good as his bond. Carson said all hands concurred in the agreement and that is good enough for this department. Unfortunately the secretary erred, in that he did not include the so-called "agreement" in the minutes of the meeting. That would have stopped this schoolboy bickering, and the recent controversy that arose over the Transporters bringing in an American import.

Taking that fact into consideration, also the present condition of the league, it looks to some observers as though the "uninvited guests," Belleville and Peterborough, may be the means of salvaging the loop from near failure after all.

It is a well-known fact to certain circles that the other four clubs wanted no part of Belleville or the Petes, so much so they tacked an exorbitant "travelling expense" tax on the clubs as an inducement to stay out.

However the Batas and Petes with another leaguetoss season under them in the face, since Kingston had dropped out, looked straight down the gun-muzzle and dared them to shoot. They surrendered their "wallets," so to speak, but not without visions of other seasons in the pens.

The league, with proper administration, should be a success. Thus far, from a Belleville viewpoint, if you can overlook Oshawa travelling expenses hold-up, it has provided a lot of good baseball for fans hereabouts. Crowds have been averaging well over 700 thus far, and that is hope in the league. The stories of the Transporters drawing 1500 to 2000 are so much poppycock. The 468 paid entries when the Batas played there last is the largest Oshawa crowd to view the league proceedings to this point, if what the estimable Mr. Walker says is true.

As the average attendance in Belleville bears out, all teams in the league are drawing well here. The Toronto Dependables drew 700 last Saturday night, an average crowd. At least the Batas management has no complaints, although larger attendances would be welcome.

The Batas, too, are proving popular drawing cards in other league centres, especially the Motor City, and Peterborough, where many a more or less bitter Central Ontario Baseball League game was fought (on the diamond) in the old days.

Now, back to the diamond business — the Batas are in Oshawa tonight and on Friday, according to a schedule revision, they play in Oakville, the Oaks back here Saturday for two games. The Batas are well behind in games played, due to weather and whatnot, and must needs catch up with their scheduled dates.

NO GAME IN OAKVILLE

Batas' manager Jack Carson said today that the team will not play in Oakville on Friday night as previously announced. However, the two-game series slated for the Exhibition Grounds on Saturday will go on as scheduled.

Tribe War-Dances 11 Runs In 1st Inning Against Birds; Homers Defeat Injured 'Bums'

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

One series, any major league manager will tell you, does not make a season, so why get so excited about the current set between the New York Giants and the Brooklyn Dodgers?

But going into tonight's second game of the three-game series, the Giants were 4½ games in front of the Brooks and if they go on to sweep the series, Walter Alston and his operatives will be up against a mighty tough problem in their quest for a third straight pennant.

Consider the Brooks' plight:

1. The pitching has been wobbly and what's worse, only Bob Milliken, one of five relievers, has been effective.

2. Their pinch hitters have been futile. In Tuesday night's 5-2 setback by the Giants, they loaded the bases with none out in the ninth only to have George Shuba and Rube Walker, two pinch hitters, go down ignominiously.

3. They've been plagued with the injury jinx. Pee Wee Reese, Duke Snider, Roy Campanella and Jack Robinson among first-liners have been having miseries.

SITTING PRETTY

The Giants, on the other hand, are sitting pretty. They have confidence. They've had fantastic good fortune when they needed it. When they're behind, they don't worry. With relief pitchers Hoyt Wilhelm and Marv Grissom, who took over for Sal Maglie against the Dodgers Tuesday night in the ninth with none out and three men on base and got away unscathed, they have two firemen they can trust.

And statistically, they have won 53 games, which at their current rate, will be a total of 106 games for the season. That should be enough to win the pennant. Although Brooklyn won 105 games last year, the team that takes the flag usually averages under 100 triumphs.

In Tuesday night's game, Al Dark, Willie Mays and Monte Irvin hit home runs, accounting for all the Giants' runs. Starter Preacher Roe was the victim of two and Milliken one, Maglie gathered a two-hitter. Roe then settled down until he ran into trouble again in the ninth and required the services of Grissom to pull it out.

OTHER SHUTOUTS

Two other National League games produced shutouts. Gerry Staley blanked the Cincinnati Reds for the St. Louis Cardinals 6-0, and Curt Simmons of the Philadelphia Phillies stymied the Pittsburgh Pirates, 3-0. In the other National League encounter, the Milwaukee Braves bombed the Chicago Cubs 14-3.

The Cleveland Indians held their 11½-game lead over the New York Yankees in the American League. The Tribe got all their runs in the first inning and plastered the Baltimore Orioles 11-3 while the Yanks turned back Boston Red Sox 4-1.

Virgil Trucks, the veteran righthander of Chicago White Sox, pitched his second one-hitter of the season as his injury-riddled mates whipped the Detroit Tigers 4-0. Johnny Schmitz of the Washington Senators also was stingy with the base hits, allowing Philadelphia A's only a half-dozen as the Nats hung a 5-2 defeat on Eddie Joost's men.

NINE HITS

Staley was tapped for nine hits by the Redlegs, but kept them well-scattered. The Cards made only seven, but they were aided by three Cincinnati errors. Red Schoendienst hit safely for his 25th straight game.

Simmons, who had indifferent success during the first half of the season, was hit hard, but had good support to win No. 8 against six losses.

The in-and-out Braves scored 11 runs in the first inning en route to handing the Cubs their fourth straight licking. Gene Conley had no trouble coasting to his seventh victory.

The Indians wasted no time in showing the poor Orioles who was boss. The 11 runs in the first inning included Kenny Wynn's last easy. Joe Coleman, usually a tough hombre, and Mike Blyzka, were the victims.

Toronto Leafs Break Six-Game Losing Streak

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A six-game losing streak was at an end today for the Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League thanks to the pitching of Eddie Blake.

Toronto's 5-3 victory over Richmond coupled with Havana's 5-4 victory over Rochester Red Wings moved the second-place Leafs to within one and one-half games of the league-leading Red Wings.

Blake, who needed help from Ray Shore with two out and two on in the ninth, recorded his eighth win and third over the Virginians this season. He gave up eight hits, walked five and struck out four.

HELD TO SIX

Wimpy Nardella restricted the Leafs to six hits but three came in the fourth inning when Toronto scored twice to break a 2-2 tie.

Elston Howard hit his 11th home run of the season for the Leafs while Joe Lutz collected one for the Virginians.

Four bases on balls by relief pitchers Tom Connolly and Tony Jacobs in the eighth inning gave the Sugar Kings the deciding run over Syracuse Chiefs. Ottawa had tied the game with a three-run splurge in the top of the inning. The rest of the fourth run also was a gift, coming on two walks and an error.

Montreal moved within seven games at the top as Joe Black gained credit for his fifth win against four losses in the Royals' 8-5 victory over Buffalo Bisons.

Black, who slammed out a home run in the big fifth, hurled seven innings before yielding to a pinch hitter. The Royals scored the winning runs in the eighth and one in the ninth.

HOMER HELPS

Jack Littrell's grand-slam home run in the fifth inning capped a six-run uprising for Ottawa Athletics as they defeated Syracuse Chiefs 7-6.

All six runs, including a lead-off homer by Sam Jethroe, came off Lynn Lovegrush, who took his second defeat against one win.

Jacobs in relief hung up nine hits but with the bases loaded and two out in the ninth he needed help from Johnny Mackinson.

National Loop Seeks 5th Win With Best Team in History

CINCINNATI (AP) — The National League all-stars go after their fifth straight victory next week at Cleveland with one of the best all-round crews in the history of the classic.

"I think this is the strongest squad the National League has ever had," said league president Warren Giles today. "I think we'll make it straight."

Walter Alston of Brooklyn Dodgers, manager of the National League squad, pilot of New York Yankees, pilot of the American all-stars, announced their pitching selections Tuesday and rounded out their rosters with additions to old positions.

CHOSEN BY FANS

The starting batter, except for the pitching assignments, were selected by the national pastime's fans in a nationwide poll.

Alston, the first freshman manager to handle an all-star squad, named four righthanded hurlers and three lefties with a combined 72-36 won-lost record for the July 13 game.

The National League bullpen will be crowded with stars Robin Roberts of Philadelphia, Carl Erskine of Brooklyn, Gene Conley of Milwaukee, Marvin Grissom of Milwaukee, all righties, and Warren Spahn of Milwaukee, Harvey Haddix of St. Louis and Johnny Antonelli of New York, the southpaws. Antonelli has the best record, 12-2.

The nine American League hurlers, including two lefthanders have been posted 80 wins and 36 losses. They are lefties Dean Stone of Washington and Whitey Ford of the Yankees, and righties Mike Garcia and Bob Lemon of Cleveland, Sandy Koegan and Virgil Trucks of Chicago White Sox, Bob Porterfield of Washington, Allie Reynolds of the Yanks and Bob Turley of Baltimore.

The National League all-star crew named by the fans brings together these great stars at catcher Roy Campanella, Brooklyn; first baseman Ted Kluszewski, Cincinnati; second baseman Granny Hamner, Philadelphia; shortstop Alvin Dark, New York; third baseman Ray Jablonski, St. Louis; leftfielder Jackie Robinson, Brooklyn; centrefielder Duke Snider, Brooklyn, and rightfielder Stan Musial, St. Louis.

Added to that aggregation by Alston, with the advice of every Yankee, pilot of the American all-stars, announced their pitching selections Tuesday and rounded out their rosters with additions to old positions.

Glen Dobbs Signs With Hamilton Cats

HAMILTON (CP)—One of the great veterans of the gridiron, Glenn Dobbs, has been signed by Hamilton's Tigercats of the Interprovincial Football Union and will report before the start of the training camp, July 12.

The "Dobber" one of the greatest triple threats in the game until injuries interfered with him the past two seasons back and forced his release by Saskatchewan Roughriders last season, is reported well and fit again.

His reputation and his past performances will mean nothing," said one club official Tuesday. "He is a candidate, like anyone else and, if he cannot make a place, won't linger."

Now 34, Dobbs ascended to football fame with the University of Tulsa where, as a punter, passer and runner, he was named all-American in 1942.

Records Broken At Games Cycle Trials

VANCOUVER (CP)—Rain and a heavy cross-corner breakneck any chances of record-breaking in today's British Empire Games cycle trials, but the 25-mile road race was set to go in the face of any thing but weather could deliver.

The race, equal to the 100 kilometer B. E. Games race, is set on repeated city streets, with a 10-mile reverse corner presenting itself as an obstacle to be cleared-breaking that has been the trend of the trials and the preceding Canadian championships.

Young Vancouver rider Jim Davies, took out the Canadian 1,000 metre time trial record Monday. He was clocked around the empire oval at a dizzling 1:14.0, sustaining claims that the $105,000 yellowbrick track is one of the world's fastest.

BREAKS RECORD

Pat Murphy of Delhi, Ont., broke the second record on the second day of the trials Tuesday, wheeling his precision-built machine around the 4,000 metre pursuit circuit in 5:18.7.

The same "Fighting Irishman" cracked two records in the previous week's Dominion championships. Murphy is holder of the best times for the 10-mile and 4-mile races.

Davies ran into tough luck in Tuesday's trials, cracking up his machine in the same 1,000 metre event he set the record in during the Canadian meet. His front wheel touched the back of his opponent's machine, and he was thrown off balance and slid down the steep bank, leaving the other racer to go on and win.

Trotters, Davids Big Disappointment, Paige Puts in Belated Appearance

By GEO H. CARVER
(Sports Editor)

An over-rated "star" that failed to twinkle; a mile-and-a-quarter fairgrounds and a clown that tried but failed to "save face" made up the fanciful exhibition billed as the Harlem Globetrotters and the House of David baseball game at Exhibition Park last night.

Roughly, 1,000 people paid to see the "fabulous" Satchel Paige do a mountebank act with the much-ballyhooed pitching arm. Roughly 452 saw him do it. The rest were on their way home, thanks to the God-given excuse of a few drops of rain.

They didn't miss a thing.

If his performance here last night is a criterion, "Satchel Paige" is travelling malady on his reputation. He did not put in an appearance until the eighth innings. He delivered five pitches that a juvenile could have slammed out of the park, and the House of David batters banged out a home run, two doubles and a single before a man was out.

Paige gave the impression he was doing everybody a favor by merely gracing the scene with his presence, and outside of pilfering the vault of a bank he do not know any easier way of making a reputed $30,000 a year.

BATTING PRACTICE

While it may be true that "four of the regulars of the House of David jumped the host" at practice, last night's show was as mis-cast as Bob Hope would be playing Hamlet.

From a hitting point of view it was nothing more than a glorified batting practice for the Globetrotters who rattled three homers, a triple, eight doubles and assorted singles off the " House of David burners.

True there were some outstanding fielding plays on the part of both teams before clown Bobo Nickerson went to the mound and comedied his way to the end of the piece. In case you're interested the score was 11-4.

CLOWN GOOD.

Nickerson, to give the devil his due is one of the best clowns to injuries interfered with his play time. He put on a "pepper show" prior to the game that saw some dexterous handling of the ball. He then essayed to pitch against the "New York Yankees" with the aid of a commentator, and his pantomimic efforts evoked rounds of applause.

Bobo carried on his antics while the "regular game" was being played, acting as coach on the third base line and using players and umpires as his stooges.

A pitcher of parts in his earlier days, Bobo has turned his comedy talent to good effect. He was rushed into the breach for the House of David last night and in his initial effort gave a fine demonstration of what a pitcher should do when a bunt is laid down by the bee line.

But the damage was done and Bobo turned the rest of the game into a comedy.

Potential sponsoring organizations of the city would be well advised to "scout" these exhibitions before signing on the dotted line.

While it may be true the Harlem Globetrotters form a smart baseball team, and they proved it last night, the game was too one-sided to hold fan interest.

Let's have the Betas.

Bluebirds Hand Stewart Warner Twelfth Loss

By GARRY ALEXANDER)

Paul Mercier's Bluebird Juniors broke a dangerous losing streak at the Alemite field last night by handing Stewart Warner a 13-6 drubbing in a Belleville and District Softball League game. The win was the first without a win for the Stewart Warner team.

The Juniors spotted Stewart Warner one run in the initial frame but went ahead for a 3-1 score after three innings. They exploded for seven tallies in the third to sew up the victory, adding one in the fifth and a pair in the eighth. The cellar-dwellers came up with pairs in the fifth and seventh while getting a single marker in the sixth.

Bobby Green started on the hill for the beardless ones to gain the victory but was taken out in the fourth inning due to poor control. He gave up two hits in 6 1-3 innings while getting eight on strikes but walked in four runs. Bruno McCurdy came on to finish the game and received credit for one hit as he fanned two and issued walks to the same number.

Ron Cannings, Stewart Warner's starting hurler, was shelled from the mound in the third after allowing seven runs off five hits. He whiffed two while walking four. Ron's stint was cut short by the relief way for another six runs on four hits, striking out one and walking a trio.

Miller started the game with an infield single for the Warner crew and scored later on a fly out but the lead did not last long. Barclay and Russell put two infield hits with a sacrifice, error and two walks for a 3-1 game. Belnap's single led to their second inning run. They let loose with all guns in the third as singles by Russell and Goyer, Bob Green's double and a homer and single by Cooley Dave were the main factors. Three walks and the batter did little to help matters.

Four straight walks and a throwing error to a pair for the losers in the fifth while Shorty Miller got one in the sixth on a base-on-balls by Green.

A walk, passed ball and an error got one for the losers in the seventh while a walk, error and single by Gerry Goyer and Wallbridge produced the scoring in the eighth.

Top man at the plate was Junior Day with a homer and single, both coming in the same inning. Gerry Goyer and Paul Russell each had a brace of singles while Bob Green claimed a double. Singles were had by Don Barclay and Harry Wallbridge.

Shorty Miller had a home run and a double for two for the losers three hits while Bertrim had a single.

MODIFY RULE

PARIS (AP)—The International Lawn Tennis Association decided Tuesday to modify the foot-fault rule which has been a source of dispute between the American and Australian Davis Cup teams. The new rule, which goes into effect next Jan. 1 on a two-year trial basis, permits the server to swing one foot over the line during his delivery. Under the current rule the feet have to be kept back of the line until the racket strikes the ball.

East, West Stars Score Twin Wins In Canadian Swim Championships

By PETER MURRA Y
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—A slender Montreal university student and a powerful-stroking ace from Vancouver each scored double victories Tuesday night in the Canadian swimming championships at Empire pool here.

Lloyd Klebine came up with a tremendous finishing kick in the last race of the program, the men's 110-yard breast stroke, to complete his double.

Earlier, the lithe McGill student stroked to victory in the 110-yards butterfly.

Gerry McNames, who has been swimming in top-notch company on an athletic scholarship to the University of Southern California, showed his versatility by winning the 220-yards men's free-style and the gruelling 1,650-yard free-style.

DISQUALIFICATION

A heart-breaking disqualification and a couple of sizzling finishes highlighted the day's action.

The three-day meet, which winds up tonight, will also serve as the basis of selection for Canada's British Empire Games team. A squad of 30 men and 10 women will be named Thursday.

The disqualification was called on Toronto's Virginia Grant after she had led her consistent rival, Gladys Priestley of Verdun, Que., to the wire by a whisker in the senior women's 110-yard free-style.

The judges ruled that Miss Grant failed to touch the far end of the 55-yard pool on the turn.

FOURTH WIN

The victory was awarded to Miss Priestley, giving the Montreal district its fourth win of the night.

Allen Stack created a sensation from Crescent Beach, B.C., scored his fourth junior championship of the night by racing to an easy win in the 110-yard breast stroke.

Sara Barber, another youthful ace from Brantford, Ont., annexed her second junior championship in the 220-yard backstroke. The slim 13-year-old covered the course in 3:04.7, a full 11 seconds faster than her nearest competitor.

Two more divers and were crowned during the afternoon. Bill Patrick of Calgary, a protege of former Canadian men's diving champion George Athans of Kelowna, B.C., had too much class in the three-metre springboard event. His other two competitors were Bernard Valois of Quebec, second, and Len Chandler, Brantford.

Lois Wood of Toronto upset Irene McDonald of Hamilton in the women's five-metre diving off the tower.

'Dobberville' Glad Favorite Back in Game

REGINA (CP) — Dr. Beattie Martin, president of Saskatchewan Roughriders, says he's "very glad" to hear Glenn Dobbs, the WIFU team's former quarterback and kicking coach, will be back in the game this season.

"I wish him every success," Dr. Martin said Tuesday when informed Dobbs had signed for a year with Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

Dobbs probably more than any other person has helped to develop the reputation it has a "Dobberville" city. In fact, there still are a lot of cars around here with one licence plate painted with the word "Dobberville."

Elgins, Galt Play to Tie

GALT (CP)—The St. Thomas Elgin-Galt Terrier Senior intercounty baseball fixture was rained out after 6½ innings of play Tuesday night, the score reverting to the sixth, a 5-5 tie. It will be finished on the Elgin's next visit July 31.

St. Thomas scored three runs in their half of the seventh and Bill Casanova lost credit to a two-run homer. His brother, Bruno, also had a two-run homer in the fifth. Galt had two men on base and none out when play was called.

Winds Postpone Winnie's Swim

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—High winds today forced Winnie Roach to postpone her attempt to swim the Catalina channel.

Winnie, 29-year-old mother from St. Thomas, Ont., was in her swimming suit awaiting the attempt but winds from 18 to 20 miles an hour failed to subside.

She rested her start for 1:45 a.m. on Thursday.

Her goal is to beat Florence Chadwick's record of 13 hours and 47 minutes for the 26 miles and 22 miles from Santa Catalina island to the mainland.

Landy, Bannister Victories Hollow, Yanks Ran 4-Minute Mile in 1865

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—Old North Dakota archives strongly indicate that the fastest mile ever run by man was recorded there 89 years ago this week, long before either John Landy or Roger Bannister was born, and Fred West Sanford learned to talk. We are indebted to Eugene Fitzgerald, sports editor of the Fargo (N.D.) Forum, for having made available this long-forgotten page of history.

"A celebration was held at Fort Rice, Dakota, territory, about 25 miles south of Mandan, on July 4 and 'Footrace' West Sanford, a boy 6 that year had a report on the b o l l d e y festivities," Fitzgerald writes.

"The first event on the holiday celebration following the review was a mile run, three times around the fort. There were six entries" and a prize of $5.

"The event was won by Cpl. W.H. Green of Co. D of the Confederate deserters in the time of 3¾ minutes. The Frontier Scout reported. Pte. W. M. Winfrey of Co. C was second in four minutes.

"Of course, nowadays is going to say the timing wasn't accurate. But even allowing for the accuracy of the timing, you'll admit that 15 seconds (under four minutes) would be a big margin of error for 225 seconds. Even conceding that the timing might have been inaccurate; there wasn't much wrong with the engineering who was running in hard luck.

of those days, and 12 inches was a foot.

"The fort) was rectangular, 510 feet on its north and south sides and 500 on the east and west. Three times around that enclosure would be 6,060 feet, or 780 more than the regulation mile which Bannister and Landy ran under four minutes. The best sprinters of our day would require more than 25 seconds to cover the 30 yards which Green and Winfrey took after completing the mile.

"Possibly the $5 first prize (which automatically made the runners professionals) is the reason the accomplishment has never been given official recognition. Because there was a shortage of spectators."

The reporter who covered the event for the "Frontier Scout" leaves too many questions unanswered, questions the modern track expert will not fail to ask. What were Corporal Green's and Winfrey's times? How many timers were there, and were they registered with the A.A.U.? Was the course surveyed after the race, and was Green helped by a following wind?

Personally, we do not intend to be contentious about it. The "Frontier Scout" had nothing to gain by putting out a false report. All we would like to know is what Private Winfrey said when he learned he had ripped off a mile in four minutes flat and been beaten by 15 seconds. There was a soldier with a reputation to uphold.

GIVEN CAKE

BISLEY, England, (CP) — Mrs. S. E. Lawrence, caretaker of the Canadian hut here who has "mothered" 42 Bisley teams, Tuesday was presented with a birthday cake by the commandant of the Canadian team, RCMP Commissioner L. H. Nicholson of Ottawa. Mrs. Lawrence's age was not disclosed.

A REAL GREETING

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—Germany's world champion soccer team received a hero's welcome from 500,000 fans Tuesday in the streets of Munich on their return to this ancient city's history. Police officials said the turnout surpassed the fair even the huge crowds of the Hitler era when Munich was the capital of the Nazi party.

Game-Stalling Mgrs. Rebuked By League Boss

MONTREAL (CP) — Baseball managers who "delay" games beyond the curfew hour in Toronto received a sharp rebuke Tuesday from Frank Shaughnessy, president of the International League. Branding the managers as "careless," Shaughnessy declared "there is no reason at all why these games can't be finished before the Sunday curfew" at 6 p.m. EDT.

He said he wasn't blaming the Toronto manager more than any other involved in the five unfinished games, but "we're going to stop this." Umpires were receiving instructions on the matter.

Pitchers had been allowed to "pose around" in the box when they should be hurling, and the fault was the managers' because they should keep the pitchers in line. The managers had been guilty of needless protests and arguing which help to game.

He noted that Montreal and Ottawa played a doubleheader here Monday, which ended Sunday, while Toronto and Rochester only got six innings on top of the sixth inning in Toronto.

Rowing Trials Set for July 10

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B. C. oarsmen left by air Tuesday for Penn Canada and the British Empire Games rowing trials.

Canada's representatives in the games rowing events will be decided July 10-11 on the Welland canal, near Port Dalhousie, Ont., where conditions are expected to almost approximate those of the games course on the Vedder canal, 60 miles east of Vancouver.

The B.C. team, coached by Frank Read, includes an eights crew from Vancouver Rowing Club and the University of British Columbia. The doubles team of Jim Campbell and Les Smith, both of Vancouver, also will compete.

Two racing shells were shipped east Saturday by rail.

Woodbine Track

TORONTO (CP)—Robert Berry of St. Marys, Ont., owner and driver of the four-year-old trotter Lee Harvester Jr., won the first of the three races of the young Woodbine raceway meeting Tuesday, the $2,190 International Stockford Cup. Fifteen starters were divided into two heats with the top five trotters in each qualifying for the 10-horse final.

Lee Harvester Jr. captured the first heat handily and Rose Rid-dell, owned by Mrs. Miller Wray of Scarborough, was second.

In the final, both proved their class by finishing one-two, with Rose Riddell about a length back of Bob Berry's speedster.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

Where most beginners make their biggest mistake in play is in the very first trick. Count your first and think afterward. All of a sudden they realize they have overlooked something.

South became the declarer at a contract of seven spades. He got there after the bidding told him two aces were in the hand of his north partner. Of course, his spade suit was solid enough.

The opening lead from west was club jack. Right here is where so many palookas stub their toes. Instead of noticing what they are up against they would let the trick come around to south club king.

The only entry to dummy would then be lost ace and the diamond suit would be blocked and as worthless as a cloud of last year. That would be the grand slam to be defeated by loss of a heart trick.

The only hope of making the grand slam is to find diamond king in east. So, dummy must take the first trick with club ace, dropping the king on the floor and keeping the entry in dummy.

On club queen which dummy leads next is stuffed the south diamond ace for an unblock. Now dummy starts leading his best diamonds until the east king is ruffed. South will then pull opponent trumps.

Dummy then gets in with a heart to the ace and cashes the jack. Right here is where the dummy diamonds. South will then have left nothing but trumps for the rest of the way.

I know that this is a far-fetched example for a beginner to do in actual play. But its very unusualness may leave an impression to act as a lesson. It might scare him into remembering.

Such a play is not at all unusual for a skillful player. Before he plays to the first trick he looks for just such a problem. Even if it is one chance in a million he must take it.

Pays $3,000 For Dead Nag

FORT ERIE (CP)—W. R. Wesley of Toronto paid $2,000 for a 10-year horse at the Fort Erie Jockey Club.

Wesley had entered a claim for Tenn Tommy, a starter in the fourth race Tuesday and had deposited his $3,000 with the stewards. Tenn Tommy broke his leg during the running of the race and was humanely destroyed by the track veterinary.

Under rules of racing, Wesley's $3,000 went to J. O. Proulx, the former owner of Tenn Tommy and all that Wesley received for his money was the dead horse.

Stanky Denies 'Stinky' Story

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Manager Eddie Stanky Tuesday branded as a false rumor a Milwaukee story saying said Stanky feeling was "grown amazingly in the last few weeks" and has spread to St. Louis Cardinal players.

The Milwaukee Sentinel, in a story said "resentment against the Little Napoleon has even hit the players' ranks, it is reported, with most of the Cardinals plainly dissatisfied with his methods."

Army Chief Hails "Cease Fire!" Most Realistic of All War Pictures

After viewing Hal Wallis' stirring Paramount film "Cease Fire!" the brand new offering which is due to open tomorrow, Thursday, at the Belle Theatre, Major General Clark Ruffner, Chief of the Army's Information Division, authorized this quote: "I've been in the army 36 years, from private to general, and this is the only realistic motion picture of war I've ever seen."

This comment of praise from a military man about a film dealing with the army in action cannot be taken lightly. Hollywood in the past has made some magnificent war pictures glorifying various branches of the armed forces. All these exciting productions were made in Hollywood by Hollywood writers, directors and actors.

But now out of the tragedy of Korea comes "Cease Fire!" It was filmed under actual battle conditions, with real shell fire, live machine and rifle bullets and also with real soldiers playing themselves. It is the exciting and poignant story of a fourteen American patrol which went behind the enemy lines the last day of the war to scout an enemy troop concentration, and the harrowing adventures encountered by them on so-called "quiet" day on the front. With all the talent and "guts" that were used in the making of "Cease Fire!" it not only emerges as a film that graphically illustrates the magnitude of the operations involved in the deadly game of war, but points out as well the courage shown by our fighting men.

"Final Twist" Hard-Hitting Drama

A special added attraction on the same program, is the presentation of Paramount's, "Final Twist", a thirty-minute, high-powered suspence-packing mystery melo-drama. A Colorfun Cartoon, and the popular Warner Bro. Newsreel completes the program.

AT THE McCARTHY THEATRE

"Moulin Rouge" Lush Story of Gay Paree.

A lush, bawdy and beautiful picture made its debut here today with the McCarthy Theatre's presentation of John Huston's newest cinematic triumph in Technicolor, "Moulin Rouge". The United Artists release is the story of Henri Toulouse-Lautrec, one of France's most colorful artists. In its telling, Paris at its gayest, its most ribald, is shown. We see the famous Moulin Rouge of the 1890's with its Can-Can Girls, its smoke-filled dance floor, its long bar and giant candelabra. All the fascinating characters of Lautrec's, time come to life — Jane Avril, La Goulue, Chocolat, and many others from the bistros and boulevards of the great gay Paree.

The bearded strange-little Lautrec, is portrayed by Jose Ferrer, who once again delivers a truly outstanding performance in a demanding role. Zsa Zsa Gabor, international glamour girl, plays the fickle and lovely Jane Avril. In her first dramatic role — and in this reviewer's opinion headed for stardom in that road) is the famous French dancer Colette Marchand. She plays a temptress who torments Lautrec with pretenses of love only to leave him broken-hearted. The part of Myrlamme, the beautiful designer who alone of Lautrec's loves, loves him genuinely in return, is played by the enchantingly beautiful Suzanne Flon.

John Huston, famous for such masterpieces of the screen as "Treasure of the Sierra Madre,"

AT THE CAPITOL — Leo Gorcey, Huntz Hall and the Bowery Boys meet monsters in their latest comedy triumph "The Bowery Boys Meet the Monsters" opening Thursday at the Capitol Theatre. On the same program the violent life of Sam Garrett gunslinger played by Wayne Morris in "The Desperado." See these first Belleville showing hits on our Giant Panoramic Screen.

"The Asphalt Jungle" and "African Queen," directed, "Moulin Rouge," and you can chalk up another memorable film for Mr. Huston. The color in which the film was photographed is something completely new. Throughout there is the smoky, pastel, delicate shading for which Lautrec's paintings and posters were renowned. Elsa Eilefson, well-known Life Magazine photographer, served as special color, consultant for the picture.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR THURSDAY, JULY 8, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Some artificiality indicated. Outlook may appear better than it is. Seek counsel, advice from intelligent sources; be careful if taking on a new responsibility. Aim to be well informed.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Some tendencies toward irritation now. Take necessary precautions to protect valuables, prestige, property. Call upon all resources and influences if you must. Don't anticipate too much, but don't become discouraged, either.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Don't allow aspirations to exceed your abilities. But do your best job. We urge you not to stray from the proverbial "straight and narrow."

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — You may encounter uncertainties in business or personal affairs. This is a tricky period that will need most careful study. Be kind to domestic contacts, home.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — You can impede your progress if not truly conscientious and above-board. Devote some of the A.M. to studying day's problems, seeking advice, and heeding wise words and you'll profit.

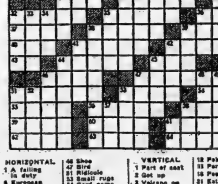
August 22 to September 23 (Virgo)—This can be a good day or just the opposite, depending on your reactions and also how you carry out tasks. Use your intuitive knowledge and "sixth-sense."

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Go along with things at a normal pace. But be laying new plans, formulating a definite course — one of your own. Be careful not to irritate the wrong people, or talk out of turn.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Aspects stimulating, on the specially good side for ingenious, worthwhile endeavors. In travelling, shipping, negotiating future sales, be circumspect.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Have confidence in your ability. You should turn in a fine report. This period is a generous one for sound matters, including financial ones, that can stand analyzing. P.M. sponsors romance.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—The early hours could be friendlier, you will probably think. But the restrictions affecting progress and your ability to solve things will pass by Noon. Then you can easily make up for some gains delayed.



January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Guard against questionable influences, obstacles not immediately evident. Loved ones will give you help, and, if you recognize your own ability, there should be no fear about gains.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—There may be too strong a tendency to cling to past methods. Fall in line with new, modern, improved ways. Don't be overanxious nor too inquisitive; day needs calm ness, co-operation.

YOU BORN TODAY have outstanding intuition, sensitivity and a liking for the worthwhile things. Be practical, curb restlessness and do not be too introspective. You are an interesting person and when educated (and you should continue this yourself), can make noteworthy headway in whatever work you choose. Reading, study and association with high-minded people can be a boon to your health and ambitions. Children of this date are sometimes obstinate and overpositive. Be patient, kindly in their rearing. Curb stubbornness, and don't worry. Do not engage in pointless projects.

Birthdate of: John D. Rockefeller.

Viet Nam Premier Will Demand Return of Delta

SAIGON, Indo-China (AP)—Viet Nam premier Ngo Dinh Diem said today he does not accept the French withdrawal from the south-ern Red River delta as final, and will demand it be restored at the government's control.

That was no likelihood the French would or could meet Diem's demand for reoccupation of the 3,000 square miles of the southern delta from which French Union forces withdrew last week.

The French said the Withdrawal was necessary to strengthen the defences of Hanoi, threatened by the highway and railway linking them. The Communist-led Viet Minh moved into the abandoned area, populated by some 2,000,000 people, as soon as the French moved out.

(A Viet Namese source at Geneva said Tuesday that French and Vietminh military experts there had agreed in principle that Viet Nam would be partitioned at the 18th parallel, with everything north going to the Communists. This source said the French would receive a three-month stone, all lines of communication with the two cities.)

Eight Jurors Enter Libel Suit Against Paper

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Vancouver Province had a front-page story Tuesday that eight of the 12 jurors at the trial of William Wakefield Scott murder trial have started suit for libel damages against the newspaper.

The jurors claim in a statement of claim filed in British Columbia Supreme Court that they were libelled by an article published in the Province last Saturday under the byline of columnist Eric Nicol.

The article, in part, against use of capital punishment, resulted in the Province being fined $2,500 and Mr. Nicol $500 on contempt of court proceedings. The fines were levied April 22.

Scott, found guilty of the murder of Franck Pitsch, a golf ball shagger, was sentenced to be hanged June 22 but the sentence was later commuted to life imprisonment.

The jurors who have started suit against the newspaper are William A. MacKay, John Lipp, Percy Lucas, J. C. McVicar, Len Blissett, Maurice Cassidy, George B. Mortimer and Don Matheson.

Defendants are the Southam Company (B.C.) Ltd., Province associate publisher; H. H. C. Anderson, editor; and Mr. Nicol.

Fail to Locate Ship Reported Afire on Lake

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto harbor police, investigating a report that a vessel had been seen afire in Lake Ontario, said today they made a thorough search of the area and found no trace of such a craft or wreckage.

A patrol boat searched offshore from Toronto to Whitby, about 25 miles east of here. It paid particular attention to Frenchman's Bay, where some residents of the district reported seeing lights during the night.

Crew members reported from Whitby that they planned to return to Toronto, continuing their hunt on the way back.

"We've covered the area pretty thoroughly, particularly the section where the reports indicated the vessel would probably be or where it might have drifted," said one of the police officers. "We have been searching in daylight and visibility is good.

"We've had reports like this before, from time to time. Nearly always, it turns out that what people saw was lights on the opposite shore or something like that."

The search started when a resident of Pickering, 20 miles east of here, telephoned police shortly after midnight to report seeing something burning on the lake.

Several persons reported seeing distress flares.

No craft had been sent from Oshawa, about 25 miles northeast of here. Police there said they had nothing new to report.

First reports said the ship was believed to be a large freighter and carried four lights. The vessel was said to be drifting eastward in the lake under a fresh westerly breeze.

STAGE BIG STRIKE AGAINST MALAYAN REDS

Eisenhower Blocks Move in Senate For UN Ultimatum

Will Not Commit U.S. to Quit UN if Red China Admitted

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower appeared today to have warded off any early Senate action to Congress on record with formal notice of U.S. withdrawal if the United Nations admits Red China.

Senator Walter George of Georgia, senior Democrat on the Senate foreign relations committee, said in an interview he does not now expect such a proposal to be offered. If one is, he said, he will oppose it because any such move "might deprive us [of freedom of action at a critical time."

George said he agrees with Senator William Knowland of California, the Republican floor leader, that the United States must do everything possible to keep the Chinese Communists out of the world organization. But George added he doesn't want the United States cast in advance in the role of "being willing to preside at the liquidation of the United Nations."

Knowland himself indicated he can go on his proposal to give advance notice of U.S. withdrawal. The administration and the Senate Republican leader would lack the necessary Democratic votes to get it approved in a closely divided Senate. Senator H. Alexander Smith (Rep., N.J.), acting chairman of the foreign relations committee, said he agrees the proposal won't be offered.

Eisenhower told a White House press conference Wednesday he is "completely and unalterably opposed under the present circumstances to the admission of Red China into the United Nations."

Eisenhower added, however, that if U.S. opposition should be overridden "the question of whether we would accomplish more good in the world, whether we could advance the cause of peace and decency better by going out than staying in" is "something that would have to be decided."

Knowland interpreted this as a sign that the president wants no advance commitments made on this point. He indicated he will go to Eisenhower's judgment. But he added that if the Peiping government is seated, Congress would act swiftly to take the United States out of the UN.

U.S. DEMANDS RETURN OF SEVEN G.I.'S CAPTURED

Stiff Note Delivered To Czech Foreign Office

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has served Red Czechoslovakia with a demand for the "immediate return" of seven U.S. soldiers who this government charges were kidnapped last Sunday.

The state department disclosed Wednesday night that an exceptionally stiff note was delivered to the Czech foreign office in Prague Wednesday afternoon.

The note dismissed as unfounded Czech claims that the seven—a captain and six enlisted men—were spying when they were seized in a Czech border patrol near the West German town of Baerau.

But a few hours after the U.S. note was handed to Czech diplomatic officials, the Communist satellite government repeated its espionage charge in a Prague radio broadcast heard in Vienna.

The U.S. note, protesting "in the strongest terms this abduction of American soldiers," said the Americans "were proceeding innocently and peacefully . . . (Czech-held German) border . . . when they were seized by Czech patrol."

SAY ON LEAVE

American army spokesmen in Germany have said the soldiers were on leave and may have crossed the Czech border by mistake while on a sightseeing trip.

However, the Czech reply note to the United States as read over Prague radio insisted that "their confession and behavior confirm the group entered Czech territory to perform an espionage mission."

The Czech note said further the soldiers confessed that they entered Czech territory by illegal means and that films found on them revealed that they had photographed military objectives in the soil.

The Czech note lodged a protest against what it called violation of Czechoslovakia's sovereignty.

Sale of Butter Will Not Affect Situation Here

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal butter distributors said Wednesday the sale of 14,600,000 pounds of butter to Britain by the United States government will not affect the butter situation in Canada.

They were commenting on a Washington announcement of the sale.

Canada is no longer selling butter to Britain because Canadian prices are too high, the distributors said. Sales to Britain are "extremely unlikely for some time" because the Canadian government is not willing to take a big loss in the sale of butter.

Distributors said the U.S. government's sale to Britain was a "drop in a bucket" since the United States now had a surplus of 490,000,000 pounds.

Canada's surplus is estimated at 35,000,000 pounds, they said.

Canada Pulls Out of Geneva Conference

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada has pulled out of the Geneva conference.

John W. Holmes, Canada's last remaining delegate to the conference on Korea and Indo-China, now is on his way home by sea.

After collapse of the Korean part of the conference, Canada had no vital interest in the meeting because it was not a party to the Indo-China talks.

The conference opened April 26 and External Affairs Minister Pearson headed the four-member Canadian delegation for the first month. He was succeeded by the No. 2 member of the delegation, Chester Ronning. Canadian influence to Norway. He was in turn succeeded by Mr. Holmes, the fourth member of the delegation.

C. E. McGaughey of the department's Far Eastern division, returned home two weeks ago.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: Cool weather will continue for at least one more day across Ontario. Southern regions will be sunny today and Friday, with afternoon temperatures in the 70s. A few, isolated showers will occur today in the north country. However with a high pressure area covering the province on Friday, skies will be sunny and the temperature somewhat higher in those regions.

Flooding River at Brandon Battering Last Remaining Dikes in Low Areas

BRANDON, Man. (CP) — The swollen Assiniboine river, which Wednesday spread over more than 10 acres of residential and down-town market garden land, today is battering at the last remaining dikes in Brandon's low-lying north-central area.

Brandon Packers Ltd., the city's second largest industry, is a tiny island in what has become a vast sea of water.

With the crest now not expected until Friday, the river early today was running at a rate of 3,000 cubic normal, just nine inches below the peak of the disastrous 1948 flood. Flood stage is 24 feet.

Elsewhere in the west rising waters of the Saskatchewan River and its tributaries brought the threat of floods to British Columbia, a storm of near hurricane force battered Broadview in south-central Saskatchewan and widespread thunderstorms over Edmonton caused a general alarm fire and an inch of rain to fall in less than an hour.

In B. C. the army and navy were put on a standby alert to battle any flooding and the RCAF stood ready to ferry sandbags to trouble spots. The Fraser river rose Wednesday to 20.04 feet at Mission.

Some 1,000 east-of-Vancouver men was just above the level where in 1948 floods caused $30,000,000 damage. Repairs and additions to dikes ament section.

since then have raised the danger level to around 23 feet.

Mayor Stephen James of Creighton said that evacuation of residential and business areas of the city still continues, and 60 families —about 275 persons—already have been moved. Most have gone to private homes; others have been housed in emergency quarters at the Wheat City arena.

Mayor Creighton said the level may rise another foot. The main part of Brandon is out of danger but the south side of the city's north bank also is steep.

Following the collapse of the two-mile-long dike Wednesday morning, civic officials decided to throw everything into the battle in effort to save the packing plant, a shutdown of which would throw 250 employees out of work and cut off a $14,000-a-week payroll.

Shortly after midnight, Mayor Creighton telephoned city engineer W. D. Hurst of Winnipeg for assistance in the dike strife surrounding the abbatoir.

Some 3,000 sandbags were rounded up from Winnipeg's emergency stockpile and sent by RCAF plane to Brandon.

Earlier, 600 bags were sent by truck from the army section of the Canadian Joint Air Training Centre at Rivers, Man., and another 2,000 were sent in from the bombing range, 25 miles beyond Camp Shilo, Man., by the CJATC armage. Repairs and additions to dikes ament section.

Uranium Production Continues Despite 4,500 on Men Strike

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP)—The entire American output of uranium-235, vital for atomic bombs, continued to be produced today by company workers at two plants here and at Paducah, Ky., despite a strike by 4,500 CIO chemical workers.

The union posted picket lines early Wednesday after President Eisenhower urged them to stay on the job until a fact-finding board could look into the wage dispute with the Carbide and Carbon Chemicals Company, operator of the plants for the Atomic Energy Commission.

Meanwhile, it was indicated in Washington the government might go to court for an injunction, perhaps today.

The union is demanding a 15-cent hourly wage increase for its 2,500 workers here and 1,000 more at Paducah. The company has offered a six-cent hourly boost retroactive to April 15.

As the orderly picketing continued Wednesday night, Jess Hamon, president of the non-striking AFL Atomic Trades and Labor Council urged Eisenhower to name an impartial arbitration board.

The CIO union has made no attempt to block workers from their jobs and AFL workers, as well as thousands of construction workers, streamed across the picket lines today.

The president's atomic energy labor relations panel stepped into the bargaining dispute last April after protracted negotiations failed. It recommended the 6-cent boost June 15 which Carbide accepted "reluctantly." The unions rejected the finding and lawed strike calls, although the AFL union took no strike action.

The hourly wage scale ranges from $1.58 to $2.60.

New Army Training Manual Puts Emphasis on Individual

By DAVE MCINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—The new army training manual contains this almost astonishing statement: "It is essential that recruits be treated as individuals."

For pop-eyed old sweats, this doesn't mean private telephones and breakfast in bed for recruits. But it does point up the army's new emphasis on individual training.

Today's soldier can move ahead much faster than his predecessor because, generally speaking, he is no longer one of a mob.

Brig. Geoffrey Walsh, DSO, 44-year-old director-general of military training who was largely responsible for the new manual issued a few months ago, said today in an interview:

"The period of expansion after the Korean war is over. We are settling down. Previously, we didn't have the NCOs we needed to train recruits. But we're doing them, though we never have enough.

"We are teaching the soldier to take care of himself better, to shoot better, to take cover better; in other words, increasing his chances of living. That way, we reduce casualties, besides making a better army.

Brig. Walsh is a native of Brantford, and first commander of the 1st Canadian Infantry Brigade in Germany.

"Nothing makes me madder than for something to tell me: 'The army has finished the syllabus of training and is finished.' I want to see the results, that he really can shoot and hit the target," he said.

Col. R. A. Keane, DSO, 40, of Fort William, deputy to Brig. Walsh, said: "The new manual doesn't state a new policy or principle. It has always been the principle to train each individual training as possible. But the new manual provides a method of applying this principle right across the board.

Brig. Walsh said the basic tenet of army training has not changed. If the soldier is taught to obey orders concerning tidiness of his bunk or cleaning his weapon, he will adhere to discipline in battle.

"We don't chew out a man because he makes mistakes at the start," Brig. Walsh said. "He can't be expected to know when the army is or does. But when a man is trained and makes mistakes he shouldn't, then he is chewed out."

Recruit training, after the depot stage, takes a minimum of 16 weeks for the infantryman. It includes ABC (atomic, bacteriological, chemical) warfare.

Within his first year, the soldier still lives with others in the new "new soldier training." The ideal has been found to be six-instructor to each squad of eight men. In this way, the soldier can get individual attention.

There is no end to training in the army.

"Training has got to last," Brig. Walsh said. "The commander who thinks his men are fully trained should be removed."

Charge Arbenz Masterminded Slaying of Rival

GUATEMALA (AP) — Charges of murder and mismanagement mounted today against ousted President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman. The latest accusation sought to lay him with the 1949 murder of his political rival—armed forces chief Col. Francisco Javier Arana.

In a move paving the way for Arbenz' arrest should he leave the Mexican embassy where he is in exile, a tribunal of the ruling junta heard a friend of the slain man, Jose M. Fajardo, formally charge the ex-president with masterminding the assassination.

Fajardo and leaders of his regime already face 57 accused charges of corruption, extortion and looting. In addition the junta is trying to collect $1,000,000 and $1,000,000 which Arbenz' treasurer, Roberto Garcia Ortiz, said he burned over to the short-lived military regime which succeeded the leftist president.

Protocol chief Humberto Carela Galvez said Spain and France have now recognized the new government. It has also received recognition from Honduras, El Salvador, Costa Rica and the Dominican Republic.

GOVT. PRESERVING REGISTRATION RECORDS ON FILM

Will Be Stored Away For Future Reference

OTTAWA (CP)—The government is carefully preserving for posterity the concise, intimate details concerning some 9,000,000 Canadians.

These are the housewives and farmers, storekeepers and ditchdiggers, bankers and clerks and hosts of other Canadians caught up in the country's great recording of humans in the national registration of wartime 1940.

Do you recall being asked whether you drive a truck, a tractor? Whether you can milk a cow? The replies to these and dozens of other questions are being permanently inscribed on microfilm and stored in steel vaults for future reference.

The big, 850,000-microfilming job, being carried out by a Dominion Bureau of Statistics staff of 21, is principally for the purpose of providing proof of age for old age pensions. The cards are a form of birth certificates.

Every month there are about 5,000 applications from persons officials across the country for a birth certificate needs to help establish applicants' ages.

But there also are other uses. The RCMP, for example, is making increasing use of the 9,000,000 master cards to obtain information speeding up investigations of suspected persons.

INFORMATION STOREHOUSE

And in the event of another mobilization, the vault of biographies will be a storehouse of information on the characteristics and capabilities of a cross-section of Canadian people.

The microfilming was started last November and is expected to be completed next December. At first progress was slow. But now the microfilm cameras are photographing the cards at the rate of 70,000 a day—35,000 in each of two cameras.

The cameras are doing an efficient job. The names and jobs of the registered Canadians, their ages, their religion, their occupation, their 1940 health and skills, and all the other information about them is being squeezed on to strips of film where 6,000 cards are recorded on film strips 100 feet long.

And where the old master registration cards required 10,000 square feet of floor storage space, the film rolls—1,500 of them when the job is finished—will require only one-tenth of that space.

Dulles Says U.S. Would Use Veto to Keep Red China Out of UN

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary Dulles said today the United States would use its veto, if necessary, to keep Red China from taking a seat in the United Nations Council.

Dulles said he is confident Red China will be unable to gain admittance at the fall session to any UN body principally because others, including the Assembly.

Dulles accused the Peiping regime of violating the United Nations in Korea, supporting the Communists in Indo-China and generally failing to fulfil international obligations.

Dulles said firmly he does not believe there will be any occasion for the United States to withdraw from the United Nations if Red China is admitted, as Senator William Knowland (Rep. Calif.) has proposed.

Talk of pulling out of the United Nations, he said, strikes a note of defeatism which is entirely unjustified because the United States and like-minded countries have a powerful case for blocking Red China's membership.

Dulles also said:

1. Neither he nor Undersecretary Walter Bedell Smith has any present plans to return to the Geneva Far East conference, which has wholly exclude this possibility, however.

2. The United States expects to grant full diplomatic recognition to the new government of Guatemala after that regime has demonstrated willingness and ability to meet existing international obligations.

3. He hopes present talks with Britain aimed at creating an anti-Communist defence in southeast Asia can be wound up quickly and that other non-Communist countries will join.

Parachute Troops Leap Into Jungle Where Chiefs Hide

Big Planes Rain Bombs Into Headquarters Region

SINGAPORE (Reuters) — Heavy British bombers rained tons of explosives and followed up with wave after wave of parachute troops in a mammoth strike against Communist guerrillas in Malaya today.

The assault, biggest operation of the six-year-old war, was aimed at a tract of jungle near Ipoh, northern Malaya.

The Malayan Communist party is believed to have its headquarters there.

Four-engined Lincoln bombers softened up the area first with thousands of pounds of high explosives. Then the transports droned over to drop swarms of specially-trained parachute troops.

The paratroopers carried strong silken cords for use in case their parachutes caught in the upper branches of 200-foot trees in the drop area. They were able to let themselves down from their snagged chutes in spiderlike fashion, their submachineguns strapped at the ready.

The entire operation was shrouded in secrecy until zero hour.

Over the target area the sky was thick with planes as the bombers dropped the last of their explosives. Thick clouds of bomb smoke billowed from the target.

It was impossible from the air to assess what happened after the paratroopers hit.

Du Pont Plans Research Centre At Kingston

MONTREAL (CP)—A $1,500,000 research laboratory—first building of a projected five-unit, 25-acre research centre—will be built here in Kingston by Du Pont Company of Canada Limited, it was announced in Montreal.

The laboratory is expected to provide facilities for about 50 technical and supporting personnel and be completed by the fall of 1955.

The centre will be designed to provide a "sustained, independent program of basic industrial research," President Herbert H. Lank said in a statement announcing the project.

It will be located at the Kingston suburb of Carruthers Point.

Two nine-year-old girls rescued the child. Lily Martin dived into the water to pull her out, while Bobbie Thomas stayed on the dock to lift Jetta up by the arms.

Vietminh Troops Almost Girdle Red River Town

HANOI, Indo-China (Reuters) — Vietminh rebels have almost encircled the Red river town of Hung Yen, on the southern edge of the French defence position in northern Indo-China, according to reports reaching here today.

The French garrison at Hung Yen, about 18 miles from Phy Ly, is receiving supplies by air and occasionally by boat along the Red river.

There was still no sign of the all-out Vietminh attack against the new French lines.

Military experts believe the Communists will try to infiltrate two or three divisions near the Hanoi - Haiphong communications line before launching a new offensive.

Strong Vietminh activity was also reported from the central and southern part of Viet Nam.

AVALON, Calif. (AP)—Canada's long-distance swimming star Winnie Leuszler gave up her attempt to swim the Catalina Channel today after an hour and 50 minutes during which she became sick from swallowing water.

The 28-year-old mother of three had plunged into the surf at Emerald Bay at 2:39 a. m. PDO (5:39 a.m. EDT), hoping to swim the California mainland 21 miles away.

She was pulled into a rowboat by her husband Jack, 29, was hausted and nauseated by heavy seas.

Once-Scorned Junk Dealer Making Riches

CALGARY (CP)—The junk business is big business.

The waste junk man is making riches from his rags, waste paper, rubber, glass and, in particular, metal and non-ferrous metals. He basks in what now is respectably named the "secondary materials" industry.

The industry is of prime importance on the prairies, not only in salvaging valuable materials such as farm machinery, but as a source of raw materials for industry in areas remote from natural resources.

In Calgary, the industry produces about 1,000 tons per month, more than 100 men in special demolition and wrecking crews, and 12 trucks used for preparing materials for shipment. Hundreds of others find a lucrative sideline in collecting scrap and selling it to salvage firms.

The average price paid for scrap iron here is $10 a ton.

It is claimed more than three-quarters of the iron used in Prairie foundries comes from scrap piles. When new pig iron is used, it is imported from smelters as far away as Sault Ste. Marie.

NON-FERROUS METALS SOLD

Nearly half the gross dollar value of the scrap merchants' trade in Calgary comes from non-ferrous metals such as copper, brass, aluminum and aluminum.

Prices for non-ferrous metals are the big money-makers, scrap iron provides the real basis of the industry. The non-ferrous metals are reclaimed often only as parts of larger equipment.

About 35,000 tons of scrap iron a year is salvaged by the "secondary materials" men, who say the demand for scrap in Alberta has doubled in the past 10 years. Industries turn about 9,000 tons of scrap annually into sewer pipes, valves, fittings and other products.

Obituary

GORDON TAIT—DORLAND
(Parliament, Ont.)

WELLINGTON (Special) — A sorrowing village paid final tribute to the memory of one of its most promising sons at the funeral of the late Gordon Tait Dorland, only son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Dorland, Consecon St. on Saturday, July 3.

Gordon Lorland, a graduate in mechanical engineering from the Queen's University, met his death in a drowning tragedy in Windsor, Ont., on Wednesday, June 30. He was in his 24th year.

Born in Wellington, Gordon received his early education here, going on to the Consolidated School, and later Queen's University, where he graduated. Following his graduation, he became associated with the Ford Motor Company of Windsor, in an engineering capacity.

One of this village's most popular young men, Gordon became the third of a trio of youthful residents to meet death under unusual circumstances. The others were: Ernie Cullen, Boy Scout, who gave his life in a heroic effort to save a drowning adult, and Bob Green, promising athlete, who lost his life in the Credit canal near Windsor.

Like Green and Cullen, Gordon gave promise of being an outstanding athlete. He played organized baseball in the Ontario Edward County league at the age of 15, and later played with Coach "Dutch" Hiscox with the Wellington juniors baseball team when they won the county championship.

In 1951 he played first base with the Picton junior team in the Bay of Quinte Baseball League. He continued his athletic activities when he attended Queen's University, starring in hockey and water polo. He was a member of the Queen's University junior hockey team when it bowed to Upper Canada College in intercollegiate finals.

Gordon's friendly attitude and warm personality won him many friends here in his early high school and professional environment. His passing was a distinct loss to many friends here and in the many spheres in which he moved.

Gordon was a member of the United Church and was active in its young people's work. He was also a member of the Wellington United Church Young People's Society.

Left to mourn his passing are his parents, one brother, Avery, at home. Other close relatives are: Mr. and Mrs. George H. Tait, Detroit, Michigan; Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Tait and family, of this village; Mrs. Ernest Armstrong, Leaside, Ont.; Lindley Dorland, Ste. Augusta, Maine; Mr. and Mrs. Clark Minns and family, St. Catharines and Joe Tesskey and family of Wellington.

The funeral was held from the Ainsworth Funeral Home, Wellington, on Tuesday with the Revs. Alfred Poulter and J. U. Robertson officiating.

The bearers were: Tom Nash, Don Smith, Glenden Saunders, Ross Pierson, Howard Parliament and Don Ball.

Commission Plans Being Postponed For Time Being

By JOHN LeBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Federal government plans for a royal commission to investigate coastal shipping have been put off until the conclusion of coming negotiations between Canada and the United States on the St. Lawrence seaway.

The negotiations for a joint construction job on St. Lawrence river deep-waterway facilities are expected to start this month. Informants said Wednesday the three-man royal commission likely will be set up shortly after they end.

The government has been planning to have the commission study the question of whether the Canadian coastal trade should be restricted to Canadian ships, particularly in the light of development of the seaway which will give big ocean vessels access to Great Lakes ports.

BEEN CUTTING IN

The coastal trade under scrutiny could be stirred in between Canadian ports on the two seacoards, the St. Lawrence and the Great Lakes. Traffic carried amounts to about 35,000,000 tons a year, centering chiefly in the east.

Non-Canadian vessels—especially British—have been cutting into this commercial traffic in anticipation of the seaway, concern has been growing on the part of the government as to the eventual effects of throwing open the inland waterway to big ships.

Inter-Service Club Golf Field Day Won by Kiwanis

Five Belleville service clubs joined hands yesterday for a backslapping get-together over their annual inter-service Golf Field Day. Over 50 members of the Kiwanis, Elks, Rotary, Lions and Y's Men Clubs teed off on the Trenton Golf Club course for keen competition for the Murray Davis Memorial Trophy, won this year by the Kiwanis.

The weather on the green came through with a truly-blue sky that sweltered down on a golfer. Not that it mattered that much in the contest—it was a matter of whether a man wielded his niblick like a golf club or a Gatling gun. There were prizes for anyone and anything.

After the dinner following the tourney, when Rotarian Stan Goodwin, who's club hosted this year's event, stood up to award the prizes, he found himself backed by a long awards that took like the old bazaar in Cairo—Cairo, Egypt, that is—not Cairo, Ont.

Out of the cornucopia, besides citations for the meatest golfers, and the sportiest, were awards for such qualifications as being the finest singer, (Gino Marinaro—no relation to like Lanza's); the most honest golfer, (Harold Myers of the Lions); the most groovy by Jim Wakeker and Bruce Graham.

—he shirt was fireproof).

A sextet from the Kiwanis came across with a trim 426 net to win the Murray Davis Cup. Making up the champion team, and presented with individual trophies were Joe McKay (64), Al Drysdale (68), Don Stanton (72), Les Fozard (75), Al Wolfenden (74) and Bill Stevin (73). Joe McKay and Al Drysdale also carried off awards for the lowest individual net scores round the course. Last year's trophy winners, the Kinsmen Club came in second with 440 net.

Other golfers, who carried off prizes for their clubs on low net averages were Stan Goodwin of Rotary, with 68, Howard Smith of Kinsmen, with 69, Kinsmen Jim Pearson with 71 and Scotty Reid of the Lions with 72.

Man with the most strokes on any hole was Ted Jones, who thrashed the ball 13 times before cowing it into the seventh.

The prize for the most gross around the course was Spence Wonnacott (72). Howard Walsh (85) was runner-up.

Lowest gross on the first nine was shared by Don Wallbridge and Bill Bray, both with 42, while on the second nine a low gross of 41 was gathered in again by Jim Wakeker and Bruce Graham.

Many of the Belleville bowlers will be journeying to Trenton on Saturday when the trebles will be played for the Hastings District trophy. This competition used to be for rinks, but the committee decided a better test could be secured for a trebles tournament.

Bowling Notes

Two tournaments, a men's doubles at Peterborough and a mixed doubles at Campbellford, attracted a wide entry from the district on Wednesday afternoon. The tournament at Peterborough was an annual affair and 96 rinks were entered from Ottawa to Toronto, with the Belleville club supplying five pairs and as usual the latter group occasionally came home with some prizes. Gordon Mitchell and Harold Hyde, along with Bruce Miller and Gordon Watkin tied for one position and collected a dollar each, while Jack Price and Jas. Hanna secured the six-man high prize while Davey Davison and Gordon Vince had no wins, but were consolation winners with high enough for an award. Austin Wand and Fred Hargraft were two who but not enough score to get into the count.

The bowlers reported the greens in excellent condition and the tournament was exceptionally keen. As usual the hospitality was beyond compare and the boys all report a delightful time in Trenton and evening at their favorite pastime, Al Campbellford a full double draw was played, but the games were interrupted early in the afternoon by a heavy rain storm, but it was not sufficient to curtail the tournament. Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Wonnacott got into the prize money, being fourth three-some high, but Al's wife had come from behind in the second game and Mrs. Ed Hall, Mrs. Ken Kingston, of Campbellford. Mr. Wonnacott was three down coming home in the first game, but made the cat back to four of his own bowls and won the game by one shot. Other pairs to make the trip were: Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Colling and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Parker.

Mr. and Mrs. William Fuller, of Trenton, won the cup and top prizes of the tournament.

Harold Parker, executive member of the local bowling club, was a participant in the game with the British bowlers held at Peterborough on Saturday at which the British team won by a score of 112-106. Mr. Parker, incidentally was on one of the teams which defeated the visitors, this team consisting of W. Mitchell, of Peterborough, was leading. H. Parker, second, Bill Dowland; of Lindsay, vice-skip and Bill Jeffreys of Peterborough as skip.

Mr. Parker reported a most enjoyable time with the greens in excellent condition. He stated the British bowlers stayed pretty well to the draw game with only the occasional ditch weight bowl being thrown.

Minor Softball

The C.N.R.A.A. bantam team racked up an 8-6 victory over the Y's Men club in a scheduled game played at the Dundas Street School grounds last night.

Dave Bruyes went all the way for the winning seven hits while while Cathers was the loser, giving up 10 hits.

The two teams battled on even term for the first five innings with the score at 5-5 after the sixth. The Railroaders came up with two runs for a 7-5 score and each team got one in the seventh and final innings.

Ralph Simmons and Ivo Kvarda led the winners at bat with two hits each while Mc-Bride claimed a pair for the Y's Men. Latchford had a double for one only extra base blow.

The C.N.R. lads and Schwab's are tied for first place in the league with the two teams meeting in a double header this Saturday afternoon at the C.N.R. Park. First games at 2.00 p.m.

Mrs. Petrov Warned Guards Might Shoot Her

MELBOURNE, Australia (Reuters) — Mrs. Evdokia Petrov said today she was warned armed Russian guards escorting her back to Moscow might "lose their nerves" and shoot her.

She said she tried to escape them.

This warning, she said, came from Russian ambassador Nikolai Generalov shortly before he and Sydney by plane for Moscow amid a violent mob scene at the airport.

Another warning came from Kovalenov, embassy official who replaced her husband, Vladimir, as local secret police chief after he defected to Australian authorities, she said.

He told her that concentration camps "and possibly execution" awaited her in Russia because of her husband's defection.

COMPLAINT DECIDED

Testifying before Australia's royal commission on espionage, Mrs. Petrov today gave her first full statement on her frame of mind during demonstrations which marched by the embassy and filled flight to Darwin. Australian authorities had sought to solve the puzzle of her intentions during the flight, which culminated in her decision at Darwin to join her husband.

She said she could not make up her mind whether to accept East European emigrants at Sydney urged her to stay behind.

The struggle ended when her husband told her bluntly:

"If you go you will never cross the threshold of your home. You will never see your parents."

She then told Australian officials "I am staying."

The commission, investigating Petrov's charges of widespread Russian espionage in Australia, had to delay the start of today's session to deal with legal objections from Robert Lockwood, Australian journalist named in the Petrov papers.

LIBEL CHARGED

Lockwood has filed a libel suit against government counsel W. J. V. Windeyer for calling him the "discredited journalist" in a report alleged to contain "criminal libel" charges by Petrov. Australians and said to have been written in the Russian embassy.

Lockwood's lawyer claimed that continuation of the commission hearing would cause contempt of the high court handling the libel suit. He was overruled by the commission.

Mr. Petrov today testified that Lockwood had spent three days typing out the document at the embassy.

Britain Charges Russia Wrecked Disarming Talks

LONDON (Reuters) — British today officially charged Russia with responsibility for the failure of the recent secret five-power disarmament talks in London.

A government statement said: "The Soviet representative's refusal to discuss seriously the Anglo-French proposals or to modify in any way the Soviet proposals advanced in previous years made it clear that further discussions in the sub-committee (of the United Nations disarmament commission) would not serve any useful purpose."

TRENTON, (Special.) —Fire early Thursday afternoon threatened to destroy the home of Jack Reid, R.R. 2, Trenton, at Bayside.

The two Reid children, whose names were not available at press time, were in the house when the fire started but according to early reports escaped unharmed. The fire is believed to have started from a trash pile at the rear of the house.

Mr. Reid works at Riggs Garage and Mrs. Reid is employed at Zellers Ltd., in Belleville.

Mr. McEntyre, assistant deputy for the last three years, succeeds Charles Gavsie, former deputy who resigned to become one of the trivumvirate administering the new St. Lawrence Seaway Authority.

Mr. McEntyre, who speaks both French and English fluently, is a native of Montreal. He practised law for about four years before joining the revenue department.

Falling Tree Kills Two Men

DRYDEN (CP)—Two employees of the Dryden Paper Company were killed and another was severely injured Monday when struck by a falling tree at a work camp near the community 180 miles northwest of Fort William, it was learned today.

Dead are Paul Cote, 38, of New Brunswick and Napoleon Jacobs, 27, of Gaspe, Que. Rene Boudreau, 43, also of Gaspe, is in hospital with extensive cuts and bruises.

The men were watching a tractor driver trying to free his machine from a mud hole with a winch when the tree to which he had attached the cable began hurling the huge poplar down on them.

New Operation For Coronary Heart Disease

SEATTLE (AP)—A new kind of operation for coronary heart disease has been developed by a surgeon at the University of Washington school of medicine.

The surgeon, Dr. Franklin R. Smith, connects a part of the left lung to the outside wall of the heart. Blood from the lung seeps into thousands of tiny channels in the heart muscle, augmenting the supply which comes to the heart by way of the coronary arteries.

So far the technique has been tried experimentally on 25 dogs and on two humans. It is too early yet to tell how good the technique may be, Dr. Smith said.

This is the third surgical method of attacking coronary disease to be reported in recent years. They have been tried as the result of new advances in anaesthesia and other findings which opened the way for surgery inside the heart.

Powder Found In Mattress Of Dead Man's Bed

STRATFORD (CP) — A cellophane package of white powder has been found in the mattress of William Chonolyky's bed as police investigate his death and the shotgun slaying of Mrs. Elizabeth Keehn.

The powder has been sent to Toronto for analysis of possible poisonous content. The package was discovered when police ripped the mattress apart.

Police believe there is a connection between the death of Mrs. Keehn, found shot to death in her refreshment booth here Tuesday, and that of Chonolyky, found dead in his boarding house room the same day. He once boarded in the Keehn home.

Connection between the two deaths was strengthened by the discovery that Chonolyky had purchased a double-barrelled gun from a Stratford gunsmith two months ago.

Police believe such a gun was used in the killing of Mrs. Keehn, although neither a gun nor any ejected shells have been found.

An inquest has been ordered into her death for July 15, but there has been no word of any inquest into Chonolyky's death.

Judge Dismisses Application To Sue Union Heads

TORONTO (CP)—The application of four dancers to sue the entire Toronto musicians' union by naming only two officers in the union in their charge was dismissed Wednesday by A. S. Maricist, senior master of the Supreme Court of Ontario.

He ruled that a trade union cannot be sued for alleged wrongdoing by naming certain persons as responsible for the entire union. He said the dancers must file suit against individual defendants.

In the application dancers Andrew Bachelor Robert van Norman, Babs Christie and William Yule named union leaders Walter Mosdoch and Norman E. Harris as personally representing the Toronto local of the American Federation of Musicians. The dancers were proposed for CBC television shows after being blacklisted by the musicians' union.

The musicians' union ordered third members to refuse to play for the dancers because they were members of the American Guild of Variety Artists. Both unions are AFL affiliates.

Man Confesses To Car Theft, Gets 14 Days

WOODSTOCK (CP)—George H. Gravelle, 37, of Embro, admitted theft of a man who hitch-hiked 1,816 miles from Edmonton to confess to a yearold car theft, was sentenced to 14 days in jail Wednesday when he appeared in magistrate's court.

On the advice of crown attorney A. C. Whaley, sentence was made on the reduced conviction of taking a car without the owner's consent.

Gravelle also was sentenced to 14 days in jail on each of two charges of theft of bicycles here.

Arriving in Woodstock a week ago, Gravelle told police he was "out to clean the slate" and had already confessed and served time for theft in Edmonton and Lethbridge before hitch-hiking here to face the charges laid by Woodstock and Hamilton police.

Puerto Ricans Given Terms Up to 75 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four Puerto Rican terrorists who broke up the House of Representatives March 1 and wounded five of its members today were given maximum prison sentences ranging up to 75 years.

Lolita Lebron, 34, self-styled leader of the group, received a sentence of from 25 years, eight months, to 50 years.

Her three male companions received sentences of from 25 to 75 years each.

U. S. District Judge Alexander Holtzoff said he felt maximum sentences were justified because the crime was "so heinous, so infamous, so daring and, so atrocious as to shock the conscience of the nation."

JUST DEMONSTRATING

Before hearing they were sentenced, the Puerto Ricans protested anew that they merely staged a demonstration in behalf of Puerto Rican independence, and did not intend to kill anyone.

Judge Holtzoff took a different view. He called the pistol attack on the House "dastardly, wicked and ruthless." Except for the skillful work of surgeons, the judge said, the five Puerto Ricans would have been before him to hear death sentences.

Their lawyers said in advance of the sentencing that they would file notices of appeal.

Rafael Cancel Miranda, 25; Andres Figueroa Cordero, 27; and Irving Flores Rodriguez, 28, were convicted June 17 of five counts each of assault with intent to kill and five counts each of assault with a dangerous weapon. All three are from New York City, as is Mrs. Lebron, 34.

Molotov Back In Geneva For Conference

GENEVA, Switzerland (Reuters) Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov flew back to Geneva from Moscow today to attend the full nine-power Indo-China peace conference, due to be resumed next week.

The other principal ministers are likely to be back in the next few days.

The conference is expected to resume full ministerial sessions again next week after reports from military delegates on cease-fire talks on Indo-China.

Molotov shares the chairmanship of the talks with Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary.

A Chinese spokesman said today Chou En-lai, the Chinese prime minister and foreign minister, will return to Geneva from Peiping soon.

Ahead lies a critical phase in the Indo-China peace talks. It is a testing time for the new French prime minister, Pierre Mendes-France, who pledged to bring the Indo-China fighting on July 20 or resign.

Today's task of the conference will be to examine the cease-fire negotiation reports for Viet Minh, Laos and Cambodia. The next secrecy shrouds the progress of the military negotiations the reports must be ready on Saturday.

SAYS ROAD POOR

KIRKLAND LAKE (CP)—Welsh Transport proprietors said Wednesday the mines access road opened in 1953 to Matachewan is so bad they won't risk their trucks along it any longer. Welsh ships copper concentrates from New Ryan Lake Mine at Matachewan, 40 miles west of Kirkland Lake, to the smelter at Noranda. The road was built in hopes of bringing new trade and prospectors to Matachewan which has been declining for several years.

Rings, Pure Of Money Mark 50th Anniversary

MARMORA — Saturday, June 26th, was a memorable day in the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Moffatt, 80 Dale Drive, San Jose, California. A family reunion, marking their golden wedding anniversary was held at Glen Allan Park, Crowe Lake.

Many relatives from the U.S. and Canada were present.

The honored guests revivified the scene of their wedding, a feat few people can accomplish as they did. The celebration was one of gaiety and tenderness. Before the delicious dinner was served, an address signed on behalf of the entire Moffatt family was read honoring them on their 50th wedding anniversary, congratulating them on passing the half century milestone of blissful wedded life, also extending best wishes for future health and happiness.

In token of esteem and affection the couple was presented with rings. The bride of 1904 received a ring which was a sizer in a heart-shaped setting and her husband a black onyx ring with a diamond chip and the initial "P" in relief. Included with the rings was a purse of money and a basket of choice carnations for Mrs. Moffatt and a boutinere of the same flowers for Mr. Moffatt, tied with gold ribbon in keeping with the occasion.

The buffet dinner of delicious foods was surmounted with a three-tier wedding cake, replete with pictorial bride and groom.

In addition to local guests, others were present from Picton, Chlor, Montreal, Que.; Trenton, Belleville, Peterborough and Cordova Mines.

MUCH ADO ABOUT MARS

Are there men on Mars? Are there flying saucers? If there are men on Mars are they responsible for the flying saucers? When will they invade the earth and destroy it?

If you are looking for categorical answers complete with times, places and dates, you had better turn to the funnies. However, by the hardy folk still with us we have a little reassuring information about Mars.

This month Mars approaches to within 40,000,000 miles of Earth which is the closest distance that the orbits are accustomed to taking a long range view of things. In fact it is almost as close as Mars ever gets. The closest Mars comes to Earth is 34,600,000 miles and the farthest it goes is about 250,000,000 miles. The reason for the variation is that Mars, which is the planet fourth from the sun in our solar system, has an elliptical orbit. This advancing and retreating line explains why the maximum brilliance of Mars is 55 times greater than the minimum brilliance as seen on Earth. Mars is at a mean distance from the sun of 141,500,000 miles which is the distance indeed that Mercury is only two jam sandwiches and a thermos of coffee.

Statistics are never very entertaining but sometimes they are necessary to help hang one tight for some fast figures. Mars is between 4,206 and 4,240 miles in diameter with an atmosphere 56 miles thick and a gravity only 0.38 as strong as that of Earth. Its surface as good a reflecting surface as the moon; it has slightly flattened poles; its equator is inclined at an angle of 24 degrees with the poles; it has seasons like our own; a day which is 24 hours, 37 minutes and 23 seconds, and a sidereal period of 687 days.

The heat per square mile on Mars is 44 per cent of that of Earth, the atmosphere lies closer, like ours, has longer, colder winters than the northern hemisphere, and it has two satellites—(1) Phobos, circling Mars in an orbit 5,800 miles from the planet's centre, rising in the west and setting in the east and (2) Deimos, whose orbit is 14,600 miles from the planet's centre, which revolves in the opposite direction.

The red color of Mars is believed by some astronomers to be due to rust and one of the explanations of the low oxygen content of Mars' atmosphere is that much of the oxygen has been used up in rusting the planet's iron. Even if there are any—due credit, it seems unlikely that there are "canals" as we know them on that planet.

Now for the speculation. Mars, about the "canals" and its intelligent beings seeking to conserve water from the melting polar caps, have channeled it into canals. Irrigation systems spring from these canals producing a green belt of vegetation as wide perhaps as the fertile valley of the Nile, and therefore able to be seen from Earth.

Although Mars' surface is only 28.3 per cent that of Earth, with temperatures generally colder and more widely variable, it is believed that Mars could support a large population, if these two factors alone are considered.

It does not follow that if there are highly intelligent beings on Mars then they are being slowly starved of oxygen by leakage of gas from the planet's surface. This slow process together with the bitter cold of the winter and the limited water supply from the melting polar ice caps, is working such hardship on them that they are anxious to migrate to less forbidding climes—namely Earth.

However, it is widely believed that if life exists on Mars, it does so in an extremely primitive form. Scientists hold that there is little evidence of the superior intelligence on Mars capable of devising "flying saucers."

Their beliefs, however, will not stop them from taking a long, hard look at the "red" planet named for the ancient god of war as it approaches Earth this month. Neither have they yet come up with a good explanation for the flying saucers.

There is one consolation, though. If you happen to meet a man from Mars who looks belligerent, just remember that his belligerent look may be due to sagging jowls—which on Earth are three times as heavy as he is accustomed to.

PROSPECTING — AUSTRALIAN STYLE

The sourdoughs picked the wrong land.

When it comes to prospecting, Australia beats the Yukon.

James Pringle discovered a vein of uranium ore while floating on his back in a swimming hole in the Darwin area.

The '49-ers never had it that easy.

If somebody will grub-stake us, we will grab the old swimming suit and venture forth for a couple of months of serious prospecting up Bancroft way.

Red Tide Hits Florida

(Christian Science Monitor)

The "red tide" on its recent return visit to the west coast of Florida, hit hard at the fishing and tourist industries and posed a serious threat to property values.

While losses cannot be computed precisely, they have already run into the millions of dollars as millions of fish have been destroyed and tourists have avoided the affected seaside places.

In 1947 the tide hit Mother Nature gone Skywire. A minute marine organism called gymnodinium brevis under certain conditions "blooms" or multiplies at a fantastic rate producing toxic substance and coloring the water either deep green, amber or a brownish red. Fish that swim into the affected water are doomed.

On the beaches of a small island have been washed up vast numbers of sea trout, mullet and the Gulf of Mexico, from the tink pinfish to an eight foot porpoise. No fish seems to be immune to the scourge.

In a number of instances the fish have been washed ashore in such number that they had to be buried by bulldozers. Under the persistent hacking cough which the tide produces on land the bodies beings within a few hundred yards of the shore. The gases being given off by decaying fish caused sickness and even death among those who inhale them.

The "red tide" badly affected the coast this winter from Tampa on the south to Boca Grande a distance of over 100 miles. Sarasota and Venice on the lower coast there have perhaps been worst hit. Several of the Venice islands used as have the Venice area and the chain of islands running southward to Boca Grande Pass.

The scourge began in early December and has washed out to sea and in again a dozen times. Each time it has still piling up on the beaches.

In a typical "tide", a "lake" of reddish-yellow water about two miles wide and a mile to a mile and a half long appeared off the Gulf of Mexico. It seemed heavier and of soapy consistency between the lapping tide, with change of tide and wind it went out to sea again.

Fishermen report seeing areas of this water over vast stretches a few miles from shore, the top of the water a mass of dead fish sometimes two miles in diameter. Scientific investigation of the scourge has been going on since the "tide's" last serious visit in 1947. Local memory of the scourge goes back as far as 1916. The state has appropriated funds for research and the federal government has appointed specialists to attempt to determine the cause and find a cure.

Established is that red tides occur after periods of abnormal rainfall and when winds blow from the west and southwest for long periods. Quiet weather conditions may also have their influence, for then the fresh water from rivers and into the gulf is not widely dispersed.

But when the red tide occurs it spreads with the speed of wildfire. Given the right conditions of water and wind the concentration of the organism can multiply thousands of times within a few hours.

Scientists working on the problem believe that if they could find the "bloom" in its early stages they could prevent it from getting copper sulphate which in concentrations of one part to every 1,000,000 will kill the organisms. Such a concentration would not harm fish, shellfish or humans.

But the real life develops with such speed that it quickly covers hundreds of square miles and the concentration of copper sulphate not only be extremely expensive but would also be a menace to marine lems. At present the offending organism is being cultivated in laboratories at the Galveston, Tex., to discover other poisons which will destroy it.

But until some effective cure is discovered fishermen in the commercial field have hard times. Sport fishing in affected areas has greatly subsided to scale.

Normally hundreds of fishermen from all parts of Florida at this season to fish for the famed king tarpon. But this spring the fish simply have left us and vanished. Early this spring only 50 small tarpon were caught at Boca Grande pass area compared to 500 of good size in normal years.

Hunting Polar Bears

William Agsden describes in Lands, Castles and Hotels of the polar bear which, as well as his age-old enemy the Eskimo, is doomed to disappear with the large number of meteorological stations, radio beacons, etc., are associated with the opening up of Arctic Canada, Alaska, and Siberia.

Twenty or thirty years ago it took months of difficult travel to reach the hunting grounds of the polar bear, but today intensive flying operations are springing up all over the polar regions in Arctic Canada, Alaska, and Siberia.

Always open to the bear's depredations are the very shores of the Arctic Ocean, and since the war a large number of meteorological, geophysical, and radio bases have been pushing into these regions. Each of these bases is dependent in the summer of polar bears, an animal that was not so long ago hunted only by the Eskimo but by the best-equipped expeditions.

The polar bear is very small at birth but grow quickly and weight up to 400 pounds at eight months and are much larger than a rabbit when they first, it I may say it that way, see the light of day in October or November. The she-bear spends the winter in her blubber during the short but brilliant summer and she lives on this fat throughout the winter, which is a state of semi-coma or partial hibernation.

But you can hear the sibilant whimperings from her den during these long months and she is an easy target for the hunter. Contemporary hunting methods have the snow den into ice, and escaping breath causes a small hole in the roof. Eskimo dogs can often pick up the scent from this hole and by scratching and digging reveal all that is required of the Eskimo hunter is to put a rifle through the hole and pull the trigger.

Those that survive the winter's ravages, somewhat bleary-eyed with sleep, when she sun returns in the spring to make the trail of the seal, the summer and with her the polar bear plays into the hands of man. The one thing he is most inquisitive. Hang up two tin cans in the Arctic and the polar bear will investigate the clanging. His eyesight is not too good but the sense of smell is quite remarkable, in fact the Eskimo claims that it is the only black part of his body and is therefore easily seen against the white background of the Arctic. Another is that if he did not do the equivalent of holding a hand over his mouth, the seal would pick up the scent of human breath, the danger and beat a hasty retreat into the sea. Like all bears, the polar bear has a varied diet. He eat considerable quantities of fish: in summer he takes to a vegetable diet of berries, grasses, roots, and on his own account, the polar bear is one of the very few mammals which is entirely their own master. A whole of its life. Many animals in polar regions migrate south for the winter, just like some of Britain's own stoats, weasels, and hedgehogs, but the polar bear is always while—except for the females with cubs—he is an adult bears & even to the soles of his feet, and the stiff hairs on the soles enable him to walk easily on ice.

If a polar bear is kept running for any distance he develops a terrific thirst, at least that is what it would seem, for as he runs he scoops up a mouthful of snow which he eats as he runs. How long his stomach is so laden with water that he just has to slow down to eat is unknown. The Eskimo sees a couple of dogs to keep a bear running until it is thirsty, and then there is another bear less.

Perhaps Mars Coming to Life

(New York Herald Tribune)

The picture of Mars as a world just coming to life rather than one of a dry and desiccated planet, is an intriguing one. It has been presented by the British Interplanetary Social Society not as an established fact, or even as a likely notion, but as a "speculation" which might explain some of the hitherto inexplicable features of the mysterious planet.

Next month Mars is going to undergo an unusually close scrutiny from astronomers for the heavenly movements will bring it to a point 40,000,000 miles from the earth, the closest it has been in thirteen years, or since the great 200-inch Palomar telescope was opened to the skies.

If weather conditions are favorable, the observers will be obtained concerning the presence of vegetation on the planet, and the existence of the famous "canals" that have stirred men's imaginations since the astronomer Schiaparelli first plotted them on a map in 1877. Subsequent, and disputation, may also be adduced for the latest-hypothesis that Mars is still evolving and is a habitable world.

But if atmospheric conditions are bad next month, the Palomar telescope will be unable to add very much to our knowledge of Mars at this time. And that would be a serious setback to the possibility that even as we look at Mars the Martians are looking at us, so seriously have they thought that many people will not be convinced that there is no life on Mars until they go there for a look themselves. Perhaps the Palomar telescope can save them a trip. At any rate, everybody will wish the astronomers good luck and good hunting as they prepare to take the best look anybody has yet had at the red planet.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

BOYS SHOULD BE BOYS

I get the impression that Mrs. R. Jr., her husband and her son have something which is comparatively weak in too many families — character.

It takes character to withstand the pressure applied by the sporting people to force a growing boy to "go out for football." Many parents are so wishy-washy that they give in immediately to the "coach" who decides the boy is good football material.

Football is a grown man's game, a game for men of college or university age.

Boys should be boys while they are growing and developing.

When "varsity" football is introduced in high schools the physical education of the majority of the boys, who are not selected to play football, is of little concern to the coach, or to the high school principal—everything else must be ignored and everybody's attention focused on football.

In the middle schools where the sporting people run the works, the bride is given as far as to cancel all regular classes for the afternoon so the football people can have a general assembly with pep talks to raise cash contributions for the proposed football for the team. Woe betide the pupil who fails to come across with his

CAMPBELLFORD

Council Decides to Place 'Speed Trap' Within Limits

CAMPBELLFORD—The Campbellford town council met on Monday night with a large slate of business to be taken care of. The first subject under discussion was some method of controlling the speed of motor vehicles in the village. The entrance was that the police committee were empowered to secure prices on a device to electrically time speed of motor vehicles. This motion was made by Deputy-Reeve George Free, and seconded by Franklin Linton, after council had listened to arguments both for and against such a move. The committee will also look into the cost of erecting signs at the four entrances of the town warning motorists that an electrical timing device, or speed trap, is in operation. Councillor Isobel Tatham was against the installation of such a device, maintaining that it was not the speed of the vehicles, which caused accidents but the condition of the vehicle and the driver.

Reeve D. R. Maybee reported on progress made by the road and bridge committee, telling some of the work the committee had done in clearing ditches and culverts, patching streets and priming roadways. More than 400 feet of sidewalks had been added together with newly-constructed, and paving and re-paving of some streets will start later in the week. All weeds on town property have been cut and sprayed and three new catch basins be installed.

Councillor W. A. Kingston reported as chairman of the finance committee, saying the committee had accepted the offer of the Bank of Montreal for $30,000 in hospital debentures of 100.60. All other tenders of the debentures were believed to be less than par. His action was confirmed by council.

Councillor George Nichols reported for the fire, water and light committee, saying that the department had purchased a new resuscitator at a cost of about $200. This was confirmed by council.

SIX FAMILIES ON RELIEF

Councillor Frank Linton chairman of the relief committee, informed council that six persons are now on relief.

Councillor George Vice, chairman of the police committee, said that he would have the by-law for the licensing of bicycles, ready for the next council meeting.

Councillor Fallen, chairman of the hospitalization committee, stated for closer co-operation between the hospitals and the town in connection with indigent patients. All correspondence relative to indigents will henceforth be turned over to the chairman of the hospital committee as soon as it is received by the clerk.

Councillor F. M. Rutherford reported for the property committee, saying the new garbage collector, Ellis Wood, appeared to be doing a good job, and the situation was satisfactory.

The mayor and the chairman of the property committee were authorized to look into the purchase of two wayside tables, to be used by tourists, who wish to use the parks in the town. The first two tables will probably be placed under some large shade trees on one corner of a lot opposite the Masonic Temple on Front street south. A number of tourists use the spot as a picnic ground, although it is private property owned by Mayor R. J. Locke. He said he had no objection to the town placing a table or two at this spot, and hoped that the property committee would see that the street sweepers picked up any papers that a careless picknicker might leave on the lawn. Council thanked him for the offer.

Permission was granted the Rotary club to block off a portion of Bridge street and Front street and the Avon Theatre on the nights of July 16 and 17 for their annual carnival.

More Americans Holding Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly 1,000,000 more Americans held jobs in June than a month earlier, the government reported Wednesday, and unemployment held virtually stable instead of taking its usual sharp rise.

Total United States employment climbed to 62,098,000, the highest level since last October but still about 1,000,000 below the record for June achieved a year ago.

Joblessness, at 3,347,000 persons, increased 42,000 from May, despite the release of large numbers of students into the market for jobs. This was the smallest increase for June in the last 15 years.

Unemployment Grips Anthracite Coal Region

By LEONARD UNGER

LANSFORD., Pa. (AP)—Unemployment grips the once-prosperous Panther valley in eastern Pennsylvania's anthracite coal region.

Some 5,000 mine workers were thrown out of work June 30 by shutdown of the Lehigh Navigation Coal Co. after 134 years of continuous operation.

The Panther valley is a string of coal towns in eastern Pennsylvania and, except for a few factory industries, is entirely dependent on the "old company" for its existence.

The miners, most of them Welsh or Slavic born, remain stolidly close-mouthed about their predicament. There's no possibility of obtaining their employment within the valley. Many of them already have left to look for work at U.S. Steel's big Fairless works on the Delaware river north of Philadelphia.

Others are turning to the so-called "bootleg" coal holes. These are one or two-man operations where coal outcroppings are mined comparatively close to the surface.

WIVES IN FACTORIES

Many of them find their wives going to shirt or pyjama factories at wages far under the $16.95 a day the miner received.

The coal company, whose 2,500,000 ton production in 1952 made it the fourth largest hard coal producer in the world, reported it was losing $10,000 a day when it closed down May 3 to reassess its operations.

Like other anthracite producers, it saw its markets shrink with the incursion of natural gas and fuel oil for home heating.

Anthracite production fell off by 25 per cent in 1953 alone. Last year's production of 30,500,000 tons was the least since 1881 and paled in comparison to the hey-day output of 100,500,000 tons in 1917.

A month after the May 3 shutdown, the company offered to reopen a half dozen mines and coal preparation plants June 7 if the miners accepted a 1,000-man layoff and a revision in working conditions.

URGES ACCEPTANCE

One of the conditions was that miners, instead of going home early after digging enough coal to earn their $16.95 daily wage, stay longer to produce more coal.

John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers chieftain, urged acceptance of the company's terms—and made a personal trip to the region to emphasize that such action would not violate the union contract.

Five out of the six local unions in the Panther valley voted to return to the pits. But the 800-man Tamaqua local—hardest hit by the proposed layoffs — ignored both Lewis and the company.

The company's shutdown was nothing new in the economically distressed anthracite region where mine employment has plummeted from a peak of 180,000 in 1914 to 90,000 immediately after the Second World War and to 58,000 at the end of 1953.

Last year, more than 10,000 hard coal diggers lost their jobs. Shutdowns for the first half of 1954 have knocked out of work another 10,000 miners.

Nine Canadian Priests, Eight Nuns in Hanoi

HANOI (Reuters) — Roman Catholic sources said Wednesday that nine Canadian priests and eight Canadian nuns still are in this refugee-packed city threatened with invasion by the Communist-led Vietminh army.

Three Canadian priests and six Canadian nuns now here were removed from southern Buchiu province before the Communists occupied it last week.

The aged and bed-ridden Canadian prioress of Buichu was left behind.

Two Canadians Defeat Kotov

TORONTO (CP)—Two Canadians defeated Alexander Kotov, Russian grand master of chess, in an exhibition game Tuesday night in which Kotov played 28 matches simultaneously.

Jack Kagetsu of Toronto, a mechanical engineering student, beat Kotov in 35 moves. The other winner was V. Chyzyk, who defeated Kotov in 37 moves.

Russian grand master Igor Bondarevsky, who with Kotov is touring Canada for games arranged by the Canadian Chess Federation, also played 28 games simultaneously. He won 23 and drew five.

It was the first time Kotov was beaten during the tour. Bondarevsky was defeated Monday night in a game against Frank Anderson of Toronto.

The two Russians left for Montreal by plane immediately after the games. They will play there before leaving Canada Friday.

Jointly Negligent

TORONTO (CP) — A garage owner and his motor mechanic were found jointly negligent Wednesday by the Ontario Court of Appeal in a fire Nov. 8, 1952 which destroyed the garage and damaged nine parked cars.

The ruling reversed a decision of Judge F. G. J. McDonagh who had dismissed the action brought by the insurers in the names of the owners. The Appeal Court awarded damages totalling $7,812 to the insurers.

Mr. Justice W. D. Roach said Wednesday that W. Gordon Hesk, owner of the public garage, "is in law liable for the negligence" of his mechanic, Jack Lawrence.

Northern Ontario's First Community To Celebrate 60th Anniversary

HAILEYBURY, Ont. (CP)—For more than 30 years this section of Ontario town has been searching for the plans to its waterworks system. It's hoped they'll turn up during this month's diamond jubilee celebrations.

The plans were lost when a fire levelled most of the town 32 years ago. Since then, locating a broken main has been a matter of luck.

But whether the plans turn up or not, Haileybury is preparing for five days of celebration starting July 25, which will be the anniversary of this first community in northern Ontario.

A featured exhibit will be one of the old Toronto street cars sent up as relief housing after the fire.

Mrs. A. H. Moss, granddaughter of the town's founder, Charles Cobald Farr, is also searching. She hopes to find the name plate of Mr. Farr's boat, "The Jinny M.," famous for the free passes issued by its owner.

One 1911 pass, which will be on display during the celebrations, carries these warnings:

GO WHERE TAKEN

"Passengers are informed that they will not go where they want to go but where the Jinny M. goes.

"If the engine balks, any man who gets out will be put ashore at the first point, wind permitting.

"Smoking is strictly encouraged on board.

"If you are drowned . . . you can lie it out in water, but the proprietor for no indemnity will be paid to your heirs or assignees."

Haileybury has been the home of many well-known Canadians, including Col. A. M. Hay, identified with the McIntyre mine interests, and Henry and Noah Timmins, who built adjoining homes here.

The town was named by Mr. Farr after a famous private school in Britain, later attended by Clement Atlee, former prime minister of Great Britain.

Known earlier as Mâlabamick, it had been the site of Indian habitations for hundreds of years but it was not until the 1800s that the idea of a permanent settlement took root.

Boosts Ranks

OTTAWA (CP)—The Bank of Canada Wednesday boosted its ranks of deputy governors to two from one, promoting L. P. Saint-Amour, veteran assistant deputy governor, to fill the vacancy. The salary involved was not announced.

The expansion was allowed through Parliamentary approval of government legislation which provides for "not more than" deputy governors.

For years, the central bank has got along with only one, James Coyne, who now becomes the senior deputy under governor Graham Towers.

MORRIS—GRANT

Lovely baskets of peonies and gladioli adorned the altar of the Salvation Army Citadel, Belleville, on Saturday, June 26th at 2.30 p.m., for a pretty wedding when Anne Emily Grant, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. John Grant, and the late Mrs. Grant, became the bride of Alfred George Morris, of Hamilton, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morris of Hamilton, Sr. Captain Fred Brightwell, officiated.

Miss Dorothy Mitchell, Army pianist, furnished the organ music, and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. George Elleby, who sang "Through the Years", and the Belleville songsters, who rendered "Love Stands the Test", and "Thou Wilt Keep Them in Perfect Peace."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in lace and nylon tulle, fashioned with lace redingote over nylon tulle, with Queen Anne collar and long, tight-fitting sleeves ending in points over the hands. Her floor-length veil of tulle illusion was caught in a cluster of nylon tulle sprinkled with tiny seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of cream roses.

Mrs. Harvey Campbell, of Toronto, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, wearing a floor-length gown of yellow nylon tulle over taffeta with matching headdress and gloves, and carrying a basket of yellow and cream roses and blue cornflowers.

Mrs. R. Sharpe and Mrs. Kenneth Thompson, of Rossmore, and Belleville, respectively, were senior bridesmaids, the former in mauve, and the latter in green. Both were gowned in similar style to that of the matron of honor; while Miss Gail Ford, of Thedford, Ontario, niece of the bride, was junior bridesmaid, wearing yellow taffeta.

Little Joanne Campbell, niece of the bride, was frocked in mauve taffeta. All wore matching headdresses, and carried nosegays of summer flowers.

Master Steven Sharpe, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

Mr. Ronald Sharpe of Rossmore, attended the bridegroom, while ushers were John, Robert and Colin Grant, brothers of the bride, and Mr. John Weaver, brother-in-law of the bride, all of Toronto, acted as ushers.

The wedding reception was held in the Orange Hall, Belleville, where the bride's table, centered by a white linen suit with navy blue accessories and corsage of white, was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who was attired in a grey suit with navy accessories and corsage of pink roses, received the guests.

For the wedding trip to Ottawa, the bride chose a cream linen suit with pink and white accessories and corsage of red roses. Mr. and Mrs. Morris will reside in Hamilton, Ontario.

The bride's gift to her attendants, nylon necklaces and matching earrings; and to the flower girl, cup and saucer. The bridegroom's gift to his bride, a chest of silver, and the bride's gift to the bridegroom, diamond cuff links.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell, Thedford, Woodstock, Port Credit, Previous to her marriage, the bride was entertained at four miscellaneous showers.

COLE—WALKER

On Saturday, June 26, at 3.00 p.m., at the residence of the Rev. and Mrs. Merrick, Thedford, but pretty wedding was solemnized, when Patricia Hazel Walker, of Corbyville, Ontario, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Walker, was united in marriage to James Rook Cole, also of Corbyville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Cole.

The bride was attractively attired in a floor-length gown of white pink nylon net over taffeta. She wore a matching headdress and carried a semi-cascade of deep pink roses with baby's breath.

Miss Marguerite Cole, of Corbyville, sister of the bridegroom, was her only attendant, gowned in floor-length pale blue nylon net over taffeta with matching headdress, and carrying a nosegay of pastel sweetpeas mingled with baby's breath.

Mr. Bruce Walker, of Corbyville, brother of the bride, attended the bridegroom.

The reception was held at the bride's home, which was profusely adorned with Sweet William, Canterbury bells, foxglove and peace roses. The bride's mother, chose a navy nylon gown, with corsage of bronze and white mums, received, assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who wore pale blue crepe with corsage of yellow and white mums.

For the wedding trip to Lindsay, Kalburton Highlands, and Huntville, the bride wore a mauve nylon dress with mauve and white accessories, and corsage of yellow mums and orange blossoms.

Guests were present from Corbyville, Belleville, Stirling and Kingston.

MORRISON—MACDONALD

Baskets of Canterbury bells, seasonal blooms and streamers formed a background on the spacious lawn of Mr. and Mrs. John Morrison, 3rd Concession of Rawdon, on Saturday afternoon, June 26, for the marriage of Lois Helen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James MacDonald, 5th Concession of Rawdon, to their only son, Morris James Morrison.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. R. R. Bonstead, B.A., D.D., pastor of Rawdon circuit.

The bridegroom's niece, Miss Eleanor Ann Smith, Mount Pleasant, played appropriate wedding music, and the bride's sister, Miss Eleanor MacDonald, was soloist and rendered "Precious Jewels."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white satin with a full-tiered skirt in bouffant style, sweetheart neckline and long lily-pointed sleeves with gloves. Her floor-length veil of nylon net was caught to a headdress of rhinestones and she wore a pearl necklace, matching earrings and carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses with stephanotis.

The bride's sister, Miss Catherine MacDonald, was bridesmaid, in a floor-length gown of mauve taffeta with nylon net overskirt trimmed with lace. She wore a floral headdress and carried a nosegay of carnations and bouvardia.

Mr. Earl MacDonald... was groomsman.

A reception for 65 guests was held on the garden lawn, where the bride's mother received in rose nylon sheer with corsage of red roses assisted by the bridegroom's mother wearing navy sheer and lace, with corsage of pink roses.

Pink and white streamers and bells were centred over the bride's table, which was laid with a three-tiered wedding cake, silver candelabra and low bowls of roses. Those who served were, Misses Marilyn Wright, June Wright, Ruth Mumby and Eleanor McGee.

For travelling to Montreal, Niagara, Toronto and points west, the bride donned a rose-flowered nylon dress with white accessories and matching corsage.

The bridegroom's gift to his bride was a chesterfield suite, and to the groomsman, a gold initialled jackknife with chain. The bride's gifts to her attendant, pianist and soloist, were English bone china cake plates, with cups and saucers to those who served.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrison will reside on the bridegroom's farm in Rawdon township.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

ON WEDDING INVITATIONS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My daughter is to be married in a few months. I have a special name-problem. My husband left us (myself and our three children) ten years ago, and he has never written to us or otherwise been in touch with us since he left. In the meantime I obtained a divorce. Now I would like to have you tell me exactly how my name should appear on my daughter's wedding invitations and announcements?

— Bride's Mother

I'm so glad you wrote me this question. ...for it is naturally of the greatest importance that the correct form of your—name be on these strictly-formal items, the wedding invitations and announcements. Your name, as a divorced woman, should be the combination of your maiden surname and your ex-husband's surname. Let's say your maiden name was Carol Davis; your husband's name John Jones. Your name now, and on these invitations and announcements should be: Mrs. Davis Jones. If (as I infer from something you say in your letter) you have been using your first name with Mrs. . ."Mrs. Mary Jones". . . you might (if you think the change-of-name would be too abrupt) use "Mrs. M. Davis Jones" . . . but this is not such good form as Mrs. Davis Jones. (But please don't use the incorrect "Mrs. Mary Jones.")

BRIDE'S STRANGE PLAN

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

We would appreciate your advice on a question most important to us. My niece is to be married next October at a Nuptial Mass. Her parents (her mother is my sister) are divorced. Her father has re-married. Her mother is engaged to be married. My niece has asked her mother's fiance to give her away at her wedding, because, as she says, he has been more of a father to her than her own father. (Her Dad will be invited to the wedding with his wife.) Do you think this procedure would be in good form? — M.M.

This procedure would be in most questionable taste. I hope you can persuade your niece to consult with her priest as to his advice about this. . .also as to whether, at this Nuptial Mass, the bride is to be "given away" or is to be "escorted up the aisle." Of course I don't know how far your niece wants to go to hurt, or to insult, her father. . .but she is certainly going very far when she chooses to walk up the aisle with her mother's fiance, when her own father is present at the wedding.

WEDDING ON THE LAWN

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

(1) My sister and I are planning her daughter's wedding in July. She wants to have a lawn wedding, and we don't know how to plan this. First we'd like to know if they need other attendants besides the maid of honor and best man. Does the bride's father give her away?

(2) Must we provide chairs for all the guests during the ceremony? We are planning serve ice cream with the wedding cake, and then coffee. Do we need tables, or is it all right to serve buffet style?

(3) Other possible questions? — H.G.

(1) The number of attendants for a lawn wedding depends on the processional space available. It is of course sufficient to have just a maid of honor and the best man. And the bride's father usually gives her in marriage, as in a church wedding.

(2) Not necessary to provide chairs for all the guests: a few for elderly guests. Not necessary to provide tables either. . .for greatest convenience you might plan to have the guests served from a rather long table, either on the lawn or on the porch. These light refreshments would be served buffet style, the guests standing.

(3) Most important note: Since "blue skies" cannot always be counted on, you must make two plans, one for the wedding on the lawn, and one, in case of rain, for indoors. Very often the plan is to have the ceremony in the house, and the reception on the lawn.

Conference Food Highlights

By Mary Moore

Conventions are fun and the sensational meals are exciting but they knock your diet into a cocked hat.

Fortunately we were in control at breakfast time and the hotel's cafeteria was excellent. I could have my banana and grapefruit and coffee just as I do at home. But what tickled me mightily was my trip early morning between the cashier to tabls carrying a tray. It gave me a fleeting glimpse of the foods chosen by other breakfasters. Passing a bread basket and taking an over the shoulder peek I'd see a plate loaded with bacon and eggs, toast, a bowl of cereal and cream. Passing a slim straight back I'd see a glass of orange juice and a boiled egg, and I also unbuttered whole wheat toast and clear coffee. Actually if you saw the breakfast you could guess the weight and shape of the figure about to eat it.

For pure elegance I think a reception that the Royal York hotel gave us won my personal award. You know about the ice punch bowls in which real flowers are embedded. Two of these had been mold-frozen for this occasion. Roses and carnations and corn flowers buried in the ice suggested Dresden crystal—if there ever were such a thing.

The hot and cold hors d'oeuvres defy description and story discipline. I tasted one each of all the hot ones which included deep fried shrimp, cheese puffs, miniature sausage rolls, anchovy pastry twists.

The cheese puffs I have the recipe for and will give to you.

Another little feature that intrigued me (even if it was not edible) was a waitress bearing a silver tray on which was a brandy glass containing one rose, and a glass filled with cigarettes and, angle small lighted candle in a silver holder. The smoke smokers had a field day for she circulated constantly, something like a Florence Nightingale on a mission.

At the Royal Canadian Yacht Club we had a buffet lunch about forty feet long that included Gaspe salmon, pickled eel, turkey, chicken, lamb, ham, beef, shrimp, at least four kinds of salads, raspberry pie, strawberry shortcake, deep apple pie, jellied peaches, lemon pie, varied pastries and really hot coffee.

Another thing that you could manage yourselves was a fruit cup in a grapefruit basket with the handle intact. This we had as a first course at the dinner when we were guests of the three Toronto deity threepapers.

When Marianne was very young she used to save the best until last on her plate and call it her "delicious bite." I had one such delicious bite. We arrived in Toronto on Sunday, June 20th, at 21. The temperature must have been 85 deg. The King Edward Hotel held a reception for us. Wilted with the heat I absentmindedly took a sandwich when it was passed to me, but after my first bite I paused and said I wished I'd waited for the eating. It was the most delicious white bread tomato sandwich one could hope for, even in heaven.

CHEESE PUFFS

One cup one-day old breadcrumbs fairly well packed, 3-4 cup grated cheese (Parmesan is excellent), 1-4 cup butter (4 tablespoons), 1-8 teaspoon cayenne, 1 cup milk, 2 beaten eggs. Put all but eggs in bowl and work well together for about 3 minutes to blend. Add beaten eggs and mix well. Chill. Make into balls the size of small walnuts and fry in deep fat at 385 deg. Fahr. until a delicate brown, turning once—takes about 1 1-2 to 2 minutes. Serve very hot in soup or salad or pass with salad—or serve as we had them, as a hot hor d'oeuvre.

Energetic Club Enjoys Picnic

The Energetic Club of Holloway St. United Church held its annual picnic at Cedardale, on Thursday. At one o'clock a large attendance of members with their families sat down to a well laden picnic table, and the meal was enjoyed by all.

A program of races and games under the direction of Mrs. Eunice Stratton and Mrs. Audrey Brethour was an exciting part of the afternoon for the younger members of the crowd.

Winners were as follows:

Running race, 1-3 years — Marilyn Townsend, Bonnie Outingkyke; girls, 4-6 years, Diane Matthews, Donna May Wannamaker; boys, 4-6 years, Harold Townsend, Billy Robertson; girls, 7-9 years, Pamela Yome, Barbara Jones; boys, 7-9 years, Bobby Easton, Douglas Stickle.

Girls, 10-12 years, Barbara Mc-Millan, Myrna Dickens; boys, 10-12 years, Stephen Wilson; Larry Outingdyke; girls, 13-15 years, Marilyn Easton, Nancy Matthews; boys, 13-15 years, Carson Stratton, G. Kerrulph.

Three-legged race, Carson Stratton and Nancy Matthews; Barbara McMillan and Dennis Kerrulph. Sack race, Bobby Easton, Marilyn Easton. Peanut scramble, Barry Stickle. Candy scramble, 1-7 years, Barbara Jones; over 7, Joyce White.

Clothes pin scramble, Mrs. Mildred Matthews; life saver and toothpick race, Mrs. Dorothy Forward and Mr. Elwood Kerrulph.

Swimming was the feature attraction until the call for supper. In the afternoon a softball game brought to a close a full day of activities.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

LETTERS AND ANSWERS HE'S 30 AND IN LOVE WITH A GIRL 16

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a young man 20 years old and very much in love with a girl 16. She won't believe, though, that I really love her. When I tell her I do, she just laughs and says that every man has a different line.

How can I make her believe me? — Robert S.

Dear Robert:

I'm glad to hear of a teen-ager who isn't carried away by attention from an older man but is smart enough to doubt it's the real thing. I'm not suggesting that your feeling for this youngster really is just a "line," but it doesn't strike me as a very appropriate way for you to feel toward a girl of 16.

Frankly, I think you'd be much wiser to choose your girl friends from your own age group. While a difference of four years between a man and a girl is fine when both are of marrying age, when the girl is only in her mid-teens, and the man has started his twenties, those four years make a greater psychological difference than you might think.

If you are sincerely interested in this girl, then don't keep pressing her on the subject of love at this time. Simply take her out on a date now and then, like any other friend, and stand by until she is older. If the friendship is ever to mean more than that, it will develop naturally: if it doesn't, you will gradually drift apart without anyone getting hurt.

THEIR PARENTS DISAPPROVED, SO THEY ELOPED

Dear Miss Fairfax:

For over a year, I have been in love with a boy who felt the same way about me. We are both 18. We wanted to get married, but my parents insisted that I was too young and must wait. So we decided to get married anyhow, and one day went into the next state and did so. We came back the same day and kept on living at our own homes without telling our parents what we had done.

That was two months ago, and now we have decided we want to be together and have a home of our own, but we don't know how to tell our parents.

Can you help us? — Betty T.

Dear Betty:

There is only one way to tell anybody anything, and that is straight out. Sooner or later, you're going to have to tell your parents that you are married and, the longer you put it off, the more difficult it will be. Such a situation cannot go on indefinitely, and you may as well face up to it right now.

Naturally, your parents are going to be extremely upset. But since you have done what you have done, you should have the courage to admit it and try to work things out on some basis that will be as acceptable as possible to all concerned.

False Pretences Against Identical Twins Dismissed

TORONTO (CP)—A charge of false pretences against identical twins was dismissed Wednesday after defence counsel F. G. Dewan charged the police with "Fearless Fosdick" methods of crime investigation.

John and Carl Shepard, 21, were charged with cashing a cheque for $60 that did not belong to them. The cheque had been tendered by two men at a grocery store.

A surprise witness, Ann Shaw, said the handwriting on the cheque had been done by one person and not by either of the Shepard twins. Miss Shaw said she was a "graphoanalytical psychologist," and her evidence had been accepted by the Supreme Court in 1953.

Though police had a warrant for only one man both twins were arrested. Mr. Dewan implied this was done to ensure arresting the right man.

New Four-Lane Highway Will Be Started This Year

TORONTO (CP)—A start on a new four-lane controlled access highway west to Galt and Kitchener is expected to be made this year, it was reported Wednesday night.

The new piece of highway, which will connect with the Toronto bypass where it joins highway 27, will be another link in the trans-provincial expressway, now known as highway 401, which will eventually run from Windsor to the Quebec border.

Other portions of the expressway are being built at Trenton, Belleville and Kingston. Plans are also under way for connecting the Kingston bypass with the scenic highway between Gananoque and Brockville.

In western Ontario, 34 miles of grading has nearly been completed on a section of the expressway extending from a point near Tilbury to just south of the Windsor city limits. Another bypass section is being built north of St. Thomas and between London and Woodstock which will link in with the section expected to get underway this fall to Kitchener and Galt.

Earlier Wednesday, Highways Minister Doucett announced that tenders on $6,500,000 of road work will be called within a few days. The work consists of resurfacing some old roads, grading, hot mix, culverts and painting about 100 bridges. Most of the new grading will be done in the Goderich area.

The new project, Mr. Doucett said, was in addition to $10,000,000 worth of work announced June 17, bringing construction contracts awarded this year for highway work in the province to a total of $40,500,000.

Preliminary estimates of highway work to be done this year include 106 miles of clearing; 301 miles of grading and culvert work; 191 miles of new bituminous surfacing; 205 miles of bituminous resurfacing; 133 miles of mulch surfacing; and applying 850,000 tons of gravel. There will be approximately 448 miles of surface treatment and 1,221 miles of dust laying. Fifty-seven bridges, each more than 20 feet in span, will be completed or built this year.

Giant Roman Catholic Basilica To Be Completed in 5 Years

MONTREAL (CP) — A little man's dream moved a step nearer reality today when final plans were announced for completion of the giant Roman Catholic basilica of St. Joseph atop Mount Royal.

But Brother Andre, the former college doorman who inspired the building of the huge church, was not there to hear the news. He was buried within its grounds 17 years ago.

The basilica, a centre of pilgrimages from all over Quebec and other parts of North America, was started 40 years ago when Andre Bessette of St. Gregoire d'Iberville, Que., or Brother Andre as he came to be known to millions, laid the first stone. When he died in 1937 he was 91.

FIVE YEARS TO GO

Holy Cross fathers said the building will be finished in five years. It is largely completed today except for the interior of the basilica, or upper church.

So far it has cost an estimated $5,000,000. It will take a further $1,500,000 to finish it.

Rev. Ephege Brassard, in charge of construction at the shrine, said following his return from France, European artists have played a big role in designing the interior.

It will be decorated in colored concrete with windows of stained glass. Because of the size of the walls, mosaics were chosen in preference to murals.

When completed there will be two churches—the crypt church now in use and the basilica proper. The crypt church holds 1,000 persons.

The upper church, which will have 29 altars, will hold 10,000 persons.

It is so large that a medium-sized parish church complete with steeple could be placed beneath its 270-foot dome. Elevators, placed in two of the four columns supporting the dome, will carry the faithful to a glass gallery in the base of the dome in one column three balconies will be provided for special guests.

Out at home! With so many hard-hitting Little Leaguers like this in the clean-up position, it's no wonder more families ran out of Kellogg's Corn Flakes this morning than any other cereal. But don't blame the boys. Same thing happens every day in every season, because Kellogg's Corn Flakes just naturally taste best to more people. Always have. Still do. That's why so many folks pick up a spare package of Kellogg's Corn Flakes any time they buy any cereal of any kind. Good idea, isn't it!

Wage Settlement Gives Companies Major Problems

NEW YORK (AP)—The new increase in the price of steel will raise the steel bill of the nation's manufacturers an estimated $225,000,000 a year, Iron Age, the national metalworking weekly, said today.

The wage settlement in the steel industry followed by the price boost has given the metalworking companies two new major problems, the publication added.

1. What will they do about their own wages?

2. Should they absorb the steel price rise or try to pass it on to their customers in a highly competitive market?

The question of wages is the more serious of the two problems, said Iron Age, because it will involve more money. Many companies, it added, will face strong pressure to follow the pattern of the steel wage agreement which provides for a five-cent hourly wage increase and other benefits bringing the cost of the "package" to about 10 cents an hour.

Iron Age said steel consumers will have to pay an average of about $5.25 a ton more for steel. Some products having been boosted more than $3 a ton and some less than that.

Steel-making operations this week are scheduled at 64.5 per cent of rated capacity, three points lower than the previous week. The relatively low rate is due largely to the July 4 holiday.

July is expected to be a slow month due to shutdowns for vacations by many steel-consuming plants and over-ordering by some consumers during June.

Iron Age said the market is expected to show some improvement in August. It added that hedge buying because of a feared steel strike was not widespread and there are few order cancellations.

Planning Employee Benefits

The views of different groups of employees can differ widely when it comes to choosing a Benefit Plan best suited to their needs.

Some prefer a Retirement Pension Plan, some a Profit-sharing Plan, while others may want a straight Savings Plan. One group may wish to contribute, while another may favour a non-contributory Plan.

These and many other points will arise when you get to grips with the problem of setting up a Benefit Plan for your employees.

Our knowledge, experience and facilities as Pension Consultants, and Custodian or Trustee for Pension and Savings Plans, are available, and could be of considerable value to you in dealing with this important problem.

Accused Given Three Years For Bilking Relative

MONTREAL (CP)—Herve Desmarais, 31, was sent to prison Wednesday because he conned $7,000 from a relative for some magic books, but delivered only a box of stones.

In what Judge Lucien Gendron termed one of the "most unbelievable" cases he ever heard, Desmarais was sentenced to three years in prison. He was convicted of bilking Joseph Dancause, 31, of suburban Longueuil in a seven-year fraud involving intelligence tests, a non-existent bishop and two "professors."

Desmarais received weekly payments from 1946 to 1953 after promising Dancause that two professors could obtain for him rare books on occult sciences.

Dancause testified that when he complained of delay, he received letters—more than 200 of them—from the "professors," all delivered to him by Desmarais. The letters are distantly related by marriage.

The professors wrote that Dancause was not "prepared intellectually" to receive the books. The victim then took a set of written intelligence tests to prove his mental capacity.

Finally, Dancause received a letter, which he was to open in six months. It turned out the box was full of stones and burnt paper—and the professors wrote that the books had been destroyed by magic.

It was then that Dancause went looking for a lawyer and brought his case to court.

Dancause had made donations to a non-existent French bishop to alleviate suffering in his diocese and in turn was promised a world tour by the "bishop."

Sentencing Desmarais, Judge Gendron said: "If you have no other qualities, you certainly have imagination."

Jet Hits Kansas City Homes, Three Occupants Are Killed And Eleven Others Injured

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—A U. S. air force jet plane crashed Wednesday and cut a fiery swath through a residential district after narrowly missing a downtown skyscraper, killing four persons. Several others had harrowing escapes.

The plane, an F-84-F which had just been accepted by the USAF, plunged to earth at high speed near 8th St., and Nebraska Ave., on the edge of the city's business district.

Killed in the crash was the pilot, 2nd Lieut. John H. Kapeles of the Bergstrom air force base, near Austin, Tex.

The other three victims were residents of two of the three homes set fire by the plane.

They were Miss Gertrude Lankford and Miss Edna Hoffman, both teachers, and Ural Redwine, 50, an aide to Mayor Bryan Roe's home.

Nine other persons were taken to hospital for injury or shock and two firemen were hurt battling the flames.

Shotgun Slaying Will Be Probed By Inquest Jury

STRATFORD (CP)—An inquest into the shotgun slaying of Mrs. Elizabeth Keehn, 65, whose blood-soaked body was found sprawled across her bed Tuesday, will be held July 12.

However, there was no word of an inquest into the death the same day of William Chornolytsky, 56, her former boarder, who police say may have died of poisoning. His body was discovered in the house where he had been boarding since Mrs. Keehn evicted him six months ago.

Laboratory experts in Toronto are examining pellets removed from Mrs. Keehn's body, together with contents from Chornolytsky's stomach. No autopsy results have been released.

The woman's body was discovered about noon Tuesday when two boys, after looking for "Ma" Keehn in the little refreshment booth she operated next to her rooming house, peered through a broken window.

Delay in Getting European Defence Program Under Way Trying to German Patience

By IAN FRASER

BONN (Reuters)—The delay in getting the European defence program under way, which has resulted from France's latest government difficulties, is sorely trying West German patience.

It is probable that but for the determined leadership of one man, the 78-year-old chancellor, Konrad Adenauer, the political leaders of this country would already have given up hope of the establishment of the European Defence Community, under which West Germany would participate in a European army.

To West Germans, the European Defence Community is more than a defence mechanism. They see in it the opportunity to turn over a page in the history of German diplomacy and start a new chapter of friendship and alliance with the Western world, based on equality and mutual respect.

West Germany wants to enter the "club" of the Western nations. Adenauer believes that EDC is the best way to guarantee entrance. But now continued delay in ratification by the French parliament is causing many West Germans to ask whether Adenauer has not miscalculated.

There is a general tendency here to interpret the frequent French crises of the last 18 months as a convenient device used by French members of parliament to delay an unpalatable but necessary decision on EDC.

WOULD END OCCUPATION

Even Adenauer has had to make concessions to this feeling of hopelessness. He has described the Allied occupation of West Germany as outdated and called for its end. Lesser politicians in his immediate entourage have renewed their demands for an alternative to the European Defence Community—meaning, usually, the creation of a national German army under the Atlantic pact.

Two men, Karl Pfleiderer and the former ambassador, Herbert Blankenhorn, have won much publicity by openly challenging the very basis of Adenauer's foreign policy and recommending a flirtation with Moscow.

The official policy of the Western powers has been to consider the abolition of the occupation statute and West Germany's entry into EDC as a single, indivisible operation. In the Bonn conventions ending the occupation, West Germany undertakes to enter EDC. The treaty setting up the community forbids Germany to maintain a separate army.

If, as Adenauer now is demanding, the occupation statute were to be abolished before EDC comes into force, the problem would be what limitations, if any, to put on West Germany's military sovereignty.

Many Germans have fears that if France refuses her consent to EDC, she is even less likely to agree to an alternative solution which gives France — and thus West Germany—greater freedom of action. Yet the United States, and many Germans, are pressing for German troops to take a part in Western defence plans.

SENTENCED IN HOLDUP

MONT LAURIER, Que. (CP)—Jerry Seguin, 24, and Frank Adams 26, were sentenced to life imprisonment Tuesday after being found guilty of the armed holdup of the Provincial Bank of Canada in Labelle, Que., last week.

Ont. Farmers Well Advanced With Haying

TORONTO (CP)—Farmers in all parts of Ontario are well advanced with haying, except in Leeds county, where operations have been held up by frequent rains and cloudy weather, the provincial department of agriculture reported today in its weekly crop report.

Lennox and Addington farmers who delayed haying to get more bulk now find they have a greater quantity than was anticipated and are concerned about storage space.

Wheat is beginning to ripen in western, southern and eastern Ontario, indicating an early harvest. Heads of fall rye are bottoming considerably in Cochrane south and the fly nuisance, allied with hot weather, has caused milk production to drop in Timiskaming.

MORE MUD

TORONTO (CP) — Torontonians were told Wednesday that one section of their main street will likely be left as mud until next May. Repaving of most of Yonge street, now the subway is completed, is expected to be done by October. But one 11-block section, between Alexander and Belmont streets, needs new sewers. It won't be finished until December and city council is against winter paving.

C. E. Mapledoram Ont. Minister Lands and Forests

TORONTO (CP) — Clare Edgar Mapledoram, 51-year-old Progressive Conservative member of the Ontario legislature for Fort William, was sworn in Wed. as Ontario minister of lands and forests.

He succeeds Weliand Gemmell of Sudbury who died in North Bay June 18.

A husky, rotund, genial man, Mr. Mapledoram stands out in the legislature for his knowledge of the forest industry.

Starting as a laborer in a sawmill, he worked his way up to personnel manager of the Great Lakes Paper Company at Fort William, from which he resigned a few days ago.

By the appointment, Premier Frost continues the policy of having two representatives of northern Ontario in the cabinet. The other is Miss Minister Kelly of Smooth Rock Falls, member for Cochrane North. At the same time, it gives northwestern Ontario representation for the first time in years.

Mr. Mapledoram was elected to the legislature in the provincial general election of Nov. 22, 1951.

A member of the committee investigating reported irregularities in the handling of highway construction contracts, he has gained wide publicity by outspoken statements. He recently criticized the highway department for carrying through reorganization without consulting the committee.

Mr. Mapledoram, born in Fort William and educated in public and secondary schools there, has had an extensive experience in municipal affairs. He is a member of the United Church of Canada and is a Mason.

British Bowlers Meet Defeat

NEWMARKET (CP)—The touring British Isles lawn bowlers, on their way to the British Empire Games in Vancouver, were defeated 126-110 by the bowlers of districts 8 and 13 of the Provincial Lawn Bowling Association in a 21-rink game here Wednesday.

The Ontario bowlers came from Streetsville, Brampton, Port Credit, Weston, Minico, Markham, Stouffville, Allandale, Orangeville, Mount Dennis, Newmarket, Stayner, Richmond Hill and Agincourt.

Toronto Council To Urge Action On Unemployment

TORONTO (CP) — Mayor Leslie Saunders and members of the board of control Wednesday decided to visit Ottawa "in about two weeks" to urge federal action to forestall further unemployment.

The city representatives will ask support to swing provincial government support behind the delegation.

The Toronto and Lakeshore Labor Council (CLC) Wednesday urged a seven-point program for unemployment relief in a brief presented to the board of control.

The brief said unemployment was running 50 per cent ahead of last year and urged immediate grants-in-aid from the provincial government for the unemployed, federal assistance, increased unemployment insurance benefits and immediate start on desirable public works and low-rental housing.

Melting Snows Swell B.C. Rivers To Flood Levels

VANCOUVER (CP)—A hot sun beating down on heavy snow packs in the British Columbia interior has sent main rivers in the province inching toward the flood danger levels.

Emergency crews were called out Tuesday to patrol the Fraser river, which in 1948 tore through embankments and caused $30,000,000 damage.

The steady climb of the Fraser during the last week sent it up to within three inches of the 1948 danger level of 20 feet at Mission, B. C.

However, Harold Ball, chairman of the Mission village commission, said there is "no need for worry" yet. The dykes have been built up considerably since the 1948 disaster, he said.

In the interior, some 125 square miles of low-lying land between Lake Windermere and Beavermouth have been inundated.

Richard Hetenen, legislature member for Columbia, said the headwaters of the Columbia and Kootenay rivers "are as high right now as they were in 1948 and a couple more days of hot weather will bring down a real flood."

In Victoria, Evan Jones, deputy minister of public works, said Tuesday night that army and navy units in Vancouver have been ordered to stand by for possible use in a flood emergency.

Evacuate Fifty As Assiniboine Bursts Dikes

BRANDON (CP) — The rising Assiniboine river, swollen by new rain, burst through dikes protecting some low-lying parts of Brandon Wednesday and about 50 families were evacuated.

TRUCKS MIRED

A heavy rainstorm hampered dike builders. Trucks were hardly able to move in the dike area where new clay was churned up by tractor treads.

A dredging unit was sent in to attempt to plug one gap in the dike but failed and the water came through fast.

Mayor James Creighton warned more than 300 persons in the danger area behind dikes along the river's south shore to be ready to move on a moment's notice.

Officials at one point considered abandoning all dikes but made a final effort to raise them.

turn to the job early today after CHEERS RUNDOWN

Fields of the new rust-resistant Selkirk wheat and other important crops at the nearby Dominion experimental station were apparently ruined.

Only the bridge on highway 21 across the Assiniboine remained in use between Brandon and Oak Lake. All others were isolated and several were under water.

Throughout the area, the river had spread out to form a virtual chain of big lakes, criss-crossed with fences and telephone lines.

Woman Completes 17,000-Mile Ride on Horseback

OTTAWA (CP) — That clip-clop won't be echoing in Ana Beker's ears for a while. Four years after she set out from Buenos Aires, Ana arrived on horseback at the Argentina embassy Tuesday.

Bronzed by the sun during her 17,000-mile ride, Miss Beker swung tired legs to the ground to receive the greetings of the crowd gathered outside the embassy. She also received a silver maple leaf presented her on behalf of the Ottawa Valley Light Horse Association.

Two aldermen held her mounts, Chiquito Lochador and Furio, while she talked briefly with reporters and radio men. The 36-year-old horsewoman said she expects to remain here about eight days before returning to Buenos Aires. She admitted to being tired, particularly tired of riding horseback.

However, she achieved her objective—to demonstrate that women can reach any goal they set their minds on. There weren't any men present who disputed her.

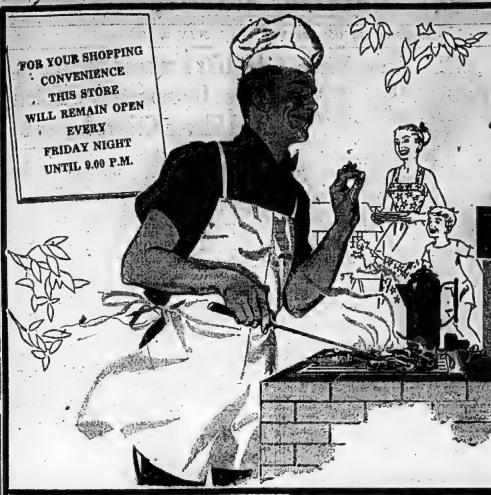
AMBITIOUS BRIDGE

HONG KONG (CP)—A projected bridge across the Yangtze at Wuhan will have a 3,760-foot main span and a height equal to that of a 30-storey building, the Communist New China News agency said Tuesday. Chinese engineers drew up the plans for the bridge, linking the north and south sections of the Peiping-Kowloon railroad, with the aid of Russian experts.

Back Benchers Are Slighted Is Hees' View

QUEBEC (CP) — George Hees, president of the Progressive Conservative Association of Canada, says the appointment of George Marler as transport minister last week "presents a sorry picture of the ability of the Liberal members of parliament."

Mr. Hees said in a speech prepared for delivery Tuesday before a party rally the cabinet post to Mr. Marler, House leader in the Quebec legislature, is the second within a year to a man outside Parliament.



"What about the 150 private Liberal members of Parliament who have been passed over in order to give him a place in the cabinet?" he asked.

The 44-year-old member of Parliament for Toronto-Broadview is on a week-long organization tour of Quebec and will tour the maritime provinces next week.

Rules for Health In Polio Season

With the approach of the polio season, Dr. Nelles Silverthorne presents (10) rules for parents of children who might be susceptible. These are set forth in an article, "The Fight Against Polio," appearing in the current, May-June, issue of health magazine.

Dr. Silverthorne is chairman of the committee on child and maternal health of the Health League of Canada, a voluntary association organized to disseminate technical ques of preventive medicine. He says:

1. "Special attention should be given methods of swatting diagonal by both the municipality and the individual, especially in areas where there is a threatened outbreak or an actual outbreak of poliomyelitis."

2. In areas of threatened outbreak, swimming pools and beaches should be closed.

3. Flies (known to harbor the virus) should be rigorously excluded from all centres where food and beverages are handled.

4. Strictest cleanliness of anyone handling food is essential at all times. In restaurants individuals who handle money should not handle or prepare food or beverages.

5. Cooking and bottling of foods of fruits deserves the utmost attention.

6. One should not eat in fly-ridden places during the poliomyelitis season or in places where there are people suffering from unidentified disease.

7. All persons should always wash their hands before eating.

8. All fruits and vegetables should be thoroughly washed, preferably peeled and best cooked during the poliomyelitis season.

9. Lastly, an observant and careful mother will immediately put her child to bed and keep the child there until the nature of the illness is recognized. In this way it would help to minimize weakness or paralysis in the unfortunate child who is a victim of the disease.

10. To sum up, in any case of doubt, exercise of any degree should be strictly forbidden."

Dr. Silverthorne says that one of the difficulties in controlling the disease lies in the fact that a great many people contract mild cases of polio which are never diagnosed but which can be passed on and become dangerous to people who come into contact with them.

He says that the final answer to polio will be in the proof of the efficacy of a vaccine. Gamma globulin, because of its scarcity and because of the extremely short duration of its probable protective effect, will never be practicable to be pooled for emergency use in severe epidemic areas, pending development of a vaccine, Dr. Silverthorne stated.

FIRST BOOM MINE IN PRODUCTION

Production of base metals in New Brunswick, which began a boom 18 months ago, is a long-term proposition and mining men have stated that the full potential will not be reached for years. Turning a deaf ear to the "long-range" forecasts, a tungsten mine, 63 miles north of Fredericton, capital of the province, has developed to the production stage and, moving eight tons of tungsten concentrate to market before autumn, will be the first of a "boom" mines in the province. Manager Murphy Melanson, right, and a driller examine their mining tools at the entrance to the mine which they believe contain enough ore for 20 years of production. (Central Press Canadian).

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

SOOTHING SYRUP!

Well that setback in Oshawa last night should be balm for the "injured feelings" of one "Soup" Campbell and another Ab Walker. Campbell in his Oshawa sheet column the other day said the "Transporters were sizzling because Belleville voted against the man-import question.

He added that Oshawa helped Batas to enter the Viaduct league but he forgot to state that it was his idea of taching the travelling expenses on both the Batas and the Petes.

We hope the Oshawa victory last night soothes the "sizzling" Transporters. In fact we would not be surprised that the Batas had a streak of sympathy and allowed the Oshawans to win. "Soothing the baby," as to speak.

At the time of writing we have no details. The story appears elsewhere on the sports pages. And to refute Campbell's printed statement the other day to the effect "the rest of the teams are jealous because the Transporters are leading the league," we would like to remind him and the Transporters that it is a long way to the playoffs.

The poor little Transporters were so hurt because they were not allowed a schoolboy from Crooked Neck, or wherever it was, in the United States. In fact they have farmed him to some other squad. They yelped because their ace pitchers had been taken away. They are leading the league. What else do they want?

It is a long lane . . . etc. And don't be surprised to see startling developments in this wacky Viaduct-Ontario League before the season closes.

"OLD CASE SPEAKS!"

"Ole Case" Stengel is on the spot next Tuesday. On that date the man who piloted the Bronx Bombers to five straight world series, will try for his first American League all-star victory in five starts. "Casey" intends to win this one or "bust."

Anti-Yankee fans claim the fact that Stengel has failed to win an all-star game in four seasons, is just another proof that it was the power and balance of the mighty Yankees that brought them five world series in a row, and not the managerial wizardry of one Casey Stengel.

Stengel admits in a piece in a current sports magazine that he has won five world series but in the all-star game "I have done as well as a bow-legged girl in an Atlantic City beauty contest."

"No man has been more eager for the American League to win those games since 1850 than I have," says Casey. "But I have made mistakes. Now I have got to be more careful than ever. If it is possible to go even more emphatically all out, I am going to do so in a determined effort to give my league a long-overdue victory."

"If I can beat the National League with just three pitchers and the minimum of eight players in the other positions, I will follow that plan."

Stengel admitted his mistakes in losing the other four games were errors of the heart, mistakes in enthusiasm and miscalculations "due to my going too strong for Yankee players."

He adds he was guilty of errors in judgment and in the running of games. "Maybe I was careless. Maybe I was pressing too hard."

"Sometimes," he said, "you use too many players because you want to give as many as possible a chance to play. Sometimes you wind up with an overcrowded box score because you have been a flittery manager, too anxious to win.

"I do not believe it is emphatic as possible that I am the one man responsible for these four straight All-Star defeats suffered by the American League. I know that the league has been embarrassed, and possibly it has wondered if it might not be a good idea to overcome my jinx by letting some other manager operate the All-Star team."

"However, I am to manage the American Leaguers again — on July 13 and 11th I have got to do better."

Stengel points out that he has reviewed all the facts and factors pertaining to his four straight losses, and he is more determined than ever that it won't happen again.

"It is strictly up to me. The fans who pick the teams don't do wrong; the players they choose have outstanding skills. As an experienced manager with some measure of success in pennant and world series competition, I should be able to co-ordinate my human and other weapons for at least this one success in five tries."

"On thing I've been spared in these four beatings is that no National League manager ever crowed over me twice. Now comes a fifth, Walter Alston of the Dodgers. I can't afford to let him get ideas."

He that as it may. It seems from here that Casey has picked a poor year to make amends to the American League. In fact his chances of winning this year seem to be the poorest of the five he has mentored the American League aggregation.

There may be something after all, in that statement that came out of Chicago the other day that another any manager could have won five world series with the Yankees behind him. While you can't take all of the credit from Casey, the records definitely proves that managerial ability alone cannot win ball games, pennants and world series.

As Folly, the office poker queen, remarks: "Yuh can't win if you don't get the cards."

BAD 'UNS!

The team of the Mighty Ursus and Don Lewin have shown themselves to be a fearsome twosome in the ring to date. However, they'll need more than their past reputation if they are to stay intact in their clash with the outstanding alliance of Whipper Watson and Paul Baillargeon in the tag team wrestling feature at the Memorial Arena on Friday night.

For Watson, the British Empire champion, is in the sharpest condition of his career and has a new crushing specialty hold, the Corkscrew. His partner, Paul Baillargeon, is noted for and wins for his fabulous muscular power, one of his workouts being to carry a horse up a ladder. Just to get the kinks out, no doubt. Workmen with torches were trying to free a motor accident victim from the twisted wreckage of his car when Paul came along and jerked the door off with his bare hands. Ursus and Lewin better have their heads on tight.

Giants Trounce 'Bums' 10-1 As Powerful Bludgeons Click; Indians, Yankees, Keep Pace

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Giants, rolling along at a phenomenal .361 pace since June 3, today are proud possessors of the biggest lead any Giant team has enjoyed past the mid-season mark in 18 years.

Not since Sept. 25, 1936 when the Giants led the Chicago Cubs by seven games has a Giant club led by more than the current 5½-game margin they boast over the Brooklyn Dodgers. The 1945 Giants led by 6½ games but that was early in the campaign.

The 1936 Giants went on to win the pennant by five games.

The Giants not only captured their 31st victory in the last 38 games but made it five in a row over Brooklyn Wednesday night with a resounding 10-2 triumph. They walloped four home runs, scored four runs in each of the first and fifth innings and whipped Don Newcombe for the first time at Ebbets Field since the 1951 Negro righthander joined the Dodgers in 1949.

To rub it in, Jim Hearn, the Giants' righthander went the route only for the second time this season and registered his first Ebbets Field triumph since July 3, 1952.

MAYS GOT HIS BITE

Willie Mays, Monte Irvin, Wes Westrum and Alvin Dark smacked the homers as did Gil Hodges of the D.-jurk. It was No. 26 for Mays and No. 21 for Hodges, who drove in both Brooklyn runs in the first inning. Mays' 26 leads both leagues. Dark has hit seven, five against the Dodgers.

Cleveland's Indians continued their winning ways, defeating the Baltimore Orioles 6-1 for their 10th victory in the last 11 games. The Indians got all their runs in the second inning to maintain their 9½-game lead over the New York Yankees who trounced the Boston Red Sox 17-3. Chicago's White Sox, struggling to stay within reach of the Indians, shut out Detroit 9-0 behind the four hit pitching of Don Johnson.

Milwaukee's Braves nipped Chicago Cubs 1-0 as Chet Nichols outhurled Howie Pollet in a southpaw duel. Danny O'Connell's run in the losing single followed by Jim Pendleton's double accounted for the lone run.

TWO WASHED OUT

Peanuts Lowrey's pinch single with the bases loaded and two outs in the 11th gave the St. Louis Cardinals their second straight victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs 5-4. Rain washed out the scheduled twi-night doubleheader between Pittsburgh and the Phillies in Philadelphia.

The Yankees enjoyed their most productive day of the season, pounding four Boston pitchers for 17 hits in a game that was halted in the eighth inning by rain. Yogi Berra drove in five runs with a triple and homer and Irv Noren took over the American League batting lead with four hits in five times at bat.

The Indians combined three hits, a sacrifice fly and four walks by Bob Turley to score all their runs in the second inning as Mike Garcia registered his 11th triumph. Bobby Avila's two-run double was the key blow.

The White Sox smashed 16 hits including a home run by Ron Jackson, the 6-7, 20-year-old Texas first baseman as they won their seventh straight at Detroit's Briggs Stadium. Billy Hoeft failed for the ninth straight time at his home park.

Death Stops Track Activities

NEW YORK (AP) — John B. Campbell, 77, internationally noted racing secretary and handicapper, died Wednesday of a heart attack. When news of his death reached the Long Island track, all activity came to a halt.

Campbell, a native of Black River, La., officiated at most U.S. tracks at one time or another, and in Canada and Mexico.

Ten years ago he achieved his goal—a triple dead heat in a handicap. Wait-a-Bit, Brownie and Bozzuet all finished in a tie for first in that Carter handicap.

The Canadian tracks he served as racing secretary included Blue Bonnets, Montreal; Hamilton, Fort Erie, Winnipeg and Toronto's Woodbine.

Sugar Kings Clip Wings; Leafs Lose

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Max Macon's hustling Montreal Royals were not counting themselves among the also rans in the International League pennant race today.

Less than a month ago the Royals were playing .500 ball but Wednesday night they moved within 5½ games of the top by taking a doubleheader from Buffalo Bisons 7-6 and 7-1.

Meanwhile, the league-leading Rochester Red Wings dropped their second straight to Havana Cuban Sugar Kings 8-3. The lowly Richmond Virginians nipped the second-place Toronto Maple Leafs 7-6.

Syracuse Chiefs and Ottawa Athletics split a twin bill. Syracuse took the first game 3-2 and Ottawa won the nightcap 3-1.

Rocky Nelson's 12th homer in the seventh and final inning provided the margin of victory for the Royals in the opener against Buffalo.

SCATTERED SEVEN

In the second game, Glen Cox and Frank Shellenback held Roberto Fernandez and Homer Howell paced the Royals to the victory with homers.

Clint Hartung drove in four runs and Fred Smith three as the Kings scored seven hits off three Rocester pitchers.

The Cubans picked up three runs in the third inning on a walk, a single, a double and Hartung's single.

Three straight singles with none out in the ninth inning gave the Virginians a rain-interrupted victory over the Maple Leafs.

Arnie Landeck, third Toronto hurler, but the first to walk the bottom of the ninth when Russ Kerns Ken Wood and Ed Kasko batted consecutive hits to snap a 6-6 tie.

Murphy Sets Fourth Record In Cycle Games

By AL MARKLE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—Pat Murphy of Delhi set his fourth cycling record in less than a week of competition Wednesday when he won the 62½-mile British Empire Games road race final with a time of 2:44.25.

The old record of 2:53.29 for the 100-kilometre distance was set by South African racer at the 1938 games.

Wednesday, Murphy smashed the 4,000-metre pursuit record and during last week's Canadian championships he set new marks for the 10-mile and 25-mile events.

Wednesday's gruelling race was undecided until about 100 yards from the finish line where Murphy called upon his seemingly endless well of reserve for a final spurt across the wire, edging Alan Cole of Brantford.

ONE ACCIDENT

Murphy, Cole and Peter Allan of Toronto took over the lead with the first three laps and try to go and steadily increased their margin until the finish line more than half a mile ahead of the pack.

Allan fell back rapidly going into the eighth lap after breaking away from the leaders and it was Cole and Murphy alone in the finish as Guy Morin of Montreal, Bill Whitaker and Bill Cleland, both of Toronto, led the second of the three groups.

One bad accident took place on a straight stretch following a hill. The riders were straining to build up speed again when one man in a group went down. Three others were involved in the pile-up, and one, Lorne Atkinson of Vancouver, was sent to hospital. He was badly cut and required two stitches to close a wound.

Oshawa Transporters Turn Back Batas By 7-3 Score

Batas' Bludgeons Impotent Against Dadson's Hurling In Standout Viaduct Tussle

OSHAWA, July 7 — McCallum Transporters seized revenge for the defeat handed them by Batas on Dominion Day when they sent Belleville Batas back home on the short end of a 7-3 count, here last night in a Viaduct-Ontario scheduled fixture.

Bill "Lefty" Dadson went to the mound for the homesters and turned in a neat four-hit performance as he chalked up his third win of the season. He was in command all the way.

Belleville tied up only one earned run, their first tally, in the second inning when Dick Hillpatrick opened with a single, advanced on Tony Pettit's grounder and scored on Johnny Moxam's fly. "Pitt" beat out Bill Gingerich's drive to Dadson and Mike McArthur then clouted the ball down over the left field fence and Dadson set out to add to the bag.

Batas didn't even come close again until the 8th inning when Johnny Moxam drew a walk, fell to second on Tony Pettit's grounder and Jerry McCormick singled, after which Al Kolebeck was hit by a pitched ball to load the bases. Vern Goye's grounder went through Frank Vargo's handle, at shortstop and two runners scored. Fitzpatrick filed out to Vargo and Kolebeck was forced out 2nd base, after a throw to first base was lost, the latter to get Hall (running for Goyer).

INFIELD BUSY.

Defensively, the Batas infield had a very busy night. There was only one putout made in the outfield, Al Sinclair hauling in a fly with fine plays but only Pete Jones evoked any real response and the three bobbles all figured in the scoring.

Transporters, on the other hand, had nine putouts in the outer garden, Gingerich leaving the right field. The infielders were kept busy also, Fred Dexter by his titular self turned in a sparkling game.

An infield error gave Gingerich a life in the opening frame, Elsher singled and scored on his mate, who had moved two notches on a stolen base and wild pitch. Masson ground ed out then Boots scored when Gerry Goyer threw wildly to first base on Nick Mroczek's slow infield roller.

George Brahin's double opened the second and he scored on a 3rd base then stole home as Vargo, who had walked, took 2nd base on a double.

In the third, Elcher singled but was forced trying to steal, Masson and Mroczek followed with solid singles and Dadson walked to fill the bases. Masson was forced at the plate by McArthur and Brahin got a fortunate slow roller that Gerry Goyer couldn't play field to Dadson was hit with a pitched ball to fill the bases, Mowatt faltered then and walked Vargo to force in Dadson.

On the next play, Gingerich grounded to Fitzpatrick, who looked to second base for the force-out but McCormick was caught napping. Brahin had crossed the plate on the drive and Dadson also would have scored while Vargo was being thrown out, going to 3rd base. Dadson beating the throw for the third run of the inning. Oshawa loaded the bases in the 4th also but Mowatt fanned Brahin in the clutch.

Five members of the Transporters accounted for the 11 safe hits. George Brahin had three-for-four including a double, the games only extra-base hit. Elcher, Masson, Mroczek and McArthur each picked up a pair of safeties to boost their averages.

Regents Bow To Picton By 14-0 Score

A single by Bob Moore in the fourth inning robbed "Fuzz" Miller of a no-hit game last night as Picton turned back Belleville Regents by a 14-0 score in a bay of Quinte league game played in Picton.

Miller hurled superb ball in the seven inning fixture, facing only four above the minimum. Six men reached first base with two of them going down on the paths while the remainder died on base as nary a man got past second. Miller himself fired strikes by 12 of the beardless ones while two drew passes.

Ageless Chuck Barriage started on the hill for the Regents but departed in the fifth with Harv Stoliker completing the chore. Picton pounded for 12 runs off eight hits while fanning four and issuing seven free passes. They gave up one hit for two runs as he whiffed three and walked one.

Singles by Cornelious and Hamilton with Chalmers triple coming between the Regents' half of the 1-0 in the first frame. Five more runners crossed the rubber circuit plate in the second with the Regents coming apart at the seams for six markers on six errors while Hamilton and Stacy singled, Chalmers tripled and the fourth with a home run off Barriage and the next three batters reached on a fly ball, a hit batter, walk and Whatlam's single. Cornelious' lead-off batter popped it and smashed a grand-slam homer and the score was 14-0. Safe in the fifth on one on a hit batter, stolen base and two passed balls while the final count was on a walk, stolen base and two errors.

Cornelious, Picton short stop had a field day with the wood as he homered, doubled, banged a single and sacrificed in five attempts. Hamilton was credited with two singles, Carrington a homer, Chalmers a triple and Whatlam's trey to Whatman and Stacy for the nine hits.

Manager Bryson Reid requests that all Regents logged players turn out for a very important practice at the Fairgrounds tonight at 6:30 p.m.

Line ups: Regents: Moore, Doran, Casey, Stoliker, Bird, Boban, Scott, Canning, Wallbridge, Barriage.

Name Swim Team For Canada At Empire Games

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 35-member swimming team of 18 men and 12 women to represent Canada in the British Empire Games here next month was named early today at the conclusion of the Canadian swimming championships.

British Columbia swimmers dominated the selections. The West Coast province will have 12 men and five women on the squad.

Ontario placed five women and one man while Quebec had four men and two women. Calgary's star diver Bill Patrick completes the team. Five divers in all were named.

The names will go before a special committee of the Canadian British Empire Games Association for final approval Sunday.

Originally it was intended to name a team of 30 men and 20 women but Albert Ford of Winnipeg, president of the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association, said the selection committee voluntarily cut 10 men in the hope of getting more extra girls on the team.

The new ratio should give the team a better balance, he said.

WAS SURPRISE CHOICE

A surprise choice on the team is Allen Brew, 14-year-old sensation from Crescent Beach, B.C., who scored almost a complete sweep of the backstroke events in the three-day championships by winning five titles.

Brew is the youngest Canada in his specialty, the 110-yards backstroke.

A junior was also named to the women's team—Ann Ford, 15-year-old Winnipeg girl. Ann, 13-year-old wizard who copped two championships.

Powerful Gerry McNamee, 22, of Vancouver, will be the mainstay of the men's team, competing in four events.

Starting Line-Up Will Reflect Major Leagues All Star Strength

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—The all-star game scheduled for Tuesday at Cleveland will be a far different contest from the first of its kind played at Chicago in 1933 in a spirit of holiday fun and won by the American Leaguers, 4-2.

As originally conceived, the mid-season classic merely was to be the means of letting baseball fans pick a couple of "dream" teams by ballot and then to permit the two star-filled aggregations to appear upon the same field at one and the same time.

There was no sense of urgency about winning the game. The managers were more or less of an outside clambake. There was great curiosity among the players to see the big guns of the opposite league in action for the first time. Under the original plan, everybody would get to play a little and everybody would go home happy to forget the serious business of the league races.

Few baseball leaders had any notion that the game would become a regular affair. Within 20 years it would develop into a grim duel for prestige.

It might be overstated a big, happy outing but for the fact that the American League manager, Joe McCarthy and New York Yankees in particular—quickly got down to business of trying to win the game than to lose it, and took action accordingly. Into his line-ups with the best he had and, if the circumstances warranted, left them in there until they had whomped the Nationals.

By the time the Nationals finally caught on to what was happening to them and began their present surge of four in a row, they were trailing 4-1 and fell 5-4 over.

"It goes without saying that the Nationals have long since dropped all pretense of playing the game for fun," Frankie Frisch, who is for the fans, and are not to win by any means within the rules. They would be happier, as would also the Americans, if a regulation adopted several years ago did not require each side to play all the first three innings with the line-ups voted by the fans.

The National Leaguers, for example, will be pained at having to start Jackie Robinson in left field. The fans, bless 'em, had no means of foreseeing when they cast their ballots that this jungle-type batting averages and had become the apple of Casey Stengel's eye. Jackie, a career side figures to be greatly handicapped by the rule of the ballot, and the starting line-ups will accurately reflect the strength of the respective leagues in the bulk, the more than 4,000,000 fans who picked the starting teams did a sound job.

Freckle-Faced British Columbia Kid Stars Canadian Swim Championship

By PETER MURRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 14-year-old freckle-faced boy from a tiny British Columbia resort town has emerged as the star of the Canadian swimming championships here Wednesday night by winning his fifth title in the three-day meet.

Allen Brew of Crescent Beach, B.C., made almost a complete sweep of the junior men's events by taking four backstroke and breaststroke titles and a relay win.

His victory in the 110 yards backstroke Wednesday night climaxed the colorful meet which also doubled as the British Empire Games trials.

Early today the games selection committee announced the names of 18 men—including young Brew—and 12 women who will make up Canada's B.E.G. swimming team.

British Columbia, host to the international Brew and senior freestyle ace Gerry McNamee, topped the other provincial teams in the championships. Ontario followed with 10 and Quebec with seven.

The only other province to produce a champion was Alberta. Bill Fairick of Calgary was the lead of his class in winning the three-metre springboard and 3-metre lower diving handily.

George Park of Hamilton was the only swimmer able to beat the power-stroking McNamee in his specialty. The burly policeman turned the trick by a split second in the 110 freestyle.

Beth Whitaker of Montreal picked up her second title by trimming her rival Elva Hivak, Gladys Priestly of Verdun, Que., in the women's 440 freestyle.

Ted Jackson, backstroke ace from the Vancouver. A mateur Swimming Club, won his third first place medal Wednesday night in the grueling senior men's 440 individual medley. He took the 110 and 220 backstroke crowns earlier.

Helen Stewart of Vancouver was the only double winner on the final night, capturing the junior women's 440-yard individual medley and the 110 butterfly. Earlier, she won the senior women's 110 breaststroke.

Durelle Wins Over Harper

NEWCASTLE, N.B. (CP)—Yvon Durelle of Bale Ste. Anne, N.B., regained his Maritime middleweight boxing championship Wednesday night with a 12-round decision over Ken Harper of Calgary.

It was the third bout between the pair. Durelle lost the title to Harper in Calgary and later fought a draw in the same city.

The 33-year-old Harper is ranked second among British Empire middleweight lightweights.

Durelle, 24, made his ring debut seven years ago.

Judge Jack Johnston gave Durelle 58 rounds with one to Harper and the other even. Judge E. T. Weeks called it eight, three and one. Referee Wilfred Manuel favored the challenger in seven, two to Harper and called three even.

Durelle weighed in at 168 against 170 for Harper.

Cycle Officials Recommend 15

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canadian cycle officials Wednesday night recommended 15 riders make up the Canadian team for British Empire Games cycle team.

Heading the list of nine eastern riders named to the team is Vancouver wheelmen were Jim Davies of Vancouver and Pat Murphy of Delhi. They will head off with the majority of the laurels in the Canadian championships and British Empire Games trials here.

Eastern Canadians recommended for the games besides Murphy were Fred Marcus, Eric Fellows and Bill Whitaker of Toronto; Gil Morin, Andre Roberte and Gaston Langlois of Montreal; Alan Cole of Brantford and Walter Willaert, Delhi.

Vancouver riders selected in addition to Davies were veteran Lorne Atkinson, Terry Cumbia, Brian Henderson, Claire Bonner, and Johnny Millman.

Looks Like Close Race In Intercounty

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Barring a complete collapse by some team in the Senior Intercounty Baseball League should have one of its closest races in years. With the season almost at the half-way mark only 3½ games separate the last-place Guelph-Waterloo Royals from the first-place St. Thomas Elgins and Brantford Red Sox.

None of the teams have yet had a real winning or losing streak—none except Kitchener Panthers and they have had both so it doesn't count pretty well.

The Red Sox, who took their fourth consecutive victory Wednesday night by defeating St. Thomas 4-1 in Brantford, earned themselves a share of first place. The Elgins own the other half.

Guelph and Kitchener each played a full game on first place, the Royals defeating London Majors 5-2 in Guelph and the Panthers downing the Galt Terriers 5-2 in Kitchener.

LEADS LEAGUE

First baseman Wilmer Fields again was the man of the hour for Brantford. He bashed out three hits in four trips to the plate including a double, his 17th of the season and a short of the league record for two-baggers.

He also holstered his batting average up to .333 and leads the league in home runs, runs batted in and doubles.

Pitcher Harry Fisher held the Elgins to three hits 'to chalk up his fifth victory against a pair of setbacks among the league's pitchers.

Playing manager Tommy White, touched for all four runs and eight hits in Guelph's defeat at the hands of Majors. He also had a pair of the year for Drapcho. He has four losers.

TWO HOMERS

London batters hit the game's only home runs. Playing manager Frank Colman slammed one, Jim Bell the other. Bell had a pair. Hal Halkard's fifth four-bagger in the last three games.

Bob Brake, who went the distance for the Majors, suffered his first loss in his five wins.

Preston Elkins held the Terriers to six hits to spark Kitchener's victory over Galt. The win evened his record at 2-2.

Bill Hall and a walk off Mel Duncan in the sixth inning scored the winning run for Galt in the game lock. Duncan's loss was his fourth in nine decisions.

Galt is at London for a doubleheader tonight while Guelph goes to St. Thomas.

Using the home run to good advantage, Shewbash handed Vaughan's an 8-4 loss in a bantam game played at the King George School ground last night.

Stephen Schwab had a round tripper with one on in the second to cut Vaughan's lead to 3-2. David Coe tied the game at 4-4 in the fifth with another two-run blast and pitcher Jack Elliott won his own game in the sixth, the homer coming with the sacks empty. His mates added three more before the inning ended to insure the victory.

Elliott gave up six hits as he whiffed seven and walked two while Gord Vaughan for the losers was touched for seven hits while getting five on strikes and walking a pair.

Norm Rushlow had two singles with homers by Elliott, Coe and Schwab plus one-bagger by Alexander and Garrison completing the seven hit attack. John Brennan banged out a brace of singles for Vaughan's while the other hits went to Leseli, Kerrulak, Vaughan and Belanger.

Bobcats Bow To Frankford By 10-1 Score

(By GARRY ALEXANDER)

Behind the four-hit hurling of Barney McCoil and using a fifteen hit attack, the Frankford Merchants tightened their grip on third place in the Belleville and District Softball League, defeating Bobcats 10-1, at the Alemite Field last night.

For the first four innings the two teams played even ball and were tied at 1-1 but the Merchants took a 3-1 lead in the fifth. They added a pair in the sixth, three in the seventh, two in the eighth and finished with one in the ninth to win going away.

McColl pitched superb ball, getting better as the game progressed as he allowed the Bobcats three singles and a double. The big right hander set five down on strikes while walking two and hitting the lone batter.

Doug Thompson opened on the mound for Temple's nine and was charged with the loss in five innings plus. He was touched for nine hits including to four runs while fanning none and issuing walks to three. Buck Burshaw completed the game, giving up six runs on six hits, whiffing none and walking four.

Mike Cosgrove singled Whitney home with the first Frankford tally in the third after Whitney had doubled but singles by Logue and Temple plus a sacrifice bunt knotted the score in the fourth.

Singles by Cooke and Wickson put two on base in the sixth with Bob Temple making a bad throw to third, allowing Cooke to score what proved to be the winner. A walk and successive singles by Austin, McColl and Whitney sent Thompson to the showers in favor of Burshaw in the sixth as another pair scored.

Wickson walked to open the seventh and Gilmour singling and Austin smashing a home run drive to left field and a 7-1 score. Two more runs in the eighth on a walk, Cosgrove's double, an error and Whitney while the 10th inning was the result of singles by Dafoe and Leavitt teamed with an error and a walk.

Cooke had a trio of singles in five times at bat to pace the winners attack while Austin clubbed a homer and single. Cosgrove and Whitney each met one ball for a double and single with McColl contributing a brace of singles. One baggers went to Dafoe, Wickson, Leavitt and Gilmour as every member of the team came up with at least one base hit.

Doug Reid was best at bat for the Bobcats, banging an automatic double and a single in four trips. Singles went to Temple and Logue. Lineups:

Frankford: Dafoe, Cosgrove, Wickson, Leavitt, Gilmour, Austin, McColl, Whitney, Cooke.

Bobcats: Nolan, Dusebery, Temple, Doran, Wardhaugh, Logue, Rose, Wells, Young, Donovan, Thompson Burshaw, Reid.

Some of the hands you bid have a skimpy look. As if they were held together only by the bare necessities for the bid you make. It is because they lack pushers like tens and jacks.

Nevertheless, if they contain rule requirements they should be bid. Otherwise you will pass too many hands that would result in gain if your partner has any bolstering qualities.

Take the deal shown here.

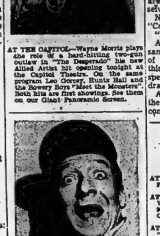
The bidding should go like this:

South	North
1 Heart	1 Spade
1 No-Trump	2 Hearts

South has a bare opening; five tricks, four highs, four or more suits, a heart suit that is biddable. Although north has four tricks his first response of one spade showed only three of them. The north new suit takeout forces for one round. Even though south has nothing more he must bid again. With no more tricks he must not raise the number. Which is why he bids one notrump.



The four tricks in north are not enough for a jump. In showing heart support he must confine himself to a simple assist. This is his first raise. So, it still shows only three tricks.

A simple assist does not force partner to bid again. With nothing more south should pass two hearts. So, north never gets a chance to show his fourth trick by a second raise.

However, the skinny nine tricks they count are not enough for a game bid. So, it is just as well because they get no more for a bid of three than they do for bid of two.

"Cease Fire!" is Exciting Story of Korean War

A stirring, excitingly poignant story of the fourteen-man patrol which probed deep behind enemy lines on the last day of the war to scout an enemy troop concentration comprises the thrilling subject matter of "Cease Fire!" the brand new Hal Wallis' Paramount film starting today at the air conditioned Belle Theatre. Filmed completely in Korea under actual battle conditions, "Cease Fire!" was directed by Owen Crump from a screenplay by Walter Doniger and just as the shell fire, the machine gun, the machine gun-and rifle bullets in the film are real, so are our soldiers playing themselves.

Never a motion picture story like "Cease Fire!"

"Final Twist" Suspense Drama

A special added attraction on the same program is the presentation of Paramount's "Final Twist", a thirty minute, high - powered suspense hard hitting mystery melodrama.

A funny Popeye color cartoon and the popular Warner Bros. Newsreel completes the program.

MOULIN ROUGE SYMBOL OF COLORFUL AGE

In Paris, in the Naughty Eighties, a cafe called Moulin Rouge, the Red Mill, was symbolic of an entire era. Here, in a garish pink room, the wicked Can-Can was first introduced by the dancing courtesans showed her stocking-clad legs high above her head; and the ebullient artist population of Paris came to drink and flirt.

Among the latter was Henri de Toulouse - Lautrec, one of France's most famous modern artists. Lautrec, the romantic painter, became an habitue of the Moulin Rouge, a nightly visitor, a confidant of such star performers as Jane Avril, La Goulue, Chocolat. All of these, as well as the notorious Can-Can girls, and the interior of the Moulin Rouge itself, figure in many of Lautrec's famous pictures.

It is small wonder then, that John Huston's new film biography of Lautrec, is called "Moulin Rouge". Jose Ferrer is starred as the artist, and the supporting cast of the Technicolor film, closing tonight at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre through United Artists release, includes Zsa Zsa Gabor, Colette Marchand and Suzanne Flon.

Such details as the huge dance floor, the long bar, the giant candelabra, the row of lights minus across the ceiling, were all part of the original Moulin Rouge, as shown in numerous engravings. Source for the color scheme was unimpeachable — Toulouse-Lautrec's own paintings of the place.

Nervous; Always Tired
Limbs, Back Sore, Painful

Surprising How Much Better I Am Since Taking Syntone Says this Grateful Woman.

"I am so pleased with the way I feel since I've been taking Syntone that I am anxious to let other sufferer know how it has helped me," said Mrs. Ethel Edgar (247 Oxford Street, London, Ont., in a recent statement.

"My nerves were very bad and I felt tired all the time. My appetite in the mornings after a restless night I had no ambition. I was nervy. I had a constant nagging pain across my back and my limbs, joints and muscles were sore and painful.

Felt Better in Few Days

"In three or four days after I started taking Syntone I felt so much better that I was able to get up in the garden and work. In that short time I noticed that I had more energy to do the housework. As I continued with Syntone backaches and pains gradually went away and my nerves calmed down so that I am getting sound sleep at night. I cannot begin to tell you how pleased I am to be feeling better and I owe it all to Syntone."

Syntone is sold and recommended in Belleville by Dolan the Druggist.

Easy to Take

Although Syntone is made from 13 Herbs and Roots, it is pleasant to take and extremely agreeable to the taste. And it is interesting to note that for many thousands of men and women like Mrs. Edgar, it has proved a welcome relief to orders of the stomach, kidneys, liver and blood, associated with nervousness, rheumatic pains and general rundown health.

Police Report
'Good Leads' In Hunt for Killer

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Moving swiftly to crack the brutal kidnap-murder of 7-year-old Judith MacRoberts, homicide detectives grilled more than 30 men during the night and early today reported "very good leads" in their hunt for the killer.

Still to be questioned were about 40 others known as perverts and child-molesters rounded up since the body of the blue-eyed seven-year-old child was found Wednesday, within sight of Miami's city hall.

Judith Ann, daughter of a Baltimore lawyer and labor leader, was raped and murdered and her body left near fashionable South Bayshore drive, a few miles south of downtown Miami.

Five hours earlier she had been taken in her sleep from the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rosenberg.

The child's body, been strangled, beaten on the head with an instrument and criminally assaulted. A white gown had been ripped from her body.

One piece of the garment and a handkerchief were tied tightly around her throat. What appeared to be a wrestling hold over held her hands tied behind her back. Her eyes were swollen shut.

TOOK THE KEYS

The victim's three-year-old sister Betty, told police that a "colored man" had talked to her and Judith on the street Tuesday. A neighbor said she saw two Negro gardener's keys in the children on several occasions.

The children and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Roberts, arrived Sunday night from Baltimore for their funeral. Mrs. Rosenbergs, parents of Mrs. Robertson.

The killer apparently entered the Rosenberg home through a front window, police theorized where he took the car key from Rosenberg's trousers and from Judith Ann from the couch in the living room where she was sleeping.

It was a search of in the Rosenberg automobile and the sound of the machine roaring away awakened Mrs. Rosenberg, who noticed the front door ajar and awakened the others.

IVANHOE—Rev. T. Hogerward was inducted into the Ivanhoe charge of the United Church on Wednesday evening. Rev. H. Gifford of Foxboro, officiated, assisted by Rev. Ray Bowler, of Tabernacle Church in Belleville.

Mr. Hogerward and his family came from Rotterdam, Holland, in August 1953, and have spent the last year on the Janetville charge.

He was a former minister in The Netherlands Reformed Church, and before her marriage, Mrs. Hogerward was in the Mission College of the same church. They were married in 1934 and left immediately for the mission field in Netherlands, East Indies.

TAKEN PRISONERS

Shortly after the Japanese entered the last World War, the Hogerward family were taken prisoners in 1942. Mr. Hogerward separated from his wife and children, was in a concentration camp 200 miles away, with no communication for over a year.

Inge, their fourth child, was born in camp. The privations and hardships suffered by every one of the family, are beyond description.

Mrs. Hogerward lost 60 pounds during the three and one half years, while her husband was a walking skeleton. In May 1946, they returned to Holland to recover their health.

In 1947 they again took up their mission work in Aruba in the East Indies. Aruba is the centre of the oil industry and is situated near the coast of Venezuela.

In April 1953, they returned to Holland and prepared for departure to Canada in August. The children are Else 18, Thea 17, Jan 15, Inge 11, and Elida 8.

Mr. Hogerward speaks five languages. All are confident he will give able leadership and prove to be an earnest zealous minister.

A warm welcome is extended to each member of this family, who because of their wide travels, and varied experience, are bound to enrich the church and community life.

Sweeping Changes In Reserve Army Are Announced

Many Famed Fighting Units Vanish in Reorganization

OTTAWA (CP) — Some famed fighting units...vanished today in the reorganization of the 57,000-man Canadian militia.

Details of the sweeping changes in the reserve army were announced by army headquarters. High officers availed the cries of rage which they said they fully expect from some sections of the country.

The reorganization follows adoption by the government of most of the recommendations in a report prepared for the defence department by three reserve force majors-generals, H. F. G. Letson of Vancouver, F. R. Sexsmith of Montreal and Howard Kenney of Ottawa. The militia itself agreed to the principle of reorganization but has not been previously informed which units would be disbanded or amalgamated with other units.

In announcing the reorganization in the Commons June 21, former defence minister Claxton said:

"The changes proposed are planned to tap the resources of interested and efficient personnel so as to provide the best basis for the build-up of forces that may be required in the second or third year of another world war.

"The present number of units will be substantially reduced. It is expected that at the outset the reductions in the total number of officers and men will be small. But it is expected that they will result in more effective use of personnel."

Officers explained today that militia units are being tied more closely to the regular force. For instance, some infantry regiments will form reserve battalions for active regiments such as the Canadian guards and Royal 22nd Regiment.

The changes are designed so that, in the event of mobilization, reserve units would be able to supply replacements to regular force units. Canada would have mainly infantry forces able to move rapidly and with strong firepower support from tanks and artillery.

By corps, here is what is being done:

FORMATION HEADQUARTERS

The present brigade and other formation headquarters will be replaced by new ones to be known as militia group headquarters. Under the previous organization headquarters were responsible for specific types of units and in many instances, due to distances involved, could not be responsible for all units of their formation.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Men and equipment are ready to move into areas of southern B.C. should British Columbia rivers burst saturated banks.

For the second time in two months, the weather is calling out the troops.

Deputy Works Minister Evan Gibbs said after inspecting the threatened area that rain or high temperatures the next few days could bring a "serious trouble" Sunday morning.

R. Lowe's Wife, Baby Girl Escape Blaze

Township Fire Chief Woods said the cause of the fire has not been determined.

Another tenant, William Carlson, who lives in the basement of the house, also escaped the flames.

HEARD YELLING

Frank Bradley, a neighbor who was asleep in the back bedroom of his house, said he heard yelling and went around to the front door of the Lowe house. When he could not smash down the front door he entered the house through a back window and found Lowe on the floor. He and Constable Ronald Strickfield of the York Township police carried out the bodies.

Mrs. Lowe was downstairs and the man dead after firemen worked over him with an inhalator for about an hour in the back garden. David was dead on arrival at the Hospital for Sick Children.

Mrs. Lowe was taken to the Toronto General Hospital suffering from shock. She carried the baby girl out of the flaming house. The girl is being looked after by a neighbor.

Imported Borneo Trackers Hunt Reds in Malay Jungle

SINGAPORE (Reuters) — Fresh planeloads of British para-troopers dropped over the dense north Malayan jungle today to back up Commando jumpers in the biggest anti-Communist sweep of the Malayan war.

British planes made 22 attacks on three targets in the area as the men drifted down east of Ipoh.

Earlier today, air force helicopters began bringing in stocky little Borneo tribesmen to aid paratroopers landed Thursday in tracking down Communist guerrillas.

As the helicopters hovered over the jungle, other planes bombed and strafed suspected Communist hideouts.

The helicopters, after landing the anti-trackers, started to airlift a team of aborigines from nearby Ipoh to help in tracking down the Communists and to win the goodwill of other aborigines in the jungle, who have long been dominated by local terrorists.

One paratrooper landed in a Communist camp. All he saw was a few men and a large group of terrorists watching him, but by the time he landed they had fled.

An Air Force spokesman said no firm contact has been made with the terrorists but there is plenty of evidence the area is full of Communists and their armed and uniformed aborigine followers.

Green-clad troops found elaborate camp installations. Packs and documents were found scattered on the ground at the fleeing Communists.

All papers are being collected and translated by army intelligence officers.

NO WAGE INCREASE

In the current dispute, the union opposed negotiations for contract changes, not including wage increases, but November they proposed talks with Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways ended in deadlock. Neither side accepted the findings of a conciliation board headed by Mr. R. I. Kellock of the Supreme Court of Canada.

The railway's state they cannot afford the $60,000,000 which they estimate the "fringe" demands would cost.

The unions' demands include: eight statutory holidays; revision of vacation rules to allow a three-week vacation after 15 years; 10 days sick leave a year; and time-and-a-half for Sunday when it is a regular working day. Now it is time.

Employees involved include section men, freight handlers, telegraphers, shop men, porters and others.

ONLY CLEAR RECORDS

TORONTO (CP)—Mayor Leslie Saunders, chairman of the Toronto police commission and immediately announced that henceforth only applicants with clear records will be considered for jobs on the force by the commission. The mayor said the board has dismissed four persons with criminal and badly driving records were applying for taxi and driving instructor licences.

Imported Bread At Vancouver Due to Strike

VANCOUVER (CP) — Truckloads of bread are expected to arrive from outside points today for city cafes as the Vancouver and Nanaimo bakery workers went into its second day. Management and union negotiators will be trucked in cams from Ross Brown, president of the Vancouver branch, Canadian Restaurant Association, as government conciliation work worked round the clock to find some basis for agreement.

The labor dispute, which has cut Vancouver's normal bread production of 250,000 loaves daily down to 118,000 loaves, was touched off Thursday when 78 employees struck McGavin Bakeries, Ltd.

Vietminh Forces Suddenly Increase Pressure on Hanoi

Attack on City Seen Likely Within Four or Five Days

By CORLEY SMITH

HANOI, Indo-China (Reuters) — Vietminh forces have suddenly increased their pressure north and northwest of Hanoi.

There are strong reasons to believe they may launch an attack on this main city of the Red river delta within the next four or five days.

The French high command reported French Union armored units and Vietminh rebels clashed in a bloody engagement 30 miles south of Hanoi today.

The middle armored unit encountered the Vietminh south of Bao Thon, a tiny village on the road between Phu Ly and Hanoi. After several hours of savage fighting, the Vietminh withdrew leaving 30 dead, the French command said.

Arms Shipped To Guatemala Were Useless

NEW YORK (CP) — The New York Times said in a dispatch from Mexico City today that some of the arms the Czechoslovak government recently shipped to the ousted Arbenz government of Guatemala were useless duds, worn out or entirely unsuitable for warfare by modern armies, reports quoted Guatemalan army officers as saying.

The Times said the arms apparently failed to put up an effective fight against Castillo's rebels, it was reported, because they continued:

The arms, for which the Guatemalan army reported to have paid $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 were mostly Second World War weapons like the Czech rifles captured from the Germans. Much of the shipment was not unloaded until the rebels used no tanks. Several German cannons, designed for wide tank traps, were useless due to Guatemala's mule trails.

When fighting started, the army had to divert troops and trucks to transport the arms from an inland railway east of Guatemala city to the outskirts of town. It was feared that before the rebels' four-plane air force would hit the arsenal and wreck the city.

Changes Forecast

TORONTO (CP) — Radical changes in the system of issuing banque liquor permits were forecast today.

Judge W. T. Robb, chairman of the Ontario liquor licence board, made the prediction as he heard charges against St. Clair Golf Club of supplying beer to non-members and permitting excessive noise at night.

He reserved judgment on the complaint.

Rebel Chief Finally Named Guatemala Government Head

GUATEMALA CITY (AP)—Col. Carlos Castillo Armas finally rode the top of the political heap in Guatemala today. The government announced the rebel chief was elected president of a new three-man junta—the fifth "temporary" turnover in less than a month.

Col. Elfego Monzon, temporary chief of the five-man junta in charge since last Friday, remained on the new pared-down ruling body.

But the reins were clearly in Castillo's hands. The third member of the top group, Maj. Enrique Oliva, was defence minister in the provisional government which the rebel leader set up at Chiquimula after his army of Guatemalan exiles invaded their homeland from neighboring Honduras on June 18.

General Election May Be Called By Yoshida

TOKYO (Reuters)—There is a growing belief among Japanese politicians and observers here that Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida will call a general election in the autumn to obtain a national vote of confidence before getting on with badly-delayed world tour.

Public confidence in the government has been shaken by a series of bribery allegations against leading businessmen and government officials.

The public's confidence in parliamentary government was even more shaken when Socialist and government General members in the Lower House of the Japanese Diet started a riot June 3, the day before Yoshida was to have left on a tour of the United States, Canada, Europe and Asia.

Because of the resulting political crisis, he was forced to postpone his tour indefinitely.

Yoshida has headed five of Japan's post-war cabinets. But, if an press reaction is accepted as an indication, for the last 18 months his party's popularity has been declining.

Mendes-France And Molotov To Confer Sunday

PARIS (AP) — Premier Pierre Mendes-France will meet with Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov in Geneva Sunday in an atmosphere of high-level talks aimed at ending the war in Indo-China.

This was announced today by the French foreign office. Mendes-France has promised to resign if he has not worked out an Indo-China cease-fire by July 20.

There has been little progress in the Indo-China peace talks at Geneva since June 19, when the top delegates ordered military commissions of the opposing parties in Indo-China to meet and prepare a report for the conference.

The report is due Saturday. The best word available here is that there has been no meeting of minds as yet on the military level.

VANCOUVER (CP)—It will cost Vancouver citizens $290,000 to get rid of the old Granville street bridge. That's the cost of wrecking the structure, opened in 1909, which has been replaced by a modern $16,500,000 high-level structure.

UNION LEADERS ADVISE MEN TO VOTE FOR STRIKE

Railwaymen Prepare To Deposit Ballots

MONTREAL (CP)—Voting is in full swing across Canada as railwaymen decide whether to authorize strike action to back up contract demands.

Ballots, attached to a statement outlining the stand of unions representing 135,000 non-operating employees, now have been distributed and will be returned by mail.

A study of the statement shows that leaders of the 14 unions involved—which represent employees who do not actually run the trains—have urged their members to strike to "eliminate sub-standard conditions."

The pale-blue ballot has box spaces for the employee to mark "X" for or against a strike. He then signs the ballot, stating his occupation, address, union and lodge or division number. There also is provision for non-members of unions to state their status.

STATEMENT INSTRUCTIONS

The statement says: "Each employee will be expected to record his vote on the ballot, place it in a seal it in the ballot envelope, hand it to the deputy, proper official or that it may be forwarded to reach your general chairman on or before Aug. 2, 1954.

A vote in favor of strike would not mean a strike would follow, but would merely give the union chiefs a mandate to set a date and make other moves. Further negotiations would not be ruled out.

The balloting is being conducted entirely by the union, as is usual, without any outside supervision.

The non-operating employees involved in the railways for nine days in 1950 to back up contract demands. At that time, the union announced Aug. 2 the strike would begin Aug. 22, but negotiations were resumed at the request of the government but resulted in deadlock and the strike went on as scheduled.

Judge W. B. Lane of Picton, will be chairman of the conciliation board. The union nominee is J. W. Bowling, Canadian director of United Packinghouse Workers, and company nominee is Norman L. Mathews.

RCAF and USAF Check Defences

OTTWA (CP)—The RCAF and USAF will open their continental defences a stiff workout this month in a joint air defence training maneuver, code-named Operation Point. It will be biggest exercise of its kind ever held in North America.

The RCAF, in a statement Thursday, set out dates for the period of the exercise on the grounds that this would remove the element of surprise for some participating units such as the Ground Observer Corps. However, it is believed that the exercise will start today and last throughout the week-end.

WETASKIWIN, Alta. (CP)—Two crewmen are missing after the derailment of a freight train here of the CPR's No. 33 east - bound passenger train crashed into a gully four miles east of here early today.

Lumber Co.'s Said to Blame For Cruelty

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario lumber companies were blamed Thursday by directors and workers of the Ontario Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals for numerous instances of cruelty to animals in Canada's northland.

"These companies are evading their responsibility in their indifference toward the health and welfare of horses employed through jobbers to haul logs," an OSCPA director said.

Information on the condition of bush horses was provided the society's head office here by inspector Lloyd Allard, who is working in the heavy timber country, he reported hundreds of cases of starvation, infection and brutality.

GIVES EXAMPLES

One of the worst examples, he said, was that of a large horse left for long periods in a manure shift barn so low the animal was unable to stand upright. More typical was that of a horse with a rotting hoof and infected fetlock. Both animals had to be destroyed.

"A pair of horses can be bought for from $75 to $100," said Mr. Allard. "If a jobber has a good contract he figures it's cheaper to starve and neglect the animal and write him off at the end of the season.

Mr. Allard said that in 300 the season camps he inspected he found more than 250 horses in "shocking condition."

Knowland Expects Modified Motion To Win Approval

By RUSSELL BRINES

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate foreign relations committee appeared set to stamp approval today on a wait-and-see plan for dealing with the prospect of Red China's seating in the United Nations.

Senator William Knowland (Rep., Calif.), author of the limited-action proposal, forecast a favorable verdict in advance of a formal vote and in the view voiced by Senator H. Alexander Smith (Rep., N.J.) committee chairman.

Knowland, the Senate majority leader, said in an interview, he expects Secretary Dulles report from both Republicans and Democrats for his unqualified support, as revised at administration urging from a stiffer version.

The Knowland amendment would write into the pending $3,500,000,-000 foreign aid bill:

1. Another congressional statement in opposition to admitting Communist China to the U.N.

2. A request to President Eisenhower, if Red China is seated in either the Security Council or the assembly, for a statement to Congress on the significance to U.S. foreign policy of the action "together with recommendations" the president may have.

PROPOSAL MODIFIED

The amendment's actual wording is a far cry from Knowland's original demand that Congress promptly withdraw from the UN if Red China came in, with this policy to be set by Congress before hand. It conforms more to Eisenhower's view, as he expressed it Wednesday, and endorsed by State Secretary Dulles Thursday.

Children Forego Sweets to Give To Hospital

The Shrine Hospital for Crippled Children in Montreal will benefit to the extent of $14.00 thanks to the generous efforts of the pupils of Grade VIII of King George School.

This group of foresighted youngsters, has been working quietly unheralded and unsung for some time to make life better to some degree for children less fortunate than they.

The pupils under their teacher, Mr. G. A. Boate forego the purchase of Valentine Cards, sweets and other good things school children are fond of and instead, place the money in a special box. At the end of the term a list of worthy organizations is placed on the blackboard, and one is selected as the recipient of the accumulated funds.

This year it was the Shrine hospital, Montreal.

The donation was given to Noble Lionel Crawford, secretary of the Belleville Shrine Club who in turn forwarded it to the hospital. He expressed the sincere appreciation of the Shrine.

"This is a fine gesture," Mr. Crawford told the Ontario Intelligencer", and the pupils are deserving of a lot of credit and commendation."

9th Anti-Tank Regiment, RCA Passes Out of Militia Picture; Hasty Pees Absorb 3 Units

A proud regiment has reached the end of long and honorable service to its country.

Under the new reorganizational plans for Canada's militia announced today by National Defence Headquarters, Ottawa, the 9th Anti Tank Regiment, R.C.A. (SP) A.H. will be absorbed by other units, Date of the transfer was not announced.

The headquarters and two batteries of the regiment, the 32nd and 34th, will be taken over by the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment. The 3rd Battery, Gananoque and the 47th Battery, Napanee, will be designated as regular independent units. The 3rd will be known as the 3rd Independent Medium Battery while the 47th will be replaced by the 22nd Independent Medium Battery.

Lieut. Col. R. N. Widdifield, commanding officer of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment said today:

"GREAT PITY"

"I think it is a great pity that the gold regiment like the Argylls and the Hasty Pees are at the same time the remolding of our militia system is getting overdue and was bound to come sooner or later.

"I shall certainly welcome the union of our two groups and all the traditions of gallantry the regiment as friends and brother soldiers.

"I am not only want them in our regiment, we need them in our regiment."

Col Widdifield's command now stretches out to Port Hope, Ont. and Napanee, Ont. and has an over command of a company of Hastings and Prince Edward regiment stationed at Port Hope which is being absorbed into the Ontario regiment.

Lieut. Col. G. H. Warwick, commanding officer of the 9th Anti Tank regiment said today in Gananoque home by long distance telephone: "We had little or no comment to make.

"It is too soon to realize what will happen to our unit and the amalgamation is a few days," he said.

Col. Warwick added that the 3rd and 47th Batteries of Gananoque and Napanee are slated over the new set-up. "They are very happy about it" he said in reference to Gananoque since next year it marks the 100th anniversary as an artillery town."

SORRY TO SEE GO

Col. Roscoe Vandervater DSO, who commanded the Argyll Light Infantry Regiment following the militia reorganization after World War I said, "I knew it would be in the offing. I am a civilian and on the retired list. The government is wasting considerable money on the present set-up until the time they have compulsory military training as militia of the men in Canada only. I am opposed to conscription for compulsory service."

"I am truly sorry to see the old regiment go, Col. Vandervater said. "Its traditions will be buried but if in the opinion of the Defence Council the saving in modern tactical methods, there are more field regiments of artillery required, I am in accord with the move."

Other former commanding officers of the regiment could not be contacted for comment.

Major E. Fairman, second-in-command of the 9th Anti Tank said, "To a regiment which holds the Artillery Association Trophy for the best shooting artillery unit in Eastern Canada this report was a shocked one."

"The 9th Anti-Tank regiment trained for seven years over 800 officers and men served in World War Two and it has an enviable record which will be hard to beat," Major Fairman. With such a background I feel that the Anti-Tank personnel from Belleville district will continue in service and give Col. Widdifield, and his unit, their whole-hearted support."

Announcement of the reorganization was made to commanding officers of both regiments at Belleville headquarters on Thursday, by Brig. M. S. Dunn, commander, Eastern Ontario area.

The realignment also brings many administrative headaches to the new commanding officer and the new setup has only passed the announcement stage and numerous multiindustrial details to be worked out.

"I figure it is going to take until next year to get it all ironed out," Col. Widdifield said.

New Dining Hall at Camp Donated by Senator Fraser, Mayor McFarland of Picton

TRENTON (Special)—By the end of this summer 480 young people will have enjoyed the health and character building benefits of the Salvation Army Fresh Air Camp at Bayside Park in Prince Edward County south of here. The camp provides summer vacation for Brownies, Cubs, Guides, underprivileged children and Salvation Army musicians in the mid-Ontario division embracing 18 Salvation Army Corps in the area between Trenton Falls and Gananoque.

Last night Camp Roblin was officially opened for the season by Senator W. A. Fraser of Trenton who with Mayor H. J. McFarland of Picton donated the $2,000 capital obligation in connection with the addition of a new dining hall erected this year at the popular camping centre. The hall, built by contractor Willard Richardson of Picton, will seat upwards of 100 people.

That Camp Roblin's future is assured was expressed by Senator Fraser in his address preceding the official opening and inspection of the dining hall for public inspection. The Senator indicated that Mayor McFarland and he had stood solidly behind a program of adding new buildings to the camp year after year. He announced that the ceremony of officially opening new buildings would become a standard affair.

Brigadier A. Dixon of the Belleville Salvation Army Corps related that the day he went to make the requisitions of Senator Fraser for the new dining hall was decided upon before he left.

He said that the Senator was on the top of the list of the real friends of the Salvation Army.

SENATOR GRATEFUL

Senator Fraser said he was grateful to Mayor McFarland for sharing with him the financial responsibility of Camp Roblin. He asked the Salvation Army to join in the opening visitors to appreciate the beauties of Canada and to appreciate Roblin Camp. "The great privilege we have," he said, "is the Senator directing words at a group of Brownies present, is to do our best for these young people. Make them better citizens because they are the mothers of tomorrow's children."

Mayor H. J. McFarland said he was honored to take part in the official opening ceremony. "I will do everything I possibly can for this camp," he said. "We have been in great need and we see it continue on growing," he added. He asked that the Senator and he be rewarded by seeing the work of helping underprivileged children.

BIG ROUND OF APPLAUSE

The camp benefactors received a great round of applause from the impressive gathering of people who sat out on benches on the lawn facing the camp headquarters and the platform where the speakers were seated.

Then the crowd moved to the entrance to the new dining hall. They bowed their heads while Capt. George Rickard of Trenton, expressed the "Prayer of Dedication". Young Salvationist Robert Lessels, of Belleville led in their attention singing "Bless Thi House" from the doorway to the new building.

Then Senator Fraser spoke briefly and declared the building officially opening the spacious addition to the Roblin Lake campsite.

Visitors and honored guests were served a delightful lunch prepared by the hosts, using the new dining hall facilities.

The Belleville Salvation Army Citadel band under the leadership of deputy bandmaster Les Price rendered music for the evening program.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — Industrials strengthened in light forenoon trading today but the rest of the stock market drifted off.

First-hour exchange of more than 500,000 shares left the market's greatest strength in papers and banks. There were scattered increases in utilities, stocks, liquors, refining oils, motors and manufacturers.

The Bank of Montreal and Dominion Bank climbed minor fractions to 1954 highs. Minnesota and Ontario added 75 cents to lead paper gains.

Senior base metals were led down by a drop of a major fraction in Hudson Bay. Juniors were down generally.

Home Oil was one of the heavies first-hour losers in western oils. The group had almost twice as many losses as gains and most price changes were pennies.

Scattered gold trading left seniors steady but juniors and prospects weaker. Collet-Quebec drew less interest after feverish trading earlier in the week but still traded 62,000 shares in the first hour for a penny gain.

Holding companies were narrowly ahead but uraniums moved down, led by losses in East and Calg. and Edm., 11

Hasty Pees Hold First Regimental Sgts.' Mess Dinner

The Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment held its first regimental Sergeants' Mess dinner since the war at Picton Armouries recently.

Attending were 140 NCO's warrant officers and officers from the regiment's five companies stationed at Bancroft, Trenton, Madoc, Picton and Belleville.

Lt.-Col. Widdifield, commanding officer, in congratulating the organizers for the reinstatement of the regimental dinner said: "We see each other seldom, our regiment spread geographically as it is."

The regimental battle flag and the "Big Chief," Indian mascot stood near the head table. Guests at the head table were: Lt.-Col. R. H. Widdifield and Mrs. Widdifield; Hon. Capt. A. S. McConnell and Mrs. McConnell, RSM Stan Dobson and Mrs. Dobson, RQMS H. E. Little and Mrs. Little, RSM S. Harwood and Mrs. Harwood, RSM B. Dobson and Mrs. Dobson, and CSMS S. Bowes and Mrs. Bowes.

The assembly stood in reverence when RSM Down called for one minute's silence for the White Battalion. Hon. Capt. McConnell, padre, said "it is fitting that we remember the chaps who did not come back. May we always remember them."

RSM Harwood brought greetings from the Midland Regiment while compliments were also extended from the Prince of Wales Regiment by RSM Dobson and the RCDA (AA) by CSM Bowers.

Following the dinner a troupe of Mart Kenney entertained for the guests. The evening concluded with dancing to Ab Hounes and his orchestra.

Peterborough Man Drowns in Otonabee

PETERBOROUGH (CP)—Harry Primeau, 35, of Peterborough was drowned in the Otonabee river, inside the northerly limits of the city, Thursday night. It is believed he slipped down the steep river bank and fell into the water.

Two men heard his shouts for help—one of them a neighbor, Joseph Belcher, 70, and Jack Penfound, 22, of Oshawa. Penfound was passing the scene in his car when he heard the shout.

Penfound vaulted over an iron rail and slid down the bank but he said he could not locate Primeau because of the darkness.

The body was recovered by firemen early today.

Can Buy Sugar With Sterling

By SYDNEY GAMBELL

LONDON (Reuters)—The pound sterling became the latest of the longest strides towards convertibility when it became fully convertible in terms of raw sugar.

Any non-dollar, non-sterling country can now buy dollar sugar through London for payment in sterling or in any local currency acceptable to the Bank of England.

This means, for example, that Germany or any other country can buy sugar from Cuba, the Dominican Republic, Haiti, the Philippines, Puerto Rico, or even from the United States itself, for sterling in London instead of for dollars.

Britain's major steps towards convertibility in recent years have taken the same form of reopening and widening the British commodity markets. Thursday's move is exceptionally important because sugar is a dollar commodity.

Foreigners can already freely buy base metals, rubber, tin, tea and several other commodities for sterling in London. With a minor exception for coconut oil from Malaya, this gives them little convertibility of sterling, because there is no dollar rubber or dollar tea. But there are hundreds of thousands of tons of sugar available, and they now can buy every ounce of it for sterling—if they have the sterling.

Victory in Sight In Fight Against Brandon Flood

BRANDON, Man. (CP)—The Assiniboine river reached its peak here Thursday night at 22 feet two inches and victory was in sight for the men holding the last remaining emergency dikes

No rise in the level was reported during the 12-hour period ending at midnight. Officials predicted the river would flow at the same level for the next four or five days unless further heavy rain altered the picture.

The round-the-clock hauling of dirt to heighten the dikes ended Thursday afternoon when officials considered them high and strong enough to hold back the river at its present level.

About 26 families evacuated the flood area, while another 25 in the district stuck it out despite the flood.

NEW CHAIRMAN NAMED

LONDON (Reuters)—James S. Duncan of Toronto, president of the Canadian investment firm of Massey-Harris-Ferguson, will become the company's chairman as well following the resignation of Harry Ferguson, it was announced Thursday.

Ferguson, founder of the British concern which last year merged with the Canadian company, announced Wednesday he was leaving to "develop a number of inventions." It is understood he will produce a new "people's car" aimed at bringing about a "transport revolution."

British Papers Fire New Volley At Eisenhower

LONDON (Reuters) — British newspapers fired a new volley of criticism today at President Eisenhower's refusal to consider Chinese Communist membership at present in the United Nations.

The criticism was echoed by continental newspapers in France and the Netherlands.

The mass-circulation Daily Mirror led the outcry, calling on Prime Minister Churchill to talk Eisenhower out of his stand. It noted that both India and New Zealand have called for Chinese Communist admission and said their line "must be repeated by Britain."

PEACE NOT SERVED

"Peace will not be served by indefinitely shunning the rulers of Red China and indefinitely excluding them from the world councils at the United Nations," the Mirror said.

The Daily Mail criticized Eisenhower's statement as "so adamant, so final, so sterile." It said the U. S. attitude "discourages approaches between the two worlds and leaves little room for the normal processes of conciliation."

The same view was taken by the Daily Herald, which said Britain must maintain a policy of trying to live peaceably with communism even if the United States remains "frozen in hostility."

Only the Daily Telegraph played down the split with a statement that "there is no fundamental reason why the world have been dictated to a major issue between friends."

INFANTILE RACE

In France, the independent newspaper Paris-Normandie of Rouen said there is "something infantile in the rage of American public opinion at the idea Communist China might be admitted to the United Nations." It said such a policy would bind China even closer to Russia and rule out "all chance of making use of eventual rivalries in the heart of the Soviet world."

In the Netherlands, the Nieuwe Rotterdamse Courant, a Liberal newspaper, sympathized with United States opposition but said Communist Chinese UN membership "could be acceptable" if the free world kept up its strength.

The Roman Catholic newspaper De Maasbode boiled the question down to either admitting Communist China or ruling out all Communist states and thus breaking up the United Nations.

500 to Be Laid Off

TORONTO (CP)—At least 500 workers will be laid off from the plant of Massey-Harris-Ferguson Ltd., here at the end of next week, Philip Kearns, president of the Massey-Harris local of the United Auto Workers (CIO-CCL), said Thursday.

He said the union expects more than 1,000 workers to be laid off by the end of July.

A company spokesman confirmed that the union has been notified that 500 workers will receive indefinite layoffs July 16. No decision has been made on further layoffs, he said.

AN UNWISE SUGGESTION

The name United Nations is a misnomer.

"Council of Nations" would be more appropriate.

When the UN was organized, it was conceived as being composed of nations sharing a common purpose, the preservation of peace, prosperity and political freedom. In view of that fact the name United Nations was a natural choice.

But it has long since become evident that the member nations are not now united even in appearance, and never were in fact.

The name should be changed.

What's in a name? Well, misnomers can lead to misconceptions. If you are a member of a united group, then it is permissible, and perhaps even obligatory, to withdraw if the other members of the group invite into the family a new member with whom you have no desire to be united.

Thus, if the United Nations were really united, Senator William Knowland would be on firm grounds in suggesting that the U.S. should withdraw from the UN if Red China is admitted to membership.

But, because the UN is not a union of nations, but merely a meeting place for representatives of countries with vastly differing views and objectives, for the U.S. to withdraw because Red China was admitted would be a major tragedy.

Such withdrawal either leave a weakened democratic bloc facing a strengthened Communist group or, as an alternative, would result in the withdrawal of other democratic nations, knocking the UN into fragments. And, poor shield though it be, it is one of the very few that we have between us and atomic warfare.

CROWDED ROADS CURB RECKLESSNESS

The heavier the traffic the fewer the number of accidents is not an axiom that is likely to be believed without explanation. But it is a true statement, nevertheless, with respect to the number of automobile accidents in this area during the past week-end.

City and Provincial police detachments here reported one of the quietest week-ends in memory over the 1st of July. Traffic was at a near record peak.

One explanation advanced by police for the seeming discrepancy between the volume of traffic and the number of accidents is that with more cars on the road, drivers were forced to go slower and to be more cautious.

If there is any truth in this premise the way to save lives on our highways is to make them congested and to lower the speed limit. It has been proven that on superhighways, where there are few natural hazards to contend with and no oncoming or cross traffic, the number of fatal accidents per million miles is greater than on less perfect mechanical speedways.

That the public demands better and better roads and greater speed is a contradiction of congestion, would seem to suggest that the average motorist is prepared to face the possibility of death for the sake of convenience. Highway safety engineers must face the unpleasant task prospect of having their every refinement hastening more people to their deaths.

WINDOW-WASHING COSTS

Get out your pencils!

Here we go into a maze of statistics again, but do not flinch from the test, stout hearts, for if we pick our way carefully we may emerge facing the dawn of a brighter day.

The Federal Department of Public Works has just let a contract and released information which might free us of us mere males from the window-washing chores which face us every spring and fall.

Elgin Window Cleaners of Ottawa will wash the windows and windows of various public buildings in the nation's capital. For this the government will pay $105,000.

That is a lot of money. But there are, alas, a lot of windows, 255,000 in fact. The government has been somewhat frugal in equipping these windows with storm sash, for the number of storm windows is only 55,000. Nevertheless, that boosts the total number of windows to be washed to 310,000. Each window receives two washings a year; total washings are therefore 620,000. Dividing this number into $105,000 we find each washing costs the government just under 17 cents.

Seventeen cents? Sounds low. But even at that rate, our annual window-washing chores would run us $103.60. We would rush right home and collect that money out of the household budget—if we had our spring window-washing chores finished.

THE ULTIMATE REWARD

If you can stay at home and be content
And give your best to those who love you most;
If you'll enjoy an evening calmly spent;
To friendly callers be a gracious host;
If peace is yours when you have closed the door,
You will have earned what all are working for.

Men face their tasks for profit or for hire,
Yet gain and wage translated If you have these have to be
In all their loved ones need or may desire;

In gracious living from all bickering free.
No life by dollars can be fully scored;
The home remains its ultimate reward. . .

All fathers work for play suits or for frocks,
Birthday and Christmas gifts and sweets;
For garden roses and the flowering phlox,
For bread and cake and all the various meats.
You have at home what all are working for.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

RELAXATION WITHOUT THOUGHT

One of the most important of all physical arts is that of relaxation, but to gain its full benefit it must be done right. Otherwise there will be tension, which defeats the whole purpose of rest.

People have told me that they "try so hard" to relax but can't quite get it done. Such a phrase, though you were putting all the muscles of the body to sleep, like you would a baby. A baby gets its sleep and rest because it doesn't think of anything!

Note the animal when it wants to rest. It goes deliberately about it, relaxes—and rests. Learn something from your dog, as he curls up and takes his nap. Nature doesn't fool around with false movements. The birds and animals in nature go to their rest—without thought. Then they are ready for all the activities of the day.

Worries and anxieties are the worst of all bad companions. Have nothing to do with them! Be the master of your decisions. You will be adding years to your health and happiness. Your friends will wonder where you get all that energy and cheerfulness.

No sleeping pills or medicines have any place in the human body that has learned to relax in the natural way. And it is so easy if a little will power is thrown in—and the consequences are so pleasant and surprising. I have written before about a remarkable book on this subject—Relax and Live—by Joseph A. Kennedy, and published by Prentice Hall, New York. Its price is gold itself.

Life is too short, at its best, to waste any of it in fear. Have faith for one's health and happiness. You will note that people with plenty of energy are not those who clutter up their lives with useless movements and worries over most things that never happen anyway. Our Creator meant that we should live happily and in tune with this body of ours with respect and consideration. I like that Chinese line: "Enjoy yourself. It is later than you think."

Friendly Torpedo?

(Trucks Magazine)

A well dressed very excited old lady gazed in rapt attention at the young sailor just returned from sea. She was taking in every detail of his adventures.

"Then you 'were", he said, "a mile off the Korean coast when a periscope rose from the water just in front of our ship."

"My heavens!" exclaimed the lady.

The sailor continued: "Before we could do anything the biggest torpedo I ever saw came right through the water aimed directly at us."

"Goodness gracious!" cried the old woman, "I do hope it was one of ours!".

Real Test Of Spelling

(Atlanta Constitution)

Speaking of spelling, you are good if you can do this one without a bobble: "Beside a cemetery near the seminary sat a embarrassed peddler and a bashful cobbler, gnawing on a desiccated potato and gazing at the symmetry of a lady's ankle with unparalleled ecstasy."

When a college professor dictated that to 208 students, not a one scored perfect. The average was five errors.

Naming Baby Hippo

(Ottawa Journal)

Many a man has lived to a ripe old age without ever having had to face the question of naming a baby hippopotamus. He will have found it has other things that their names somehow turned out to be exactly the names the women-folks of the family desired. He will have been permitted to choose between Rex and Rover for his dog. He may have been consulted when, there was some question whether a baby girl baby should be called Henry or Henrietta, or perhaps Robert or Roberta. But circumstances never backed him into a corner and said to him "What shall we call the baby hippo?"

Those who write letters to the London Times rarely had to deal with this improbable problem—the subject of hippo born at the Whipsnade Zoo—and we have a feeling that they did not acquit themselves with too much credit. There was some thought first of naming the new arrival "Regina," but it turned out to be not that sort of a hippo. Then "Reggie" was offered—and withdrawn when brought the stern comment from another correspondent (who probably considered that this Reggie was better suited for "a terrier or cheeky pekinese") that this was this "lord of the river." Somebody called attention, with appreciation, to the fact that the wild lives of Uganda who are said to call a young ordinary hippo Moppet, which can be shortened to June or Nipper when its sex is known. Zoological Jumbo is the fortunate beast called Hippo, as a combination of Whipsnade and Hippo.

Nobody proposed that the baby hippo-form should be called Jack-Jumbo (after a famous elephant who fell from the rear axle-tree in Canada). Little ingenuity was shown by the letter-writers, this side of the Atlantic at the zoo. They made what we cannot help thinking was a sort of dull and compromise. They decided the baby should be called Reginald—after the Prince of Wales! That is the official form as it will appear on the ration books. It must have been a last straight that in the full-dress name there is only room for a single title. Suffice even a two-ton river horse, and if the public abbreviate his name to just Reg, the public will, the zoo conscience can be clear. It's Reginald in the records.

And so a baby hippo comes into official life. Reginald Untroubled Hippopotamus of Whipsnade, London. May he live long and prosper.

Lightning Statistics

(Milwaukee Journal)

According to life insurance company figures, about 300 Americans are killed by lightning each year, an average of 100 less injured, usually not severely. More than 60 percent of the deaths occur between June and July, and three-fourths of the fatalities are males. Most of that occur are outdoors more.

Probably the most impressive statistic is the number of lightning flashes over the world each day. The estimate is 8,000,000, 000, or 100 every second.

Central Florida has the highest incidence of lightning in the country, but the world champions are the Congo region of Africa, South America, the Caribbean islands, the northern section of Indonesia.

Although anyone's chances of being hit by lightning are unfortunately small, there are several factors which should be known. Automobilers are safer from lightning than their country cousins. Motorists are protected by enfolding your house is about a million to one—and there's nothing to be in a steel frame apartment house.

Closing the windows offers no more protection against lightning, and using electrical appliances during a thunderstorm is not dangerous. Shutting off the lights, radio or television sets makes no difference, either. The centre of the room, away from such appliances, is considered more safe, however, and the lower floor is safer than upstairs.

About one - fourth of the deaths caused by lightning each year are persons who took shelter under a tree.

When lightning hits the earth, the flash you see is travelling up, not down. The downward stroke is invisible to the naked eye until the earth's electrical charge leaps up to meet it, causing the brilliant flash. The column of air through it looks like a solid flash. There may be as many as 50 separate discharges travelling the same path—too fast for the human eye to discern.

Real Optimism

St. Catharines Standard)

Telling hair-raising tales of lightning struck is the work of a ballyhoo man is the work of a true optimist.

Could Pep Up Bear Market

(Hamilton Spectator)

We have been musing over the problem of Mr. Kelly Chemandy of Ramore, Ont., and we are now ready to offer him a few tentative suggestions.

Mr. Chemandy is in the wholesale beer business and it appears that over-supply has knocked the bottom out of his market. This is a situation in which he is by no means alone in this year of grace, but Mr. Chemandy believes he can extricate himself from it by what is known (if we remember rightly) as creative merchandising.

The chief trouble, it seems, is that so many gas stations and roadside stands have acquired beers by now that the critters are getting to be an attraction. This state of affairs, we feel, can be remedied fairly easily. It is simply a question of making the presently displayed beers obsolete.

First off, we would suggest to Mr. Chemandy that a little judicious advertising should put the idea that there is nothing quite so degrading socially, nothing so sure to set the children screaming at his baby playmates, as the possession of the common beer. The right people—the ones who spend their time on the evening cocktail circuit—are leaning against new refrigerators or in swim-suits proudly leaning on their new automobiles and are positively insist on trading in their beer for martinis.

To make them insist, it will only be necessary to change the trim of the lamp posts on Yonge street to Tudor, and the bar of every fashionable beat called Whipsnade and Hippo.

Nobody proposed that the baby hippopotamus should be called Jack-Jumbo (after a famous elephant who fell from the rear axle-tree in Canada). Little ingenuity was shown by the letter-writers, this side of the Atlantic at the zoo. They made what we cannot help thinking was a sort of dull and compromise. They decided the baby should be called Reginald—after the Prince of Wales! That is the official form as it will appear on the ration books. It must have been a last straight that in the full-dress name there is only room for a single title. Suffice even a two-ton river horse, and if the public abbreviate his name to just Reg, the public will, the zoo conscience can be clear. It's Reginald in the records.

And so a baby hippo comes into official life. Reginald Untroubled Hippopotamus of Whipsnade, London. May he live long and prosper.

Might As Well Stay Friends

(Edmonton Journal)

A recent outburst in the House of Commons involving Tobacco Minister Sinclair and Davie Fulton, Conservative, for 'Kamloops, reflects the woeful state into which humor, sarcasm and invective have fallen in today's parliament. The Canadian Press dispatch described it as a "rousing battle of verbal barbs", but this is excessively charitable.

Here are some of the gems of repartee:

Sinclair: "Your talking would put anybody to sleep . . ."

I would say that the members for Kamloops would put everybody in this house go to sleep because he loves to hear himself talk."

Mr. Fulton: "Of course, Mr. Chairman, the voice of anyone but the minister of fisheries would make the noises that he does."

Mr. Fulton after an intervention by the deputy speaker: "The minister of fisheries is apparently going to be prime minister rather in advance . . ."

Mr. Sinclair: "How silly can you get?"

"If this is the best the honorable members here can do, they might as well stay friends.

Yaks and Yokes

Ottawa is going to investigate whether cockerels of large size ducks can be domesticated. This would be amusing, except that ordinary yaks don't care for yokes, and ducks don't either.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

HOW TO KEEP COOL AND SELF-POSSESSED

One of the physiological functions of calcium, I quote from Samson Wright's Applied Physiology, is to "Regulates excitability of nerve fibres and nerve centres."

When a discussion "Resolved is a question or argument and the argument turns into a quarrel one of the participants may keep cool and self-possessed while the other raises his voice and uses intemperate language. The latter is generally considered uncultured, ill-bred. But that isn't all. A person's nutritional condition has a good deal to do with his or her calmness or excitability under everyday circumstances.

I know of no nutrition authority who rejects the teaching of Sherman (Chemistry of Food and Nutrition), that the majority of Americans is probably more often deficient in calcium than in any other chemical element. Infant food sources of calcium are milk, cheese, egg yolks, peas, beans, greens, nuts and peanuts.

Today it is difficult for a grown child or youth to get enough calcium unless he or she consumes 1½ pints of ordinary diet of milk daily. A sedentary adult can perhaps get along on only a pint (two glasses) of milk.

Millions of growing children and youths and mature adults in Yankeeland try to get along with such lame milk (or equivalents such as cheese, buttermilk, skim milk, evaporated milk.) They do not get along very well. They just drag along. And they are quite likely to resort to stimulants for their poor starved "nerves", such as tea, coffee, cocoa, chocolate, pop and other sweetened, flavored, colored, carbonated beverages. In their late teens many begin to take acetanilid to keep the victims unconscious of their malnutrition, and still later they prefer such dope as the barbiturates and alcohol.

Indeed it is increasingly evident, though doctors and people would rather not acknowledge it, that indulgence in these poor substitutes for good nutrition is a symptom and an index of the national malnutrition.

A periodic drinker, or maybe a steady drinker who went on bouts which sometimes ended in jail or in the hospital, tried to account for his' weakness thus: "At times I drank to excess because I felt the need of a stimulant or rather I just wanted to feel better." Of course he was rationalizing—he was wrong—alcohol is in no sense a stimulant, but only a narcotic, and he didn't feel the need of a stimulant, he just wanted something that would relieve the tension of his jitters, and the ever ready narcotic, alcohol does that, as every drinker knows.

The report of the extraordinary cure or improvement of all ailments that stand in the medical records reminds me of (1) human nature, (3) J. J. Coincidence and (3) well, nature.

But not when someone tells me that drinking alcohol relieved his distressing his or her headaches or "nervous" headache, neuralgic headache or periodic sick headache (migraine)—since the poor soul cannot bear to correct calcium deficiency.

DO YOU FAVOR REVOLUTION-

P.T. Barnum used to say that people like to be fooled. There is a great deal to this. Particularly when we see how easily we were fooled in the past, and how we are again we can trust our own judgment.

One of the most deceiving things in all the world is the impudent lies voiced by men ahead of our generation. On the basis of eternal spiritual principles, it proposes to lead the world astray. In the short space of 2000 years, it has changed the number of things, and the only hope we have for a better world future is that it will get a chance to lead astray a few more years.

Christians—when they really are Christians—have the world upside down.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

While the birds of England and Europe are well aware of the disreputable character of the cuckoo and mob the hen cuckoo whenever it shows its self during the nesting season, the American birds do not seem to have yet waked up to the character of our cuckoo, at least as far as is known, no cowbird ever built a nest. They must have been cheats from the start of memorial. They flourish everywhere in the continent, but they must be highly successful in the job of finding foster homes for their eggs. Yet they are to be seen in the best bird society, accepted in every good home that various blackbirds will have a few cowbirds in their midst, wearing all the airs of respectability. Indeed, the cowbird struts a little, as though he knew he was the best bird in the whole world among the birds, and he is the best bird.

But when we find a young cowbird in a song sparrow's nest, among all over the rightful nestlings and often smothering them, the foster parents still protest as if they were molest the changeling as if it were their own.

Express Says Cabinet Split Over Red China

LONDON (Reuters) — Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express says today the cabinet is split over the question of whether Communist China should be admitted to the United Nations.

The newspaper, a supporter of the Conservative government, says Foreign Secretary Eden heads a section of the cabinet which believes Red China cannot be kept out of the UN much longer — especially if she makes and keeps an agreement to end the Indo-China war."

It says an opposing cabinet group led by the Marquis of Salisbury believes British should stand firm with the United States against Peiping's admission to the UN.

British recognition of the Peiping regime in January, 1950, but since the entry of Chinese Communists into the Korean war Britain has avoided active support for Peiping's bid.

The Daily Express says Eden's followers within the cabinet now seem prepared "to risk a showdown with the United States on the issue, if they believe that by doing so it gives a strong lead, the U.S. government and public will accept."

It added that the whole problem has been given a new urgency by the end of at least three British ministers to return to the Geneva conference on the Indo-China war.

Owen Lattimore Relieved of Two Perjury Charges

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Court of Appeals Thurs., upheld the dismissal of two perjury charges against Owen Lattimore, but reversed the key count, but ordered two other counts included.

The Court of Appeals agreed by an 8-to-1 vote that the key count, charging Lattimore perjury when he said he was not a Communist sympathizer or supporter of Communist causes, was invalid.

The appeals court upheld, again by an 8-to-1 vote, dismissal of a charge that Lattimore committed perjury when he told the Senate internal security sub-committee that it was not necessary for him to take the permission of Communist authorities for a visit to Yenan, then the Communist stronghold in China.

Lattimore, a part - time state department consultant, has been on leave of absence as a lecturer at Baltimore's Johns Hopkins University since his indictment Dec. 16, 1952.

The indictment was returned roughly a year after Lattimore spent 13 months days on the witness stand during a Senate subcommittee investigation of the Institute of Pacific Relations from which Lattimore long was prominently connected.

Resort Towns Suffer From Bad Weather

LONDON (Reuters) — The weather was so miserable in many parts of Europe Wednesday that it set shivering natives to thinking of an early winter.

Resort towns in all areas blighted by unseasonal cold and rain were swamped by cancellations of vacationers.

In London, the worst July since 1940 warmed up slightly and the sun even broke through the overcast for a few hours. But heavy showers prevented Britons in most parts of the country from enjoying themselves.

In Paris, where they're having the chilliest summer in 81 years, meteorologists predicted the "arctic summer" will likely continue for the rest of the month.

Moscow Vienna, Copenhagen, Stockholm, and Rome were having one with hot sun and blue skies.

At The Hague, Tuesday's temperature of 51 degrees was normal for early October.

Minor Softball

In a pee wee game played at the fireball last night, Honee Orange defeated Bailey Cleaners 21-5.

For the winners, Rushlow did the pitching with Butcher catching. Rushlow gave up eight hits, struck out five and walked seven. Reid and Bridger batted the losers battery with Reid giving up 12 hits while fanning one and Isaing walks to 12.

The hitters for Honee Orange were Brennan with a triple and two singles while Jerry Butcher clouted a double and a brace of singles. Rushlow had a double and single while home runs went to Orme and Brennan. T. Keller had a homer and double in a losing cause with Reid having 2 singles.

Cottage Owners in Haliburton District Terrorized by Bears

MINDEN, Ont. (CP) — Bears who has lived in the district more more numerous than at any other time within memory are terrorizing cottage owners in the Haliburton district.

Walter Nesbitt, Toronto summer resident, said he killed a 250-pounder just 20 yards behind his cottage at Halls Lake where other vacationers waited anxiously on the road in front of the cottage.

Nesbitt looked up for the bear after Mrs. Helen McCombe of Gravenhurst, Ont., and her daughter, Helen, ran screaming down a path beside the Nesbitt cottage after reaching the cottage.

He sighted the bear and shot at it. His first bullet struck the bear, which roared with pain.

Cottagers, hearing the roars, broke and ran, falling over each other in their flight.

Nesbitt stood his ground and killed the bear with his second shot. He fired two more shots after reaching the animal to make sure.

A few days ago Fred Walsh, 70, Lindsay, bear since another Hall Lake cottager.

Walsh said today tracks indicate at least three more bears are in the immediate area. He added that he thinks the bears are harmless but says they will attack if humans unless molested.

He said bears were scarce in the area until three years ago.

Forestry officials say bears are more numerous every year in Algonquin Park, north of Haliburton and in bushland near it extending into Haliburton. Rangers have killed about 20 of the park's famous "begging" bruins since early summer because the bears were considered to have become nuisances by breaking into and wrecking scores of summer cottages last fall.

Several bears have been reported in the Bancroft area and in Nelson Falls and the outskirts of

Judicial Report on Vice Probe In Montreal May Come Soon

By JOE MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — A judicial report on charges of vice and corruption in gay Montreal may be issued soon — possibly this month.

Charges of widespread corruption in high and low places under judicial scrutiny in a 31-month inquiry that ended April 30, 1953. Chief Justice Francois Caron of Quebec Superior Court who conducted the $500,000 investigation has been scaling a mountain of evidence in addition to personal interviews with scores of witnesses.

His judgment—and he has unusual latitude in the task—could have repercussions in administrative and police circles.

Feelings ran high at times and the inquiry was the first ever held in Montreal, one of the continent's most colorful and cosmopolitan cities with a population of 1,500,000, was being besmirched.

Despite the sensational nature of the evidence — that disorderly houses operated with impunity for years, that hearings did not reach the "circus" proportions of somewhat similar inquiries in the United States. There was no television.

The petition for the inquiry—for 12-person, 5,000-page document—charged that between Jan. 1, 1941, and May 15, 1950, city administrators and members of the police department were guilty of corruption. The inquiry was based on Chapter 214 of the Revised Statutes of Quebec, 1925.

The petition contained 10,000 accusations. Some of the charges were bold and 400 witnesses testified. There were more than 5,000 pages of testimony, in addition to some 2,000 exhibits, excluding matter from the recorder's court. These exhibits include 127 volumes, ranging in size from 50 to 150 pages.

JUDGE'S AUTHORITY

After borrowing through this mass of evidence, Mr. Justice Caron has the authority to:

1. Dismiss from office any or all the accused.

2. Recommend for life any of the accused from holding or seeking public office.

3. Assess costs of the inquiry against the accused, in any proportion he sees fit.

Accusations against the city officials and police included:

1. That more than 400 disorderly houses and gambling establishments operated from 1941 to 1950, to the knowledge of the city executive committee. Montreal's top administrative body which is responsible for the police department.

2. The real keepers of such establishments were rarely arrested and keepers were warned in advance of police raids.

3. Raided premises made false declarations in court by inserting false city numbers in warrants in front of the accused.

4. Padlocks were not placed according to law after a conviction, a special by-law provides that after two convictions, premises be padlocked).

5. The criminal record of keepers was destroyed or produced in court. This may have resulted in judges not sentencing keepers to the terms after two convictions, as provided by law.

6. Destruction of the buildings sheltering skuddiggery were never prosecuted as provided by law.

PROVISION FOR APPEAL

Appeal may be made against Mr. Justice Caron's judgment by any of the accused on deposit of $1,000.

J. O. Asselin, chairman of the city executive committee, is one of the administrators named in the petition. Mr. Asselin suffered a heart attack shortly before he was to testify and doctors limited his court appearances daily to 2 hours.

Almost all high-ranking police officers were named, including director J. Albert Langlois and former director Fernand Dufresne. In all, 62 persons were named in the petition. Most of the charges have been denied.

Mr. Justice Caron has the task of determining the degree of guilt or innocence of the accused, as well as deciding on points of law raised by the defence during the hearings.

He will be handing some 100 judgments when his judgment is rendered, it was learned today.

The late associated chief justice O. S. Tyndale granted the petition for the inquiry on May 8, 1948, and appointed Mr. Justice Caron, who resigned the city in an inquiry into vice conditions in Hull, Que., in 1946.

FREQUENT INTERRUPTIONS

Montreal's inquiry was interrupted three times by court proceedings. Twice writs of prohibition were taken and another questioning the authority of Mr. Justice Caron. Both appeals, the courts ruled in favor of continuing the inquiry each time.

Mr. Justice Caron named Pacifique Plante, former assistant director of the Montreal police department, and Jean Drapeau, Montreal mayor, to the inquiry.

Mr. Plante's dismissal from the police department May 8, 1948, was the action responsible for the inquiry. He was in charge of the immorality squad, the recorder's court and the city permit bureau. He was dismissed for insubordination.

FILED REPORT

He then filed a 500-page report on vice conditions to the city executive committee. He left Montreal, but was returned to office by a group of citizens.

Mr. Plante wrote articles for La Devoir, French-language daily, and the series subsequently was extended to 40 articles. Later these were published in book form. Some 15,000 copies of the book were sold in one week, but Mr. Plante refused to allow the printing of additional copies.

A member of the executive committee demanded that the book's allegations be investigated, and resigned when no answer was forthcoming. The city executive committee previously chartered group, formed a sub-committee, which petitioned for the probe.

BROKE NEW GROUND

The signatures of 50 taxpayers, and $1,000 deposit in cash and a $5,000 property bond were all that was required. Legal sources say the hearings differed from earlier probes in the U.S. and Canada in that they investigated charges against particular individuals.

The Kefauver Senate investigations into crime, for example, spotlighted vice in cities in the U.S., but the commission had no authority to punish those it believed responsible.

Testifying in Montreal were: Hundreds of former keepers and employees of disorderly houses; some former employees of gambling places; seven attorneys, 18 city councillors, city officials; newspaper men and 81 police officers.

Newspaper men testified regarding stories and surveys they wrote on vice conditions in Montreal during the 10-year period under review.

Mr. Justice Caron is not authorized to cancel pensions of police officers and civic employees who have been retired. He may, however, levy a portion of the inquiry's costs against them.

One objection he will have to rule on was raised by defence lawyers in their final pleas. They submitted the judge could not find guilt on any of the accusations in Chapter 214 since it is claimed this law concerned itself with offences committed. There was no charge of payoffs in the petition.

Steelworkers' Union Given Strike Power

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) Members of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) have given their executive the go-ahead to strike, if necessary, to back up wage demands at the Algoma Steel Corporation plant here.

Nearly 2,500 of 5,000 men at the plant voted overwhelmingly Thursday night to give the union's negotiating committee the right to call a strike.

The vote, union officials said, was the first step for conciliation. A strike cannot legally be called until after a conciliation board judges the case.

JOINS MOVE

The Algoma workers thus joined in the move made by 7,000 steelworkers at the Steel Company of Canada in Hamilton. The Hamilton workers last Wednesday gave their executive the power to call a strike. That dispute also is in conciliation.

Actually the wage demands are being made in Canada's big three steel companies. Besides Algoma and Steel Company of Canada, Dominion Company in Sydney, N.S., is being asked for a new contract.

Claude Jodoin, secretary, Charles Millard, national director of the union, said:

"I feel that the action taken gives the executive a mandate to go as far as possible in closing the gap between steel rates in Canada and those in the United States."

The three companies say they will not pass on to 15,000 Canadian workers the wage rises in the United States by the USWA. U.S. steelworkers got $1.57 an hour; Canadian $1.43½.

BOGGED AT SYDNEY

There has been one strike vote at Sydney. However, negotiations have bogged down there, too.

Union demands are about the same at all three plants. It asks an increase of 15 cents an hour, plus a package increase of 12½ cents, combining a pay raise and fringe benefit improvements.

It had a fitted bodice with a Peter Pan collar studded in seed pearls. Her fingertip illusion veil fell from a cap embroidered with rhinestones and she carried rosebuds on a white, (nylon lace covered) Bible.

A three-tiered wedding cake centred the candle-lighted table for the bridal party. Mr. Robinson gave the invocation and proposed the first toast to the bride, followed by a round of toasts.

Those who served were, Miss Barbara Marcille; Miss Carole Sallans, Mrs. Fred Wannamaker, Miss Lorraine Peck, Mrs. Cecil Hutton, Miss Blanche LeHeup, Miss Joan Rossborough and Miss Nancy Goraline.

Status of Women In 5 Countries To Be Studied

TORONTO (CP)—A project to study the status of women in five Near and Middle East countries will be started immediately by the International Federation of Business and Professional Women membership chairman Margaret Hyndman of Toronto announced Monday.

The 18-month study, financed by a $47,500 Ford Foundation grant, will be made in Egypt, Iraq, Jordan, Lebanon and Syria.

The idea was first proposed in 1952 by international president Dame Caroline Haslett of England during a federation board meeting in New York. She said it was necessary because of information from the United Nations on cruel customs and traditions practised on women in some eastern countries. The study will also pave the way for organization of business and professional women's clubs in the East.

Dr. Ruth Woodsmall of the United States will direct the project. She travelled extensively in eastern Mediterranean countries as general secretary of the world YWCA from 1934 to 1948 and has first-hand knowledge of the role of women there.

Television. I had always thought, was a medium of entertainment first in England and then brought to its present peak by the U.S.

It's more of a world-size stage than I had imagined. And there are some surprising figures I saw recently.

Outside of the U.S. and Canada, the free world has nearly 3,000,000 TV sets in use in 33 countries.

The city with the largest number of stations, outside the U.S., is Havana with three. Five towns are in other parts of Cuba — they're really "fringe" sited. There is another city of only 130,000 sets.

Russia has made TV one of its goals in its "give more to the little people" campaign. There are 4 stations in Moscow and about 250,000 sets in use. They hope to have a total of nearly 3,000,000 TV sets.

Some other free Curtain countries have TV. It's some of them only in the experimental basis. Poland, Czechoslovakia and East Germany each have a station apiece.

Yes, TV is growing all over the world. Just as it is here. Not the least part of this growth has been in the design of sets to bring clearer, sharper pictures from further away and housed in cabinets to suit any room.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

SHE'S WISE TO "LOOK BEFORE SHE LEAPS"

The burnt child dreads the fire" is a proverb that speaks for itself. It's one that ought to have a companion piece, however, that would read something like this:

"The fire never loses its fascination, even for the child who gets burned by it."

For marriage, indeed, is a fire as fascinating as it is full of danger; a fire, like any other, which can either warm and comfort those who come near it, or spit out sparks that burst into a disastrous conflagration.

There are a few men and women who require to stay away from the fire forever after one searing experience, and stick by that resolve. But the vast majority, "burnt" though they may be, sometime to hover around the flame of marriage like a moth around a flame until they're fatally caught up in it again.

Only the reckless, however, rush headlong into a second marriage after they have freed themselves from a first. Most divorced persons hesitate a long while before they're ready to take on another.

A young woman of 29, who has been divorced for three years, is one of the latter, who is trying to look very carefully before she leaps into a second marriage that she is considering. And she is very wise to do so, for there are at least two factors in the situation, either of which might threaten the success of the marriage.

The first is that the young man in the case is five years younger than she is, which means that he is only 24 years old. The second is that they are of different faiths, and his family seriously opposes the marriage on that account.

Now let me say first that, even though there were no family opposition, it would seem to me that a young man of 24 who has never been married before is a very doubtful mate for a woman of 29 who has been married and divorced. A marriage between experience and inexperience has its pitfalls under the best of circumstances. Where the woman is older not only in years, but in sophistication, it presents a dual hazard.

Moreover, and again even without family opposition, the average marriage between people of different faiths is a hazardous thing unless (1) neither is deeply religious and so the difference just doesn't mean anything or (2) the two are so devoted, so tolerant by nature, and so intelligent in their approach to any problem, that they can successfully work out any complications that might arise.

It may be that this young man is so unsimply mature that neither the five years difference in their ages nor the difference in their faiths would be likely to disturb him, and she, on her side, may be so mature that she can adjust herself on both these points. Moreover, if she is diplomatic and patient, she might in time be able to win over his family.

But I cannot urge her too strongly to make certain that she and the young man fully understand each other, and mutually agree on how any necessary adjustments will be made, before deciding to be married.

QUESTION:

My problem is a recipe for bran muffins — large one that can be mid with coffee and tea . . . my bran muffins are always light and quite eatable but never seem to rise as high as the ones I like, besides my recipes are small. I have your recipes for pumpkin pies and the butter tarts and syrup ones. . . am trying the maple syrup and orange bread this morning as I have nice boarders besides the four of us.

I had better get at it too.—Mrs. G. M.

ANSWER:

I have two muffin recipes I want to give you. One is for bran muffins (quantity to serves 20 people), and the other is for Wheat Germ Muffins which are very popular and yields 24 dozen muffins. You may want to cut the latter in half.

BRAN MUFFINS

(To serve 20 people)

Three cups sifted but unsifted flour, 3 1-4 tablespoons baking powder, 3-4 teaspoon baking soda, 2 1-3 teaspoons salt, 7 cups bran, 2-3 cup sugar, 4 eggs, 3 1-2 cups milk, 2-3 cup molasses, 3-4 cup melted shortening.

Sift flour, baking powder, soda and salt. Add bran and sugar to them. Make a well in centre. Beat eggs slightly and add milk and molasses to them. Pour liquids all at once into bran mixture. Add melted shortening and stir quickly until dry ingredients are barely moistened, and somewhat lumpy. Half fill pan (2-3 full if you want them very big and high). Greased muffin tins are best at 375 or 400 deg. Fahr.

WHEAT GERM MUFFINS

(24 dozen muffins)

Two and one-half lbs. butter or margarine (or shortening) 2 lbs. sugar, 12 eggs, 1 1-2 lbs. shortening (5 lbs. butter and shortening in all), 4 lbs. sugar, 8 cups whole eggs, 3 1-2 lbs. unsifted all-purpose flour, 1 lb. baking powder, 2 teaspoons salt, 2 lbs. wheat germ (fresh), 3 lbs. seedless raisins, 7 quarts milk. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt. Cream the fat well. Add the sugar a little at a time and continue creaming until sugar is dissolved. Add the eggs slowly and beat until light and creamy. Scrape down the sides of bowl. Add wheat germ and raisins to dry ingredients—stirring. Add dry ingredients to the creamed mixture a little at a time alternately with the milk. Turn into greased muffin tins and bake at 375 deg. Fahr. (or a little higher temperature).

I hope one of these recipes make your purpose.

QUESTION:

Some time ago you had a recipe for cookies made without baking. I make the chocolate ones quite often. Would like very much to have the other ones made with cornflakes. . . heard of a recipe using mashed potatoes, coconut (don't know what else), leaving sitting overnight and dipping in chocolate in the morning. Do you have it? I am endeavoring cake recipe made without baking.

MARSHMALLOW CAKE

(Courtesy I. M. M.)

One can (14 oz.) sweetened condensed milk, 30 marshmallows cut in 6 pieces, 36 graham wafers rolled fine, 12 maraschino cherries cut in four), 1 cup walnuts crushed. Mix well, put in greased pan and let stand 24 hours before cutting in small pieces.

ANSWER:

Thank you I.M.M.

I have a recipe for unbaked cookies that use sugar-coated corn flakes. Do you think you would like it? Or could you use plain corn flakes and add more sugar to the recipe?

MOCK COCOANUT CHOCOLATE BALLS

(Unbaked)

One cup (6 oz.) chopped semi-sweet chocolate (or chips), 3 tablespoons light corn syrup, 1-3 cup orange juice, 1 cup sugar-coated corn flakes, 1-2 cup confectioners' sugar, 1 cup finely chopped nutmeats, granulated sugar for coating. Melt chocolate over hot but not boiling water. Remove from heat and stir in corn syrup and orange juice. Crush corn flakes into fine crumbs. Combine with sugar and nuts. Add chocolate gradually, mixing well after additions. Form into balls about 1 or 1 1-2 inches in diameter. Roll in granulated sugar for several days before serving.

Would you please come to my rescue? I do not have the recipe for Scotch shortbread, but for raisin and cocoanut. Do you? If so would you mind sending it to me for I.M.M.?

HOW TO CULTIVATE POISE

Poise is a quality that every girl should endeavor to cultivate. It is the expression of tranquility and peace of mind which is something that all of us are seeking these hectic days. It makes for calm, serene faces and nervous systems that do not lend themselves to knots.

In order to achieve poise it is necessary to know how to relax both the mind and the body. How often you hear a woman say "I can't relax." I lie down, close my eyes, but my mind is filled with racing thoughts"! When that is the case she might as well be up and about her business. She is suffering from nervous tension a common affliction. You see evidence of it on faces everywhere.

Many women have destructive habits that are wasting their energy. They hold endless talks over the telephone. They argue about small matters. They make an occupation of worrying. They go to bed late when they're too tired to sleep.

They are easily irritated about things that cannot be helped or avoided. In the course of time their faces show lines and creases. Emotional disturbances interfere with the functions of the digestive motors and nutrition is not normal.

These highstrung, jittery women will be helped by having more outdoor life, by taking up some sport like golf or tennis or swimming. Calisthenics may help. In gym classes there are special ones for relaxation given under the supervision of teachers of physical education.

GOOD MANNERS

TODAY'S "BRIDE" RARELY WEARS A "FACE VEIL"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. I am going to have a white wedding, but will wear a floor-length dress. Is it customary to have the veil over the face upon entering the church, or may it be worn back throughout the ceremony? Please explain fully about this veil over the face.

2. As we are having a pre-wedding dinner or party, when would be the proper time to give the attendants their gifts? Could this be done at the rehearsal at the church? — M.N.

1. Very, very rarely today does a bride wear a face veil. This short face veil was formerly called a "blusher," because the idea was that the demure young bride was too shy to face the wedding guests without wearing a veil, that she revealed her face only when she was a married woman. . . that is, when, after the ceremony, the bridal veil either removed the bride's face veil or gathered it back over the longer veil.)

Today's bride usually considers this face veil old-fashioned, and gives her romantic attention to the gown and the becoming type and contour of her bridal veil, and most particularly to the head-piece that holds the veil: crown, coronet, white satin half-hat, head-band of pearls or real or waxed orange blossoms, or whatever type.

Give your attendants their gifts at any convenient time before the wedding . . . or you may send them, if you wish, perhaps having them sent from the store where you buy them. This would be better, I think, than giving them at the rehearsal, which is usually not a very suitable occasion.

FORMAL REPLY WRITTEN, NEVER PRINTED

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband and I have just received a formal invitation to our nephew's wedding, to take place soon. Because of the distance we will be unable to attend. Is a formal printed reply in order, or would a hand-written reply more acceptable? We thought that since the wedding is in the family, the printed reply might be too formal. —M.

Your regret should be written on the first page of double-sheet paper (the white double-sheet letter-paper on which you wrote to me would be appropriate).

He makes a serious mistake who goes to the Bible in the hope he would be worldly and spared like this:

The Bible Is So Modern

By ROY L. SMITH

In spite of the fact that the Bible was written hundreds of years ago (part of it even thousands of years ago) in languages that have ceased to be, and in spite of the fact that it was written in the midst of social and political situations about which the modern man knows almost nothing, the book remains the most modern. Year by year it continues as the unrivalled best seller, and year by year new languages are employed in presenting its message to mankind. Nothing in economics, psychology, morals, politics, or dramatic fiction can compare with it.

TEXT BOOK OF HUMAN SPIRIT

As a text book of finding there the ultimate in history, sociology, or science. Those fields are not the ones in which the Bible speaks with authority.

It is in its comments on the spirit of man, and his relation to life and God, that the scriptures stand out supreme. Any individual, determined to become a great soul will find in the Holy Bible guidance and instruction that is incomparable. He who seeks to rule his own spirit, to find peace of mind and serenity of soul, will find the highway clearly marked.

Call the roll of the world's truly great and without an exception they have been Bible readers. Without an understanding of the Bible many passages from Lincoln's state papers would be unintelligible. Gladstone's public addresses were redolent with scripture. Washington, Disraeli, Gustavus Adolphus, Lord Shaftesbury, as well as an almost innumerable host of others have testified to their confidence in the book by incorporating into their public utterances long passages from its pages. No other book ever placed in human hands has been quoted more frequently. Novelists, playwrights, poets, dramatists, historians, and even psychologists have appropriated its words and illustrations.

IT WAS A PIONEER.

Long before sociology, psychology, economics, or politics became sciences the Bible laid down principles which have been basic in those fields.

In all the investigations of the psychologists, for example, not one spiritual principle enunciated by the Bible has been shown to be false or misleading. In all the political experience of the world not one basic principle of human government which has the sanction of the Bible writers has been shown to be disastrous or undesirable. Even in our day, obsessed as it is with economics, the credibility of the Bible's economic statements stands unassailed.

PENALTY OF IGNORANCE.
